David zeal to serve God.

Psalmes. The church prayeth for succour.

8 I will praise thee, O Lord, say they, cleareth fall unto thee, and now that be dead, be shall rise up no more.

9 Pre, I raise them familiar friends in whom I trusted, which thou eat of my bread, hath lift up his head against me.

10 But thou, O Lord, be mercifull unto me, and raise me up, that I may requite them.
11 By this I know that thou favourst me:
because mine enemy doth not triumph over me.
12 And as for me, thou upholdest me in mine integrity, and settest me before thy face for ever.
13 Blessed be the Lord, O Lord of Israel, from everlasting, and to everlasting, Amen and Amen.

PSAL. XLII.

1 David's zeal to serve God in the temple. & He encourageth his soul to trust in God.

2 To the chief musician. Psalm XLII, for the fourth of Reuben.

As the hart panteth after the water-brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God.

3 My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?

4 My tears have been my meat day and night: while they continually say unto me,
Where is thy God?

5 When I remember these things, I pour out my soul in me: for I have gone with the multitude, I went with them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, with a singing, that kepe both day.

6 Why art thou so cast down, O my soul, and why art thou disquieted in me? for thou art in God, for I shall praise him, for he is the help of his anointed.

7 O my God, my soul is cast down within me:
therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the River Euphrates from the hill of Hermon.

8 Deep calleth unto deep at the midst of the mighty: thou hast said, I will not move, I will not move over me.

9 Yet thou sayest, I will comfort me, for I have found refuge in the day of wrath, and in the night his long shall be my refuge, and my prayer unto the God of my life.

10 I will say unto God, my rock, why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning, because of the oppression of the enemy?

11 As with a sword in my bones, mine enemies reproach me, while they say daily unto me,
Where is thy God?

12 Why art thou cast down, O my soul, and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God, for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 David praying to be restored to the temple, & promiseth to serve God joyfully. & He encourageth his soul to trust in God.

2 Praise me, O God, and plead my cause against an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unrighteous man.

3 For thou art the God of my strength, why hast thou cast me off? why go I mourning, because of the oppression of the enemy?

4 O Lord our Lord, and the strength, let them lead me, let them bring me unto the holy hill, and to thy tabernacles.

5 When will I go unto the altar of God, unto God, I my exceeding joy, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God, my God.

6 Why art thou disquieted within me, hope in God, for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 The church, in remembrance of former favours, & complaineth of her present evils. 17 Professing her integrity, & she fervently prayeth for succour.

2 To the chief musician for the fourth of Reuben, Psalm XLIII.

WE have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us what thou hast done in their dayes, in the times of old.

3 How thou didst drive out the heathen with thy hand, and plantedst them: how thou didst affect the people, and cast them out.

4 For they got not the land in possession by their own strength, neither did their own arm save them: but thy right hand, and thine arm, and the light of thy countenance, because thou hadst a favour into them.

5 Thou art my King, O God, command deliverance for Jacob.

6 Through thee will we pass down our enemies: through the name will we tread them under that rise up against us.

7 For I will not trust in my bow, neither shall my sword save me.

8 But thou hast stablished us from our enemies, and hast put them to shame that hated us.

9 In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever. Selah.

10 But thou hast cast off, and put us to shame;
and hast not turned back our enemies.

11 Thou hast said, I will not move, I will not move: and they which hate us, shall say, they shall see them.

12 Thou hast given us, I like sheep a pointe, & hast ed for meat: and hast scattered us among the heathen.

13 Thou hast hated the word of thy covenant, and hast despised thy word: thou hast despised thy covenant, and hast despised thy word.

14 Thou hast said, I will not move, I will not move: and they which hate us, shall say, they shall see them.

15 Thou hast said, I will not move, I will not move: and they which hate us, shall say, they shall see them.

16 Thou hast said, I will not move, I will not move: and they which hate us, shall say, they shall see them.

17 All this is come upon us; yet have we not forgotten thee, neither have we denied thy name in the covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned back: neither have we stepped decline from thy way.

19 Though thou hast made us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the scales of death.

20 If we have forgotten the name of our God, or stretched out our hands to a strange God:

21 Shall not thou search this out? for thou know-est the secrets of the heart.

22 Yea, for the sake are we killed all the day:
long we are counted as sheep to the slaughter.

23 Awake, why sleepest thou, O Lord? arise, call us out of our sleep.

24 Deliver us, O Lord, from all our iniquities, and deliver us from all our iniquities.

The ornaments and privileges of the church.

¶ A song, and psalm: for the sonnes of Kozab.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be presented in the city of our God, in the mountain of his holiness.

2 Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth is mount Zion on the sides of the north, the city of the great King.

3 God is known in her palaces for a refuge:
4 For so the kings were assembled, they passed by together.

5 They saw it, and so they marvelled, they were troubled and pained about.

6 Fear took hold upon them there, and pain, as of a woman in travail.

7 Thou hastest the hope of Carthage with an east wind.

8 As we have heard, so have we seen in the city of the Lord of hosts, in the city of our God, God will establish it for ever. Selah.

9 We have thought of thy loving kindenesse,
O God, in the midst of thy temple.

10 According to thy name, O God, so is thy mercy unto the ends of the earth: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Sion rejoyce, let the daughters of Judah be glad, because of thy judgement.

12 Talk about Sion, and go round about her: tell the towers thereof.

13 For thou shalt say, I will her bulwarks, I consider her palaces: that ye may tell it to the generation following.

14 For this God is our God for ever and ever;
he will be our guide even unto death.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 In weakest persuasion to build the faith of resurrection, not on worldly power, but on God. 16 Worldly prosperity is not to be admired.

¶ To the chief musician, A psalm II for the sonnes of Korah.

Hearke this, all ye people, give eare all ye inhabitants of the world:

2 Both low and high, rich and poore together.

3 My mouth shall speak of wisdom: and the meditation of my heart shall be of understanding.

4 I will incline mine eare to a parable; I will open my dark saying upon the harp.

5 Wherefore should I fear in the dayes of evil, when the iniquity of my deils shall compass me about?

6 They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches:

7 None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him:

8 (For the redemption of their soul is precious, and it costeth for ever)

9 That he should still live for ever, and not see corruption.

10 For he seeth that wicked men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others.

11 Their inward thought is, that their house shall continue for ever, and their dwelling places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names.

12 Nevertheless man being in honour, abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish.

13 This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their sayings. Selah.

14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave, death shall feed on them; and the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning, and their beauty shall consume in the grave, from their dwelling.

15 But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me.

Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his house is increased.

17 For when he dieth, he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him.

18 Though he twispe he lived, he blessed his soul: and men will praise thee, when thou dost well to the self.

19 He shall go to the generation of his father: they shall never see light.

20 Man that is in honour and understandeth not, is like the beasts that perish.

The majesty of God in the church, 5 His order to gather saints, 7 The pleasure of God is not in ceremonies, 14 but in sincerity of obedience.

¶ A psalm II of Asaph.

The mighty God, even the Lord is to be spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sunne, unto the going down thereof.

2 Out of Sion the perfection of beauty, God hath shined.

3 Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him.

4 He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people.

5 Gather my saints together unto me: those that have made a covenant with me by sacrifice.

6 And the heavens shall declare his righteous-nesse; for God is judge himself. Selah.

7 Hear, O my people, and I will speak; O
Israel, and I will testify against thee: I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, of thy burnt-offerings, to have been continually before me.

9 I will take no bullock out of thy house, nor be-goats out of thy fold.

10 For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattell upon a thousand hills.

11 I know all the fowls of the mountains, and the wilde beasts of the field are to mine.

12 If I were hungry, I would not tell thee, for the world is mine, and the fulnesse thereof.

13 Will I eat the flesh of buls, or drink the blood of goats?

14 Offer unto God thanksgiving, and pay thy vows unto the most high.

15 And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But unto the wicked God saith, What hast thou to do to declare my statutes? that thou shouldst take my covenant in thy mouth?

17 Seeing thou hatest instruction, and castest my words behind thee.

18 When thou shalt say, I shall not be concerned with him, and I have been partaker with adulterers.

19 Thou givest thy mouth to evil, and thy tongue frameth deceit.

20 Thou sittest and speakest against thy brother; thou slanderest thine own mothers house.

21 These things hast thou done, and I kept silence: thou thoughtest that I was altogether such a one as thy self; but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thine eyes.

22 Now consider this, ye that forget God, lest I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver.

23 Will he offereth praise, glorifieth me: and to him that ordereth his conversation aright, will I shew the salvation of God.

2 Heare my prayer, O God; give eare to the words of my mouth.

3 For strangers are risen up against me, and oppressours seek after my soul: they have not let God before them. Selah.

4 Behold, God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that uphold my soul.

1 David in his prayer complaineth of his fearful case. 9 He prayeth against his enemies, of whose wickedness and treachery he complaineth. 16 He comforteth himself in Gods preservation of him, and confusion of his enemies.

¶ To the chief musician upon Balthai, A psalme of David.

Give eare to my prayer, O God: and hide not thy self from my supplication.

2 Attend unto me, and heare me: I mourn in my complaint, and make a noise.

3 Because of the voice of the enemy, because of the oppression of the wicked: for they cast iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me.

4 My heart is sore pained within me, and the terrors of death are fallen upon me.

5 Fearfulness and trembling are come upon me, and horrible hath been before me.

6 And I said, What I had wings like a dove; for then would I flee away, and be at rest.

7 When would I wander farre off, and remain in the wilderness. Selah.

8 I would baken my escape from the windy storm and tempest.

9 Destroy, O Lord, and divide their tongues: for I have seen violence and strife in the city.

10 Day and night they go about it upon the walls thereof: mischief also and sorrow are in the midst of it.

11 Quietnesse is in the midst thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streets.

12 For it was not an enemy that reproached me, then I could have borne it: neither was it he that hated me, that he magnified himself against me: then I would have bin my self from him.

13 But it was thou, a man, mine equall, my guide, and mine acquaintance.

14 They took thee counsel together, and walked unto the house of God in company.

15 Let death seize upon them, and let them go down quick into hell: for wickednesse is in their dwellings, and among them.

16 As for me, I will call upon God: and the Lord shall save me.

17 Evening and morning, and at noon will I pray, and cry aloud: and he shall heare my voice.

18 He hath delivered my soul in peace from the hand of all that was against me: for there were many with me.

19 God shall heare and afflict them, even he that abhorred of old. Selah: because they have no changes, therefore they fear not God.

20 He hath put forth his hands against such as be at peace with him: for he hath broken his covenant.

21 The words of his mouth were smoother then butter, but inward was in his heart his words were softer then oyl, yet were they sharper then swords.

22 Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee: he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.

23 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

24 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

25 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

26 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

27 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

28 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

29 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

30 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

31 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

32 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

33 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

34 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

35 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

36 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

37 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

38 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

39 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: thou shalt blow away their dayes, and thou shalt crush them.

6 They gather themselves together, they hide themselves, they mark my steps when they wait for my fall.

7 Shall they escape by iniquity: in thine anger shalt thou cast down the people, O God.

8 Thou wilt cast my iniquities, and thou wilt take into thy bottle: are they not in the bottle?

9 When I cry unto thee, then shall mine enemies turn back: for I know thy power, O God is for me.

10 In God will I praise his word: in the Lord will I praise his word.

11 In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me.

12 Thy notes are upon me, O God: I will render praises unto thee.

13 For thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?

1 David in prayer fleeing unto God, complaineth of his dangerous case. 7 He encourageth himself to praise God.

2 To the chief musician. A Psalm of David, when he fled from Saul in the cave.

3 O merciful unto me, O God, be merciful unto me, for my soul trusteth in thee: yea in the shadow of thy wings will I make my refuge, until these calamities be overpast.

4 I will cry unto God most high: unto God that hath performed all things for me.

5 He shall send from heaven and save me: from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. Selah. God shall send forth his mercy, and his truth.

6 My soul is among lions, and I lie even among them that are set on fire, even the flames of men, whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword.

7 Behold, O God, above the heavens: let thy glory be above all the earth.

8 They have prepared a net for my steps, my soul is bowed down: they have digged a pit before me, into the midst whereof they are fallen themselves. Selah.

9 My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will sing and give praise.

10 Awake up, my glory, awake psaltery and harp: I will sing unto thee among the people.

11 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations.

12 For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds.

4 They only confide to cast him down from his excellency, they delight in liars: they bless with their mouth, but they curse inwardly. Selah.

5 My soul, wait thou only upon God: for my expectation is from him.

6 He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defence; I shall not be moved.

7 In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge is in God.

8 Trust in him at all times; ye people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us. Selah.

9 Surely men of low degree are vanities, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity.

10 Trust not in oppression, and become not vain in robbery: if riches increase, let not your heart upon them.

11 God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this, that power belongeth unto God.

12 Alas unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: * for thou renderest to every man according to his work.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David thirst for God, & His manner of blef-sing God. 2 His confidence of his enemies destruction, and his own safety.

¶ A psalm of David, when he was in the wilderness of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh long-ed for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is:

2 To see thy power and thy glory, so as I have seen thee in the sanctuary.

3 Because the loving kindness is better than life: my lips shall praise thee.

4 Thou wilt I bless thee, while I live: I will lift up my hands in thy name.

5 My soul shall be satisfied as with sweet oil, and fatness, and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips.

6 When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches.

7 Because thou hast been my help, therefore in the shadow of thy wings will I rejoice.

8 My soul followeth thee: have after thee: thy right hand upholdeth me.

9 But thou that seek my soul to destroy it, shall go into the lower parts of the earth.

10 * Thy shall fall by the sword, they shall be a portion for foxes.

11 But the king shall rejoice in God, every one that loveth him shall glory: but the mouth of them that speak lies shall be stopped.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David prayeth for deliverance, complaining of his enemies. 7 He promised himself to satisfy an evident definition of his enemies, as the righteous shall rejoice at it.

¶ To the chief musician, A psalm of David.

Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer, preserve my life from fear of the enemy.

2 Hide me from the secret counsel of the vickers; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity.

3 * And be not their tongue like a sword, and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words.

4 That they may shoot in secret at the perfect:
suddenly do they shoot at him, and fear not.

5 They encourage themselves in an unjust war: they commune of laying snares privily, they say, Who shall see them?

6 They search out iniquities, they accomplish a diligent search: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart is deep.

7 But God shall shoot at them with arrows, suddenly shall they be wounded.

8 So they shall make their own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them, shall flee away.

9 And all men shall fear, and shall declare the work of God: for they shall wisely consider of his doing.

10 The righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and shall trust in him, and all the upright in heart shall glory.

PSAL. LXV.

1 David praiseth God for his grace, & the blessedness of Gods chosen by reason of benefit.

¶ To the chief musician, A psalm and song of David.

Praise & waited for thee, O God, in Sion:
and unto thee shall the vow be performed.

2 O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come.

3 * Iniquities prevail against me: as for my transgressions, thou shalt purge them away.

4 Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and caulest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: he shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple.

5 By terrible things in righteousness, hast thou answered us, O God of our salvation: who are the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off upon the sea.

6 Which by his strength utterly fast the mountains, being girded with power.

7 Which stilleth the noise of the seas, the noise of their waves, and the tumult of the people.

8 They also that dwell in the uttermost parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makest the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.

9 Thou stillest the earth and I wastest it:
thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it.

10 Thou makest the rivers thereof abundantly: thou stillest the turbulent thereof: thou makest it fast with thy springs, thou stillest the springing thereof.

11 Thou reddenest & the year with thy goodness, and the paths of thy pasture.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 David exhorteth to praise God, 5 to observe his great works, 8 to bless him for his gracious benefits, 12 He voweth for himself religious service to God, 16 He declareth Gods special goodness to himself.

† Heb. all the earth.

C To the chief musician, A song or psalm. As a joyfull noise unto God, † all ye lands.

1 Sing forth the honour of his name: make his praise glorious.

2 Say unto God, How terrible art thou in thy works: though the greatness of thy power shall thine enemies † submit themselves unto thee.

† Or, yeeld feigned obedience. † He, lie.

4 All the earth shall worship thee, & shall sing unto thee, they shall sing to thy name. Selah.

5 Come and see the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the children of men.

6 He turned the sea into dry land: they went through the flood on foot, there did we rejoice in him.

7 He ruleth by his power for ever, his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah.

John Rom.

22 The Lord said, I will bring again from Babylon, I will bring my people again from the depths of the sea:

23 That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongue of thy dogs in the same.

24 They have seen thy goings, O God, even the goings of my God, my King, in the sanctuary.

25 The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after; amongst them were the damels playing with timbrels.

26 Bless ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel.

27 There is Issachar Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah, and their counsel, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

28 The God hath commanded thy strength: strengthen, O God, that which thou hast wrought for us.

29 Because of thy temple at Jerusalem, shall kings bring presents unto thee.

30 Rebuke the company of spearmen, the multitude of the bulls, with the calves of the people, till every one submit himself with pieces of silver: scatter thou the people that delight in war.

31 Princes shall come out of Egypt, Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God.

32 Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth: O sing praises unto the Lord. Selah.

33 To him that sitteth upon the heavens of heavens, which were of old, so, he both send out his voice, and that a mighty voice.

34 Altithe ye strength unto God; his excellency is over Israel, and his strength is in the clouds.

35 O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places, the God of Israel is he that giveth strength and power unto his people: blessed be God.

PSAL. LXIX.

David complaineth of his affliction. 13 He prayeth for deliverance. 22 He denoteth his enemies destruction. 30 He praiseth God with thanksgiving.

To the chief musician upon Shoshannim, A Psalm of David.

SABE ME, O God, for the waters are come in unto my soul.

2 I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me.

3 I am weary of my crying, my throat is dried: mine eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are more than the hairs of mine head: they that would destroy me being mine enemies wrongfully, are mighty: then I restored that which I took not away.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishness; and my sin is not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that wait on thee, O Lord God of hosts, be ashamed for my sake: let not those that seek thee, be confounded for my sake, O God of Israel.

7 Because for thy sake I have born reproach: shame hath covered my face.

8 I am become a stranger unto my brethren, and an alien unto my mothers children.

9 For the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee, are fallen upon me.

10 When I wept, and chafened my soul with fasting, that was to my reproach.

11 I made sackcloth also my garment: and I became a proverb to them.

12 They that sit in the gate, speak against me; and I was the song of the drunkards.

13 But as for me, my prayer is unto thee, O God, in the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy salvation.

14 Deliver me out of the mire, and let me not sink: let me be delivered from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters.

15 Let not the water-flood overflow me, neither let the deep swallow me up, and let not the pit shut her mouth upon me.

16 Hear me, O Lord, for thy loving kindness is good: turn unto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy servant, for I am in trouble: hear me speedily.

18 Draw nigh unto my soul, and redeem it: deliver me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast known my reproach, and my shame, and my dishonour: mine adversaries are all before thee.

20 Reproach hath broken my heart, and I am full of heaviness: and I looked for some to take pity, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none.

21 They gave me also gall for my meat, and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 Let their table become a snare before them; and that which should have been for their welfare, let it become a trap.

23 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not; and make their loins continually to shake.

24 Pour out thine indignation upon them, and let thy wrathful anger take hold of them.

25 Let their habitation be desolate, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him whom thou hast smitten, and they talk to the grief of those whom thou hast wounded.

27 Add iniquity to their iniquity: and let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous.

29 But I am poor, and sorrowful: let thy salvation, O God, let me up on high.

30 I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving.

31 This also shall please the Lord, as better than an ox or bullock that hath horns and hoofs.

32 The humble shall see this, and be glad: and your heart shall live that seek God.

33 For the Lord heareth the poor, and despiseth not his prisoners.

34 Let the heaven and earth praise thee, the seas, and every thing that is moved therein.

35 For God will save Zion, and will build the cities of Judah: that they may dwell there, and have it in possession.

36 The seed also of his servants shall inherit it: and they that love his name shall dwell therein.

PSAL. LXXI.

David in confidence of faith and experience of Gods favour, prayeth both for himself, and against the enemies of his soul. 14 He promiseth constancy. 17 He prayeth for perseverance. 19 He praiseth God, and promiseth to do it cheerfully.

14 There, O Lord, do I put my trust, let me never be put to confusion.
 15 Deliver me in thy righteousness, and cause me to escape: incline thine ear unto me, and save me.

16 Be thou my strong habitation, whereunto I may continually resort: thou hast given commandment to save me, for thou art my rock and my fortress.

17 Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.

18 For thou art my hope, O Lord, O Lord: thou art my trust from my youth.

19 By thee have I been holden up from the womb: thou art he that took me out of my mothers bowels, my praise shall be continually of thee.

20 I am as a wonder unto many; but thou art my strong refuge.

21 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy honour all the day.

22 Call me not off in the time of old age, for sake me not when my strength faileth.

23 For mine enemies speak against me: and they that say I lay wait for my soul, take counsel together.

24 Saying, God hath forsaken him: persecute and take him, for there is none to deliver him.

25 O God, be not froward unto me: O my God, make haste for my help.

26 Let them be confounded and consumed, that are adversaries to my soul: let them be covered with reproach and dishonour, that seek my hurt.

27 But I will hope continually, and will not praise thee more and more.

28 My mouth shall shew forth thy righteousness, and thy salvation all the day: for I know not the numbers thereof.

29 I will go in the strength of the Lord God: I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.

30 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth: and hitherto have I declared thy wonders works.

31 Now also when I am old and gray, O God, forsake me not: until I have shewed thy strength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come.

32 Thy righteousness is as thy name, O God, is very high, who hast done great things: O God, who is like unto thee?

33 Thou which hast shewed me great and sore troubles, shalt quicken me again, and shalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.

34 Thou shalt increase my greatness, and comfort me on every side.

35 I will also praise thee with the psalterie, even thy truth: O my God, unto thee will I sing daily the psalm, O thou holy one of Israel.

36 We have gloriously rejoiced when I sing unto thee, and my soul which thou hast redeemed.
 37 My tongue also shall talk of thy righteousness all the day long: for they are confounded, for they are brought into shame, that seek my hurt.

A Psalm for Solomon.

for, of.

Give the king thy judgments, O God, and thy righteousness unto the kings sonne.

2 The shall judge thy people with righteousness, and the poor with judgement.

3 The mountains shall bring peace to the people, and the little hills, by righteousness.

4 He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor.

5 They shall fear thee as long as the sunne and moon endure, throughout all generations.

6 He shall come down like rain upon the moun- tains: as showers that water the earth.

7 In his days shall the righteous flourish: abundance of peace shall be as the moon endureth.

8 He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

9 They that dwell in the wilderness shall bow before him: and his enemies shall lick the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the isles shall bring presents: the kings of Sheba and Seba shall offer gifts.

11 Yea, all kings shall fall down before him: all nations shall serve him.

12 For he shall deliver the needy when he cryeth: the poor also, and him that hath no helper.

13 He shall spare the poor and needy, and shall save the souls of the needy.

14 He shall redeem their soul from deceit and violence: and precious shall their blood be in his sight.

15 And he shall live, and to him shall be given of the gold of Sheba: prayer shall be made for him continually, and daily shall he be praised.

16 There shall be an handful of corn in the earth upon the top of the mountains: the fruit thereof shall shake like Lebanon, and they of the cite shall flourish like grass of the earth.

17 His name shall be continued as long as the sunne: and men shall be blessed in him: all nations shall call him blessed.

18 Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doth wondrous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious name for ever, and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. Amen, and amen.

2 As for me, my feet are continually going upon high and low hills.

3 For I have sinned against the iniquity, when I saw the multitude of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death, but their strength is as iron.

5 They are not in trouble as other men: neither are they plagued like other men.

6 Therefore have I compared them about as a chain: violence covered them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out with fatness: they have more than heart could wish.

8 They are corrupt, and speak wickedly concerning oppression: they speak loftily.

9 They let their mouth against the heavens; and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people return hither and thither of a full cup, are wringing out to them.

11 And they say, How much God knoweth in secret knowledge in the most high!

12 Behold, these are the ungodly, who prosper in the world, they increase in riches.

13 Verily, I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed my hands in innocence.

14 For all the day long have I been plagued, and chastened every morning.

15 If I say, I will speak thus, behold, I should offend against the generation of the children.

16 When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me.

17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end.

18 Surely thou didst set them in slippery places: thou castest them down into destruction.

19 How are they brought into desolation, as in a moment: they are utterly consumed with terrors.

20 As a dream when one awaketh; so, O Lord, when thou awakest thou shalt despise their image.

21 Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins.

22 So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee.

23 Nevertheless, I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou hast guided me with thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory.

25 Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire besides thee.

26 My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever.

27 For so, they that are farre from thee, shall perish: thou hast destroyed all them that go a long way from thee.

28 But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

3 Lift up thy voice, unto the promised defolation: even all those that singe daily have uttered it in the sanctuary.

4 Thine enemies roar in the midst of thy congregations: they set up their ensigns for nations.

5 A man was famous according as he had lifted up his arm upon the thick trees.

6 But now they break down the carved image thereof at once, with axes and hatchmets.

7 They have cast fire into thy sanctuary, they have defiled by casting down the dwelling place of thy name to the ground.

8 They said in their hearts, Let us destroy them together: they have burnt up all the synagogues of God in the land.

9 Wee see not our signes, there is no more any prophet, neither is there among us any that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the adversary reproach? shall the enemy blaspheme thy name for ever?

11 Why withdrawest thou thy hand, when thy right hand shall pluck it out of thy bosom.

12 For God is my King of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth.

13 Thou didst divide the sea by thy strength: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the heads of leviathan in pieces, and gavest him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderness.

15 Thou didst cleave the fountain, and the floods: thou didst give up mighty rivers.

16 The day is thine, the night also is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached, O Lord, and that the foolish people have blasphemed thy name.

19 O deliver not the soul of the turtle-dove unto the multitude of the wicked, forget not the congregation of the poor for ever.

20 Have respect unto the covenant: for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty.

21 O let not the oppressed return ashamed: let the poor and needy praise thy name.

22 Arise, O God, plead thine own cause: remember how the foolish man reproacheth thee daily.

23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: the tumult of those that rise up against thee, increase continually.

the hand of Moses and Aaron.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 An exhortation both to learn and to preach the law of God, 9 The story of Gods wrath against the incredulous and disobedient, 67 The Israeites being rejected, God chose Judah, Sion, and David.

To the chief of Asaph.

Give ear, O my people, to my law: incline your eares to the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will utter dark sayings of old:

3 Which we have heard and known: and our fathers have told us.

4 We will not hide them from their children, saying to the generation to come, the praises of the Lord: and his strength and his wonderfull works that he hath done.

5 For he established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel: which he commanded our fathers: that they should make them known to their children.

6 That the generation to come might know them, even the children which should be born:
who should arise and declare them to their children:

7 That they might set their hope in God, and not forget the works of God: but keep his commandments.

8 And might not be as their fathers, a stubborn and rebellious generation, a generation that see not their heart aright: and whose spirit was not steadfast with God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the covenant of God: and refused to walk in his law:

11 And forgot his works: and his wonders that he had shewed them.

12 Wondrous things did he in the sight of their fathers: in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.

13 He divided the sea, and caused them to pass through: and he made the waters to stand as an heap.

14 In the day time also he led them with a cloud: and all the night with a light of fire.

gave them drink as out of the great depths.

16 He brought streams also out of the rock, and caused waters to runne down like rivers.

17 And they sinned yet more against him: by provoking the most high in the wilderness.

18 And they tempted God in their heart: by asking meat for their lust.

19 * Yea, they spake against God: they said, Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?

20 * Behold, he smote the rock that the waters gushen out, and the streams overflowed; can he give bread also? can he provide flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard this, and was wroth, so a fire was kindled against Jacob, and anger also came up against Israel:

22 Because they believed not in God: and trusted not in his salvation:

23 Though he had commanded the clouds from above: and opened the doores of heaven:

24 * And had rained down manna upon them to eat, and had given them of the corn of heaven.

25 ¶ When didst thou angels food: he sent them meat to the full.

26 He caused an east-winde to blow in the heaven: and by his power he brought in the south-winde.

27 He rained flesh also upon them as dust: and feathered fowls like as the sand of the sea.

28 And he let it fall in the midst of their camp, round about their habitations.

29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own desire.

30 They were not estranged from their lust: but * while their meat was yet in their mouths, 31 The word of God came upon them, and slew the fatest of them, and smote down the chos- sen men of Israel.

32 For all this they sinned still: and beleev- ed not for his wondrous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in banish- ment, and their yeares in trouble.

34 When he slew them, then they sought him: and they returned and enquired early after God:

35 And they remembered that God was their rock: and the high God their redeemer.

36 Nevertheless, they did slander him with their mouth: and they lied unto him with their tongues.

37 For their heart was not right with him: nei- ther were they steadfast in his covenant.

38 But he being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity, and destroyed them not: yea, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not stir up all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that they were but flesh: a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again.

40 How oft did they provoke him in the wil- derness: and to grieve him in the desert?

41 Yea, they turned back and tempted God: and limited the holy one of Israel.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the enemy.

43 When he had brought his signes in Egypt: and his wonders in the field of Zoan:

44 * And had turned their rivers into blood: and their founts, that they could not drink.

45 * He sent rivers full of fishes among them, which he brought them out of the deep, and de- stroyed them.

46 * He gave also their increase unto the cater- pillar: and their labour unto the locust.

47 * He destroyed their vines with hail: and their sycomore-trees with frost.

48 ¶ He gave up their cattell also to the hail: and their flocks to hot thunderbolts.

49 He cast upon them the fierceness of his anger, wrath, and indignation, and troubles, by sending evil angels among them.

50 ¶ He made a way to his anger, he spared not their soul from death: but gave their life over to the pestilence.

51 * And smote all the first-born in Egypt: the chief of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham:

52 But made his own people to go forth like sheep: and guided them in the wilderness like a flock.

53 And he led them on safely, so that they fear- ed not: but the sea * † overwhelmed their ene- mies.

54 And he brought them to the border of his sanc- tuary: even to this mountain, which his right hand had purchased.

55 He cast out the heathen also before them, and * divided them an inheritance by line: and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tents.

56 Yet they tempted and provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies:

57 But turned back and dealt unfaithfully like their fathers: they were turned aside like a deceitfull bow.

58 For they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to jealousy with their graven images.

59 When God heard this, he was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel:

60 So that he forsook the tabernacle of Shi- loh, the tent which he placed among men:

61 And delivered his strength into captivity, and his glory into the enemies hand.

62 He gave his people over also unto the sword: and was wroth with his inheritance.

63 The fire consumed their young men: and their maidens were not * given to marriage.

64 Their priests fell by the sword: and their widows made no lamentation.

65 When the Lord awaked as one out of sleep: and like a mighty man that shouteth by reason of wine.

66 And he smote his enemies in the hinder parts: he put them to a perpetual reproach.

67 Moreover, he refused the tabernacle of Joseph: and chose not the tribe of Ephraim.

68 But chose the tribe of Judah: the mount Zion which he loved.

69 And he built his sanctuary like high pala- ces: like the earth which he hath * established for ever.

70 * He chose David also his servant, and took him from the shepherds:

71 † From following the ewes great with young, he brought him to feed Jacob his people, and Israel his inheritance.

72 So he saw them according to the integrity of his heart: and guided them by the skillfulness of his hands.

1 The prophet longing for the communion of the sanctuary, & sheweth how blessed they are that dwell therein. 8 He prayeth to be restored unto it.

for, of
CO the chief musician upon Gittith, A psalm for the sons of Korah.
How desirable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!
2 My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh cried out for the living God.
3 Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for her self, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hosts, my King, and my God.
4 Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee: in whose heart are the ways of them.
6 Who passing through the valley of Baca, make it a well: the rain also shall stich the growth.
7 They go in from strength to strength, every one of them in his strength before God.
8 O Lord, O God of hosts, hear my prayer: give ear, O God of Jacob. Selah.
9 Behold, O God our shield, and look upon the face of thine anointed.
10 For a day in thy courts, is better than a thousand: I had rather be a doore-keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tents of wickedness.
11 For the Lord God is a sunne and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.
12 O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 The psalmist out of the experience of former mercies, prayeth for the continuance thereof. 8 He promiseth to wait therein, out of confidence of Gods goodnessse.

CO the chief musician, A psalm for the sonnes of Korah.
LORD, thou hast been favourable unto thy land: thou hast brought back the captivity of Jacob.
2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people, thou hast covered all their sinne. Selah.
3 Thou hast taken away all thy wrath: thou hast turned thy self from the fierceness of thine anger.
4 Turn us, O God of our salvation, and cause thine anger toward us to cease.
5 While thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray.
6 While thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray: while thou art angry, we will not pray.
7 Show us thy mercy, O Lord, and grant us thy salvation.
8 I will heart what God the Lord will speak: for he will speak peace unto his people, and to his saints: but let them not turn again to folly.
9 Surely his salvation is nigh them that fear him: that glory may dwell in our land.
10 Mercy and truth are met together: righteousness and peace have kissed each other.
11 Truth shall spring out of the earth: and righteousness shall look down from heaven.
12 Yea, the Lord shall give that which is good: and our land shall yield her increase.

* Joel 2.10.

4. Rejoice the soul of thy servant: for unto thee (O Lord) do I lift up my soul.

5. For thou Lord art good, and ready to forgive: and plentiful in mercy unto all them that call upon thee.

6. Observe ear, O Lord, unto my prayer: and attend to the voice of my supplications.

7. In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee: for thou wilt answer me.

* Deut. 3.24.

8. Among the gods there is none like unto thee (O Lord): neither are there any works like unto thy works.

9. All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord: and shall glorify thy name.

10. For thou art great and dost wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11. Teach me thy way, O Lord, I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name.

12. I will praise thee, O Lord my God with all my heart: and I will glorify thy name for evermore.

13. For great is the mercy towards me: and thou hast delivered my soul from the lowest hell.

14. O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men have sought after my soul: and have not let thee before them.

15. But thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long-suffering, and plentiful in mercy and truth.

16. O turn unto me, and have mercy upon me, give thy strength unto thy servant: and save the soule of thine handmaid.

17. Shew me a token for good, that they which hate me may see it and be ashamed: because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me, and comforted me.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

The nature and glory of the church. 4. The increase, honour, and comfort of the members thereof.

1. Or, of.

A psalm or song for the sonnes of Korah. Its foundation is in the holy mountains.

2. The Lord loveth the gates of Zion, more then all the dwellings of Jacob.

3. Glorious things are spoken of thee, O city of God. Selah.

4. I will make mention of Rahab, and Babylon, to them that know me: behold Philistia, and Tyre, with Ethiopia: this man was born there.

5. And of Zion it shall be said, This and that man was born in her: and the highest himself shall establish her.

6. The Lord shall count when he visiteth up the people: that this man was born there. Selah.

7. As well the fingers, as the players on instruments shall be there: all my springs are in thee.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

A prayer containing a grievous complaint.

1. Or, of.

A song or psalm for the sonnes of Korah, to the chief musician upon Shalath Lemnoth, 1. Psalm of Heman the Ezrahite.

O Lord, O God of my salvation, I have cried day and night before thee.

2. Let my prayer come before thee: and incline thine ear unto my cry.

3. For my soul is full of troubles: and my life hath been night unto the grave.

4. I am counted with them that go down into the pit: I am as a man that hath no strength.

5. Free among the dead like the slain: that lie in the grave, whom thou rememberest no more: and they are cut off from the bass.

6. Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness: and in the deeps.

7. Thy hand lieth hard upon me: and thou hast afflicted me with all thy waves. Selah.

8. Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me: thou hast made me an abomination unto them: I am shut up, and I cannot come forth.

9. Mine eye mourneth by reason of affliction: O Lord, I have called daily upon thee, I have stretched out my hands unto thee.

10. Wilt thou shew wonders to the dead? shall the dead arise and praise thee? Selah.

11. Shall the loving kindness be declared in the grave? or the faithfulness in destruction?

12. Shall the wonders be known in the dark? and the righteousness in the land of forgetfulness?

13. But unto thee have I cried, O Lord, and in the morning shall my prayer prevent thee.

14. O Lord, why callest thou off my soul? why hidest thou thy face from me?

15. I am afflicted and ready to die, from my youth up: while I suffer thy terrors, I am distracted.

16. Thy fierce wrath goeth over me: thy terrors have cut me off.

17. They came round about me daily like a warfare: they compassed me about together.

18. Lover and friend hast thou put farre from me: and mine acquaintance into darkness.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

The psalmist praiseth God for his covenant, 9 for his wonderfull power, 15 for the care of his church, 19 for his favour to the kingdom of David. 38 Then complaining of contrary events: 46 he expostulateth, prayeth, and bleisseth God.

17 Day. Evening prayer.

1. Watch of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I will sing of the mercies of the Lord, for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulness to all generations.

2. For I have said, Mercy shall be built up forever: thy faithfulness shall thou establish in the very heavens.

3. I have made a covenant with my chosen: I have covenanted with David my servant.

4. Thy seed will I establish for ever: and build up thy throne to all generations. Selah.

5. And the heavens shall praise thy wonders, O Lord: thy faithfulness also in the congregation of the saints.

6. For who in the heaven can be compared unto the Lord? who among the sonnes of the mighty can be likened unto the Lord?

7. God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints: and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him.

8. O Lord, O God of hosts, who is a strong Lord, like unto thee? by thy faithfulness shall I stand about thee?

9. Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waves thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10. Thou hast broken Rahab in pieces, as one that is slain: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy strong arm.

11. The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine: as for the world, and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them.

12. The north and the south thou hast created them: Tabor and Hermon shall rejoice in thy name.

1. Or, A time for Ethan the Ezrahite to give instruction. 2. Heb. to generation and generation. 3. Sam. 1. 1. Heb. up generation and generation.

1. Or, From the arm of thy strength. 2. Gen. 1. 1. Psal. 144.

† Heb. an. and with might. † Heb. establish- ment. * Num. 10. 6.
12 Thou hast † a mighty arm: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.
13 Justice and judgement are the // habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth shall go before thy face.

14 Blessed is the people that know the * joy- full sound: they shall walk, O L O M M, in the light of thy countenance.

15 In thy name shall they rejoyce all the day: and in thy righteousness shall they be exalted.

16 For thou art the glory of their strength: and in thy favour our horn shall be exalted.

17 For † the L O M M is our defence: and the holy one of Israel is our king.

18 When thou shalt in vision to thy holy one, and shalt, I have laid help upon one that is mighty: † I have exalted one chosen out of the people.

19 * I have found David my servant: with my holy oyl have I anointed him.

20 With whom my hand shall be established: mine arm also shall strengthen him.

21 The enemy shall not exact upon him: nor the forme of wickedness shall afflict him.

22 And I will beat down his foes before his face: and plague them that hate him.

23 But my faithfulness and my mercy shall be with him: and in my name shall his horn be exalted.

24 I will set his hand also in the sea: and his right hand in the rivers.

25 He shall cry unto me, Thou art my father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.

26 Also I will make him my first-born: higher than the kings of the earth.

27 My mercy will I keep for him for evermore: and my covenant shall stand fast with him.

28 His seed also will I make to endure for ever: and his throne as the dayes of heaven.

29 If his children forsake my law: and walk not in my judgements:

30 If they break my statutes, and keep not my commandments:

31 Then will I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with stripes.

32 Nevertheless, my loving kindness † I will I never cease from him: nor suffer my faithfulness † to fail.

33 My covenant will I not break: nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

34 Once have I sworn by my holiness, † that I will not lie unto David.

35 * His seed shall endure for ever: and his throne as the sunne before me.

36 It shall be established for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven Selah.

37 But thou hast cast off, and abhorred, thou hast been wroth with thine anointed.

38 Thou hast made void the covenant of thy servant: thou hast profaned his crown, by casting it to the ground.

39 Thou hast broken down all his hedges: thou hast brought his strong holds to ruine.

40 All that passe by the way spall him: he is a reproach to his neighbours.

41 Thou hast set up the right hand of his adversaries: thou hast made all his enemies to rejoyce.

42 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword: and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

43 Thou hast made his † glory to cease: and cast his throne down to the ground.

44 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened: thou hast covered him with shame. Selah.

45 How long L O M M, wilt thou hide thy self for ever: shall thy wrath burn like fire?

46 Remember how short my time is: wherefore hast thou made all men in vain?

47 What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the graver? Selah.

48 Lord, where are thy former loving kindnesses, which thou † sharest unto David in thy youth?

49 Remember (Lord) the reproach of thy servants: how I do bear in my bosome the reproach of all the mighty people:

50 Where with thine enemies have reproached, O L O M M: where with they have reproached the footsteps of thine anointed.

51 Blessed be the L O M M for evermore. Amen, and Amen.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses setting forth Gods providence, 3 complaineth of humane fragility, 7 divine chastisements, 10 and brevity of life. 12 He prayeth for the knowledge and sensible experience of Gods good providence.

¶ A prayer of Moses the man of God. Did, thou hast been our dwelling place † in all generations.

2 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst founded the earth and the world: even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction: and sayest, Return ye children of men.

4 * For a thousand yeares in thy sight are but as yesterday † when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou carriest them away as with a flood, they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which † groweth up.

6 In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up, in the evening it is cut down, and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are † passed away in thy wrath: we spend our yeares † as a tale that is told.

10 † The dayes of our yeares are threescore yeares and ten; and if by reason of strength, they be fourscore yeares, yet is their strength labour and sorrow, for it is soon cut off, and we flye away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? even according to thy fear, so is thy wrath.

12 So teach us to number our dayes, that we may † apply our hearts unto wisdom.

13 Return (O L O M M) how long? and let it repent thee concerning thy servants.

14 Satisfie us early with thy mercy: that we may rejoyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Rejoice us glad according to the dayes wherein thou hast afflicted us, and the yeares wherein we have sinned.

16 Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children.

17 And let the beauty of the L O M M our God be upon us: and establishing thou the work of our hands upon us, yea, the work of our hands shall glorify thee.

2 I will say of the L O R D, He is my refuge, and my fortress: my God in him will I trust.

3 Surely, he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler: and from the noisome pestilence.

4 He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night: nor for the arrow that flieh by day.

6 Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness: nor for the destruction that waiteth at noon day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand: but it shall not come nigh thee.

8 Onely with thine eyes shalt thou behold: and see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because thou hast made the L O R D which is my refuge, even the most high, thy habitation:

10 There shall no evil befall thee: neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

13 Thou shalt tread upon the lion, and vnder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

14 Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

15 He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble, I will deliver him, and honour him.

16 With a long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation.

PSAL. XCII.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praise God, 4 for his great works, 6 for his judgments on the wicked, 10 and for his goodness to the godly.

A Psalme or song for the sabbath day.

IT is a good thing to give thanks unto the L O R D, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most high:

2 To shew forth thy loving kindnesse in the morning, and thy faithfullnesse every night.

3 Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the psaltery: upon the harp with a solemn sound.

4 For thou, L O R D, hast made me glad through thy work: I will triumph in the works of thy hands.

5 O L O R D, how great are thy works: and thy thoughts are very deep.

6 A brutish man knoweth not: neither doth a fool understand this.

7 When the wicked lying at the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish: it is that they shall be destroyed for ever.

8 But thou, L O R D, art most high for evermore.

9 For so, thine enemies, O L O R D, for so, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.

10 Why horn shalt thou raise like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be appointed with flesh.

11 Thine eye also shall see my desire, and mine ears shall hear my desire of the wicked that rise up against me.

12 * The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Those that be planted in the house of the L O R D, shall flourish in the court of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruit in old age: they shall be fat, and flourish.

15 To shew that the L O R D is upright: he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 Them 3 His power, and holiness of Christ's kingdom.

The L O R D is mighty, he is clothed with majesty, the L O R D is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is stablished that it cannot be moved.

2 Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O L O R D, the floods have lifted up their voice: the floods lift up their waves.

4 The L O R D on high, is mightier then the noise of many waters, yea then the mighty waves of the sea.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O L O R D, for ever.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 The prophet calling for justice, complaineth of tyranny and impiety. 3 He teacheth God's providence. 12 He sheweth the blessednesse of affliction. 16 God useth the defender of the afflicted.

O L O R D God, to whom vengeance belongeth: O God to whom vengeance belongeth, revenge.

2 Lift up thy self, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud.

3 L O R D, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 How long shall they utter and speak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity do themselves?

5 They break in pieces thy people, O L O R D: and afflict thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger: and murder the fatherless.

7 * Yet they say, The L O R D shall not see: neither shall the God of Jacob regard it.

8 Understand, ye brutish among the people: and ye fools, when will ye be wise?

9 * He that planted the ear, shall he not hear? he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 He that chastiseth the heathen, shall not be correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall not he know?

11 * The L O R D knoweth the thoughts of men: that they are vanity.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O L O R D, and teachest him out of the law:

13 That thou mayest give him rest from the dayes of adversity, until the pit be digged for the wicked.

14 For the L O R D will not cast off his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 But judgement shall return unto righteousness: and all the upright in heart shall follow it.

16 * Who will rise up for me against the evil doers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?

17 Unless the L O R D had been my help, my soul had almost dwelt in silence.

18 * When I said, My foot slipper: thy mercy, O L O R D, held me up.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts within me, thy comforts delight my soul.

20 Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with thee: which founded with a law?

PSAL. XCV.

An exhortation to praise God, for his goodness, &c.
for his goodness, & not to tempt him.

1 Come let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyfull noise to the rock of our salvation.
2 Let us not come before his presence with thanksgiving: and make a joyfull noise unto him with psalms.
3 For the Lord is a great God: and a great King above all gods.
4 In his hands are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also.
5 The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.
6 Come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker.
7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand: to day if ye will hear his voice, 8 Harden not your heart, as in the day of probocation: and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness.
9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and calld me nay.
10 Fourtie yeares long was I grieved with this generation: and said, It is a people that do revert in their heart, and they have not known my wayes.
11 Unto whom I sware in my wrath, that they should not enter into my rest.

PSAL. XCVI.

An exhortation to praise God, & for his greatness,
8 for his kingdom, 11 for his generall judgement.

1 Sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord all the earth.
2 Sing unto the Lord, bless his name:
shew forth his salvation from day to day.
3 Declare his glory among the heathen: his wonders among all people.
4 For the Lord is great, and greatly to be praised: he is to be feared above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the nations are idols: but the Lord made the heavens.
6 Honour and majesty are before him: strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.
7 Give unto the Lord (O ye kindreds of the people) give unto the Lord glory and strength.
8 Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come unto his courts.
9 O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness: fear before him all the earth.
10 Say among the heathen, that the Lord is reigneth: the world also shall be established: that it shall not be moved: he shall judge the people righteously.
11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roar, and the fulnesse thereof.
12 Let the field be joyfull, and all that is therein: then shall all the trees of the wood rejoice.
13 Before the Lord: for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and he shall govern the people with equity.

PSAL. XCVII.

The majesty of the kingdom of the church, & the church at Gods judgement upon the heathen. 16 An exhortation to godliness and gladness.

1 The Lord is risen up, let the earth tremble:
let the Lord be exalted, let the Lord be exalted.
2 Clouds and darkness are round about him:
righteousnesse and judgement are the habitation of his throne.
3 A fire goeth before him, and burneth up his enemies round about.
4 His lightning hath enlightened the world: the earth saw and trembled.
5 The hills melted like wax in the presence of the Lord: at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.
6 The heavens declare his righteousness: and all the people see his glory.
7 Confounded be all they that serve graven images, that boast themselves of idols: worship him all ye gods.
8 Zion heard, and was glad, and the daughter of Judah rejoiced: because of the judgment, O Lord.
9 For thou, Lord, art high above all the earth: thou art exalted farre above all gods.
10 He that loveth the Lord, he shall say, he will preferre the souls of his saints: he will deliver them out of the hand of the wicked.
11 Light is sown for the righteous, and glad-nesse for the upright in heart.
12 Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous: O, to the and give thanks: at the remembrance of his memoriall.
holiness.

PSAL. XCVIII.

The psalmist exhorteth the Jews, & the Gentiles,
7 and all the creatures to praise God.

1 Sing unto the Lord a new song, for he hath done marvellous things in his right hand, and his holy arm hath gotten him the victory.
2 The Lord is now made known his salvation: his righteousness hath he openly shewed in the sight of the heathen.
3 He hath remembred his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.
4 Make a joyfull noise unto the Lord, all the earth: make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise.
5 Sing unto the Lord with the harp, and with the harp, and the voice of a psalter, and with 6 With trumpets and sound of cornet make a joyfull noise before the Lord our King.
7 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof:
the meane, and they that dwell therein.
8 Let the floods clap their hands: let the hills be joyfull together.
9 Before the Lord: for he cometh to judge the earth: with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity.

1 A psalm of David.

1 Will sing of mercy and judgement: unto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

2 I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way, when thou wilt come unto me: I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.

3 I will let no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the work of them that turn aside, it shall not cleave to me.

4 A crooked heart shall depart from me: I will not know a wicked person.

5 I will not hate a slanderer, nor will I cut off a man that hath an high look, and a proud heart, will not I suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me.

7 He that is wicked and deceitful, shall not dwell within my house: he that telleth lies, shall not tarry in my sight.

8 I will surely destroy all the wicked of the land: that I may cut off all wicked doers from the city of the Lord.

PSAL. CII.

1 The prophet in his prayer maketh a grievous complaint, 13 He taketh comfort in the eternity and mercy of God, 18 The mercies of God here to be recorded, 23 He sustineth his weakness by the unchangeableness of God.

1 A prayer of the afflicted when he is overwhelmed, and poureth out his complaint before the Lord.

1 Hear my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the day when I am in trouble, because mine ear unto me: in the day when I call, answer me speedily.

3 For my days are consumed like smoke: and my bones are burnt as an hearth.

4 My heart is smitten, and withered like grass: so that I forget to eat my bread.

5 By reason of the voice of my groaning, my bones cleave to my skin.

6 I am like a pelican of the wilderness: I am like an owl of the desert.

7 I watch, and am as a sparrow alone upon the house top.

8 Mine enemies reproach me all the day: and they that are mine adversaries, are I upon against me.

9 For I have eaten ashes like bread, and mingled my drink with weeping:

10 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast lifted me up, and cast me down.

11 My days are like a shadow, that deserveth: and I am withered like grass.

12 But thou, O Lord, endure for ever, and the remembrance unto all generations.

13 Thou shalt arise, and have mercy upon Sion: for the time to favour her, yea the time is come.

14 For thy servants take pleasure in her stones, and favour the dust thereof.

15 For the heathen shall fear the name of the Lord: and all the kings of the earth thy glory.

16 When the Lord shall build up Zion, he shall appear in his glory.

17 He will regard the prayer of the destitute, and not despise their prayer.

18 This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people which shall be created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For he hath looked down from the height of his sanctuary: from heaven did the Lord behold the earth:

20 To hear the groaning of the prisoner, to loose those that are appointed to death,

21 To declare the name of the Lord in Zion: and his praise in Jerusalem:

22 When the people are gathered together, and the kingdoms to serve the Lord.

23 He hath weakened my strength in the way: he hath shortened my days.

24 I said, O my God, take me not away in the midst of my days: thy years are throughout all generations.

25 Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands.

26 They shall perish, but thou shalt endure, yea all of them shall wear out like a garment: as a vestment shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end.

28 The children of thy servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before thee.

1 Heb. the children of death.

1 Heb. afflicted.

1 Heb. stand.

1 Heb. shall not be established.

1 Heb. shall not be established.

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits.

Who forgiveth all thine iniquities: who healeth all thy diseases.

Who redeemeth thy life from destruction: who crowneth thee with loving kindness and tender mercies.

Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things: so that thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

The Lord executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed.

He made known his ways unto Moses, his acts unto the children of Israel.

The Lord is merciful and gracious: slow to anger, and plentiful in mercy.

He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever.

He hath not dealt with us after our iniquities: nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.

For as the heaven is high above the earth: so great is his mercy towards them that fear him.

As farre as the east is from the west: so farre hath he removed our transgressions from us.

Like as a father pitieth his children: so the Lord pitieth them that fear him.

For he knoweth our frame: he remembereth that we are dust.

As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth.

For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him: and his righteousness unto childrens children:

As touching as keep his covenant: and to those that remember his commandments to do them.

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens: and his kingdom ruleth over all.

Bless the Lord ye his angels that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkning unto the voice of his word.

Bless ye the Lord ye his hosts, ye ministers of his that do his pleasure.

Bless the Lord ye all his works in all places of his dominion: bless the Lord, O my soul.

PSAL. CIV.

A meditation upon the mighty power, and wonderful providence of God. 31 Gods glory is eternal.

32 The prophet vermouth perpetually to praise God.

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God thou art very great: thou art clothed with honour and majesty.

Thou coverest thy self with light, as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain.

Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters, who maketh the clouds his chariot, who walketh upon the wings of the wind.

Who maketh his angels spirits: his ministers a flaming fire.

Who laid the foundations of the earth: that it should not be removed for ever.

Thou coverest it with the deep as with a garment: the waters stood above the mountains.

At the rebuke they fled: at the voice of thy thunder they hastened away.

They go up by the mountains: they go down by the valleys unto the place which thou hast founded for them.

Thou hast set a bound that they may not pass over: that they may not again come upon the earth.

Thou hast the springs of the valleys, which run among the hills.

They give drink to every beast of the field: the tiller addeth garnish to his flock.

By them shall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which sing among the boughes.

The waters of the rivers flow into the sea: the earth is satisfied with the fruit of the womb.

He causeth the grass to grow for the cattle, and herb for the service of man: that he may bring forth food out of the earth.

And winter that maketh glad the heart of man, and a plow to make his face to plow, and bread which strengtheneth mans heart.

The trees of the Lord are full of sap: the cedars of Lebanon which he hath planted.

Where the birds make their nests: as for the stork, the firre-trees are her house.

The high hills are a refuge for the wilde goats: and the rocks for the conies.

He appointed the moon for seasons: the sun knoweth his going down.

Thou makest darkness, and it is night: wherein all the beasts of the forest do creep forth.

The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God.

The sunne ariseth, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens.

When goeth forth to his work, and to his labour until the evening.

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

So is this great and wide sea, wherein creep things creeping innumerable, both small and great beasts.

There go the ships: there is that Leviathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

These wait all upon thee: that thou mayest give them their meat in due season.

That thou givest them, they gather: thou openest thine hand, they are filled with good.

Thou hidest thy face, they are troubled: thou takest away their breath, they die, and return to their dust.

Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created: and thou renewest the face of the earth.

The glory of the Lord thou shalt endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works.

He looketh on the earth, and it trembleth: he toucheth the hills, and they smoke.

I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will sing praise unto my God, while I have my being.

His meditation of him shall deliver me: I will be glad in the Lord.

Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more: bless thou the Lord, O my soul. Praise ye the Lord.

22 Therefore he works in the land of Canaan, and terrible things by the Red Sea.
23 Therefore he said that he would destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood before him in the breach: to turn away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.
24 Yea, they desired the pleasant land:
they believed not his word:
25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not unto the voice of the Lord.
26 Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to overthrow them in the wilderness: 27 To overthrow their seed also, among the nations, and to scatter them in the lands.
28 They joined themselves also unto Baalpeor, and ate the sacrifices of the dead.
29 Thus they provoked him to anger with their inventions: and the plague brake in upon them.
30 Then stood up Phinehas, and executed judgement: and so the plague was stayed.
31 And that was counted unto him for righteousness, unto all generations for evermore.
32 They angered him also at the waters of Strite, so that it went ill with Moses for their sakes:
33 Because they provoked his spirit, so that he spoke unadvisedly with his lips.
34 They did not destroy the nations, concerning whom the Lord commanded them:
35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works.
36 And they served their idols: which were a snare unto them.
37 Yea, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto devils.
38 And shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed unto the idols of Canaan: and the land was polluted with blood.
39 Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, inasmuch that he abhorred his own inheritance.
41 And he gave them into the hand of the heathen; and they that hated them, ruled over them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were brought into subjection under their dang:
43 Many times did he deliver them, but they provoked him with their counsel, and were brought low for their iniquity.
44 Nevertheless, he regarded their affliction when he heard their cry.
45 And he remembered for them his covenant, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies:
46 He made them also to be piers of all those that carried them captives.
47 Save us, O Lord our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks unto thy holy name, and to triumph in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord our God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVII.

The psalmist exhorteth the redeemed in praising God, to observe his manifold providence, 4 over travellers, 10 over captives, 17 over sick men, 23 over drunken, 33 and in divers varieties of life.

Give thanks unto the Lord our God, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, 397 when he hath redeemed them from the hand of the enemy:
3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south.
4 They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way, they found no city to dwell in.
5 Hungry and thirsty, their soul faunted in them.
6 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses.
7 And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.
8 Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.
9 For he satisfied the longing soul, and filled the hungry soul with goodness.
10 Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron.
11 Because they rebelled against the words of God, and contemned the counsel of the most high:
12 Therefore he brought down their heart with labour, they fell down, and there was none to help.
13 Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses.
14 He brought them out of darkness, and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in under.
15 Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to
the children of men:
16 For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in under.
17 Fools, because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted.
18 Their soul abhorreth all manner of meat, and they draw near unto the gates of death.
19 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, he saves them out of their distresses.
20 He sent his word, and healed them, and redeemed them from their destructions.
21 Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.
22 And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing.
23 They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters: 24 Their see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.
25 For he commandeth, and raiseth the storm, he maketh my wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof, so stand.
26 They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths, their soul is melted because of trouble.
27 They reel in and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wits end.
28 Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he delivers them out of their distresses.
29 He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.
30 Then are they glad because they be quiet;
so he bringeth them unto their desired haven.
31 Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.

1 David encourageth himself to praise God, 5 He prayeth for Gods assistance according to his promise, 11 His confidence in Gods help.

A long or psalme of David.

O God my heart is fixed, I will sing and give praise, even with my glory.

2 Awake plastery and harp: I my self will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: and I will sing praises unto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great above the heavens; and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds.

5 Be thou exalted, O God above the heavens: and thy glory above all the earth;

6 That thy beloved may be delivered: save with thy right hand and an iower me.

7 God hath spoken in his holiness, I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead is mine, Dan is mine, Ephraim also is the strength of mine head, Judah is my law-giver.

9 Gad is my batty, over Edom will I cast out my shoe: over Philistia will I triumph.

10 Who will bring me into the strong cities: who will lead me into Edom?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, who hast cast us off: and wilt not thou, O God, go forth with our hosts?

12 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

13 Though God be shall do valiantly: for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

O to the chief musician, A psalme of David.

1 O Lord not thy peace, O God of my praise.

2 For the mouth of the wicked; and the † mouth of the deceitfull † are opened against me: they have spoken against me with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed me about also with words of hatred: and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my love, they are my adversaries: but I give my self unto prayer.

5 And they have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love.

6 Set thou a wicked man over him: and let Satan stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall be judged, let him be condemned, and let his prayer become sinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his office.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be continually vagabonds, and beg: let them seek their bread also out of their desolate places.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath: and let the stranger spoil his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy unto him: neither let there be any to favour his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posterity be cut off, and in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

14 Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered with the Lord, and let not the sinne of his mother be blotted out.

15 Let them be before the Lord continually, that he may cut off the memory of them from the earth.

16 Because that he remembered not to shew mercy, but persecuted the poore and needy man, that he might even slay the broken in heart.

17 As he loved cursing, so let it come unto him: as he delighted not in blessing, so let it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed himself with cursing like as with his garment: so let it come into his bowels like water, and like oyl into his bones.

19 Let it be unto him as the garment which covereth him; and for a girdle wherewith he is girded continually.

20 Let this be the reward of mine adversaries from the Lord, and of them that speak evil against my soul.

21 But do thou for me, O God to the Lord, for thy names sake: because thy mercy is good: deliver thou me.

22 For I am poore and needy: and my heart is wounded with mine.

23 I am gone like the shadow, when it declineth: I am tossed up and down as the locust.

24 My knees are weak through fasting; and my flesh faileth of fatnelle.

25 I became also a reproach unto them: when they looked upon me, they shaked their heads.

26 Help me, O Lord to my God: I have me according to thy mercy.

27 That they may know, that this is thy hand: that thou Lord to do all done it.

28 Let them curse, but bless thou: when they arise, let them be ashamed: but let thy servant rejoice.

29 Let mine adversaries be clothed with shame: and let them cover themselves with their own confusion, as with a mantle.

30 I will greatly praise the Lord to my mouth: yea, I will praise him among the multitude.

31 For he shall stand at the right hand of the poore: to save him † from those that condemn his soul.

Christ's kingdome, priesthood, &c. Psalmes. Exhortations to praise God.

PSAL. CX.

23 DAY.
Morning
prayer.

I The kingdome, 4 the priesthood, 5 the conquest, 7 and the passion of Christ.

A psalme of David.

The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, untill I make thine enemies thy footstool.

The Lord shall send the rod of thy strength out of Zion: rule thou in the mids of thine enemies.

Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holiness: from the wombe of the morning: thou hast the dew of thy youth.

The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent: thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchizedek.

The Lord at the right hand shall strike through kings in the day of his wrath.

He shall judge among the heathen, he shall fill the places with the dead bones: he shall wound the heads over many countreys.

He shall drink of the brook in the way: therefore shall he lift up the head.

PSAL. CXI.

I The psalmist by his example inciteth others to praise God, for his glorious, & gracious works. 10 The fear of God breedeth true wisdom.

Praise ye the Lord, I will praise the Lord with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation.

The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein.

His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteousness endureth for ever.

He hath made his wonderfull works to be remembered: the Lord is gracious and full of compassion.

He hath given meat unto them that fear him: he will ever be mindful of his covenant.

He hath shewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen.

The works of his hands are veritie and judgement: all his commandments are sure.

They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness.

He sent redemption unto his people, he hath commanded his covenant for ever: holy and true: and is his name.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endureth for ever.

PSAL. CXII.

I Godliness hath the promise of this life, 4 and of the life to come. 10 The prosperity of the godly shall be an eye-sore to the wicked.

Praise ye the Lord. Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord, that delighteth greatly in his commandments.

His seed shall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the upright shall be blessed.

Wealth and riches shall be in his house, and his righteousness endureth for ever.

Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous.

A good man sweeth labour, and lendeth; he will guide his affairs with discretion.

Surely he shall not be moved for ever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance.

7 He shall not be afraid of evil things: his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord.

His heart is established, he shall not be afraid, untill he see his desire upon his enemies.

He hath dispersed, he hath given to the poor: his righteousness endureth for ever; his horn shall be exalted with honour.

The wicked shall see it, and be grieved: he shall gnash with his teeth, and melt away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL. CXIII.

I An exhortation to praise God for his excellency, 6 for his mercy.

Praise ye the Lord, praise, O ye servants of the Lord, praise the name of the Lord from this time forth and for evermore.

From the rising of the sunne unto the going down of the same, the Lord's name is to be praised.

The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory above the heavens.

Who is like unto the Lord our God, who dwelleth on high?

Who humbled himself to behold the things that are in heaven, and in the earth?

He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth the needy out of the dung-hill:

That he may set him with princes, even with the princes of his people.

He maketh the barren woman to keep house, and to be a joyful mother of children: praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIII.

I An exhortation by the example of the dumb creatures, to fear God in his church.

When Israel went out of Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people of strange language, Judah was his sanctuary, and Israel his dominion.

The sea saw it, and fled: Jordan was driven back.

The mountains skipped like lambs, and the little hills like lambs.

What alled thee, O thou sea, that thou fleddest: thou Jordan, that thou wast driven back?

The mountains, that ye skipped like rammes: and ye little hills like lambs?

Tremble thou earth at the presence of the Lord: at the presence of the Lord of Jacob.

Which turned the rock into a standing water, the flint into a fountain of waters.

PSAL. CXV.

I Because God is truly glorious, 4 and idols are vanities, 9 he exhorteth to confidence in God. 12 God is to be blessed for his blessings.

Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy, and for thy truths sake.

Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is now their God?

But our God is in the heavens, he hath done whatsoever he pleased.

Their idols are silver and gold, the work of mens hands.

They have mouths, but they speak not: eyes have they, but they see not.

They have ears, but they heare not: noses have they, but they smell not.

They have hands, but they handle not: feet have they, but they walk not.

David professeth his love to God. Psalmes. An exhortation to praise God.

have they, but they shall not neither speak they through their throat.

8 They that make them, are like unto them: so is every one that trusteth in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: he is their help and their shield.

10 O house of Aaron, trust in the Lord: he is their help and their shield.

11 Ye that fear the Lord, trust in the Lord: he is their help and their shield.

12 The Lord hath been mindful of us, he will bless us, he will bless the house of Israel, he will bless the house of Aaron.

13 He will bless them that fear the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord shall increase you more and more, you and your children.

15 You are blessed of the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men.

17 The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go down into silence.

18 But we will bless the Lord, from this time forth and for evermore. Praise the Lord.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 The psalmist professeth his love and duty to God for his deliverance. 12 He studieth to be thankful.

I love the Lord, because he hath heard my voice, and my supplications.

2 Because he hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will I call upon him as long as I live.

3 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the pains of hell gat hold upon me: I found trouble and sorrow.

4 When called I upon the name of the Lord, O Lord, I beseech thee, deliver my soul.

5 Gracious is the Lord, and righteous: yes, our God is merciful.

6 The Lord preserveth the simple: I was brought low, and he helped me.

7 Return unto thy rest, O my soul, for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee.

8 For thou hast delivered my soul from death, mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling.

9 I will walk before the Lord in the land of the living.

10 I beseech, therefore have I spoken: I was greatly afflicted.

11 I said in my haste, All men are liars.

12 And yet shall I render unto the Lord, for all his benefits towards me.

13 I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vows unto the Lord, now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.

16 O Lord, truly I am thy servant, I am thy servant, and the son of the handmaid: thou hast loosed my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call upon the name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vows unto the Lord, now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lord's house, in the midst of thee, O Jerusalem, praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVII.

An exhortation to praise God for his mercy and truth.

Praise the Lord, all ye nations: praise him all ye people.

2 For his mercifull kindness is great towards us: and the truth of the Lord endureth for ever. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 An exhortation to praise God for his mercy, & the psalmist by his experience sheweth how good it is to trust in God. 19 Under the type of the psalmist, the coming of Christ in his kingdom is expressed.

O God, thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: because his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let Israel now say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

4 Let them now that fear the Lord say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

5 I called upon the Lord in distress: the Lord answered me, and set me in a large distress place.

6 The Lord is for my side, I will not fear: what can man do unto me?

7 The Lord taketh my part with them that help me: therefore shall I see my desire upon them that hate me.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to put confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to put confidence in princes.

10 All nations compassed me about: but in the name of the Lord I will destroy them.

11 They compassed me about, yea, they compassed me about: but in the name of the Lord I will destroy them.

12 They compassed me about like bees, they are quenched as the fire of thorns: for in the name of the Lord I will destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust foes at me that I might down fall: but the Lord helped me.

14 The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation.

15 The voice of rejoicing and salvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the Lord doth valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord doth valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord hath chastened me sore: but he hath not given me over unto death.

19 Open to me the gates of righteousness: I will go into them, and I will praise the Lord.

20 This gate of the Lord, into which the righteous shall enter.

21 I will praise thee, for thou hast heard me, and art become my salvation.

22 The stone which the builders refused, is become the head stone of the corner.

23 This is the Lord doing, it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day which the Lord hath made, we will rejoice and be glad in it.

25 Save now, I beseech thee, O Lord: O Lord, I beseech thee, send now assistance.

26 Blessed be that cometh in the name of the Lord: we have blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 God is the Lord, which hath shined us light: bind the sacrifice with cords, even unto the horns of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee: thou art my God, I will exalt thee.

29 O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

TETH.

65 Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O Lord, according unto thy word.

66 Teach me good judgement, and knowledge: for I have broken thy commandments.

67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now have I kept thy word.

68 Thy word are good, and doest good; teach me thy statutes.

69 Thy word have forged a lie against me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 Their heart is as fat as grease, but I delight in thy law.

71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted: for I might learn thy statutes.

72 The law of thy mouth is better unto me, than thousands of gold and silver.

JOD.

73 Thy hands have made me and fashioned me: give me understanding, that I may learn thy commandments.

74 They that fear thee, will be glad when they see me: because I have hoped in thy word.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy judgements are right: and that thou in faithfulness hast afflicted me.

76 Let it pay thee, thy mercifull kindness be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy servant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come unto me, that I may live: for thy law is my delight.

78 Let the proud be ashamed, for they dealt perversely with me without a cause: but I will meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let those that fear thee, turn unto me, and shall that have known thy testimonies.

80 Let my heart be found in thy statutes: that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

81 My soul fainted for thy salvation: but I hope in thy word.

82 Mine eyes fail for thy word, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am become like a bottle in the smoke: yet do I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the days of thy servant: when wilt thou execute judgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proud have digged pits for me, which are not after thy law.

86 All the commandments are faithful: thy precepts are wrongfully; help thou me.

87 They had almost consumed me upon earth: but I forgot not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me after thy loving kindness, so shall I keep thy testimony of the mouth.

LAMED.

89 For thee, O Lord, thy word is sealed in heaven.

90 Thy faithfulness is unto all generations: thou hast established thy word, and is established.

91 They continue thou hast according to thine ordinances: for all are thy servants.

92 Gladly thy law had been my delights: I would then have perished in mine affliction.

93 I will never forget thy precepts: for with thy word I have quickened me.

94 I am thine, save me: for I have sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked have waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I have seen an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding broad.

MEM.

97 O how love I thy law: it is my meditation all the day.

98 Thou through thy commandments hast made me wise: then mine enemies: for I they are ever with me.

99 I have more understanding than all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I understand more than the ancients: because I keep thy precepts.

101 I have restrained my feet from every evil way: that I may keep thy word.

102 I have not departed from thy judgements: for thou hast taught me.

103 How sweet are thy words unto my taste! yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth.

104 Though thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way.

NUN.

105 Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.

106 I have sworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep thy righteous judgements.

107 I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O Lord, according unto thy word.

108 Accept, I beseech thee, the free-will offerings of my mouth, O Lord, and teach me thy judgements.

109 My soul is continually in my hand: yet do I not forget thy law.

110 The wicked have laid a snare for me: yet I erred not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart.

112 I have inclined mine heart: to perform thy statutes always even unto the end.

SAMECH.

113 I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love.

114 Thou art my hiding place, and my shield: I hope in thy word.

115 Depart from me, ye evil doers: for I will keep the commandments of my God.

116 Uphold me according unto thy word, that I may live: for I am not ashamed of my hope.

117 Hold thou me up, and I shall be safe: and I will have respect unto thy statutes continually.

118 Thou hast broken down all them that erre from thy statutes: for their deceit is falsehood.

119 Thou hast put away all the workers of the earth like moss: therefore I love thy testimonies.

120 My flesh trembleth for fear of thee, and I am afraid of thy judgements.

AIN.

121 I have done judgement and justice: leave me not to mine oppressors.

122 Deliver me, for thy servant for good: let not the proud oppress me.

123 Mine eyes fail for thy salvation, and for thy word of thy righteousness.

124 Deal with thy servant according unto thy mercy, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy servant, give me understanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is time for thee, O Lord, to work: for they have made bold the law.

127 Therefore I love thy commandments, above gold, yea above fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteem all thy precepts concerning all things to be right: and I hate every false way.

129 Thy testimonies are wonderful: therefore both my soul keep them.

130 The entrance of thy words giveth light: it giveth understanding unto the simple.

131 I opened my mouth, and opened: for I longed for thy commandments.

132 Look thou upon me, and be merciful unto me: for as thou wilt to do unto those that love thy name.

133 Order my steps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me.

134 Deliver me from the oppression of man: so will I keep thy precepts.

135 Make thy face to shine upon thy servant: and reach me thy statutes.

136 Rivers of waters run down mine eyes: because they keep not thy law.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous are thou, O Lord, and upright are thy judgements.

138 Thy testimonies that thou hast commanded: they are righteous, and very faithful.

139 Thy zeal hath consumed me: because mine enemies have forgotten thy words.

140 Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it.

141 I am small and despised: yet do not I forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth.

143 Trouble and anguish have I taken hold on me: yet thy commandments are my delights.

144 The righteousness of thy testimonies is everlasting: give me understanding, and I shall live.

KOPH.

145 I cried with my whole heart, hear me, O Lord: I will keep thy statutes.

146 I cried unto thee, O Lord: and I shall keep thy testimonies.

147 I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word.

148 Mine eyes prevent the night watches, that I might meditate in thy word.

149 Hear my voice according unto thy loving kindness: O Lord: so quicken me according to thy judgement.

150 Thy words right that follow after mischief: they are farre from the law.

151 Thou art near, O Lord: and all thy commandments are true.

152 Concerning the testimonies, I have known of old, that thou hast founded them for ever.

RESH.

153 Consider mine affliction, and deliver me: for I do not forget thy law.

154 Plead my cause, and deliver me: quicken me according to thy word.

155 Salvation is farre from the wicked: for they seek not thy statutes.

156 Great are the tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy judgements.

157 Many are my persecutors, and mine enemies: yet do I not decline from the testimonies.

158 I beheld the transgressors, and was grieved: because they keep not thy word.

159 Consider how I love thy precepts: quicken me, O Lord, according to thy loving kindness.

160 Thy word is true from the beginning: and every one of the righteous judgements endureth for ever.

161 Blinded have I been, and without a candle: but my heart standeth in awe of thy word.

162 I rejoice at thy word, as one that findeth great spoil.

163 I hate and abhorre lying: but thy law do I love.

164 Seven times a day do I praise thee: because of thy righteous judgements.

165 Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them.

166 Lord, I have hoped for thy salvation: and done thy commandments.

167 My soul hath kept thy testimonies: and I love them exceedingly.

168 I have kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: for all my ways are before thee.

TAV.

169 Let my cry come before thee, O Lord: so will I understand according to thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee: deliver me according to thy word.

171 My lips shall utter praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall speak of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteousness.

173 Let thine hand help me: for I have chosen thy precepts.

174 I have longed for thy salvation, O Lord: and thy law is my delight.

175 Let my soul live, and it shall praise thee: and let thy judgements help me.

176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep, seek thy servant: for I do not forget thy commandments.

8 The L. O. M. shall praise the going out, and the coming in, of the church, and even for evermore.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 David professeth his joy for the church, & and prayeth for the peace thereof.

A Song of degrees of David.

1 As glad as glad when they shall see me, let us go into the house of the L. O. M.

2 Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem.

3 Jerusalem is builded as a city, that is compact together.

4 And hither the tribes go up, the tribes of the L. O. M., unto the testimony of Israel, to give thanks unto the name of the L. O. M.

5 For there are set thrones of judgement: the thrones of the house of David.

6 Where say the gates of Jerusalem? they shall prosper that love thee.

7 Peace be within thy walls, and prosperity within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren and companions sake, I will now say, Peace be within thee.

9 Because of the house of the L. O. M. our God, I will seek thy good.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 The godly professeth his confidence in God, & and pray to be delivered from contempt.

A Song of degrees.

1 Unto thee lift I up mine eyes, O thou that dwellest in the heavens.

2 Behold, as the eyes of servants look unto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden unto the hand of her mistress: so our eyes wait upon the L. O. M. our God, until that he have mercy upon us.

3 Have mercy upon us, O L. O. M., have mercy upon us: for we are exceedingly filled with contempt.

4 Our soul is exceedingly filled with the counting of those that are at ease, and with the contempt of the proud.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 The church blesseth God for a miraculous deliverance.

A Song of degrees of David.

1 It had not been the L. O. M. who was on our side, when men rose up against us.

2 If it had not been the L. O. M. who was on our side, when men rose up against us.

3 When they had despised us as uprisers, when their wrath was kindled against us.

4 When the waters had overwhelmed us, the stream had gone over our soul.

5 When the floods were kindled against us, the stream had gone over our soul.

6 Blessed be the L. O. M.: who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth.

7 Our soul is escaped as a bird out of the snare of the fowler: our soul is kindled, and we are escaped.

8 Our help is in the name of the L. O. M., who hath made heaven and earth.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 The safety of such as trust in God, & pray for the godly, and against the wicked.

A Song of degrees.

1 They that trust in the L. O. M. shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever.

2 As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the L. O. M. is round about his people, from henceforth even for ever.

3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous: lest the righteous puttle, for their hands unto iniquity.

4 Do good, O L. O. M., unto those that be good, and to them that are upright in their hearts.

5 As for such as turn aside unto their crooked ways, the L. O. M. shall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace shall be upon Israel.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 The church celebrating her incredible return out of captivity, & prayeth for, and propheseth the good success thereof.

A Song of degrees.

1 When the L. O. M. turned again the captivity of Zion: we were like them that dream.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing: then said they among the heathen, The L. O. M. hath done great things for them.

3 The L. O. M. hath done great things for us: whereof we are glad.

4 Turn again our captivity, O L. O. M., as the streams in the south.

5 They that sow in tears, shall reap in joy. || Or singing.

6 He shall go forth as a corn of wheat, and shall increase like a bay tree: his branches shall be multiplied, and he shall be like a cedar of Lebanon.

1 The voice of God's blessing, & good children are his gift.

A Song of degrees of Solomon.

1 Except the L. O. M. build the house, they labour in vain that build it: except the L. O. M. keep the city, the watchman watcheth but in vain.

2 It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrow: for so he giveth his beloved sleep.

3 Lo, children are an heritage of the L. O. M., and the fruit of the womb is his reward.

4 As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man: so are children of the womb.

5 Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them: they shall not be ashamed, but they shall speak with the enemies in the gate.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 The church blessing God for a miraculous deliverance.

A Song of degrees.

1 Blessed is every one that feareth the L. O. M.: he shall not be troubled in his days.

2 For thou shalt eat the labour of thine hands: thou shalt be happy, and it shall be well with thee.

3 Thy wife shall be as a fruitful vine by the sides of thine house: thy children like olive plants round about thy table.

4 Behold, that thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the L. O. M.

5 The L. O. M. shall bless thee out of Zion, and thou shalt fear for the good of Jerusalem, all the days of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy children's children, and peace upon Israel.

1 An exhortation to praise God for saving Israel in their great afflictions. 5 The haters of the church are cursed.

A Song of degrees.

Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth, may Israel now say:
2 Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth: yet they have not prevailed against me.
3 The plowers plowed upon my back: they made long their furrows.
4 The Lord is righteous: he hath cut asunder the cords of the wicked.
5 Let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Zion.
6 Let them be as the grassie upon the house tops: which withered afore it groweth up:
7 And bereave the mower fillet not his hand: nor be that bindeth sheaves his bosome:
8 Neither do they which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be upon you: we bless you in the name of the Lord.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The psalmist professeth his hope in prayer, 5 and his patience in hope. 7 He exhorteth Israel to hope in God.

A Song of degrees.

Out of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord.
2 Lord heare my voice: let thine eares be attentive to the voice of my supplications.
3 If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities:
4 Lord, who shall stand?
5 But there is forgiveness with thee: that thou mayest be feared.
6 I wait for the Lord: my soul doth wait, and in his word be I hope.
7 My soul waiteth for the morning: I say, more then they that watch for the morning.
8 Let Israel hope in the Lord now, for with the Lord there is mercy: and with him is plentiful redemption.
9 And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

1 David professing his humility, 3 exhorteth Israel to hope in God.

A Song of degrees of David.

Lord, my heart is not haughty, nor mine eyes lofty: neither do I exalt my self in great matters, no in things too high for me.
Surely I have behaved and quieted my self as a child: as a weaned child.
3 Let Israel hope in the Lord now, from henceforth and for ever.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 David in his prayer commendeth unto God the religious care he had for the ark, 8 His prayer as the removing of the ark, 11 with a repetition of Gods promises.

A Song of degrees.

Lord remember David, and all his afflictions:
2 How he swore unto the Lord, and vowed unto the mighty God of Jacob.
3 Surely I will not come into the tabernacle of my house: nor go up into my bed.
4 I will not give sleep to mine eyes, or slumber to mine eyelids,

5 Until I finde out a place for the Lord: to an habitation for the mighty God of Jacob.
6 Lo, we heard of it at Ephraim: we found it in the fields of the wood.

7 And will go into his tabernacle: we will worship at his footstool.
8 Arise, O Lord, into the rest: thou, and the ark of thy strength.

9 Let thy priests be clothed with righteousness: and let thy saints shout for joy.
10 For thy servant David sake, turn not away the face of thine anointed.

11 The Lord hath chosen Zion in truth unto David, he will not turn from it, Of the fruit of thy body will I set upon thy throne.

12 If thy children will keep my covenant and my testimony, that I shall teach them: their children also shall sit upon thy throne for evermore.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion: he hath desired it for his habitation.

14 This is my rest for ever: here will I dwell, for I have desired it.

15 I will abundantly bless her provision: I will satisfy her poore with bread.

16 I will also clothe her priests with salvation: and her saints shall shout aloud for joy.

17 There will I make the horn of David to bud: I have ordained a lamp for mine anointed.
18 His enemies will I clothe with shame: but upon himself shall his crown flourish.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

The benefit of the communion of saints.

A Song of degrees of David.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is, for brethren to dwell together in unity.

2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aarons beard, that went down to the skirts of his garments.

3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord commanded the blessing, even life for evermore.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

An exhortation to bless God.

A Song of degrees.

Behold, bless ye the Lord, all ye servants of the Lord, which by night stand in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift up your hands in the sanctuary: and bless the Lord.

3 The Lord that made heaven and earth, bless thee out of Zion.

PSAL. CXXXV.

An exhortation to praise God for his mercy, 5 for his power, 8 for his judgements, 15 The variety of idols. 19 An exhortation to bless God.

Praise ye the Lord, praise ye the name of the Lord, praise him, O ye servants of the Lord.

2 Ye that stand in the house of the Lord, in the courts of the house of our God.

3 Praise ye the Lord, for the Lord is goodiving praise unto his name, for it is pleasant.

4 For the Lord hath chosen Jacob unto himself, and Israel for his peculiar treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.

David praiseth God.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

29 DAY.
Morning
prayer.

1 David praiseth God for his all-seeing providence, 17 and for his infinite mercies. 19 He defends the wicked. 23 He prayeth for sincerity.

¶ To the chief musician, A psalm of David.

O LORD, thou hast searched me, and known me.

2 Thou knowest my down-sitting, and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought as farre off.

3 Thou I compassed my path, and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but lo, O LORD, thou knowest it altogether.

5 Thou hast beted me before and beset, and laid thine hand upon me.

6 Such knowledge is too wonderfull for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it.

7 Whither shall I go from thy spirit? whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there.

9 If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea:

10 Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me.

11 If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me: even the night shall be light about me.

12 Yea, the darkness itself sheweth not from thee, but the night shineth as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to thee.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mothers womb.

14 I will praise thee, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made, marvellous are thy works, and that my soul knoweth it right well.

15 Why I subdace was not hid from thee, when I was made in secret, and curiously wrought in the lowest parts of the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see my substance yet being imperfect, and in the book I all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them.

17 How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O GOD: how great is the summe of them.

18 If I should count them, they are more in number then the sand: when I awake, I am still with thee.

19 Surely thou wilt slay the wicked, O GOD: depart from me therefore ye bloody men.

20 For they speak against thee wickedly, and thine enemies take thy name in vain.

21 Do not I hate them, O LORD, that hate thee: and am not I grieved with those that rise up against thee?

22 I hate them with perfect hatred: I count them mine enemies.

23 Search me, O GOD, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts.

24 And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

PSAL. CXL.

1 David prayeth to be delivered from Saul and Doeg. 8 He prayeth against them. 12 He comforteth himself by confidence in God.

¶ To the chief musician, A psalm of David.

Deliver me, O LORD, from the evil man: preserve me from the violent man.

Psalmes.

His prayer against Saul, &c.

2 Which imagine mischief in their heart, continually are they gathered together for warre.

3 They have sharpened their tongues like a serpent; * adders poison is under their lips. * Psal. 58. 4. Rome 3. 13

4 Keep me, O LORD, from the hands of the wicked, preserve me from the violent man, who have purposed to overthrow my goings.

5 The proud have hid a snare for me, and come, they have spread a net by the way: they have set grins for me. Selah.

6 I said unto the LORD, Thou art my God: heare the voice of my supplications, O LORD.

7 O LORD the LORD, the strength of my salvation, thou hast covered my head in the day of battell.

8 Giant not, O LORD, the desires of the wicked, further not his wicked device, lest they exalt themselves. Selah.

9 As for the head of those that compass me about, let the mischief of their own lips cover them.

10 Let burning coals fall upon them, let them be cast into the fire; into deep pits, that they rise not up again.

11 Let not I than evil speaker be established in the earth: nor shall him the violent man to overthrow him.

12 I know that the LORD will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and the right of the poor.

13 Surely the righteous shall give thanks unto thy name, the upright shall dwell in thy presence.

PSAL. CCLI.

1 David prayeth that his suit may be acceptable, 3 his conscience sincere, 7 and his life safe from snares.

¶ A psalm of David.

LORD, I cry unto thee, make haste unto me, give care unto my voice, when I cry unto thee.

2 Let my prayer be I set forth before thee: I set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O LORD, before my mouth, keep the doore of my lips.

4 Encline not my heart to any evil thing, to practise wicked works with men that work iniquitie: and let me not eat of their vainities.

5 Let the righteous smite me, it shall be as kindness; and let him reprove me, it shall be as gentle oil, which shall not break my head: for yet my prayer also shall be in thy calling.

6 When their judges are overthrown in stony places, they shall hear my voice, for they are sweet.

7 Our bones are scattered at the grave mouth, as when one cutteth and cleaveth wood upon the earth.

8 But mine eyes are unto thee, O LORD: the LORD is my trust, I leave not my soul desolate.

9 Keep me from the snare which they have laid for me, and the grins of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst that I will shall escape.

29 DAY.
Evening
prayer.

Or, a psalme of David giving instruction.

David sheweth that in his trouble, all his comfort was in prayer, unto God.

¶ A psalme of David: a prayer when he was in the cave.

I Cried unto the Lord with my voice: with my voice unto the Lord did I make my supplication.

2 I poured out my complaint before him: I shewed before him my trouble.

3 When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then thou knowest my path: in the way wherein I walked, have they privily laid a snare for me.

4 I looked upon my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me, refuge I failed me: I no man cared for my soul.

5 I cried unto thee, O Lord, I said, Thou art my refuge, and my portion in the land of the living.

6 Attend unto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliver me from my persecutors: for they are stronger then I.

7 Bring my soul out of prison, that I may praise thy name: the righteous shall compass me about: for thou shalt deal bountifully with me.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 David prayeth for favour in judgement. 3 He complaineth of his griefs. 5 He strengtheneth his faith by meditation and prayer. 7 He prayeth for grace, 9 for deliverance, 10 for sanctification, 12 for destruction of his enemies.

¶ A psalme of David.

Hear my prayer, O Lord, give care to my supplications: in thy faithfulness answer me, and in thy righteousness.

2 And enter not into judgement with thy servant: for in thy sight shall no man living be justified.

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soul, he hath smitten my life down to the ground: he hath made me to dwell in darkness, as those that have been long dead.

4 Therefore is my spirit overwhelmed within me: my heart within me is desolate.

5 I remember the days of old, I meditate on all thy works: I muse on the work of thy hands.

6 I stretch forth my hands unto thee: my soul thirsteth after thee, as a thirsty land. Selah.

7 Hear me speedily, O Lord, my spirit faileth: doe not thy face from me, lest I be like unto them that go down into the pit.

8 Cause me to hear the loving kindness of the morning, for in thee do I trust: cause me to know the way wherein I should walk, for I lift up my soul unto thee.

9 Deliver me, O Lord, from mine enemies:
I flee unto thee to hide me.

10 Teach me to do thy will, for thou art my God: thy spirit is good, lead me into the land of uprightness.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy names sake: for the righteousness sake bring my soul out of trouble.

12 And of thy mercy cut off mine enemies, and destroy all them that afflict my soul: for I am thy servant.

Psalms. He bleffeth God for his mercy.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 David bleffeth God for his mercy both to him and to man. 5 He prayeth that God would powerfully deliver him from his enemies. 9 He promiseth to praise God. 11 He prayeth for the happy estate of the kingdom.

¶ A psalme of David.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, * which braveth my hands to warre, and my firgers to fight.

2 Thy goodness, and my fortress, my high tower and my deliverer, my shield, and he in whom I trust: who subverteth my people under me.

3 Lord, what is man, that thou takest knowledge of him: or the sonne of man, that thou makest account of him?

4 Man is like to vanity: his dayes are as a shadow that passeth away.

5 Bow thy heavens, O Lord, and come down: touch the mountains, & they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth lightning, and scatter them:
shoot out thine arrows, and destroy them.

7 Send thine anger from above, rid me, and deliver me out of great waters: from the hand of strange children.

8 Thy holie mouth speaketh vanity: and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

9 I will sing a new song unto thee, O God:
upon a psalter, and an instrument of ten strings will I sing praises unto thee.

10 It is he that giveth salvation unto kings:
who delivereth David his servant from the hurt-full sword.

11 Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of strange children, whose mouth speaketh vanity:
and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

12 That our stones may be as plants grown up in their youth: that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace.

13 That our garners may be full, affording to all manner of store, that our sheep may bring forth thousands, & ten thousands in our streets.

14 That our oxen may be strong to labour, that there be no breaking in, nor going out: that there be no complaining in our streets.

15 Happy is that people that is in such a case: yea, happy is that people, whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLV.

1 David praiseth God for his fame, 8 for his goodness, 11 for his kingdom, 14 for his providence, 17 for his saving mercy.

I will extoll thee, my God, O King: and I will bless thy name for ever and ever.

2 Every day will I bless thee: and I will praise thy name for ever and ever.

3 Great is the Lord our God, and greatly to be praised: I and his greatness is unsearchable.

4 One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts.

5 I will speak of the glorious honour of thy majesty, and of thy wondrous works.

6 And men shall speak of the might of thy terrible acts: & I will declare thy greatness.

7 Thy shall abundantly utter the memoires of thy great goodness, and shall sing of thy righteousness.

1 The psalmist voweth perpetual praises to God, 3 He exhorteth, not to trust in man, 5 God for his power, justice, mercy and kingdom, is onely worthy to be praised.

† Heb. Halle. † loud.

Praise ye the Lord: praise the Lord, O my soul.

2 While I live, will I praise the Lord: I will sing praises unto my God, while I have any being.

3 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, in whom there is no help.

5 Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth truth for ever.

7 Which executeth judgement for the oppressed, which giveth food to the hungry: the Lord loveth the righteous.

8 The Lord will openeth the eyes of the blind: the Lord will raise them that are bowed down: the Lord will love the righteous.

9 The Lord will prefer the strangers; he will relieve the fatherless and widows: but the way of the wicked he will turne upside down.

10 The Lord shall reign for ever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praise God, for his care of the church, 4 his power, 6 and his mercy: 7 to praise him for his providence: 12 to praise him for his blessing upon the kingdom, 15 for his power over the meere, 19 and for his ordinances in the church.

Praise ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God: for it is pleasant, and praise is comely.

2 The Lord doth build up Jerusalem: he gathereth together the outcasts of Israel.

3 He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds.

4 He telleth the number of the starres: he calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite.

6 The Lord lifteth up the meek: he casteth the wicked down to the ground.

7 Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving: sing psalm upon the harp unto our God.

8 Which covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh grass to grow upon the mountains.

9 Which giveth to the beast his food, and to the young ravens which cry.

10 He delighteth not in the strength of the horse: he taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man.

11 The Lord taketh pleasure in them that fear him, in those that hope in his mercy.

12 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath strengthened the barres of thy gates: he hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 Which maketh peace in thy borders: and sil- leth thee with the finest of the wheat.

15 He sendeth forth his commandment upon earth: his word runneth very swiftly.

16 Which giveth snow like wool: he scattereth wheat, the bare frost like ashes.

17 Which casteth forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold?

18 He sendeth out his word: and melteth them: he causeth his winds to blow, and the waters flow.

19 Which telleth his word unto Jacob, his statutes and his judgements unto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgements, they have not known them. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 The psalmist exhorteth the celestiall, 7 the terrestri- all, 11 and the rationall creatures to praise God.

Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye the Lord from the heavens: praise him in the height.

2 Praise ye him all his angels: praise ye him all his hosts.

3 Praise ye him sunne and moon: praise him all ye starres of light.

4 Praise him ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that be above the heavens.

5 Let them praise the name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 He hath also stablished them for ever and ever: he hath made a decree which shall not passe.

7 Praise the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all deeps.

8 Fire and hail, snow and vapour, stormy winde fulfilling his word.

9 Mountains and all hills, fruitfull trees and all cedars.

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things, and flying fowl.

11 Kings of the earth, and all people, princes, and all judges of the earth.

12 Both young men and maidens, old men and children.

13 Let them praise the name of the Lord 14 He also praised the horn of his people, the 15 praise of all his saints; even of the children of Israel, a people near unto him. Praise ye the LORD.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praise God for his love to the church, & for that power, which he hath given to the church to rule the consciences of men.

he will beautifie the meek with salvation.
5 Let the saints be joyful in glory: let them sing aloud upon their beds.

6 Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hand: 7 To execute vengeance upon the heathen, and punishments upon the people.
8 To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron.
9 To execute upon them the judgement written: this honour have all his saints. Praise ye the LORD.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to praise God, with all kinds of of instruments.

Praise ye the LORD. Praise God in his sanctuary: praise him in the firmament of his power.
2 Praise him for his mighty acts: praise him according to his excellent greatness.
3 Praise him with the sound of the trumpet: Or, cornet.
4 Praise him with the psalter and harp.
5 Praise him with the chord and lute: Or, pipe.
6 Praise him upon the loud organs: Or, organs.
7 Praise him upon the loud symbols: praise him upon the high sounding symbols.
8 Let every thing that hath breath, praise the LORD. Praise ye the LORD.

THE PROVERBS.

CHAP. I.

1 The use of the proverbs. 7 An exhortation to fear God, and believe his word. 10 To avoid the en-snares of sinners. 20 Wisdomes complaint of her conceit. 34 She threateth her scorner.

He mother of Solomon the sonne of David, king of Israel;
2 To know wisdom and instruction, to perceive the words of understanding;
3 To receive the instruction of wisdom, justice, and judgement, and equity.

Job. equities.

Or, an eloquent speech.

Job 28. 28.

Job 28. 28.

Or, the principall part.

Job 28. 28.

Job 28. 28.

4 To give subtilty to the simple, to the young man knowledge, and discretion.
5 A wise man will heare, and will increaseth learning: and a man of understanding shall actain unto wise counsell.
6 To understand a proverb, and the interpretation of the words of the wise, and their dark sayings.
7 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction.
8 My sonne, heare the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother.
9 For they shall be to thee an ornament of grace unto the head, and chains about thy neck.
10 My sonne, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not.
11 If they say, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privily for the innocent without cause:
12 Let us swallow them up alive as the grave, and whole, as those that go down into the pit:
13 We shall fill their house with precious substance, we shall fill our houses with gold.
14 Call in the day morning up, let us all have our part:

15 My sonne, walk not thou in the way with them, refrain thy foot from their path.
16 For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood.
17 Surely in vain the net is spread for the light of any bird.
18 And they lay wait for their own blood, they lurk privily for their own lives.
19 So are the ways of every one that is greedy of gain; which taketh away the life of the owners thereof.
20 If a wise man crieth without, he uttereth his voice in the streets:
21 He crieth in the chief place of concourse, in the opening of the gates: in the city he uttereth his words, saying, 22 How long, ye simple ones, will ye love simplicity, and the scorner delight in their scorning, and fools hate knowledge?
23 Turn you at my reproof: behold, I will poure out my spirit unto you, I will make known my words unto you.
24 Because I have called, and ye refused; I have stretched out my hands, and no man regarded;
25 But ye have set at nought all my counsel, and would none of my reproof:
26 I also will laugh at your calamitie, I will mock when your fear cometh; 27 When your fear cometh as desolation, and your destruction cometh as a whirlwind; when distress and anguish shall come upon you.
28 When shall they call upon me, but I will not answer; they shall seek me early, but they shall not finde me.
29 For that they hated knowledge, and did not choose the fear of the LORD: 30 They despised my counsel: they despised all my reproof.
31 Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices.
32 For

1 Solomon to persuade obedience, 2 He sheweth what instruction he had of his parents, 3 To study wisdom, 14 and to shew the path of the wicked, 20 He exhorteth to faith, 23 and sanctification

Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding.

2 For I give you good doctrine, forsake you not my law.

3 For I was my fathers home, tender and only beloved in the sight of my mother.

4 He taught me also, and said unto me, Let thine heart retain my words: keep my commandments and live.

5 Get wisdom, get understanding: forget it not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall preserve thee: love her, and she shall keep thee.

7 Wisdom is the principall thing, therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall promote thee: she shall bring thee to honour, when thou dost embrace her.

9 She shall give to thee head "an ornament of grace: a crown of glory shall the deliver to thee.

10 Hear, O my sonne, and receive my sayings: and the years of thy life shall be many.

11 I have taught thee in the way of wisdom: I have led thee in right paths.

12 When thou goest, thy steps shall not be straitened, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble.

13 Take fast hold of instruction, let her not go: keep her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the path of the wicked, and ga not in the way of evilmen.

15 Avoid it, passe not by it, turn from it, and passe away.

16 For they sleep not except they have done mischief: and their sleep is taken away unless they cause some to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence.

18 But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.

19 The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble.

20 O my sonne, attend to my words, incline thine ear unto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes: keep them in the midst of thine heart.

22 For they are life unto those that finde them, and joy braked to all their flesh.

23 Keep thy heart with all diligence: for out of it are the issues of life.

24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and perverse lips put farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes look right on, and let thine eye-lins look straight before thee.

26 Honour the path of thy feet, and after all thy wayes be established.

27 Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil.

CHAP. V.

1 Solomon exhorteth to the study of wisdom, 3 He sheweth the mischief of whoredome and riot, 15 He exhorteth to contentednesse, liberality, and chastity, 23 The wicked are overtaken with their own sinnes, Mourn, attend unto my wisdom, and show thine ear to my understanding.

2 What thou mayest regard discretion, and that thy lips may keep knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop as an honey comb, and her mouth is smoother then oil.

4 But her end is bitter as wormwood, sharp as a two-edged sword.

5 Her feet go down to death: her steps take hold on hell.

6 Lest thou shouldest ponder the path of life, her wayes are movable, that thou canst not know them.

7 Hearke me now therefore, O ye children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Remove thy way farre from her, and come not nigh the house of her houses:

9 Lest thou give thine honour unto others, and thy years unto the cruel.

10 Let strangers be filled with thy wealth, and thy labours be in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou shalt be in the last, when thy flesh and thy body are consumed.

12 And say, How have I hated instruction, and my heart despised reproof?

13 And have not obeyed the voice of my teachers, nor inclined mine ear to them that instructed me:

14 I was almost in all evil, in the midst of the congregation and assembly.

15 I drank waters out of thine own cistern; and running waters out of thine own well.

16 Let thy fountains be dispersed abroad, and rivers of waters in the streets.

17 Let them be only thine own, and not strangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoyce with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her be as the loving hind, and pleasant doe: let her breasts fatisfie thee at all times, and let her ravish alwayes with her love.

20 And why wilt thou, my soune, be ravished with a strange woman, and embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his goings.

22 His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sinnes.

23 He shall die without instruction, and in the greatness of his folly he shall go astray.

CHAP. VI.

1 Against swarthyship, 6 idleness, 12 and mischiefousnesse, 16 Seven things hateful to God, 20 The blessings of obedience, 25 Themistibies of whoredome.

Mourn, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger.

2 Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth.

3 Do this now, my sonne, and deliver thy self, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend: go, humble thy self, // and make sure thy friend.

4 Give not sleep to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye-lids.

5 Deliver thy self as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her wayes, and be wise:

Medicine, Heb. above all keeping, Heb. forwardnesse of mouth, and perverseness of lips. O, all thy wayes should be ordered aright.

froward mouth do I hate.

14 Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom: I am understanding, I have strength.

15 By me kings reign, and princes decree justice.

16 By me princes rule, and nobles, even all the judges of the earth.

17 I love them that love me, and those that seek me early shall finde me.

18 * Riches and honour are with me; yea durable riches and righteousness.

19 * My fruit is better then gold; yea, then fine gold, and my revenue then choice silver.

20 I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment.

21 That I may cause those that love me, to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord possessed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old.

23 I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was.

24 When there were no depths, I was brought forth: when there were no fountains abounding with water.

25 Before the mountains were settled, before the hills, was I brought forth:

26 While as yet he had not made the earth, nor the fields, nor † the highest part of the dust of the world.

27 When he prepared the heavens, I was there; when he set † a compass upon the face of the depth.

28 When he established the clouds above:
when he strengthened the fountains of the deep:

29 * When he gave to the sea his decree, that the waters should not pass his commandment:
when he appointed the foundations of the earth:

30 * When I was by him, as one brought up with him: and I was daily his delight, rejoycing alwayes before him:

31 Rejoycing in the habitable part of his earth, and my delights were with the sonnes of men.

32 Now therefore hearken unto me, O ye children: for * blessed are they that keep my wayes.

33 Hearc instruction, and be wise, and rebaile it not.

34 Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, knocking at the posts of my doores.

35 For whoso findeth me, findeth life, and shall † obtain favour of the Lord.

36 But he that sinneth against me, wrongeth his own soul; all they that hate me love death.

CHAP. IX.

† The discipline, and doctrine of wisdom. 13 The rustome, 16 and error of folly.

Whomsoever hath business her house, he hath between our her seven pillars.

1 The hath killed † her beasts, the hath mis-gled her wine; the hath also furnished her table.

2 The hath sent forth her maidens, she crieth upon the highest places of the cite.

3 * Whoso is simple, let him turn in hither: as for him that wanteth understanding, he saith to him,

4 Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine which I have mingled.

5 Forake the foolish, and live; and go in the way of understanding.

6 He that reproveth a scorner, getteth to himself shame: and he that rebuketh a wicked man, getteth himself a blot.

7 * Reprove not a scorner, lest he hate thee:
rebuke a wise man, and he will love thee.

8 Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be yet wiser: teach a just man, and he will increase in learning.

9 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom: and the knowledge of the holy is understanding.

10 * For by me thy dayes shall be multiplied, and the yeares of thy life shall be increased.

11 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy self: but if thou scornest, thou alone shalt bear it.

12 * A foolish woman is clamorous; she is simple, and knoweth nothing.

13 For she stretcheth at the doore of her house, on a tear in the high places of the cite,

14 To call passengers to go right on their wayes.

15 Whoso is simple, let him turn in hither:
and as for him that wanteth understanding, he saith to him,

16 * Stolen waters are sweet, and bread † eaten in secret is pleasant.

17 But he knoweth not that the dead are there; and that her guests are in the depths of hell.

CHAP. X.

† From this chapter to the five and twentieth, are sundry observations of moral virtues, and their contra-rie vices.

The proverbes of Solomon: * A wise soune * Chap. 15 maketh a glad father; but a foolish soune is to the heaviness of his mother.

2 * Treasures of wickedness profit nothing:
but righteousness delivereth from death.

3 * The Lord is no will not suffer the soul of the righteous to famish: but he casteth away † the substance of the wicked.

4 * He becometh poore that dealeth with a slack hand; but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 * He that gathereth in summer, is a wise soune:
but he that sleepeth in harvest, is a soune that causeth shame.

6 Blessings are upon the head of the just: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked.

7 * The memory of the just is blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.

8 The wise in heart will receive commandments: but † a prating fool † shall fall.

9 * The that walketh uprightly, walketh surely: but he that perverteth his wayes, shall be known.

10 * He that winketh with the eye causeth sorrow: but a prating fool † shall fall.

of life: but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Covered stretcheth up herself; but she loatheth all sinners.

13 In the lips of him that hath understanding wisdom is found: but a rod is for the back of him that is void of understanding.

14 Wise men lay up knowledge: but the mouth of the foolish is near destruction.

15 The rich man's wealth is his strong city: the destruction of the poor is their poverty.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: the fruit of the wicked to sin.

17 He is in the way of life that keepeth his tongue: but he that refuseth reproof, he erreth.

18 He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a slander, is a fool.

19 In the multitude of words there wanteth not sin: but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the just is as choice silver: the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous feed many: but fools die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord is as silver, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it.

23 It is a sport to a fool to do no mischief: but a man of understanding hath wisdom.

24 The fear of the wicked, it shall come upon him: but the desire of the righteous shall be granted.

25 As the waterside passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the sluggard to them that send him.

27 The fear of the Lord is as a long life: it prolongeth days: but the years of the wicked shall be shortened.

28 The hope of the righteous shall be glorified: but the expectation of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the upright: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.

30 The righteous shall never be removed: but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth.

31 The mouth of the just bringeth forth wisdom: but the froward tongue shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable; but the mouth of the wicked speaketh frowardness.

CHAP. XI.

A false balance is abomination to the Lord: but a just weight is his delight.

2 Where pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The integrity of the upright shall guide them: but the perverse lips of transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches profit not in the day of wrath: but righteousness delivereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the perfect shall deliver him: but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness.

6 The righteousness of the upright shall deliver them: but transgressors shall be taken in their own unrighteousness.

7 When a wicked man dieth, his expectation shall perish: and the hope of unjust men perisheth.

8 The righteous is delivered out of trouble, and the wicked cometh in his stead.

9 An hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered.

10 When it goeth well with the righteous, the righteous rejoiceth: and when the wicked perish, there is shouting.

11 By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that is full of wisdom, his neighbour is his peace: but a man of understanding holdeth his peace.

13 A tale-bearer revealeth secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter.

14 Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety.

15 He that is furtive for a stranger, shall silence for it: and he that hateth suretyship, is sure.

16 A gracious woman retaineth honour and strong men retain riches.

17 The merciful man doeth good to his own soul: but he that is cruel, troubleth his own flesh.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but to him that soweth righteousness shall be a sure reward.

19 As righteousness tendeth to life: so he that pursueth evil, pursueth it to his own death.

20 They that are of a froward heart are abomination to the Lord: but such as are upright in their way, are his delight.

21 Though hand joyn in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seed of the righteous shall be delivered.

22 As a jewel of gold in a cloves mouth, so is a fair woman which is without guile.

23 The desire of the righteous is only good: but the expectation of the wicked is wrath.

24 There is that scattereth and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it rendereth to poverty.

25 The liberal soul shall be made fat: and he that watereth, shall be watered also himself.

26 He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth it.

27 He that diligently seeketh good, shall procure favour: but he that seeketh mischief, shall come unto him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a branch.

29 He that troubleth his own house, shall inherit the wind: and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life: and he that is winneth souls, is wise.

31 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: much more the wicked and the sinner.

CHAP. XII.

Who loveth instruction, loveth knowledge: but he that hateth reproof, is brutish.

2 A good man obtaineth favour of the Lord: but a man of wicked devices will he condemn.

3 A man shall not be established by wickedness: but the root of the righteous shall not be moved.

4 A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that maketh ashamed, is as rottenness in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceit.

6 The words of the wicked are to him as toils for blood: but the mouth of the upright shall deliver them.

Chap. 10. 11.

14 The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways; and a good man shall be justified from himself.

15 The simple believeth every word: but the prudent man looketh well to his going.

16 A wise man feareth, and is departed from evil: but the fool rageth and is confident.

17 He that is slow to anger hath greatly subdued himself: but a man of wrath drives to hazard.

18 The simple inherit folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The evil hath before him the good: and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

Chap. 10. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50.

20 The peace is hated even of his own household: but the rich hath many friends.

21 He that despiseth his neighbour, sinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he.

22 Do they not see that devise evil: but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good.

23 In all labour there is profit: but the talk of the lips bringeth nothing to pass.

24 The crown of the wise is their riches: but the foolishness of fools is folly.

25 A true witness delivereth souls: but a deceitful witness speaketh lies.

26 In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence: and his children shall have a place of refuge.

27 The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of people is the kings honour: but in the want of people is the destruction of the prince.

29 He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding: but he that is hasty of spirit exalteth folly.

30 A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy is rottenness of the bones.

31 He that oppresseth the poor, reproacheth his neighbour: but he that hath honour in him, hath mercy on the poor.

32 The wicked is driven away in his wickedness: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Withdome is riches in the house of him that hath understanding: but that which is in the mouth of fools is vanity.

34 Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.

35 The kings favour is to sow a wild servant: but his wrath is against him that causeth shame.

CHAP. XV.

A soft answer turneth away wrath: but anger kindleth wrath.

The tongue of the wise useth knowledge discreetly: but the mouth of fools openeth out foolishness.

1 The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good.

2 A wholesome tongue is a tree of life: but perverseness therein is a breach in the spirit.

3 A fool despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth reproof, is prudent.

4 In the house of the righteous is much treasure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.

5 The lips of the wise are filled with knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doth not.

6 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the upright is his delight.

7 The way of the wicked is an abomination unto the Lord: but he loveth him that followeth after righteousness.

8 Correction is grievous unto him that despiseth it: but he that is lowly will receive wisdom.

10 * Well and destruction are before the eyes of the Lord: and he hath much more than the heart of the children of men.

11 * A man knoweth not what reward shall be for him: neither shall he see his wages.

12 * A man knoweth not what shall be for him: neither shall he see his wages.

13 * A man knoweth not what shall be for him: neither shall he see his wages.

14 * The heart of him that hath understanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of fools is without wisdom.

15 * All the days of the afflicted are evil: but he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feast.

16 * Better is little with the fear of the Lord, than great treasure, and trouble therewith.

17 * Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a banquet of flesh where hatred is.

18 * A wrathful man stirreth up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife.

19 * The way of the foolish man is as an hedge of thorns: but the way of the righteous is made plain.

20 * A wife loose maketh a glad father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

21 * Folly is joy to him that is of a foolish heart: but a man of understanding walketh uprightly.

22 * All that count counsel purposed are disappointed: but in the multitude of counsel they are established.

23 * A man hath joy by the answer of his mouth: & a word spoken in due season, how good is it.

24 * The way of life is above the wife, that he may depart from hell death.

25 * The Lord will deliver the soul of the just: but he will establish the word of the wicked.

26 * The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the Lord: but the words of the pure, are pleasant words.

27 * He that is greedy of gain, troubleth his own house: but he that hateth gifts shall live.

28 * The heart of the righteous is ready to answer: but the mouth of the wicked is perverted.

29 * The Lord is farre from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 * The light of the eyes rejoiceth the heart: and a good report maketh the bones fat.

31 * The care that beareth the support of life, abideth among the wise.

32 * He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his own soul: but he that is ready to reproof, shall increase his wisdom.

33 * The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour is humility.

CHAP. XVI.

The preparations of the heart in man, trusteth and war of the tongue is from the Lord.

1 * All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes: but the Lord weigheth the spirits.

2 * Commit thy way unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established.

3 * The Lord hath made all things for himself: yet when the wicked rise up, he is not in hand, he shall not be unpunished.

4 * Every one that is proud in heart, is an abomination to the Lord: though he be rich in hand, he shall not be unpunished.

5 * By mercy and truth iniquities are purged: and by the fear of the Lord, men depart from evil.

7 * A fools mouth is his destruction, and his lips are the snare of his soul.
8 * The words of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly.
9 * He also that is richfull in his words, is brother to him that is a great traitor.
10 * The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and it is safe.
11 * The rich mans wealth is his strong citie: and as an high wall in his own conceit.
12 * Before destruction the heart of man is haughty, and before honour is humilitie.
13 * He that is not wiser, a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him.
14 * The spirit of a man will sustain his iniquitie, but a wounded spirit who can bear?
15 * The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the rare of the wise seeketh knowledge.
16 * A mans gift maketh room for him, and bringeth him before great men.
17 * He that is first in his own cause, seemeth just; but his neighbour cometh and searcheth him.
18 * The lot causeth contentions to cease, and parteth between the mighty.
19 * A brother offender is harder to be wonne then a strong city; and their contentions are like the barres of a castle.
20 * A mans belly shall be satisfied with the fruit of his mouth; and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.
21 * Death and life are in the power of the tongue; and they that love it, shall eat the fruit thereof.
22 * Whoso findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and obtained favour of the Lord.
23 * The poore useth intreaties, but the rich answereth roughly.
24 * A man that hath felidens, must shew him self friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer then a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

1 * Better is the poore that walketh in his integrity, then he that is perverse in his lips and is a fool.
2 * Also, that the soul be without knowledge, it is not good; and he that hasteth with his feet, sinneth.
3 * The foolishness of man perbereth his way; and his heart fretteth against the Lord.
4 * Wealth maketh many friends; but the poore is separated from his neighbour.
5 * A false witness shall not be unpunished, and he that speaketh lies shall not escape.
6 * Many will intreat the favour of the prince; and every man is a friend to him that giveth gifts.
7 * All the brethren of the poore do hate him: how much more do his friends go farre from him: he pursueth them with words, yet they are wanting to him.
8 * He that getteth wisdom, loveth his own soul: he that keepeth understanding, shall finde good.
9 * A false witness shall not be unpunished, and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.
10 * Delight is not seemly for a foot: much lesse for a servant to have rule over princes.
11 * The discretion of a man deferreth his anger, and it is his glory to pass over a transgression.
12 * The kings wrath is as the roaring of a lion: but his favour is as dew upon the grass.

13 * A foolish countenance is the calamitie of his father; and the contentions of a wife are a continual dropping.
14 * House and riches are the inheritance of fathers; and a prudent wife is from the Lord.
15 * Bloodguiltiness catcheth into a deep sleep; and an idle soul shall suffer hunger.
16 * He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his own soul; but he that despiseth his wordes, shall die.
17 * He that hath pity upon the poore, lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given, will he pay him againe.
18 * To chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare him for crying.
19 * A man of great wrath shall suffer punishment: for if thou deliver him, yet thou must do it againe.
20 * Heare counsel and receive instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.
21 * There are many devices in a mans heart; nevertheless the counsel of the Lord is that shall stand.
22 * The desire of a man is his kindenesse: and a poore man is better then a liar.
23 * The fear of the Lord tendeth to life, and he that hath it shall abide satisfied: he shall not be visited with evil.
24 * A foolfull man sheweth his hand in his holowne, and will not so much as bring it to his mouth againe.
25 * Smite a scorner, and the simple will be wiser; and reprove one that hath understanding, and he will understand knowledge.
26 * He that wasteth his father, and chaseth away his mother, is a sonne that causeth shame, and bringeth reproach.
27 * Cease, my sonne, to heare the instruction, that causeth to erre from the words of knowledge.
28 * An ungodly witness stayeth judgements, and the mouth of the wicked is devoured with iniquitie.
29 * Judgements are prepared for scorers, and stripes for the back of fools.

CHAP. XX.

1 * Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.
2 * The fear of a king is as the roaring of a lion: who so provokeh him to anger, sinneth against his own soul.
3 * Let an honour for a man to cease from stripes: but every fool will be meddling.
4 * The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.
5 * Counsell in the heart of man is like deep water; but a man of understanding will draw it out.
6 * Good men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a false path man who can finde it?
7 * The just man walketh in his integrity: his children are blessed after him.
8 * A king that sitteth in the throne of judgement, scattereth away all evil with his eyes.
9 * Can we can say, I have made my heart clean, and I am pure from my sinne?
10 * Divers weights, and divers measures, both of them are alike abomination to the Lord.
11 * When a childe is known by his doings, whether his way be pure, & whether it be right.
12 * The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them.
13 * Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty; and not sleep, lest thou come to want.

as; open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

14 It is nought, it is nought (saith the buyer) but when he is gone his way, then he dotheth.

15 There is gold, and a multitude of rubies: but the lips of knowledge are a precious jewel.

16 * Take his garment that is surety for a stranger: and take a pledge of him for a strange woman.

17 * Bread of deceit is sweet to a man: but afterwards his mouth shall be filled with gravel.

18 * Every purpose is established by counsel: and with good advice make haste.

19 * He that speaketh about as a tale-bearer, revealeth secrets: therefore meddle not with him when he flattereth with his lips.

20 * A foolhold curseth his father or his mother, his lamp shall be put out in oblique darkness.

21 An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning: but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

22 * Say not thou: I will recompense evil: but wait on the Lord, and he shall save thee.

23 * Divers weights are an abomination unto the Lord: and a false balance is not good.

24 * A man's goings are of the Lord: how can a man then understand his own way?

25 It is a snare to the man who devoureth that which is holy: and after words to make enquiry.

26 * A wise king feareth the wicked, and keepeth the wheel upon them.

27 The spirit of man is the candle of the Lord: searching all the inward parts of the belly.

28 * Mercy and truth preserve the king: and his throne is upholden by mercy.

29 The glory of young men is their strength: and the beauty of old men is the gray head.

30 The bluntness of a woman's teeth is away: but in do stripes the inward parts of the belly.

CHAP. XXI.

The king's heart is in the hand of the Lord: as the rivers of water: he turneth it whithersoever he will.

2 * Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the Lord will pondereth the hearts.

3 * To do justice and judgement, is more acceptable to the Lord: than sacrifice.

4 * A high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is sin.

5 The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness: but of every one that is lazy, only to want.

6 * The getting of treasures by a lying tongue, is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death.

7 The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them: because they refuse to do judgement.

8 * The way of man is crooked and strange: but as for the pure, his work is right.

9 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, than with a brawling woman in a wide house.

10 * The soul of the wicked desireth evil: his neighbour he findeth not favour in his eyes.

11 * When the thresher is threshing, the simple is made wise: and when the wise is instructed, he receiveth knowledge.

12 The righteous man wisely considereth the house of the wicked: but God overthroweth the wicked for their wickedness.

13 * A fool doth multiply his cares at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard.

14 * A gift in secret pacifieth anger: and a reward in the house, strong wrath.

15 It is joy to the just to do judgement: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.

16 The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding, shall remain in the congregation of the dead.

17 The that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich.

18 * The wicked shall be a ransom for the righteous: and the transgression for the upright.

19 * It is better to dwell in the wilderness, than with a contentious and an angry woman.

20 There is a treasure to be desired, and oil in the dwelling of the wife: but a foolish man spendeth it up.

21 He that followeth after righteousness and mercy, findeth life, righteousness and honour.

22 A wise man saileth the city of the mighty, and casteth down the strength of the confidence thereof.

23 * Whereof keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles.

24 Proud and haughty scorneth is his name, who daileth in proud wrath.

25 * The desire of the slothful killeth himself: his hands refuse to labour.

26 The covetous generally all the day long: but the righteous giveth and spareth not.

27 * The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more, when he bringeth it with a wicked mind.

28 * A false witness shall perish: but the man that beareth, speaketh constantly.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but as for the upright, he is directed his way.

30 * There is no wisdom nor understanding, nor counsel against the Lord.

31 * The house is prepared against the day of wrath: but * (saith he) of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

A Good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold.

2 * The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

3 * A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and he becometh himself: but the simple passeth on and is punished.

4 * By humility and the fear of the Lord, are riches, and honour, and life.

5 * Thorns and snares are in the way of the proud: but they that keep his soul shall be safe from them.

6 * Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old he will not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.

8 * He that soweth iniquity, shall reap vanity: and the rod of his anger shall fail.

9 * He that hath a bountiful eye shall be blessed: for he giveth of his bread to the poor.

10 * Cast out the sower, and contention shall go out: yea, strife and reproach shall cease.

11 He that loveth pureness of heart, shall be blessed: for he shall be his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord are to prefer the knowledge, and he overthroweth the words of the transgressor.

13 * He that slothful man saith, There is a lion without, I shall be slain in the streets.

14 * The mouth of strange women is a deep pit: he that is addicted of the Lord shall fall therein.

15 Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction shall drive it farre from him.

16 He that oppresseth the poore to increase his riches, and he that groweth to the rich, shall surely come to want.

17 Bow down thine ear, and heare the words of the wise, and apply thine heart unto my knowledge.

18 For it is a pleasant thing if thou keep them: for therein they shall withhold thee from sin in thy lips.

19 That thy trust may be in the Lord, I have made known to thee this day, I even to thee.

20 Have not I written to thee excellent things in counsels and knowledge?

21 That I might make thee know the certainty of the words of truth: that thou mightest answer the words of truth to them that sit in unto thee?

22 Rob not the poore, because he is poore: neither oppress the afflicted in the gate.

23 For the Lord will plead their cause, and spoil the soul of those that spoiled them.

24 Make no friendship with an angry man: and with a furious man thou shalt not go:

25 Lest thou learn his ways, and get a share to thy soul.

26 Be not thou one of them that strike hands, or of them that are sureties for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why should he take away thy bed from under thee?

28 Remove not the ancient land-mark, which thy fathers have let.

29 Seek thou a man diligent in his business: for he shall stand before kings, he shall not stand before a mean man.

CHAP. XXII.

When thou sitest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee.

2 And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite.

3 Be not deceived of his dainties: for they are deceitful meat.

4 Labour not to be rich: cease from thine own labour.

5 For wisdom let thine eyes upon that which is not: for riches certainly make themselves wings, they flee away as an eagle towards heaven.

6 What thou hast not the head of him that hath an evil eye, neither desire thou his dainties meats.

7 For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he: eat and drink, saith he to thee, but his heart is not with thee.

8 The morsell which thou hast eaten, shall thou vomit up, and lose thy sweet words.

9 Speak not in the ears of a fool: for he will despise the wisdom of thy words.

10 Remove not the old land-mark; and enter not into the fields of the fatherless.

11 For their redeemer is mighty: he shall plead their cause with thee.

12 Apply thine heart unto instruction, and thine ears to the words of knowledge.

13 And thou shalt not covet from the child: for if thou devour him with the rod, he shall not die.

14 Thou shalt beat him with the rod, and shalt deliver his soul from hell.

15 By sorrow, if thine heart be wise, my heart shall rejoice: I even mine.

16 For my reins shall rejoice, when thy lips speak right things.

17 Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord, all the day long.

18 For surely there is an end, and thou shalt expectation shall not be cut off.

19 Hearken thou, my sonne, and be wise, and guide thine heart in the way.

20 Be not amongst wine-bibbers, amongst riotous eaters of flesh.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and idleness shall clothe a man with rags.

22 Hearken unto the father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy the truth, and sell it not also: wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly rejoice, and he that begetteth a wise child, shall have joy of him.

25 Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and the that bare thee shall rejoice.

26 Thy sonne, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes observe my wayes.

27 For an whore is a very ditch, and a strange woman is a narrow pit.

28 She also lieth in wait, as for a prey, and increaseth the transgressours among men.

29 Can she have two? who hath lovers two? hath contentions: who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes?

30 They that carry long at the wine, they shall go to seek much wine.

31 Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it is moved it fall aright.

32 At the fall it drieth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.

33 Thine eyes shall behold strange women, and thine heart shall utter perverse things.

34 Yea, thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast.

35 They have stricken me, shall thou say, and I was not sick: they have beaten me, and I felt it not: when shall I awake? I will seek it yet again.

CHAP. XXIII.

Be thou not envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart studieth destruction, and their lips talk of mischief.

3 Though wisdom is an house builded, and by understanding it is established:

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong, yea, a man of knowledge increaseth strength.

6 For by wisdom countest thou shalt make thy way: and in multitude of counsellours there is safety.

7 Wisdom is too high for a fool: he openeth not his mouth in the gate.

8 He that desireth to do evil, shall be called a mischievous person.

9 The thought of foolishness is sinne: and the scorner is an abomination to men.

10 If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small.

11 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are craved to be slain:

12 If thou sayest, Behold, I desire it not: dost not thou that ponderest the heart consider it? and he that keepeth the soul, dost not he know Jerusalem: and shall not he rescue to every man according to his way?

6 He that smiteth a message by the hand of a fool, cutteth off the feet, and drinketh damage.

7 The legs of the lame are not equal: so is a parable in the mouth of fools.

8 As he that bindeth a stone in a sling: so is he that giveth honour to a fool.

9 As a thorn goeth up into the hand of a dun-kard, so is a parable in the mouth of fools.

10 The great God that formed all things, doth rewardeth the fool, and rewardeth trans-gressours.

11 As a dog returneth to his vomit, so a fool returneth to his folly.

12 Seek thou a man wise in his own conceit:
there is more hope of a fool then of him.

13 The slothfull man saith, There is a lion in the way, a lion is in the streets.

14 As the dooze turneth upon his wings, so doth the slothfull upon his bed.

15 The slothfull hideth his hand in his bo-some, it grieveth him to bring it again to his mouth.

16 The fuggard is wiser in his own conceit, then seven men that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by, and metheth with strife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears.

18 As a mad man who casteth firebrands, arrows, and death:

19 So is the man that deceiveth his neighbour, and saith, Am not I in sport?

20 As here no wood is, there the fire goeth out: so where there is no steele, beareth the knife itself.

21 As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire, so is a contentious man to kindle strife.

22 The wounds of a tale-bearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly.

23 Burning lips, and a wicked heart, are like a potsherd covered with silver dross.

24 He that hateth, offendeth with his lips, and layeth up deceit within him.

25 When he speaketh fair, he deceiveth him not:
for there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 Whose hatred is covered by deceit, his wickedness shall be shewed before the whole congregation.

27 When he digged a pit, shall fall therein:
and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him.

28 A lying tongue hateth those that are afflicted by it, and a flattering mouth woorketh ruine.

CHAP. XXVII.

I Observations of self-love, 5 of true love, II of care to avoid offences, 23 and of the household care.

* Bask not thy self of to morrow: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise thee, and not thine own mouth: a stranger, and not thine own lips.

3 A stone is to be heavd, and the land weighed out:
but a fools watch is heavier then them both.

4 Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous;
but who is able to stand before envy?

5 Open rebukes is better then secret love.

6 Faithfull are the wounds of a friend; but the kisses of an enemy are deceitfull.

7 The full soul loatheth an honey-combe; but to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.

8 As a bird that wandereth from her nest: so is a man that wandereth from his place.

9 Delight and pleasure rejoice the heart: to both the sweetness of a mans friends by hearing counsel.

10 Thine own friends and the fathers friends forsake not; neither go into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamity: for better is a neighbour that is near, then a brother far off.

11 Be loose, be loose, and make my heart glad, that I may answer him that reproacheth me.

12 A prudent man fortifieth the evil, and hideth himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished.

13 Take his garment that is suretie for a stranger, and take a pledge of him for a strange woman.

14 He that blesteth his friend with a loud voice, rising early in the morning, it shall be counted a curse to him.

15 A continuall knocking in a very ranke day, and a contentious woman are alike.

16 Whosoever hideth her, hideth the wine, and the ornament of her right hand, which bewepeth it self.

17 Iron sharpeneth iron, so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

18 Whoso keepeth the fig-tree, shall eat the fruit thereof: so he that waiteth on his master shall be honoured.

19 As in water face answereth to face: so the heart of man to man.

20 Hell and destruction are never full, so the eyes of man are never satisfied.

21 As the lining pot for silver, and the furnace for gold: so is a man to his wealth.

22 Though thou shouldst buy a fool in a market among wheat till a peell, yet wilt not his foolishness depart from him.

23 Be thou diligent to know the state of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds.

24 For riches are not for ever: and doth the crown endure to every generation?

25 The hay appeareth, and the tender grass sheweth it self, and herbs of the mountains are gathered.

26 The lambs are for thy clothing, and the goats are the price of thy field.

27 And thou shalt have goats milk enough for the food, for the food of thy household, and for maintenance for thy maidens.

CHAP. XXVIII.

General observations of impiety and religious improprie.

The wicked slee when no man pursueth him:
the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of a land, many are the princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge the state thereof shall be prolonged.

3 A poor man that oppresseth the poore, is like a sweeping rain which leaveth no food.

4 They that forsake the law, praise the wicked:
but such as keep the law, contend with them.

5 Evil men understand not judgement: but they that seek the Law, understand all things.

6 Better is the poore that walketh in his uprightnes, then he that is perverse in his ways, though he be rich.

7 Whoso keepeth the law, is a wise sonne:
but he that is a companion of riotous men, sha-leth his father.

8 He that by usury and unjust gain increased his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pitie the poore.

9 He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination.

4. * Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended: who hath gathered the wind in his fists: who hath bound the waters in a garment: who hath established all the ends of the earth: what is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell.

5 * Every word of God is pure: he is a shield unto them that put their trust in him.

6 * Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two things have I required of thee, O denie them not before I die.

8 Remove farre from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty, nor riches, feed me with food to convenient for me.

9 * Let I be full, and I denie thee, and say, God is the Lame: for lest I be poore, and strai, and take the name of my God in vain.

10 * Accuse not a servant unto his master, lest he curse thee, and thou be found guilty.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doth not blisse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness.

13 There is a generation, O how * lofty are their eyes! and their eye-lins are lifted up.

14 * There is a generation, whose teeth are as knives, and their jaw-teeth as knives, to devour the poore from off the earth, and the needy from among men.

15 * The housewife hath two daughters, crying, Give, give. There are three things that are never satisfied, yea, four things say not, I is enough:

16 The grave, and the barren wombe, the earth that is not filled with water, and the fire that saith not, It is enough:

17 The eye that mocketh at his father, and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it.

18 There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four, which I know not:

19 The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent upon a rock, the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid.

20 Such is the way of an adulterous woman; she watcheth, and watcheth her mouth, and saith, I have done no wickedness.

21 For three things the earth is disquieted, and for four which it cannot bear:

22 * For a servant when he reigneth, and a fool when he is filled with meat.

23 For an odious woman when she is married, and an handmaid that is hie to her mistress.

24 There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wise:

25 * The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer;

26 * The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the rocks;

27 The locusts have no king, yet go they forth all of them by bands;

28 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings palaces.

29 There be three things which go well, yea four are comely in going:

30 A lion which is strongest among beasts, and turneth not away for any;

31 A grey-hound, an he-goat also, and a king against whom there is no rising up.

32 If thou hast done foolishly in lifting up thy self, or if thou hast thought evil, * lay thine hand upon thy mouth.

33 Surely the churning of milk bringeth forth butter, and the wringing of the nose bringeth forth blood: so the separating of angry bringeth forth strife.

1 Lemuel, lesson of chastity and temperance. 6 The afflicted are to be comforted and delivered. 10 The praise and properties of a good wife.

The words of king Lemuel, the prophete that his mother taught him.

2 What, my sonne! and what, the sonne of my wombe! and what, the sonne of my bowels!

3 Give not thy strength unto women, nor thy wayes to that which destroyeth kings.

4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes, strong drink:

5 Lest they drink, and forget the law, and pervert the judgement for any of the affliction.

6 * Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine to those that be of heavy hearts.

7 Let him drink, and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the dumb in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction.

9 Open thy mouth, * Judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poore and needy.

10 * * Who can finde a virtuous woman? for her price is farre above rubies.

11 The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of food.

12 She will do him good and not evil, all the dayes of her life.

13 She seeketh wool and flax, and worketh willingly with her hands.

14 She is like the merchants ships, she bringeth her food from afarre.

15 She riseth also while it is yet night, and giveth meat to her household, and a portion to her maidens.

16 She considereth a field, and * buyeth it: with the fruit of her hands she planteth a vineyard.

17 She girdeth her loyns with strength, and strengtheneth her arms.

18 * She perceiveth that her merchandise is good, her candle goeth not out by night.

19 She layeth her hands to the spindle, and her hands hold the distaff.

20 * She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, yea she reacheth forth her hands to the needy.

21 She is not afraid of the snow for her household: for all her household are clothed with scarlet.

22 She maketh her self coverings of tapestry, her clothing is silk and purple.

23 Her husband is known in the gates, when he sitteth among the elders of the land.

24 She maketh fine linen, and selleth it, and delivereth girdles unto the merchant.

25 Strength and honour are her clothing, and she shall rejoice in time to come.

26 * She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness.

27 She looketh well to the wayes of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.

28 Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he is praised her.

29 Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all.

30 * Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

31 Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates.

ECCLESIASTES.

or the PREACHER.

CHAP. I.

1 The preacher sheweth that all humane courses are vain:
4 because the creatures are pestilence in their courses.
9 They bring forth nothing new, and all old things are forgotten: 12 and because he hath found it so in the studies of wisdom.

The words of the preacher, the sonne of David, king of Ierusalem.

2 Vanity of vanities, saith the preacher, vanity of vanities, all is vanity.

3 What profit hath a man of all his labour which he laboureth under the sunne?

4 One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever.

5 The sunne also ariseth, and the sunne goeth down, and it hatheth to the place whither he ariseth.

6 The winde goeth toward the south, and turneth about unto the north: it whirleth about continually, and the winde returneth again according to his circuits.

7 All the rivers runne into the sea, yet the sea is not full: unto the place from whence the rivers come, thither they return again.

8 All things are full of labour, man cannot utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be: and that which is done, is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sunne.

10 Is there any thing, whereof it may be said, this is new? it hath been already of old time, which was before us.

11 There is no remembrance of former things; neither shall there be any remembrance of things that are to come, with those that shall come after.

12 I the preacher was king over Israel in Ierusalem.

13 And I gave my heart to seek and search out by wisdom, concerning all things that are done under heaven: this I saye travell hath God given to the sonnes of man, that he might exercise them.

14 I have seen all the works that are done under the sunne, and behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit.

15 That which is crooked cannot be made straight: and that which is wanting, cannot be numbered.

16 I communed with mine own heart, saying: No, I am come to great estate, and have gotten more wisdom then all they that have been before me in Ierusalem: yea, my heart had great experience of wisdom and knowledge.

17 And I gave my heart to know wisdom, and to know mannes life and folly: I perceived that this also is vexation of spirit.

18 For in much wisdom is much grief: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

CHAP. II.

1 The vanity of humane courses in the works of pleasure.

2 Though the wife be better then the fool, yet both have eyes. 18 The vanity of humane labours, in following: as they know not to whom. 24 Nothing better then joy in our labours, then what is Gods gift.

I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will prove thee with mirth, therefore enjoy pleasure: and behold, this also is vanity.

2 I said of laughter, it is mad: and of mirth, what profit?

3 I sought in mine heart to give myself unto wine (yet acquainting mine heart with wisdom) and to lay hold on folly, till I might see my flesh with what was that good for the sonnes of men, which they should do under the heaven, in all the dayes of their life.

4 I made me great works, I builded me houses, I planted me vineyards.

5 I made me gardens and orchards, and I planted trees in them of all kinde of fruits.

6 I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees.

7 I got me servants and maidens, and had greatness of house in my house: also I had great possessions of great and small cattell, above all of my house that were in Ierusalem before me.

8 I gathered me also silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings, and of the provinces: I got me men-singers and women-singers, and the delights of the sonnes of men, as I might call instruments, and that of all sorts.

9 So I was great, and increased more then all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

10 And to comforter mine eyes desired, I kept not from them, I withheld not my heart from any joy: for my heart rejoiced in all my labour, and this was my portion of all my labour.

11 Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do: and behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sunne.

12 And I turned my self to behold wisdom, and madnesse and folly: for what can the man do, that cometh after the king? even that which hath been already done.

13 When I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as farre as light excelleth darkness.

14 The wise mannes eyes are in his head, but ready done, the fool walketh in darkness: and I my self perceived also, that one event happeneth to them all, there is an

15 Then said I in my heart, As it happeneth to the fool, so it happeneth even to me, and today I was I than more wise: Then I said in my more then in heart, that this also is vanity.

16 For there is no remembrance of the wise more then of the fool for ever; seeing that which now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten: and how doth the wise man, as the fool.

17 Therefore I hated life, because the work peneith that is wrought under the sunne, is grievous unto me: for all is vanity and vexation of spirit.

18 I said, I hated all my labour which I had taken under the sunne: because I should leave it unto the man that shall be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shall be a wise man or a fool? yet shall he have rule over all my labour wherein I have laboured, and wherein I have shewed my self wise under the sunne. This is also vanity.

20 Therefore I went about to cause my heart to depart of all the labour which I took under the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose labour is in wisdom and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not laboured therein shall he leave it for his portion. This also is vanity, and a great evil.

22 For what hath man of all his labour, and of the iteration of his heart wherein he hath laboured under the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and his travell grief: yea, his heart taketh not rest in the night. This is also vanity.

24 ¶ There is nothing better for a man, then that he should eat and drinke; and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labour.
This also I saw, that it was from the hand of God.

25 For who can eat? or who else can hasten hereunto more than I?

26 For God giveth to a man that is good: in his sight, wisdom and knowledge, and joy: but to the sinner he giveth travell, to gather and to dread up, that he may give to him that is good before God. This also is vanity and vexation of spirit.

CHAP. III.

I By the necessary change of times, vanity is added to humane travell. 11 There is an excellency in Gods work: 16 But as for man, God shall judge his work there, and here he shall be like a beast.

T Every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.

1 A time to be born, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted.

2 A time to kill, and a time to heal: a time to break down, and a time to build up.

3 A time to weep, and a time to laugh: a time to mourn, and a time to dance.

4 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together: a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing.

5 A time to hug, and a time to loose: a time to keep, and a time to cast away.

6 A time to rent, and a time to sew: a time to keep silence, and a time to speak.

7 A time to love, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

8 ¶ What profit hath he that worketh in that wherein he laboureth?

9 I have seen the travell which God hath given to the sonnes of men, to be exercised in it.

10 He hath made every thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, so that no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end.

11 I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life.

12 And also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labour, it is the gift of God.

13 I know that whatsoever God toucheth, he shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: and God doth it, that men should fear before him.

14 ¶ What which hath been, is now; and that which is to be, hath already been, and God requeth that which is past.

15 ¶ And moreover, I saw under the sunne the place of judgement, that wickedness was there; and the place of righteousness, that iniquity was there.

17 I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there, for every purpose, and for every work.

18 I said in my heart concerning the state of the sonnes of men, that God might manifest them, and that they might see that they themselves are beasts.

19 ¶ For that which befalleth the sonnes of men, befalleth beasts, even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, so dieth the other, yea, they have all one breath, so that a man hath no pre-eminence above a beast: for all is vanity.

20 All go unto one place, all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again.

21 Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?

22 ¶ Wherefore I perceive that there is no thing better, then that a man should rejoice in his own works; for that is his portion: for who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

CHAP. III.

I Vanitie is increased unto men by oppression, &c.
by envie, 5 by idleness, 7 by covetousness, 9 by solitariness, 13 by wilfulness.

S I returned, and considered all the oppressions that are done under the sunne, and behold, the tears of such as were oppressed, and they had no comforter: and on the face of their oppressours there was power, but they had no comforter.

1 ¶ Wherefore I mailed the mouth which increaseth death, more then the living which are yet alive.

2 ¶ Yea, better is he then both they, which hath not yet seen, who hath not seen the evil work, that is done under the sunne.

3 ¶ Again I considered all travell, and every right work, that for this a man is envied of his neighbour: this is also vanity, and vexation of spirit.

4 ¶ The fool foldeth his hands together, and catcheth his own flesh.

5 ¶ Better is a handfull which quieteth the hunger, then a full house, which is full of treasure.

6 ¶ When I returned, and I saw vanity under the sunne.

7 ¶ There is one alone, and there is not a second; yea, he hath neither child nor brother: yet is there no end of all his labour, neither is his eye satisfied with riches, neither saith he, for whom do I labour, and debase my soul of good?
this is also vanity, yea, it is a sore travell.

8 ¶ Who are better then one, because they have a good reward for their labour.

9 ¶ For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but two to him that is alone, when he shall fall, he hath not another to help him up.

10 ¶ Again, if two lie together, then they have heat: but how can one be warm alone?

11 ¶ And if one prevail against him, two shall withstand him; and a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

12 ¶ Better is a poor and a wise child, then an old and foolish king; who will no more be admonished.

13 ¶ For out of prison he cometh to reign:
whereas also he that is born in his kingdom be-cometh poor.

14 ¶ I considered all the living which walk under the sunne.

For that they might clear

Keepe thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to heare, * then to giue the sacrifice of fools: for they confound not that they do euill.

2 Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heauen, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few.

3 For a dream cometh through the multitude of business, and a fools voice is known by multitude of words.

4 * When thou vowest a voto unto God, deferre not to pay it: for he hath no pleasure in fools: * pay that which thou hast vowed.

5 Better is it that thou shouldest not vow, then that thou shouldest not pay.

6 Shut not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sinne, neither say thou before the angel, that it was an error: wherefore should God be angry at thy voice, and destroy the work of thine hands?

7 For in the multitude of dreams and many words, there are also many vanities: but feare thou God.

8 If thou seeke the oppression of the poore, and molest perverting of iudgement and justice in a province, marvel not at the matter: for he that is higher than the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

12 The sleep of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much: but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.

13 There is a sore evil which I haue seen under the sunne, namely, riches kept for the owners thereof to their hurt.

14 But those riches perish by evil travail: and he begetteth a soune, and there is nothing in his hand.

17 All his dayes also he eateth in darkness, and he hath much sorrow, and what with his sickness.

18 * Behold that which I haue seen: * it is good and comely for one to eat and to drinke, and to enjoy the good of all his labour that he hath wrought under the sunne, till the dayes of his life, which God giveth him: for it is his portion.

19 Every man also to whom God hath given riches and wealth, and hath given him power to enrich himself, and to take his portion, and to reioyce in his labour, this is the gift of God.

20 For he shall not much remember the dayes of his life: because God will increase him in the joy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

1 The vanity of riches without use, 3 of children, 6 and old age without riches, 9 The vanity of fight and wandering desire, 11 The conclusion of vanities.

There is an evil which I haue seen under the sunne, and it is common among men:

2 A man to whom God hath given riches, wealth, and honour, so that he wanteth nothing for his soul of all that he desireth, yet God giveth him not power to eat thereof, but a stranger eateth it: this is vanity, and it is an evil disease.

3 If a man beget an hundred children, and live many yeares, so that the dayes of his yeares be many, and his soul be not filled with good, and also that he haue no buriall, I say, that an untimely birth is better then he.

4 For he cometh in with vanity, and departeth in darkness, and his name shall be covered with darkness.

5 Whereover he hath not seen the sunne, nor known any thing: this hath more rest then the other.

6 * Prea, though he live a thousand yeares, twice told, yet hath he seen no good: do not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth, and yet he is not filled.

8 For what hath the wile man then the fool? what hath the poore, that knoweth to walk before the living?

9 * Better is the sight of the eyes, * then the wanning of the desire: this is also vanity and vexation of spirit.

10 That which hath been, is named already, and it is known that it is man: neither may he contend with him that is mightier then he.

11 * Seeing there be many things that increase vanity, what is man the better?

12 For who knoweth what is good for man in this life, till all the dayes of his vain life which he spendeth as * a shadowe: for who can tell a man what shall be after him under the sunne?

CHAP. VII.

1 Remedies against vanity, are a good name, 2 mortification, 7 patience, 11 wisdom, 23 The desirous of wisdom.

A* Good name is better then precious ointment: and the day of death, then the day of sorrow, and sorrow.

2 It is better to go to the house of mourning, then to go to the house of feasting: for that is the end of all men, and the living will lay it to his heart.

3 * Sorrow is better then laughter: for by the sadness of the countenance, the heart is made better.

4 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

5 It is better to heare the rebuke of the wise, * then for a man to heare the song of fools.

6 For as the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of the fool: this also is vanity.

7 Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad, and a gift destroyeth the heart.

8 Better is the end of a thing, than the beginning thereof: and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.

9 Be not hasty in the spirit to be angry: for anger rested in the bosome of fools.

10 Say not thou, What is the cause that the former dayes were better then these: for thou dost not require ^{it} wisely concerning this.

11 [¶] If wisdom is good, with an inheritance: and by it there is profit to them that see the same.

12 For wisdom is a defence, and money is a defence: but the excellencie of knowledge is, that wisdom giveth life to them that have it.

13 Consider the work of God: for who can make that straight which he hath made crooked?

14 In the day of prosperitie be joyfull, but in the day of adversitie consider: for also hath he set the one over against the other, to the end that man should finde nothing after him.

15 All things have I seen in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a just man that perisheth in his righteousness, and there is a wicked man that longeth his life in his wickednesse.

16 Be not righteous overmuch, neither make thy self over-wise: why shouldst thou destroy thy self?

17 We not overmuch wicked, neither be thou foolish: why shouldst thou die before the time?

18 It is good that thou shouldst take hold of this, yea also from this thy wickednesse: not thine hands: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

19 [¶] Wisdom strengtheneth the weak, more then ten mighty men which are in the citie.

20 [¶] For there is none just man upon earth, that doth good, and sinnes not.

21 Also I take no heed unto all words that are spoken: lest thou deare thy servant curse thee.

22 For often times also thine own heart knoweth, that thou thy self like wise hast cursed others.

23 [¶] All this have I proved by wisdom: I said, I will be wise, but it was farre from me.

24 That which is farre off, and exceeding deep, who can finde it out?

25 [¶] I applied mine heart to know, and to search, and to seek out wisdom, and the reason of things, and to know the wickednesse of folly, even of foolishnesse and unreason.

26 [¶] And I finde more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is snares and nets, and her hands as bands: [¶] I wholly pleased God shall escape from her, but the snare shall be taken by her.

27 Behold, this have I found (saith the preacher) by counting one by one, to finde out the account.

28 Which yet my soul seeketh, but I finde not: one man among a thousand have I found, but a woman among all those have I not found.

29 [¶] Lo, this onely have I found, that God hath made men upright: but they have sought out many inventions.

CHAP. VIII.

1 [¶] Come ye greatly to be respected, 6 The divine providence is to be observed. 12 It is better with him godly in adversitie, then with the wicked in prosperitie. 18 The work of God is unsearchable.

Who is as the host man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? [¶] A mans wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldnesse of his face shall be changed.

2 I counsel thee to keep the kings commandment, and that in regard of the curie of God.

3 Be not hasty to go out of thy house, nor stand in an evil thing, for hee which doeth so, shall trouble himself.

4 Where the word of a king is, there is power: and who may say unto him, What dost thou?

5 And who keepeth the commandment, he shall feel no evil thing: and a wise mans heart discerneth both time and judgement.

6 [¶] Because to every purpose there is time, and judgement: therefore the miserie of man is great upon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him? when it shall be?

8 There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that warre, neither shall wickednesse deliver those that are given to it.

9 All this have I seen, and applyed my heart unto every work that is done under the sunne: there is a time wherein one man ruleth over another to his own hurt.

10 And lo I saw the wicked buried, who have come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the citie where they had so done: this is also vanity.

11 Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sonnes of men is fully set in them to do evil.

12 [¶] Though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his dayes be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that feare God, which shall be before him.

13 But it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes which are as a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanity which is done upon the earth, that there be just men which know not their power according to the work of the wicked: againe, there be wicked men, to whom it happeneth according to the work of the righteousness: I said, that this also is vanity.

15 [¶] Then I commended misery, because a man hath no better thing under the sunne, than to eat, and to drinke, and to be merry: for that shall abide with him of his laboure, the dayes of his life, which God giveth him under the sunne.

16 [¶] When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to see the bitterness that is done upon the earth: (for also there is that neither day nor night sleepe sleepe with his eyes)

17 [¶] Then I looked all the work of God, that a man cannot finde out the work that is done under the sunne: because though a man labour to seek it out, yet he shall not finde it: yea further, though a wise man think to know it, yet shall he not be able to finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 Like things happen to good and bad. 4 There is a necessitie of death unto men. 7 Comfort us all their portion in this life. 11 Gods providence ruleth over all. 13 Wisdom is better then strength.

For all this [¶] I considered in my heart even to [¶] I have delecte all this, that the righteous, and the [¶] I set to my heart, and their works are in the hand of God, who knoweth their love, or hate, by all that is before them.

2 [¶] All things come alike to all, there is one event to the righteous and to the wicked: to the good and to the clean, and to the unclean, to him that is righteous, and to him that is filthy: such as is the good, & is the sinner, and he that sweareth, as he that sweareth an oath.

3 This is an evil among all things that are done under the sunne, that there is one event unto all: yea, also the heart of the sinners of men is full of evil, and madness is in their heart while they live, and after that they go to the dead.

4 For so to him that is joyed to all the living, there is hope: for a living dog is better then a dead lion.

5 For the living knoweth that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward: for the memory of them is forgotten.

6 Also their love, and their hatred, and their envy is now perished: neither have they any more a portion for ever in any thing that is done under the sunne.

7 Go thy way, eat thy bread with joy, and drink thy wine with a merry heart: for God now accepteth thy works.

8 Let thy garments be alwayes white, and let thy head lack no ointment.

9 Live joyfully with thy wife whom thou lovest, all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which he hath given thee under the sunne, all the dayes of thy vanitie: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sunne.

10 Whosoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might: for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and saw under the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill, but time and chance happeneth to them all.

12 For man also knoweth not his time, as the fishes that are taken in an evil net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare; so are the sonnes of men shared in an evil time, when it falleth suddenly upon them.

† Prov. 29. 6.

13 This wisdom have I seen also under the sunne, and it seemed great unto me:

14 There was a little citie, and few men therein; and there came a great king against it, and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it:

15 Now there was found in it a poore wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the citie; yet no man remembered that same poore man.

† Prov. 28. 23. Chap. 7. 19.

16 When I said I, wisdom is better then strength: nevertheless, the poore mans wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of wise men are heard in quiet, among them that cry of pain that ruleth among fools.

18 Wisdom is better then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

Observations of wisdom and folly. 16 Of riot, 18 foolishnesse, 19 and money. 20 Mens thoughts of kings ought to be reverend.

† Heb. flies of death.

Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savour: so doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honour.

2 A wise mans heart is at his right hand; but a fools heart is at his left.

† Heb. his heart.

3 Pea also when he that is a fool, walketh by the way, this wisdom catcheth him, and he saith to every one that he is a fool.

4 If the spirit of the ruler rise up against thee, leave not thy place, for yielding pacifieth great offences.

5 There is an evil which I have seen under the sunne, as an error which proceedeth from the ruler.

6 Folly is set in great dignities, and the rich sit in low place.

7 I have seen servants upon donies, and princes walking as servants upon the earth.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it; and whoso breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Whoso removeth stones shall be hurt therewith: and he that cleaveth wood, shall be endamaged thereby.

10 If the iron be blunt, and he do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength: but wisdom is profitable to direct.

11 Surely, the serpent will bite without enchantment; and a habler is no better.

12 The words of a wise mans mouth are gracious: but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnesse: and the end of his talk is mischiefous mannesse.

14 A fool also is full of words, a man cannot tell what shall be: and what shall he after him, who can tell him?

15 The labour of the foolish wearied every one of them, because he knoweth not how to go to the citie.

16 Go to to thee, O land, when thy king is a childe, and thy princes eat in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles; and thy princes eat in due season, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By much sorrow shall the building decayeth, and through idlenesse of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 A feast is made for laughter, and wine maketh merry: but money answereth all things.

20 Curse not the king, nor not in thy thought, and curse not the rich in thy bed-chamber: for a bird of the aire shall carrie the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter.

CHAP. XI.

Directions for charitie. 7 Death in life, 9 and the day of judgement in the dayes of youth are to be thought on.

Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt finde it after many dayes.

2 Give a portion to seven, and also to eight; for thou knowest not what evil shall be upon the earth.

3 If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that observeth the windes shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap.

5 As thou knowest not what is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the wombe of her that is with childe: even so thou knowest not the works of God who maketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand: for thou knowest not whether it shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they both shall be alike good.

in them all; yet let him remember the dayes of darkness, for they shall be many. All that cometh is vanity.

9 ¶ Rejoyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walk in the wayes of thy heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgement.

10 ¶ Therefore rejoyce I say from thy heart, and put away evil from thy flesh; for childhood and youth are vanity.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Creatour is to be remembered in due time. 8 The preachers care to edifie. 13 The fear of God is the chief antidote of vanity.

Remember now thy Creatour in the dayes of thy youth, while the evil dayes come not, nor the yeres draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them:

2 And while the sunne, or the light, or the moon, or the flares be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain:

3 In the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bowe themselves, and all the grinders cease, because they are few, and those that look out of the windows be darkened:

4 And the doomes shall be shut in the streets, when the sound of the grinding is low, and he shall rise up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of music shall be brought low.

5 Also when they shall be afraid of that which is high, and fears shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fall: because man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets.

6 Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bolt be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern.

7 ¶ Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it. * Gen. 3. 19

8 ¶ Vanity of vanities (saith the preacher) all is vanity. * Chap. 1. 2

9 And moreover, because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yea, he gave good heed, and sought out, and set in order many proverbs.

10 The preacher sought to finde out acceptable words, and that which was written was upright, even words of truth.

11 The words of the wise are as goads, and as nails fastened by the masters of assemblies, which are given from one shepherd.

12 And further, by these, my sonne, be admonished: of making many books there is no end, and much study is a weariness of the flesh.

13 ¶ Let us heare the conclusion of the whole matter, Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

THE SONG OF SOLOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 The church loveth Christ. 5 She confesseth her desire, 7 and prayeth to be directed to his flock. 8 Christ directeth her to the shepherds tents: 9 and shewing his love to her, 11 giveth her gracious promise. 12 The church and Christ congratulate one another.

The song of songs, which is Solomon's.

2 Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth: * for thy love is better than wine.

3 Because of the labour of thy good olivintines, thy name is as olivintine poured forth: therefore do the virgins love thee.

4 Draw me, we will runne after thee: the king hath brought me into his chambers: we will be glad and rejoyce in thee, we will remember thy love more then wine: for the upright love thee.

5 I am black, but comely (O ye daughters of Jerusalem) as the tents of Cedar, as the curtains of Solomon.

6 Look not upon me because I am black, because the sunne hath looked upon my members: children were angry with me, they made me the keeper of the vineyards, but mine own vineyard have I not kept.

7 Tell me (O thou whom my soul loveth), I will follow thee whithersoever thou shalt lead me.

where thou feedest, where thou makest thy flock to rest at noon: for why should I be as one that turneth aside by the flocks of thy companions?

8 ¶ If thou know not, (O thou fairest among women) go thy way forth by the footsteps of the flock, and feed thy kids beside the shepherds tents.

9 I have compared thee, O my love, to a company of horses in Pharaohs chariots.

10 Thy cheeks are comely with rows of jewels, thy neck with chains of gold.

11 We will make thee borders of gold with studs of silver.

12 And while the king sitteth at his table, my spikenard sendeth forth the smell thereof.

13 A bundle of myrrhe is my wellbeloveng unto me, he shall lie all night betwixt my breasts.

14 My beloved is unto me, as a cluster of camphire in the vineyards of En-gedi.

15 Behold, thou art fair, my love, behold, thou art fair, thou hast sweet eyes.

16 Behold, thou art fair, my beloved, yea pleasant: also our bed is green.

17 The beams of our house are cedar, and our rafters of firre.

3 * He or knoweth his owner, and the ass his masters crib: but Israel doth not know, my people hath not considered.

4 * An sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a seed of evil doers, children that are corrupt, they have forsaken the Lord, they have provoked the holy one of Israel unto anger, they are gone away backward.

5 * Therefore should ye be stricken among ye will: ye revolt more and more: the whole head is sick, and the whole heart faint.

themselves against them; and they declare their sin as * Sodom, they did it not: no unto their soul, for they have rewarded evil unto themselves.

10 Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings.

11 And unto the wicked, it shall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands shall beighen him.

12 As for my people, children are their oppressours, and women rule over them: O my people, I they which lead thee, cause thee to err, and destroy the way of the paths.

13 The L. o. m. standeth up to plead, and standeth to judge the people.

14 The L. o. m. will enter into judgement with the ancients of his people, and the princes thereof: for ye have taken up the vineyard; the spoil of the poor is in your houses.

15 What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor; saith the L. o. m. of hosts?

16 Moreover, the L. o. m. saith, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched forth necks, and wanton eyes, walking and making as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet:

17 Therefore the Lord will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion, and the L. o. m. will discover their secret parts.

18 In that day the Lord will take away the vanity of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their chains, and their round tires like the wheel.

19 The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,

20 The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the ear-rings,

21 The rings, and hair-fetters,

22 The changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wampies, and the crisping girdles, 23 The glasses, and the fine linen, and the shoes, and the wile.

24 And it shall come to pass, that in stead of sweet smell, there shall be filth; and in stead of a garland, a ring; and in stead of hair-balls, nettle; and in stead of a flower, a burning of thorns; and burning in stead of beauty.

25 The men shall fall by the sword, and the mighty in the warre.

26 And her gates shall lament and mourn, and she being full of idols, shall sit upon the ground.

CHAP. III.

In the extremity of evils, Christs Kingdom shall be a Sanctuary.

As in that day when women shall take hold of our men, saying, We will eat our flesh, and wear our own apparel: only I shall be called by the name, because away are my people.

2 In that day shall the hunch of the L. o. m. be fruitful and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and comely: for then they that are escaped of Sion.

3 And it shall come to pass, that he that is left in Zion, and he that remaineth in Jerusalem, shall be called holy, even every one that is written among the living in Jerusalem.

4 When the L. o. m. shall have washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and shall have purged the blood of Jerusalem from the midst thereof, by the spirit of judgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the L. o. m. will create upon every dwelling place of mount Zion, and upon her assemblies a cloud, and shadow by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for upon all the glory shall be a defence.

6 And there shall be a tabernacle for a shadow in the day time from the heat, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from storm and from rain.

CHAP. V.

Under the parable of a vineyard God executeth his severe judgement. 8 His judgements upon covetousness, 12 upon lasciviousness, 13 upon impiety, 20 and upon injustice. 26 The executioners of Gods judgement.

NOW will I sing to my wellbeloved, a song of my beloved touching his vineyard: my wellbeloved had a vineyard in a very fruitful hill.

2 And he fenced it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also he made a wine-press therein: and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth thorns and briers.

3 And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, betwixt me and my vineyard.

4 What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? wherefore hath it brought forth thorns and briers? I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth thorns and briers.

5 And now go to; I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard. I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it shall be troden down.

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be pruned, nor digged, but there shall come up briers and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it.

7 For the vineyard of the L. o. m. of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant: and he looked for judgement, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry.

8 I will smite unto them that join house to house, that say build to build, till there be no place, that they may be placed alone in the midst of the earth.

9 I will mine earres said the L. o. m. of hosts. Of a church many houses shall be desolate, even great and fair without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bush, and thither of an olive shall yield an oyle.

11 And I will tell you that they shall rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink, that continue until night, till wine confuse them.

12 And the harp and the viol, the tabret and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the work of the L. o. m. neither consider the operation of his hands.

13 Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude mixed up with them.

14 Therefore shall they suffer hunger, and they shall be vexed without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiced shall descend into it.

15 And the mean man shall be brought down, and the mighty man shall be humbled, and the eyes of the high shall be humbled.

16 But the Lord is with you of hosts shall be created in judgement, and it shall be said that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness.

17 When shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the waste places of the fat ones shall strangers eat.

18 Come unto them that have iniquity with coats of vanity, and sinne as it were with a cart-ropes:

19 That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the holy one of Israel spake nigh and come, that we may know it.

20 Come unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter.

21 Come unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight.

22 Come unto them that are mighty to drink wine, men of strength to mingle strong drink.

23 Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the fire devoureth the stubble, and the flame consumeth the chaff; so their root shall be rottenness, and their blossom shall go up as dust: because they have cast away the law of the Lord of hosts, and despised the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the anger of the Lord against his people, and he hath stretched forth his hand against them, and hath smitten them: and the hills did tremble, and their carcasses were torn in the midst of the streets: for all this, his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

26 And he will lift up an ensigne to the nations from farre, and will hiss unto them from the end of the earth: and beholds, they shall come with speed swiftly.

27 None shall be weary nor stumble amongst them: none shall slumber nor sleep: neither shall the girdle of their loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of their shoes be broken.

28 All their arrows are sharp, and all their bows bent, their horses' heels shall be counted like flint, and their wheels like a wheel of mine.

29 Their roaring shall be like a lion, they shall roar like young lions: yea, they shall roar and lay hold of the prey, and shall carry it away safe, and none shall deliver it.

30 And in that day they shall roar against them, like the roaring of the sea: and if one look unto the land, behold darkness and sorrow, and the light is darkened in the heavens thereof.

CHAP. VI.

1 I said in a vision of the Lord in his glory, I bring terrible things, confirmed for his message. He sheweth the testimony of the people, unto their desolation. 12 A remnant shall be saved.

13 In the year that king Cyprian died, I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple.

2 And I stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly.

3 And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts, the whole earth is full of his glory.

4 And the posts of his doors were at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then said I, Who is me, for I am faint, because I am a man of unclean lips: and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts.

6 Then flew one of the seraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar.

7 And he laid it upon my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity is taken away, and thy sinne purged.

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Go and tell this people, Heare ye indeed, but understand not: see ye indeed, but perceive not.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes: lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their ears, and understand with their heart, and convert and be healed.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Until the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate.

12 And the Lord said, I have removed men farre away, and there be a great forsaking in the midst of the land.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and it shall return, and shall be eaten: as a tree, and as an oak whose substance is in them, when they cast their leaves: so the holy seed shall be the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ahaz being troubled with fear of Rezin and Pekah, is comforted by Isaiah, 10 Ahaz, having liberty to choose a sign, and refusing it, hath for a sign Christ promised. 17 His judgement is prophesied to come by Assyria.

And it came to pass in the dayes of Ahaz the sonne of Jotham, the sonne of Cyprian king of Judah, that Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up towards Jerusalem to warre against it, but could not prevail against it.

2 And it was told the house of David, saying, Syria is confederate with Ephraim: and his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the wood are moved with the wind.

3 Then said the Lord unto Isaiah, Go forth now comfort Ahaz, thou, and Shear-jashub thy sonne, at the end of the consuetude of the upper pool in the high way of the fullers stand.

4 And say unto him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not, neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of these smoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the sonne of Remaliah.

5 Because Syria, Ephraim, and the sonne of Remaliah have taken counsel against thee, saying,

6 Let us go up against Judah, and besiege it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and let a king in the midst of it, even the sonne of Tabeal.

7 Thus said the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it come to pass.

8 For the head of Syria is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin, and within three score and five years shall Ephraim be broken, that it shall not be a people.

that he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun, and the land of Naphtali, and afterward did more grievously afflict her by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan in Galilee of the nations.

2 The people that walked in darkness, have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and hast not increased the joy: they joy before thee, according to the joy in harvest, and as men rejoice when they divide the spoil.

4 For thou hast broken the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his oppressor, as in the day of * Apolonia.

5 For every battell of the warrior is with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood; but this shall be with burning, and with sword of the warrior.

6 For unto us a child is born, unto us a sonne is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called, Wonderful, Counsellour, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of peace.

7 Of the increase of his government and peace, there shall be no end, upon the throne of David and upon his kingdome, to order it, and to establish it with judgement and with justice, from henceforth even for ever: the * zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this.

8 The Lord sent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria, that say in the pride and stoutness of heart,

10 The bullocks are fallen down, but we will build with broken stones: the sycamores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Therefore the Lord of hosts shall set up the adversaries of Rezin against him, and shall join his enemies together.

12 The Syrians before, and the Philistines behind, and they shall devour Israel with open mouth: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not unto him that smiteth them, neither do they seek the Lord of hosts.

14 Therefore the Lord of hosts will cut off from Israel head and tail, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and honourable, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail.

16 For the leaders of this people cause them to erre, and they that are led of them, are perished.

17 Therefore the Lord shall have no joy in their young men, neither shall he have mercy on their fatherless and widows: for every one is an hypocrite, and an evil doer, and every mouth speaketh folly: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickedness burneth as the fire: it shall devour the hyers and thorns, and shall kindle in the thickets of the forest, and they shall mount up like the lifting up of smoke.

19 Though the watch of the Lord of hosts to the land darkness, and the people shall be as the fuel of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and they shall not be satisfied: they shall eat every man the flesh of his own arm.

21 Dan shall be destroyed, Ephraim and Ephraim, and Manasse: and they together shall be against Judah: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 The woe of tyrants, 5 Affliction, the rod of hypocrites, for his pride shall be broken. 20 A remnant of Israel shall be saved. 24 Israel is comforted with promise of deliverance from Assyria.

W D unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed:

2 To turn aside the needy from judgement, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherless.

3 And what wilt thou do in the day of visitation, and in the desolation which shall come from far: to whom wilt thou seek for help, and where wilt thou leave your glory?

4 Without me they shall bow down under the prisoners, and they shall fall under the flame: for all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 I D t Assyria, the rod of mine anger, and the staff in their hand is mine indignation.

6 I will send him against an hypocritical nation, and against the people of my wrath will I give him a charge to take the spoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets.

7 Wherein, he meaneth not to, neither doth his heart think: but it is in his heart to destroy, and cut off nations not a few.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno, as Carthage? is not Hamath, as Arpad? is not Samaria, as Damascus?

10 As my hand hath found the kingdoms of the idols, and whose graven images did exceed them of Jerusalem, and of Samaria:

11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, so do to Jerusalem and her idols?

12 Wherefore it shall come to pass, that when the Lord hath performed his whole work upon mount Zion, and on Jerusalem, I will punish the fruit of the stout heart of the king of Assyria, and the glory of his high looks.

13 For he hath said, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom: for I am patient: and I have removed the bounds of the greatness of people, and have robbed their treasures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And my hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people: and as one gathereth eggs that are left, have I gathered all the earth, and there was none that moved the thing, or opened the mouth, or peeped.

15 Shall the axe boast it self against him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw magnifie it self against him that shaketh it? as if the rod should shake it self against them that lift it up, or as if the staff should lift up itself as if it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord, the Lord of hosts, Lord among his far ones leamest, and under his glory he shall handle a burning like the burning of a fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be for a fire, and his holy one for a flame: and it shall burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day.

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, even to the end of his fruitful field, with heat and dryness.

20 ¶ And it shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the souls of Jacob, shall no more again stay upon him that smote them: but shall stay upon the L O M, the holy one of Israel, in truth.

21 The remnant shall return, even the remnant of Jacob, unto the mighty God.

22 * For though thy people Israel be as the land of the sea, yet a remnant of them shall return: * the consumption decreed shall overflow with righteousness.

23 For the Lord O M of hosts shall make a consumption, then determined in the midst of all the land.

24 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord O M of hosts, O my people that dwell in Zion, be not afraid of the Assyrian: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift up his staff against thee, after the manner of * Egypt.

25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation shall cease, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the L O M of hosts shall stirre up a scourge for him, according to the slaughter of * Midian at the rock of Oreb: and as his rod was upon the sea, so shall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt.

27 And it shall come to pass in that day, that his burden shall be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come to Astar, he is passed to Bi-giron: at Richmah he hath laid up his carriages.

29 They are gone over the passage: they have taken up their lodging at Gida. Ramad is afraid, Gibeon of Sam is fled.

30 I lift up thy voice, O daughter of Gallim: cause it to be heard unto Laish, O poor Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is removed: the inhabitants of Gethim gather themselves to flee.

32 As yet shall he remain at Abod that day:
he shall shake his hand against the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord, the L O M of hosts shall lay the bough with reccur: and the high ones of stature shall be hewn down, and the daughty shall be humbled.

34 And he shall cut down the thickets of the forests with iron, and Lebanon shall fall by a mighty one.

CHAP. XI.

1 The peaceable kingdom of the branch out of the root of Jesse. 10 The victorious restoration of Israel, and vocation of the Gentiles.

¶ Acts 13. 23. AND there shall come forth a rod out of the uttermost of * Jesse, and a branch shall grow out of his roots.

2 And the spirit of the L O M shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge, and of the fear of the L O M:

3 And shall make him of a quick understanding in the fear of the L O M, and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears.

4 But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and he shall remove with equity, for the meek of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

son of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips
shall he slay the wicked.

5 And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulness the girdle of his reins.

6 * The wolf also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid: and the calf, and the young lion, and the sucking together, and a little child shall lead them.

7 And the cow and the bear shall feed, their young ones shall lie down together: and the lion shall eat straw like the ox.

8 And the sucking child shall play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the cockatrice den.

9 They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the L O M, as the waters cover the sea.

10 ¶ And in that day there shall be a root of Jesse, which shall stand for an ensigne of the people: to it shall the * Gentiles seek, and his rest shall be glorious.

11 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall set his hand again the second time, to recover the remnant of his people which shall be left, from Assyria, and from Egypt, and from Babylon, and from Cush, and from Elam, and from Sinear, and from Hamath, and from the islands of the sea.

12 And he shall set up an ensigne for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah, from the four corners of the earth.

13 The envy also of Ephraim shall depart, and the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not ver Ephraim.

14 But they shall sit upon the shoulders of the Philistines toward the west, they shall spott them of the east together: * they shall lay their hand upon Sodom and Moab, and the children of Ammon shall obey them.

15 And the L O M shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea, and with his mighty wind shall he shake his hand over the river, and shall smite it in the seven streams: and make men go over by dry-shod.

16 And there shall be an high way for the remnant of his people, which shall be left from Assyria, * like as it was to Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A joyfull thanksgiving of the faithful for the mercies of God.

AND in that day thou shalt say, O L O M, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God is my salvation: I will trust, and be not afraid; for the LORD JEHO-VAH is my * strength and my song, he also is become my salvation.

3 Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation.

4 And in that day shall ye say, * Praise the L O M, I call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted.

5 Sing unto the L O M: for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the earth.

6 Cry out and shout, thou * inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy one of Israel in the midst of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

1 God will smite the armies of his wrath, 6 He threateth to destroy Babylon by the Medes, 19 The desolation of Babylon.

The burden of Babylon, which Isaiah the sonne of Amos did see.

2 Lift ye up a banner upon the high mountain, eralt the voice unto them, shake the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

3 I have commanded my sanctified ones, I have also called my mighty ones for mine anger, even them that rejoyce in my highnesse.

4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people: a tumultuous noise of the kingdomes of nations gathered together: the noise of hosts mustered the host of the battell.

5 They come from a farr country, from the end of heaben, even the L. o. w. o. and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land.

6 O howl ye, for the day of the L. o. w. o. is at hand: it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every mans heart shall melt.

8 And they shall be afraid: pangs and sorrows shall take hold of them: they shall be in pain as a woman that travaileth: they shall be amazed one at another, their faces shall be as flames.

9 Behold, the day of the L. o. w. o. cometh, cruell both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate; and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it.

10 For the starres of heaben, and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not send her light to him.

11 And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquitie; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtinesse of the terrible.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine gold; even a man then the golden wedge of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place in the wrath of the L. o. w. o. of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it shall be as the chafed ree, and as a sheep that no man taketh up: they shall every man turn to his own people, and flee every one into his own land.

15 Every one that is found shall be thrust through: and every one that is joynd unto them, shall fall by the sword.

16 Their children also shall be dashed to pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wives ravished.

17 Behold, I will rise up to the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, and as for gold, they shall not delight in it.

18 Their bows also shall dash the young men to pieces, and they shall have no pity on the fruit of the wombe: they shall kill no spare children.

19 O And Babylon the glory of kingdomes, the beauty of the Caldees excellency, shall be as when God overthroweth * Sodom and Gomorrah.

20 It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there, neither shall the shepherds make their fold there.

21 But I will leave desolate the desert, and will leave it there, and their houses shall be full of dolesfull creatures, and I will dwell there, and satyres shall dance there.

22 And I will leave the houses of the islands shall cry in their desolate houses, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and her time is nigh to come, and her dayes shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Gods mercifull restoration of Israel, 4 Their vision of the vision ever of Ebel, 24 Gods purpose against Assyria, 29 Palestina is threatened.

For the L. o. w. o. will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, & set them in their own land: and the strangers shall be joynd with them, and they shall cleave to the house of Jacob.

2 And the people shall take them, and bring them to their place: and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the L. o. w. o. for servants and handmaids: and they shall take them captives, I will captives they were, and they shall rule over their oppressors.

3 And it shall come to passe in the day that the L. o. w. o. shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wher-in thou wast made to serve.

4 O that thou shalt take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say, Now hath the oppressor ceased: the golden cite ceased?

5 The L. o. w. o. hath broken the staff of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers.

6 He who smote the people in wrath with a continual stroke: he that ruled the nations in anger, is persecuted, and none hindereth.

7 The whole earth is at rest, and is quiet: they break forth into singing.

8 Pines the firs: trees rejoyce at thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid down, no feller is come up against us.

9 I dwell from beneath: it is moved for thee to meet thee at thy coming: it stirreth up the dead for thee, even all the chief ones of the earth: it hath raised up from their thrones, all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall speak and say unto thee, Art thou also become weak as we? art thou become like unto us?

11 Thy pomp is brought down to the grave, and the noise of thy viols: the woman is spread under thee, and the worms cover thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heaben, O dacifer, sonne of the morning: how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations?

13 For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven: I will exalt my throne above the starres of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north.

14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds, I will be like the most high.

15 Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall narrowly look upon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth tremble, that did shake kingdomes?

17 That made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, that opened not the house of his prisoners?

18 All the kings of the nations, even all of them lie in gloire, every one in his own house.

19 But thou art cast out of the grave, like an abominable branch: and as the raiment of those that are slain, thou art covered with a shroud, thou

20 Thou shalt not be joined with them in burial, because thou hast destroyed thy land, and slain the people: * the seed of evil doers shall never be remembered.

21 Prepare slaughter for his children: * for the iniquity of their fathers; that they do not tile nor possess the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities.

22 For I will rise up against them, saith the Lord, and cut off from Babylon the name, and remnant, and some and nephews, saith the Lord.

23 I will also make it a possession for the heathen, and pools of water: and I will sweep it with the beams of destruction, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ The Lord hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass; and as I have purposed, so shall it stand:

25 That I will break the Assyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot: when shall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their shoulders.

26 This is the purpose that is purposed upon the whole earth: and this is the hand that is stretched out upon all the nations.

27 For the Lord hath purposed, and who shall diminish it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back?

28 In the year that king Ahas died, was this burden.

29 ¶ Reforce not thou whole Palestina, because the rod of him that smote thee is broken: for out of the serpent root shall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit shall be a fiery flying serpent.

30 And the first-born of the people shall feed, and the needy shall lie down in safety: and I will kill the root with famine, and he shall slay the remnant.

31 ¶ Howl, O gate; cry, O city, thou whole Palestina art dissolved: for there shall come from the north a smoke, and I none shall be alone in his appointed times.

32 ¶ What shall one then answer the messengers of the nation? That * the Lord hath founded Zion, and the people of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

The lamentable state of Moab.

The burden of Moab. Because in the night the Lord hath said, waste and I brought to silence; because in the night the Lord hath said, waste, and brought to silence:

2 He is gone up to Bashan, and to Odon, the high places, to weep: Moab shall howl over Aroer, and over Dibon, * on all their heads shall be baldness, and every beard cut off.

3 In their streets they shall give themselves up for sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streets every one shall howl, * weeping abundantly.

4 And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard even unto Jahaz: therefore the armed shoulders of Moab shall cry out, his life shall be grievous unto him.

5 My heart shall cry out for Moab, his fugitives shall flee unto Zoar, an * better of three years old: for by the mounting up of Ruben with weeping shall they go it up: for in the way of Honaim, they shall raise up a cry of destruction.

6 For the wailing of Heshbon shall be * weeplate: for the bay is withered away, the grass withered, there is no green thing.

7 Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, shall they carry away in the * book of the willows.

8 For the cry is gone round about the borders of Moab: the howling thereof unto Elealeh, and the howling thereof unto Beer-elim.

9 For the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more upon Dimon, lions upon him that escapeth of Moab, and upon the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Moab is exhorted to yield obedience to Christ's kingdom. 6 Moab is threatened for her pride. 9 The prophet bewaileth her. 12 The judgement of Moab.

Suffer ye the lambs to the ruler of the land from Sila to the wilderness, unto the mount of the daughter of Zion.

2 For it shall be that as a wandering birdcast out of the nest: so the daughters of Moab shall be at the fountains of Arnon.

3 ¶ Take counsel, execute judgement, make thy shadow as the night in the midst of the noon-day, hide the out-casts, be wary not him that wanders.

4 Let mine outcasts dwell with thee, Moab, be thou a covert to them from the face of the spoiler: for the * extortioner is at an end, the spoiler ceaseth, the oppressions are continued out of the land.

5 And in mercy * shall the thorne be established, and he shall sit upon it in truth, in the tabernacle of David, judging and seeking judgement, and hasting righteousness.

6 ¶ We have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) even of his haughtiness, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab * howl for Moab, every one shall howl: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall mourn, surely they are stricken.

8 For the fields of Heshbon languish, and the vine of Sibmah, the lords of the heathen have broken down the principal plants thereof, they are come even unto Jazer, they wandered through the wilderness, her branches are stretched out, they are gone over the sea.

9 ¶ Therefore I will bewail with weeping of Jazer, the vine of Sibmah: I will water thee with my tears, O Heshbon, and Elealeh: for the howling for thy summer fruits, and for thy harvest, is fallen.

10 And gladness is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field, and in the vineyards there shall be no singing, neither shall there be shouting: the reapers shall tread out no wine in their presses; I have made their vintage-shouting to cease.

11 ¶ Therefore my bowels shall sound like an harp for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

12 ¶ And it shall come to pass, when it is seen that Moab is weary on the high place, that he shall come to his sanctuary to pray, but he shall not prevail.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken concerning Moab since that time.

14 But now the Lord hath spoken, saying, Within three years, as the years of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contempt, with all that great multitude; and the remnant shall be very small and I scold.

1 Syria and Israel are threatened. 6 A remnant shall forsake idolatry. 9 The rest shall be plagued for their impiety. 12 The two of Israel's enemies.

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

2 The cities of Aroer are forsaken: they shall be for flocks which shall lie down, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The fortress also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Syria: they shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And in that day it shall come to pass, that the glory of Jacob shall be made thin, and the fatness of his flesh shall wax lean.

5 And it shall be as when the haruest-man gathereth the corn, and reapeth the ears with his arm: and it shall be as he that gathereth ears in the valley of Rephaim.

6 ¶ Per gleaning grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermost bough: four or five in the outmost fruitfull branches thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man look to his maker, and his eyes shall have respect to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not look to the altars, the work of his hands, neither shall respect that which his fingers have made, either the groves, or the images.

9 ¶ In that day shall his strong cities be as a forsaken bough, and an uppermost branch, which they left, because of the children of Israel: and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy salvation, and hast not been mindful of the rock of thy strength: therefore shalt thou plant pleasant plants, and shalt set it with strange slips.

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seed to flourish: but the harvest shall be a heap in the day of grief, and of desperate sorrow.

12 ¶ As to the multitude of many people, which makes a noise like the noise of the seas; and to the rushing of nations, that make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters.

13 The nations shall rush like the rushing of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chafed as the chaf of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.

14 And behold, at evening the trouble, and before the morning he is not: this is the portion of them that spoil us, and the lot of them that rob us.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God in care of his people will destroy the Ethiopians. 7 An access thereto shall grow unto the church.

WO to the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia: that sendeth ambassadors by the sea, even in vessels of bulrushes upon the waters, saying,

2 We will messengers to a nation scattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto, a nation meted out and troden down: whose land the rivers have spoiled.

3 All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, see ye, when he lifteth up an ensigne on the mountains; and when he bloweth a trumpet, heare ye.

4 For so the Lord shall unto me. I will take my rest, and I will consider in my dwelling place like a clear heat upon herbs; and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.

5 For above the harvest when the bud is perfect, and the vintage grapes is ripening in the flowers, he shall both cut off the sprigs with pruning hooks, & take away and cut down the branches.

6 They shall be left together unto the fowls of the mountains, and to the beasts of the earth: and the fowls shall summer upon them, and all the beasts of the earth shall winter upon them.

7 ¶ In that time shall the present be brought unto the Lord of hosts, of a people scattered & peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto: a nation meted out and troden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of hosts, the mount Zion.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The confusion of Egypt. 11 The foolishness of their princes. 18 The calling of Egypt to the church. 23 The covenant of Egypt, Assyria and Israel.

The burden of Egypt: behold, the Lord rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: and they shall fight every one against his brother, and every one against his neighbour, city against city, and kingdom against kingdom.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall fall in the midst thereof, and I will destroy the council thereof: and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar spirits, and to the wizards.

4 And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, saith the Lord, the Lord of hosts.

5 And the waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and dried up.

6 And they shall turn the rivers farre away, and the brooks of defence shall be emptied and dried up: the reeds and flags shall wither.

7 The paper reeds by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing sown by the brooks shall wither, be broken away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall mourn, and all they that cast angle into the brooks shall lament, and they that spread nets upon the waters shall languish.

9 Moreover, they that work in fine flax, and they that weave net-work shall be confounded.

10 And they shall be broken in the purpose thereof, all that make flutes and ponds shall sigh.

11 ¶ Surely the princes of Zoan are fools, the counsel of the wisest counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye unto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise, the sonne of ancient kings?

12 Where are they, where are thy wise men? and let them tell thee now, and let them know what the Lord of hosts hath purposed upon Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Egypt are deceived, they have also re-day, and shall no sacrifice and oblation, yea, they shall vote a voto unto the L^o m^o, and perform it.

22 And the L^o m^o shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heal it, and they shall return even to the L^o m^o, and he shall be increased of them, and shall heal them.

out of Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians shall serve with the Assyr-

1 The prophet lamenteth the destruction of Jery by the Persians. 8 He reproveth their humane wisdom, and worldly joy. 15 He prophesieth Shebas deprivation, 20 and Eliakim, prefiguring the kingdom of Christ, his substitution.

The burden of the valley of vision. What saith hee now, that thou art wholly gone up to the house top?

2 Thou

2 Thou that art full of silver, a timesinned cite, a joyous cite: thy slain men are not slain with the sword, nor dead in battell.

3 All thy rulers are tied together, they are bound by the archers all that are found in thee are bound together, which have fled from farre.

4 Therefore said I, * Look away from me, I will weep bitterly, labour not to comfort me, because of the spoiling of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down, and of perplexity by the Lord God of hosts in the valley of vision, breaking down the walls, and of crying to the mountains.

6 And I have bare the quiver with chariots of men and horsemen, and Kir: I uncovered the shields.

7 And it shall come to passe that the choicest bullevers shall be full of chariots, and the horsemen shall let themselves in array at the gate.

8 And he discovered the covering of Judah, and thou didst look in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 He have been also the breaches of the cite of David, that they are many: and ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool.

10 And ye have numbered the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses have ye broken down to foudle the wall.

11 Ye made also a ditch between the two walls, for the water of the old pool: but ye have not looked unto the maker thereof, neither had respect unto him that fashioned it long ago.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call to weeping, and to mourning, and to hallemell, and to going with sackcloth.

13 And behold, joy and gladness, slaying, and, and killing, deep eating flesh, and drinking wine: let us eat and drinke, for to morrow we shall die.

14 And it was revealed in mine eares by the Lord God of hosts, surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hosts.

15 And thus saith the Lord God of hosts, God, get thee unto this treasure: even unto Shebna, which is over the house, and say, 16 Whether hast thou here: and whom hast thou here, that thou hast hidden here out a sepulchre here: as he that beweth him out a sepulchre on high, and that graveth an habitation for himself in a rock.

17 Behold, the Lord God will carry thee away with a mighty captivity, and will surely cover thee.

18 He will surely violently turn and toss thee like a ball into a large country: there shall thou die, and there the chariot of thy glory shall be the shame of thy low house.

19 And I will drive thee from thy station, and from thy state shall he pull thee down.

20 And it shall come to passe in that day, that I will call my servants, I will bring the house of Judah.

21 And I will clothe him with thy robe, and strengthen him with thy girdle, and I will commit the government into his hands, and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah.

22 And the joy of the house of David will I lay upon his shoulder: so he shall open and none shall shut, and he shall shut and none shall open.

23 And I will fashion him as a wall in a fire place, and he shall be for a glorious throne to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang upon him all the glory of his fathers house, the sitting and the rising, all vessels of small quantity from the vessels of cups, even to all the vessels of flagons.

25 In that day, said the Lord God of hosts, shall the nail that is fastened in the flow place, be removed, and be cut down and fall: and the burden that was upon it shall be cut off: for the Lord God hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The miserable overthrow of Tyre. 27 Their unhappy return.

1 The burden of Tyre. Hold ye ships of Tarshish, for it is to lair waste, so that there is no house, no entering in from the land of Chanaan: it is revealed to them.

2 Be still, ye inhabitants of the isle, thou that hast slain, whom the merchants of Sion, that dwell above the sea, have replenished.

3 And by great waters the seed of Sion, the barbed of the river is, her revenue, and he is a mart of nations.

4 We thou assured, O Sion, for the sea hath spoken, even the strength of the sea, saying, I will not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nourish up young men, nor bring up virgins.

5 As at the report concerning Egypt, so shall they be sorely pained at the report of Tyre.

6 Shall ye ever to Tarshish, down ye inhabitants of the isle.

7 Is this your joyous cite, whose murther is of ancient dayes: her olon feet shall carry her farre off to sojourn.

8 And so hath spoken this counsell against Tyre, the crowning city, whose merchants are princes, whose traffickers are the honourable of the earth.

9 The Lord God of hosts hath purposed it, to stain the pride of all glory, and to bring down to contempt all the honourable of the earth.

10 Passe through thy land as a river, O daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretcheth out his hand over the sea, he break the kingdoms: the Lord God hath commanded: against the merchants, and to destroy the strong holds thereof.

12 And he said, O thou shalt not more rejoice, O thou oppressed virgin, daughter of Sion: cease, passe over in Chanaan, there also shalt thou have merchandise.

13 Behold, the land of the Chaldeans, this people was not cut off: Assyrian compassed it for them: that himself in the last overthrow let up the towers thereof, they called on the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruine.

14 Hold ye ships of Tarshish, your strength is laid waste.

15 And it shall come to passe in that day, that Tyre shall be forgotten seventy years, according to the dayes of one king after the end of seventy years I shall say, Tyre sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harp, go about the city, thou daughter that hast been forgotten, make sweet melody, as the long singing many songs: that thou mayest be remembered, of an harlot.

17 And it shall come to passe after the end of seventy years, saith the Lord God, and I will visit Tyre, and she shall mount her towers, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth.

18 And her merchandise, and her buyers shall be holiness to the Lord God: it shall not be sold: nor laid up: for her merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord God, and for the merchants.

1 The prophet praiseth God for his judgements, 6 for his saving benefits, 9 and for his victorious salvation.

O LORD, thou art my God, I will exalt thee,
I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderfull things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth.

2 For thou hast made of a citie, an heap; of a defended citie, a ruine: a palace of strangers, to be no citie, it shall never be built.

3 Therefore shall the strong people glorify thee, the king of the terrible nations shall fear thee.

4 For thou hast been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, a shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring down the noise of strangers, as the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the shadow of a cloud: the branch of the terrible ones shall be brought low.

hail that is spread over all nations.

8 He will * swallow up death in victory, and the Lord G^d will * wipe away tears from off all faces, and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 ¶ And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the LORD, we have waited for him: we will be glad, and rejoice in his salvation.

10 For in this mountain shall the hand of the LORD rest, and Boaz shall be troden down under him, even as straw is troden down for the threshing.

11 And he shall spread forth his hands in the midst of them: as he that swimmeth spreadeth forth his hands to swimme: and he shall bring down their pride together with the spoils of their hands.

12 And the forefront of the high fort of the walls shall be bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the dust.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

1 The joyful flourishing of Christ's kingdom. 3 The weak are encouraged by the virtues and privileges of the gospel.

The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose.

2 It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing: the glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it: the excellency of Carmel and Sharon: they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God.

3 C Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees.

4 Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you.

5 Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.

6 Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert.

7 And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where each lay, shall be yagresse with reeds and rushes.

8 And an high way shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called the way of holiness: the unclean shall not pass over it, but it shall be for those: the wandering men, though fools, shall not err therein.

9 A lion shall be there, nor any cruel beast shall go up thereon, it shall not be found there: but the redeemed shall walk there.

10 And the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs, and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sennacherib invades Judah. 4 Rabshakeh sent by Sennacherib, by blasphemous persuasions, solicited the people to revolt. 22 His words are told to Hezekiah.

Now it came to pass in the fourteenth years of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the defended cities of Judah, and took them.

2 And the king of Assyria sent Rabshakeh, from Lachish to Jerusalem, unto king Hezekiah, with a great army: and he stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the high way of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth unto him Eliakim the scribe, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Nisai the recorder.

4 C And Rabshakeh said unto them, Say ye now to Hezekiah, Thus saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this in thee, in that thou trustest?

5 I say, I sayest thou, (but they are but vain words,) I have counsel and strength for warre: now on whom dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Lo, thou trustedst in the staffe of this broken reed, on Egypt: whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, And trust in the Lord, is it not he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and said to Judah and to Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore give pledges, I pray thee, to my master the king of Assyria, and I will give thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders upon them.

9 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the head of my masters servants, and put thy trust on Egypt, for chariots and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come up without the Lord against this land to destroy it? the Lord said unto me, Go up against this land, and destroy it.

11 C Then said Eliakim and Shebna and Joah unto Rabshakeh, Speak, I pray thee, unto the servants in the Syrian language, for we understand it: and speak not to us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

12 C But Rabshakeh said, Hath my master sent me to the master and to thee, to speak these words? hath he not sent me to the men that sit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piss with you?

13 Then Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and said, Heare ye the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.

14 Thus said the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you, for he shall not be able to deliver you.

15 Whether let Hezekiah make you trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliver us: this scripture shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.

16 Wherein not to Hezekiah: for thus said the king of Assyria, I have made an agreement with me by a perjury, and came out to me; and eat ye every one of his wine, and every one of his figs, and drink ye every one the waters of his own cistern:

17 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Beware lest Hezekiah persuade you, saying, The Lord will deliver us: hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arphad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hands?

20 Who are they amongst all the gods of these lands, that have delivered their land out of my hands, that the Lord should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?

21 But they hath their peace, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandment was, saying, Answer him not.

22 C Then came Eliakim the scribe of Hezekiah, that was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Nisai the recorder, to Hezekiah, with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests covered with sackcloth, unto Isaiah the prophet the sonne of Amos.

3 And they said unto him, Thus saith Berchiah, This day is a day of trouble, of rebuke, and of blasphemy: for the chiefe men are come to the birth, and there is not strength to bring forth.

4 It may be the Lord thy God will heare the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent to reproach the living God, and will remove the words which the Lord thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is left.

5 So the servants of king Berchiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said unto them, Thus shall ye say unto your master, Thus saith the Lord thy God, Be not afraid of the words that thou hast heard, whereby the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast upon him, and he shall heare a rumour, and return to his own land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.

8 So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 And he heard say concerning Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make warre both thee: and when he heard it, he sent messengers to Berchiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speak to Berchiah king of Judah, saying, Let not the God in whom thou trustest deceive thee, saying, Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by destroying them utterly, and halt thou be destroyed?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which misbelieve have destroyed, as Ozen, and Hara, and Respho, and the children of Eden which were in Elasar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphan, and the king of the crisse of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ibad?

14 And Berchiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Berchiah went up unto the house of the Lord, and spread it before the Lord.

15 And Berchiah prayed unto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, that dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou hast made heaven and earth.

17 Open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Sennacherib, which hath sent to reproach the living God.

18 O a truth, the Lord, the kings of Assyria have said waste all the nations, and their countries, 19 And have cast their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, wood and stone: therefore they have destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know, that thou art the Lord, even thou only.

21 When Isaiah the sonne of Amos sent unto Berchiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord thy God of Israel, Whom thou hast played to me against Sennacherib king of Assyria:

22 This is the word which the Lord thy God hath spoken concerning him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn; she daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou reproached and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even against the holy one of Israel.

24 By thy servants hast thou reproached the Lord, and hast said, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains to the sides of Lebanon, and I will cut down the tall cedars thereof, and the choies firre-trees thereof: and I will enter into the height of his border, and I the fount of his Carmel.

25 I have digged and drunk water, and with the sole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the besieged places.

26 Hast thou not heard long ago, how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to passe, that thou shouldest be to lay waste defenceless cities into ruinous heaps.

27 Wherefore their inhabitants were of small power, they were dismayed and confounded: they were as the grass of the field, and as the green herb, as the grass on the house tops, and as corn blasted before it be grown up.

28 But I know thy habitation, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage against me, and thy tumult is come up into mine ears: therefore will I put my hook in thy nose, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou comest.

29 Because thy rage against me, and thy tumult is come up into mine ears: therefore will I put my hook in thy nose, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou comest.

30 And this shall be a signe unto thee, Ye shall eat this yeare such as groweth of it selfe, and the second yeare that which springeth of the same: and in the third yeare sowe and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah, shall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.

32 For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the seal of the Lord shall be this.

33 Wherefore thus saith the Lord thy God concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shields, nor cast a bank against it.

34 By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, and shall not come into this city, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this city to save it, for mine own sake, and for my servant Davids sake.

36 Then the angel of the Lord slew in the camp of the Assyrians a hundred and fourscore and five thousand: and when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed, and went, and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

38 And it came to passe as he was worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, that Adrametach and Sharzer his sonnes smote him with the sword: and they escaped into the land of Armenia: and Esar-haddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The office of Christ, graced with meekness and condescency. 5 Gods promise unto him. 10 An exhortation to praise God for his gospel. 17 He reproves the people of incredulity.

Behold * my servant whom I uphold, mine elect in whom my soul * delighteth: I have put my spirit upon him, he shall bring forth judgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street.

3 A bruised reed shall he not break: and the smoking flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth judgement unto truth.

4 He shall not fail, nor be discouraged, till he have set judgement in the earth: and the Isles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord, who created the heavens, and stretched them out, who spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it, he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein:

6 I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thee by thy hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for * a light of the Gentiles:

7 To open the blind eyes, to * bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison-house.

8 I am the Lord, and my name, and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them.

10 Bring unto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth: ye that go down to the sea, and all that is therein; the ships and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness, and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that dwell therein: let the inhabitants of the rock sing, let them shout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them give glory unto the Lord, and declare his praise in the islands.

13 The Lord shall go forth as a mighty man, he shall stir up jealousy like a man of war: he shall cry, yea, roar; he shall prevail against his enemies.

14 I have long time holden my peace, I have been still and restrained my self: now will I cry like a travailing woman, I will destroy, and I will devour at once.

15 I will make waste mountains and hills, and bring up all their herbs, and I will dry up the rivers: islands and I will dry up the pools.

16 And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not, I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be * turned back, they shall be greatly ashamed that trust in graven images, that say to the molten images, We are our gods.

18 Hear ye deaf, and look ye blind, that ye may see.

19 And he is blind, but my servant shall be as my messenger that I sent: who is blind, as he that is perfect, and blind as the Lord, as my servant.

20 Seeing many things, but thou observest not: opening the ears, but he heareth not.

21 The Lord is well pleased for his righteousness sake, he will magnify the law, and make it honourable.

22 But this is a people robbed and spoiled: they are all of them snared in holes, and they are hid in pitious-poules: they are for a prey, and none delivereth; for a spoil, and none saith, Rescue.

23 Who among you will give care to these who will hearken, & hear I say the time to come?

24 And he gave Jacob for a spoil, and Israel to the robbers: he did not the Lord, he against whom he have sinned: for they would not walk in his ways, neither were they obedient unto his law.

25 Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the strength of his indignation: he hath set him on fire round about, yet he hearkned not, and he burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth the church with his presence, & the appearance to the people for witness of his mercy. 2 He sheweth them the destruction of Babylon, & his wonderful deliverance of his people. 28 He representeth the people as men of straw.

BETWIXT you said the L. o. m. that created Beer, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and though the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: I when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burnt; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.

3 For I am the L. o. m. thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gave Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia and Seba for thee.

4 Since thou wast precious in my sight, thou hast been honourable; and I have loved thee:
therefore will I give men for thee, and people for thy life.

5 Fear not, for I am with thee: I will bring thee from the east, and gather thee from the west.

6 I will say to the north, Give up; and to the south, Keep not back: bring my slaves from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Even every one that is called by my name:
for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him, yea I have made him.

8 Being forth the blinde people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew us former things: let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be justified: or let them hear and say, it is truth.

10 Ye are my witnesses, saith the L. o. m., and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 Even I am the L. o. m., and beside me there is no Saviour.

12 I have declared, and have saved, and I have shewed, when there was no strange God among you: therefore ye are my witnesses, saith the L. o. m., that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am he: there is none that can deliver out of my hand: I will work, and who shall let it?

14 O thus saith the L. o. m. your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, for your sake I have sent to Babylon, and have brought down all their nobles, and the Chaldeans, whose cry is in the ships.

15 I am the L. o. m., your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saith the L. o. m., which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters:

17 Which bringeth forth the chariot and horse, the army and the power, they shall lie down together, they shall not rise: they are extinct, they are quenched as tow.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither consider the things of old.

19 Behold, I will do a new thing: now shall spring forth, shall ye not know it: I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert.

20 The beast of the field shall honour me, the dragons and the scorpions: because I give waters in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert, to give drink to my people, my chosen.

21 O thus saith the L. o. m. I have formed for my self, they shall see how my power.

22 But thou hast not called upon me, O Jacob, but thou hast been weary of me, O Israel.

23 How hast thou thought me the I shall cattell of thy burnt-offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices: I have not caused thee to serve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou hast bought me, no sweet cane with money, neither hast thou filled me with the fat of thy sacrifices: but thou hast made me to serve with thy flames, thou hast wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 Yeven I am he that am blotted out of transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.

26 But we in remembrance let us plead together: declare thou, that thou mayest be justified.

27 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers have transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I have profaned the I princes of the sanctuary, and have given Jacob to the curse, and Israel to reproaches.

CHAP. XLIIII.

I God comforteth the church with his promises. 7 The vanity of idol, 9 and fall of idol-makers. 21 He endores to praise God for his redemption and omni-potency.

YET now hear, O Jacob my servant, and Israel whom I have chosen.

2 Thus saith the L. o. m. that made thee, and formed thee from the womb, which will help thee, fear not, O Jacob my servant, and thou Jerusalem, whom I have chosen.

3 For I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my spirit upon thee, and my blessing upon thine offspring.

4 And they shall spring up as among the grass, as willows by the water courses.

5 One shall say, I am the L. o. m. and another shall call himself by the name of Jacob: and another shall subscribe with his hand unto the
L. o. m., and surname himself by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the L. o. m. the King of Israel, and his redeemer the L. o. m. of hosts, I am the first, and I am the last, and besides me there is no God.

7 And who, as I, shall call, and shall declare it, and let it in order for me, since I appointed the ancient people, and the things that are coming, and shall come: let them shew unto them.

8 Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are then my witnesses. Is there a God besides me? yea, there is no I God, I know not any.

9 O they that make a graven image are all of them vanity, and their I selectable things are all not profit, and they are their own witnesses, they see not, nor know that they may be asha-men.

10 Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven image that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all his fellows shall be ashamed: and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them stand up, yet they shall fear, and they shall be ashamed together.

12 O the smith with the tongs hath wrought in the coals, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his arm: yea, he is hungry, and his strength faileth: he is weary, and he is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out his rule: he ax-marked it out with a line: he stretcheth it with plains, and he marketh it out with a compass.

ed.

Thus saith the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus, whose right hand I have holden, to subdue nations before him; and I will loose the loynes of kings to open before him the two bars of gates, and the gates shall not be shut.

CHAP. XLVI.

3 The idols of Babylon could not save themselves.
3 God saveth his people to the end. 5 Idols are not comparable to God for power, 12 or present salvation.

Belboweth down, Hebe stoupeth, their shouls were upon the beasts, and upon the cattell:
your carriages were heavy loaden, they are a burden to the weary beast.

2 They stoupe, they bow down together, they could not deliver the burden, but themselves are gone into captivity.

3 ¶ Hearken unto me, O house of Jacob, and all the remnant of the house of Israel, which are born by me, from the belly, which are carried from the wombe.

4 And even to your old age I am he, and even to hoar hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear, even I will carry and will deliver you.

7 They bear him upon the shoulder, they carry him, and set him in his place, and he standeth; from his place shall he not remove: yea, one shall cry unto him, yet can he not answer, nor save him out of his trouble.

8 Remember this, and shew your selves men:
bring it again to minde, O ye transgressours.

9 Remember the former things of old, for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me.

CHAP. XLVII.

Gods judgement upon Babylon and Caldea, 6 for their unmercifulnesse, 7 pride, 10 and overbold-nesse, 11 shall be unresistable.

Come down and sit in the dust, O virgin daughter of Babylon, sit on the ground: there is no thine, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones and grinde meal, uncover thy locks, make bare the leg, uncover the thigh, passe over the rivers.

3 Thy nakednesse shall be uncovered, yea, thy shame shall be seen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man.

4 As for our redeemer, the Lord of hosts is his name, the holy one of Israel.

5 Sit thou silent, and get thee into darknesse,
A daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called the lady of kingdoms.

6 ¶ I was wroth with my people, I have polluted mine inheritance, and given them into thine hand: thou dost shew them no mercy, upon the ancient hast thou very heavily laid thy yoke.

7 ¶ And thou saidst, I shall be * a lady for ever: so that thou didst not lay these things to thy heart: neither didst thou remember the latter end of it.

heart, neither didst remember the latter end of it.
8 Therefore heare now this, thou that art given to pleasures, that dwillest carelessly that lay-est in thine heart, I am, & none else besides me, I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the losse of children.

9 But these two *things shall come to thee in a moment in one day; the toils of children and widow-hood; they shall come upon thee in their perfection; for the multitude of thy iniquities, and

For the great abundance of thine enchantments.
 10 C For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness; thou hast said, None seeth me: thy boldness and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else behold me.

11 ¶ Therefore shall this come upon thee, thou shalt not know from whence it shall come: and mischief shall fall upon thee, thou shalt not be able to put it off: and desolation shall come upon thee suddenly, which thou shalt not know.

12 Stand now with thine enchantments, and with the multitude of thy sorceries, wherein thou hast laboured from thy youth; if it be thou shalt be able to profit, if it be thou shalt see ball.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsel: let now the astrologers, the stargazers, the monthly prognosticators stand up, and save thee from these things that shall come upon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burn them: they shall not deliver themselves from the power of the flame: there shall not be a coal to warm at, nor fire to be feared.

15 Thus shall they be unto thee with whom thou hast laboured, even the merchants from thy youth, they shall wander every one to his quarter, none shall save thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

Gods, to convince the people of their foreknown obstinacy, revealed his prophecies. 9 He saveth them for his own sake. 12 He exhorteth them to obedience, because of his power and providence. 16 He laumenteth their backslidnesse. 20 He powerfully delivereth his out of Babylon.

Hear ye this, O house of Jacob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah; which I have by the name of the Lord; and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth; nor in reverence.

† Revel. 1. 7. and 22. 13. Or, the palm of my right hand hath spread out, 14 All ye assemble your selves and heare: which among them hath declared these things; the L^o w^o hath loved him: he will do his pleasure on Babylon, and his arm shall be on the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I, have spoken, yea I have called him: I have brought him, and he shall make his way prosperous.

16 ¶ Come ye nare unto me, heare ye this, I have not spoken in secret from the beginning, from the time that it was, there am I: and now the L^o w^o and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the L^o w^o thy redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the L^o w^o thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou shouldest go.

18 O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments, then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteousness as the waters of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had been as the sand, and the off-spring of thy bowels like the gravell thereof: his name should not have been cut off, nor destroyed from before me.

20 ¶ O ye forth of Babylon, see ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of singing declare ye, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth: say ye, The L^o w^o hath * redeemed his servant Jacob.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Christ being sent to the Jews, complained of them,

5 He is sent to the Gentiles, with gracious promises.

13 Gods love is personall to his church.

18 The ample restoration of the church. 24 The powerfull deliverance out of captivity.

Listen, O fies, unto me, and hearken ye people from farre, The L^o w^o hath called me from the womb, from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharp sword, in the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a polished shaft, in his quiver hath he hid me.

3 And said unto me, Thou art my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.

4 Then I said, I have laboured in vain, I have spent my strength for nought, and in vain; yet surely my judgment is with the L^o w^o, and my work with my God.

† Or, my reward.

5 ¶ And now, saith the L^o w^o that formed me from the womb, to be his servant, to bring Jacob again to him, ¶ Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the L^o w^o, and my God shall be my strength.

† Or, after Israel may be gathered to him, and I may, &c.

6 And he said, ¶ It is a light thing that thou shouldest be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the * preserved of Israel: I will also give thee for a * light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation, unto the end of the earth.

† Or, as the light that thou shouldst be to the preserved ones.

7 Thus saith the L^o w^o the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him whom man despised, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to a servant of rulers, Kings shall see and arise, princes also shall worship, because of the L^o w^o that he is faithful, and the holy one of Israel, and he shall choose thee.

* Chap. 43. 26. Or, as him that is despised in soul.

8 Thus saith the L^o w^o, * In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages.

* 2. Cor. 6. 4.

9 That thou mayest say * to the prisoners, Go forth: to them that are in darkness, Shew your selves: they shall feed in the waves, and their pastures shall be in all high places.

* Chap. 42. 7.

10 They shall not hunger nor thirst, neither shall the heat nor sunne smite them: for he that hath mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water, shall he guide them.

* Revel. 7. 16

11 And I will make all my mountains a way, and my highways shall be exalted.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and lo, these from the north and from the west, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 ¶ Sing, O heavens, and be joyful, O earth, & break forth into singing, O mountains: for God hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The L^o w^o hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the sonne of her womb: yea they may forget, yet will I not forget thee.

† Heb. from having compassion.

passions.

16 Behold, I have given thee upon the palms of my hands, thy walls are continually before me.

17 Thy children shall make haste: thy destroyers, and they that made thee waste shall go forth of thee.

Cap. 604.

18 * Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together and come to thee: as a lion, said the L. o. m. n., thou shalt surely clothe thee with them all, as with an ornament, & bind them on thee, as a bulle doth.

19 For thy waste and thy desolate places, and the land of thy destruction shall even now be too narrow by reason of the inhabitants, and they that swallowed thee up, shall be scarce away.

20 The children which thou shalt have, after thou hast lost the order, shall lay again in thine ears. The place is too strait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.

21 When shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I have lost my children, and am desolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who hath brought up these? Behold, I was left alone, these, where had they been?

22 Thus saith the Lord G. o. m., Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standards to the people: and they shall bring their flocks in their farms, and their daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.

Phil. 40. 10.

23 And kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens the nursing mothers: they shall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and * lick up the dust of thy feet, and thou shalt know that I am the L. o. m. n.: for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me.

Phil. 40. 11.

24 I shall the way be taken from the mighty, as I the solitary captives deliverers.

Phil. 40. 12.

25 But thus saith the L. o. m. n., Upon the jaws of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.

Phil. 40. 13.

26 And I will feed them that oppress thee, with their own flesh, and they shall be drunken with their own blood, as with wine: and all flesh shall know that I the L. o. m. n. am thy saviour and thy redeemer, the mighty one of Jacob.

Phil. 40. 14.

CHAP. II.

3 Christ sheweth, that the dereliction of the Jews is not to be imputed to him, by his ability to save, 5 by his obedience in that work, 7 and by his confidence in that assistance. 10 An exhortation to trust in God, and not in our selves.

Thus saith the L. o. m. n., Where is the bill of thine mother's divorcement whom I have put away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have sold you? Behold, for your iniquities have you sold you yourselves, and for your transgressions is your mother put away.

2 Wherefore when I came, was there none to meet me? when I called, was there none to answer? * As my hand hath been at all, that it cannot redeem: or have I no power to deliver? behold, at my rebuke, I will raise up the sea: I will make the rivers a wilderness: their fish shall stinketh, because there is no water, and they shall die.

3 I will clothe the dragons with blackness, and I will make thick their covering.

4 The L. o. m. n. no hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season: him that is weary he hath quickened morning by morning: he hath quickened mine ears to hear as the learned.

5 * I have given my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid my face from shame and spitting.

6 For the Lord G. o. m. n. will help me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

7 He is near that justifieth me, who will contend with me: let us stand together: who is my mine adversary? let him come near to me.

8 Behold, the Lord G. o. m. n. will help me, who is fier of my he that shall condemn me: for they all shall wear cause.

9 As a carcass the moth shall eat them up.

10 * Who is among you that feared the L. o. m. n., that obeyed the voice of his servant, that walked in darkness, and had no light: let him trust in the name of the L. o. m. n., and stay upon his God.

11 Behold, all ye that kindle a fire, that compass your selves about with sparks: walk in the light of your fire, and in the sparks that ye have kindled. * This shall ye have of mine hand, ye shall lie down in sorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 An exhortation after the pattern of Abraham to wait in Christ: 3 by reason of his comfortable promises, 4 of his righteous salvation, 7 and many more. 9 Christ by his sanctified arm delivered him from the fear of man, 19 he bewailed the afflictions of Jerusalem, 31 and promised victory and peace.

Hearken to me, ye that follow after righteousness, ye that seek the L. o. m. n.: look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 For the L. o. m. n. shall comfort you: he will comfort all his waste places, and he will make his wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the L. o. m. n.: joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody.

4 I will build me a people, and give ease unto her, my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make me judgement to rest for a light of the people.

5 My righteousness is near: my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people: the Isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 I will be unto me, my people, and give ease unto her, my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make me judgement to rest for a light of the people.

8 For the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my salvation from generation to generation.

9 Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the L. o. m. n.: awake, as in the ancient days, in the generations of old. Art thou not it that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

the waters of the great deep, that hath made the depths of the sea a way for the redeemed to pass over?

11. Therefore "the redemption of the L. O. M. O. shall return, and come forth singing unto Zion, and everlasting joy shall be upon their head:
they shall obtain gladness and joy, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12. A, even I am he that comforteth you: who art thou that thou shouldst be afraid? of a man that shall die, and of the sons of man, which shall be made "as grass?

13. And forgettest the L. O. M. O. thy maker, that hath stretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth: and hath feared continually every day, because of the fury of the oppressor, as if he were ready to destroy? and where is the fury of the oppressor?

14. The captive crieth bitterly that he may be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his head should fall.

15. But I am the L. O. M. O. thy God, that "diluted the sea, whose waves roared: the L. O. M. O.
of hosts is his name.

16. And I have put my words "in thy mouth, and have covered thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and say unto Zion, Thou art my people.

17. "Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the L. O. M. O.
the cup of his fury: thou hast drunken the mugs of the cup of trembling, and saying, I am safe.

18. There is none to guide her among all the nations whom the hath brought forth: neither is there any that saith, I will be her hand, or all the nations that the hath brought up.

19. "These five things I am come unto thee:
who shall be thy foes? thy desolation, and "destruction, and the famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20. Thy sinner hath sinned, they lie at the head of all the streets as a wild bull in a net; they are full of the fury of the L. O. M. O., the rebuke of the God.

21. "Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and drunken, but not with wine.

22. Thus saith the Lord the L. O. M. O., and thy God that placeth the result of his people, Behold, I have taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the mugs of the cup of my fury, thou shalt no more drink it again.

23. But I will put it into the hands of them that hate thee: which have said to thee, "Behold down, that we may go over: and thou hast said the word as the ground, and as the street to them they went over.

on, put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem the holy city: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the uncircumcised, and the unclean.

"Awake thyself from the midst, arise, and sit down, O Jerusalem: loose thyself from the bands of thy arch, O captive daughter of Zion.

3. For thus saith the L. O. M. O., The Lord hath long waited for might: and ye shall be redeemed without money.

4. For thus saith the Lord God, My people went down sometime into "Egypt to sojourn there, and the Assyrians oppressed them without cause.

5. Now therefore, what have I here, saith the L. O. M. O., that my people is taken away for nought? they shall rule over them, make them to bowl, saith the L. O. M. O., and my name continually every day is "blasphemed.

6. Therefore my people shall know my name, on, Thy God reigneth!

the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the L. O. M. O. shall bring again Zion.

9. "Break forth into joy, sing together ye comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem.

in the eyes of all the nations, and "all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

thence, touch no unclean thing, go ye out of the midst of her: ye clean, that bear the vessels of the L. O. M. O.

by flight: for the L. O. M. O. will go before you, and the God of Israel will "be your redeemer.

13. "Behold, my servant shall deal pudently, he shall be exalted and exalted, and be very high.

14. As many were alienated at thee, (his "vi-sage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men)

15. So shall he sprinkle many nations, the kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which hath not been told them shall they see, and that which they have not heard, shall they consider.

CHAP. LIII.

1. The prophet complaining of incredulity, excuseth the scandal of the cross, 4 by the benefit of his passion, 10 and the goodness thereof.

"We have believed our "I report: and to whom is the arm of the L. O. M. O. revealed?

2. For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath as it were no form nor comeliness: and when he shall see face from us, him, there is no beauty that we should desire: "He is a thing of men.

3. He is despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and he was as it were our faces from him, he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

4. Surely "he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we esteemed him rich-en, smitten of God, and afflicted.

5. But he was "wounded for our iniquities, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastity ment of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6. All we like sheep have gone astray: we have turned every one to his own way, and the L. O. M. O.
hath laid on him the iniquities of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he opened not his mouth.

8 I he was taken from prison and from judgement: and thou shalt declare his generation: for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people I was he stricken.

9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 For he pleased the Lord, so as to humble him, he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied by his knowledge: shall my righteousness bring him justice many: for he shall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong: because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors, and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

CHAP. LIII.

1 The prophet, for the comfort of the Gentiles, professeth the amplitude of their church, 4 their justice, 6 their certain deliverance out of affliction, 11 their fair edification, 15 and their sure preservation.

1 Sing O barren, thou that didst not bear; break forth into singing, and cry aloud, thou that didst not travail with child: for more are the children of the desolate, than the children of the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations; spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy seed shall inherit the Gentiles, & make the desolate cities to be inhabited.

4 Fear not, for thou shalt not be ashamed; neither be thou confounded, for thou shalt not be put to shame: for thou shalt forget the shame of the youth, and shalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood any more.

5 For thy maker is thine husband, (the Lord of hosts is his name); and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, the God of the whole earth shall be called.

6 For the Lord so hath called thee as a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit, and as a wife of youth, when thou wast refused, saith the Lord.

7 For a small moment have I forsaken thee, but with great mercies will I gather thee.

8 In a little wrath I hid my face from thee, for a moment; but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on thee, saith the Lord.

9 For this is as the waters of Shinar to me: for as I have sworn that the waters of Shinar should no more go over the earth, so have I sworn that I would not be wroth with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindness shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, saith the Lord.

11 O thou afflicted, broken hearted, I will lay thee down, and I will comfort thee, I will lay thee down with fair colours, and lay the foundation with sapphires.

12 And I will make the habitation of agates, and the gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord, and great shall be the peace of thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou be established: thou shalt be farre from oppression, for thou shalt not fear; and from terror, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, they shall surely gather together, but not by mine holiness: shall gather together against thee, shall fall for thy sake.

16 Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an instrument for his work, and I have created the hammer to destroy.

17 For so weapon that is formed against thee, shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against thee in judgement, thou shalt condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the Lord: & their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 The prophet with the promises of Christ, calleth to faith, 6 and to repentance. 8 The happy success of them that believe.

1 H O, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and be ye that have no money: come ye, buy and eat, yea come, buy wine and milk without money, and without price.

2 Will ye herefore be as I spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? because ye despise my word, and care ye that which is good, and so your soul delighteth itself in vanity.

3 Because you care and come unto me, because your soul shall live, and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the new covenant of David.

4 Behold, I have given thee for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that know not thee, shall run to thee, because of the name of the Lord, and for the glory of him: for he shall glorify thee.

6 For as the Lord so will he may be found, call ye upon him, he will be near.

7 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: & let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

8 For as my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

10 For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater:

11 So shall my word be that shall forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The prophet being sent to reprove hypocrites, 3 how perfect a conversion is said and arise. 5 He declares what promises are due unto godliness, 13 and to the keeping of the Sabbath.

Come thou, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sinnes.

2 Yet they seek me daily and delight to know my wayes, as a nation that do righteousness, and forsooke not the ordinance of their God: they ask of me the ordinances of justice; they take delight in approaching to God.

3 ¶ And therefore have we fasted, say they, and thou hast not: wherefore have we afflicted our soul, and thou hast not known? Behold, in the day of your fast you finde pleasure, and exact all your labour.

4 Behold, ye fast for strife and debate, and to fight: yet shall ye not be afflicted nor shall ye be vexed: ye shall not fast as ye do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high.

5 Is it such a fast that I have chosen? in day say I man to afflict his soul: is it to bow down his head as a bulrush, and to speak sackcloth and ashes under him? will thou call this a fast, and accept it say to the Lord as now?

6 Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

7 Is it not to deal the bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out, to the house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thy self from thine own flesh?

8 ¶ When shall the sight break forth as the morning, and thine healing shall spring forth speedily: and thy righteousness shall go before thee, the glory of the Lord shall be thy rearward.

9 When shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer, thou shalt say, Here I am: if thou shalt arise from the midst of thee, the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and speaking vanity?

10 And if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon-day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and enlarge thy soul in thought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters shall not fail.

12 And they that shall be of thee, shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations: and thou shalt be called, the repairs of the breach, the restorer of paths to dwell in.

13 ¶ If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honourable, and shall honour him, not doing thine own wayes, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own wayes:

14 Then shalt thou delight thy self in the high places of the earth, and thou shalt be with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord shall speak it.

1 The damnable nature of sins. 3 The sinners of the Jews. 5 Calamities is for sinners. 16 Salvation is only of God. 20 The judgment of the reprobate.

Behold, the Lord is not merciful: that it cannot save: neither his ears heavy, that it cannot hear.

2 But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sinnes have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity, your lips have spoken lies, your tongue hath uttered perdition.

4 None called for justice, nor any pleader for truth: they trust in vanity, and speak lies; they conceive mischief, and lying their pursuit.

5 They hatch a cockatrice egg, and weave a spider's web: he that catcheth of their eggs destroyeth, and that which is crushed, breaketh out into a viper.

6 Their webs shall not become garments, neither shall they cover themselves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity, wanting and destruction are in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 ¶ Therefore is judgement farre from us, neither doth justice overtake us: we wait for light, but behold obscurity; for brightness, but we walk in darkness.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we stumble at noon-day as in the night, we are in desolate places as dead men.

11 We roar all like bears, and mourn like doves: we look for judgement, but there is none; for salvation, but it is farre off from us.

12 For our transgressions are multiplied before thee, and our sinnes testify against us: for our transgressions are with us, and as for our iniquities, we know them.

13 In transgressing and lying against the Lord our God, and departing away from our God, speaking opposition and revolt, concerning and uttering from the heart words of falsehood.

14 And judgement is turned away backward, and justice standeth a farre off: truth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter.

15 Yea, truth is failed, and he that departed from evil maketh himself a prey: and the Lord shall find it, and it shall be displeased unto him that there was no judgement.

16 ¶ And he hath said that there was no truth, and wounded that there was no intercession: therefore his arm brought salvation unto him, and his righteousness, it is broken him.

17 For he put on righteousness as a breastplate, and an helmet of salvation upon his head; and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a clothe.

18 According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompence to his enemies, to the wicked he will repay according to their works.

The spirit of the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek, he hath sent me to binde up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound:

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourn:

3 To appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

*Chap. 1.

7 For your shame you shall have double; and for confusion they shall rejoice in their position: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be unto them.

8 For I the Lord God will judge, I have robbed for burnt-offering, and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.

9 And their seed shall be known among the Gentiles, and their offspring among the people:

all that see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the (seed) which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, as a man my soul shall be joyful in my God, for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorned her self with jewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her buds, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth: so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The fervent desire of the prophet, to confirm the church in Gods promise. 5 The office of the ministers (unto which they are incited) in preaching the gospel, 10 and preparing the people thereto.

For Zion sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God.

4 Thou shalt no more be termed, Forsaken; neither shall thy land any more be termed, Desolate: but thou shalt be called, Jehovah-shalem, and thy land, Jerusalem: for the Lord shall delight in thee, and thy land shall be married.

5 For as a young man married a virgin, so shall thy Sonnes marry thee: and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee.

6 I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not silence;

7 And give him not rest, till he be established, and till he make Jerusalem a praise in the earth.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his strength, Surely, I will no more give thy coin to be meat for thine enemies, and the Sonnes of the stranger shall not drink thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured:

9 But they that have gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord: and they that have brought it together, shall drink it in the courts of my holiness.

10 Go through, go through the gates; prepare you the way of the people, call up, call up the high way, gather out the stones, lift up a standard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the world, Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Behold, thy salvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord: and thou shalt be called, Bought out, a city not forsaken.

I Christ sheweth who he is, 2 what his victory over his enemies, 7 and what his mercy toward his church, 10 In his just wrath he remembereth his free mercy, 13 The church in their prayer, 17 and complaints, professeth their faith.

What is this that cometh from Zion, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, travelling in the greatness of his strength? I that speak in righteousness, mighty to save.

2 And herefore as thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine-fat?

3 I have troden the wine-press alone, and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and will trample them in my fury, and their blood shall be sprinkled upon my garments, and I will stain all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the year of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to help, and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought salvation unto me, and my fury, it upheld me.

6 And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk in my fury, and I will bring down their strength to the earth.

7 I will mention the loving kindnesses of the Lord, as a man, and the pleasures of the Lord, as a man, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness towards the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them, according to his mercies, according to the multitude of his loving kindnesses.

8 For he said, Surely they are my people, children whom I will not let: so he was their saviour.

9 In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them, and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 When he remembered the days of old, Moses and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them up out of the sea, with the shepherd of his flock? Where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 That led them by the right hand of Moses, with his glorious arm, dividing the waters before them, to make himself an everlasting name?

13 That led them through the deep, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble?

14 As a beast goeth down into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord caused him to rest: so thou lead thy people, to make thy self a glorious name.

15 Look down from heaven, and behold from the habitation of the holiness and of the glory: where is thy zeal and the strength, the sounding of thy bowels, and of thy mercies towards me: are they restrained?

16 Doubtless thou art our Father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our Father, our redeemer, thy name is from everlasting.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made us to erre from thy ways? and hardened our hearts from the fear? Return for thy servants sake, the slaves of thine inheritance.

The glorious God will be served in humble sincerity. 5 He comforteth the humble with the marvelous generation, 10 and with the gracious benefits of the church, 15 Gods severe judgements against the wicked. 19 The Gentiles shall have an holy church, 24 and for the damnation of the wicked.

Thus saith the Lord. The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is the house that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my rest?

2 For all those things a hard mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the Lord: but to that man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembled at my word.

3 He that buildeth an altar, as if he were a man: he that sacrificeth a lamb, as if he were a dog; he that offereth an oblation, as if he were offering incense; he that saith, I have chosen their own way, and their soul delighteth in their abominations.

4 I also will choose their delusions, and will bring their fears upon them: because when I call, none will answer; when I speak, they do not hear: but they will say, because mine eyes are shut, and they shall be ashamed.

8 And he hath heard such a thing: who hath seen such things? shall the earth be made to bring forth in one day, or shall a nation be born at once? for as soon as Zion travailed, she brought forth her children.

9 Shall I bring to the birth, and not I come to bring forth, saith the Lord? shall I come to bring forth, and that the womb, saith the Lord?

10 Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all ye that mourn for her:

11 What ye may suck, and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolations: that ye may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream: then shall ye suck, ye shall be strong upon her flow, and be dandled upon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you: and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall rejoice, and your bones shall flourish like an herb: and the hand of the Lord shall be known towards his servants, and his indignation towards his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire.

16 For by fire, and by his sword, will the Lord cleanse and plead: and the slain of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctify themselves, and purify themselves in the garden, I will bring one tree in the midst, eating (saith the Lord) shall be the abomination, and the mould; shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I know their works, and their thoughts: it shall come, that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come and see my glory.

19 And I will be a sign among them, and I will send those that escape of them, unto the nations, to Babylon, and to the cities of the plain, that have not heard my fame, neither have seen my glory: and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord, out of all nations, upon horses, and in chariots, and on litters, and upon mules, and upon swift beasts, to my holy mountain Jerusalem, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for priests, and for Levites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the new heavens, and the new earth which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name remain.

23 And it shall come to pass, that I from one new moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall go forth, and look upon the carcasses of the men that have transgressed against me: saith the Lord, for their worm shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shall be an abhorring unto all flesh.

THE BOOK OF THE prophet JEREMIAH.

CHAP. I.

1 The time, 3 and the calling of Jeremiah. 11 His prophetic visions of an almond rod, and a seething pot. 15 His heavy message against Judah. 17 God encourage him with his promise of assistance.

The words of Jeremiah the sonne of Hilkiah, of the priestes that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin.

1 To whom the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Josiah king of Iudah, in the thirteenth year of his reigne.

3 It came also in the dayes of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, unto the carrying away of Ierusalem captive in the fifth month.

4 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the belly, I knew thee; and before thou camest forth out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and I appointed thee a prophet unto the nations.

6 Then said I, Ah, Lord God; behold, I cannot speak, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord said unto me, Touch my mouth, and the Lord said unto me, Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth.

10 See, I have this day set thee over the nations, and over the kingdoms, to root out, and to pull down, and to destroy, and to throw down, to build and to plant.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, Jeremiah, what seest thou? and I said, I see a rod of an almond-tree.

12 Then said the Lord unto me, Thou hast well seen: for I will hasten my word to perform it.

13 And the word of the Lord came unto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? and I said, I see a seething pot, and the face thereof was towards the north.

14 Then the Lord said unto me, Out of the north an evil shall break forth upon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For so, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, said the Lord, and they shall come, and they shall set every one his shewt at the entering of the gates of Ierusalem, and against all the walls thereof round about, and against all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will utter my judgements against them touching all their wickedness, who have forsaken me, and have burnt incense unto other gods, and worshipped the works of their own hands.

17 Thou therefore gird up thy loynes, and arise, and speak unto them all that I command thee: be not dismayed at their faces, lest I confound thee before them.

18 For behold, I have made thee this day a defended city, and an iron pillar, & bristled walls against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, against the princes thereof, against the priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 And thou shalt fight against thee, but they shall not prevail against thee: for I am with thee, saith the Lord, to deliver thee.

CHAP. II.

1 God having shewed his former kindness, expostulateth with the Jews their causeless revolt, 9 beyond any example. 14 They are the cause of their own calamities. 20 The sinners of Judah. 31 Their confidence is rejected.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Go, and cry in the ears of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, the kindness of thy youth, the love of thine espousals, when thou wentest after me in the wilderness, in a land that was not sown.

3 I that was holiness unto the Lord, and the first-fruits of his increase: all that devour him, shall offend; and shall come upon them, saith the Lord.

4 Hear ye the word of the Lord, O house of Jacob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?

6 Another said they, Where is the Lord, that brought us up out of the land of Egypt: that led us through the wilderness, through a land of deserts, and of pits, through a land of drought, and of the shadow of death, through a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt.

7 And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof, and the goodness thereof; but when ye entered, ye despised my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that handle the law, knew me not: the pastors also transgressed against me, and the prophets prophesied by Baal, and walked after things that do not profit.

9 Wherefore I will yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and with your childrens children will I plead.

10 For ye said, I over the Isles of Chittim, and sit, and send into Kedar, and consider diligently, and see if these be such a thing.

11 Hath a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory, for that which doth not profit.

12 Be astonished, O ye heavens, at this; and be horribly afraid, be ye very desolate, saith the Lord.

13 For my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns that can hold no water.

14 ¶ No Israel a servant? is he a home-born slave? why is he spoiled?

15 The young lions roared upon him, and spelted, and they made his land waste: his cities are burnt without inhabitant.

16 With the children of Moab and Edom, pines I have broken the crown of thy head.

17 Hast thou not procured this unto thyself, in that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way?

18 And now what hast thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the waters of Shihor? or what hast thou to do in the way of Assyria, to drink the waters of the river?

19 Thine own wickedness shall correct thee, and thy backslidings shall remove thee: know therefore and see, that it is an evil thing and bitter that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts.

20 ¶ For of old time I have broken thy yoke, and burst thy bands, and thou saidst, I will not transgress: when upon every high hill, and under every green tree thou wast decent, playing the harlot.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine wholly a right seed: how then art thou turned into the degenerate plant of a strange vine unto me?

22 For though thou wast cher with nitre, and take thee much soap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord God of hosts.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, I have not gone after Baalim? for thy way in the valley, know what thou hast done: I thou art a swift journeyer travelling her ways.

24 ¶ I will also speak to the wilderness, that smothered up the winds at her pleasure, in her occasion who canst turn her away: all they that seek her, will not weary themselves, in her month they shall find her.

25 Withhold thy foot from being unshod, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saidst, There is no hope. For I have loved strangers, and after them will I go.

26 Alas that is ashamed when he is found: so is the house of Israel ashamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.

27 Saying to a flock, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast brought me forth: for they have turned their back unto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and save us.

28 But where are thy gods that thou hast made there? let them arise if they can save thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Judah.

29 And therefore will ye plead with me: ye all have transgressed against me, saith the Lord God.

30 In vain have I smitten your children, they received no correction: your own sword hath reboured your prophets, like a destroying lion.

31 ¶ O generation, say ye the words of the Lord God: have I been a wilderness unto Israel? a land of darkness? wherefore say my people, We are lords, we will come no more unto thee.

32 Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number.

33 With ye crimest thou thy way to seek love? therefore hast thou also taught the wicked ones thy ways.

34 Also in thy skirts is found the blood of the souls of the poor innocents: I have not found it de thy secret search, but upon all these.

35 Yet thou sayst, Because I am innocent, therefore his anger shall turn from me: behold, I will plead with thee, because thou sayest, I have not sinned.

36 Why gaddest thou about so much to change thy way? thou also shalt be ashamed of Egypt, as thou wast ashamed of Assyria.

37 For thou shalt go forth from him, and thine hands upon thine head: for the Lord hath rejected thy confidences, and thou shalt not prosper in them.

CHAP. III.

1 God's great mercy in Judah's vile whoredome. 6 Judah is worse than Israel. 12 The promises of the gospel to the penitent. 20 Israel reproved, and called by God, maketh a solemn confession of their sinners.

¶ They say, If a man put away his wife, and she go from him, and become another man, shall he return unto her again? shall not that land be greatly polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many lovers; yet return again to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift up thine eyes unto the high places, and see where thou hast not been seen with: in the wayes hast thou sat for them, as the Arabian in the wilderness; and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy wickedness.

3 Therefore the showers have been withholden, and there hath been no latter rain, and thou hast a voice saying, I have not sinned: thou refusest to be ashamed.

4 Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth?

5 Wilt he reprove his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end? Behold, thou hast spoken and done evil things as thou couldest.

6 ¶ The Lord said also unto me in the dayes of Josiah the king, What thou seest that which back-sliding Israel hath done? she is gone up upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and there hath played the harlot.

7 And I said after she had done all these things, Turn thou unto me: but she returned not, and her treacherous sister Judah saw it.

8 And I saw, when for all the causes whereby back-sliding Israel committed adultery, I saw put her away, and given her a bill of divorce: yet her treacherous sister Judah feared not, but went and played the harlot also.

9 And it came to pass through the lightness of her whoredome, that she defiled the land, and committed adultery with stones and with rocks.

10 And yet for all this, her treacherous sister Judah hath not turned unto me with her whole heart, but feignedly, saith the Lord God.

11 And the Lord said unto me, The back-sliding Israel hath justified her self more than treacherous Judah.

12 ¶ Go, and proclaim these words toward the north, and say, Return thou back-sliding Israel, saith the Lord God, and I will not cause mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord God, and I will not keep anger for ever.

13 Only acknowledge thine iniquity that thou hast transgressed against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy ways to the strangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, saith the Lord God.

14 Turn, O back-sliding children, saith the Lord God, for I am merciful unto you: I will take quarters about the black: & because I have spoken it, I have purposed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it.

29 The whole city shall see, for the noise of the women and women, they shall go into thickets, and climb up upon the rocks: every city shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou art spoiled, what wilt thou do? Though thou clothest thyself with crimson, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, though thou rearest thy face with painting, in vain shalt thou make thyself fair, thy lovers will despise thee, they will seek thy life.

31 For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, and the anguish as of her that brings forth her first child, the voice of the daughter of Zion that bewails her self, that spreads her hands, saying, Woe is me now, for my soul is wearied because of murderers.

CHAP. V.

8 The judgements of God upon the Jews, for their profane sense, 7 for their adultery, 10 for their impiety, 19 for their contempt of God, 25 and for their great corruption in the civil state, 30 and ecclesiastical.

Ran ye to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and see now and hear, and seek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man, if there be any that executes judgment, that seeketh the truth, and I will pardon it.

2 And though they say, The Lord is with us, surely they swear falsely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes upon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they have not grieved; thou hast consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction, they have made their faces harder than a rock, they have refused to return.

4 Therefore I said, Surely these are poor, they are foolish: for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the judgement of their God.

5 I will get me unto the great men, and will speak unto them; for they have known the way of the Lord, and the judgements of their God: but these have altogether spoken the pike, and break the bonds.

6 And therefore a lion out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolf of the evenings shall spoil them, a leopard shall watch over their cities: every one that goeth out thence shall be torn in pieces: because their transgressions are many, and their backslidings: & are increased.

7 How shall I pardon thee for this? thy children have forsaken me, and sworn by them that are no gods: when I had led them to the peak, they then committed adultery, and assembled themselves by troops in the haunts of houses.

8 They were as fed horses in the morning: every one neighed after his neighbour's wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord, and shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?

10 Go ye up upon her walls, and destroy, but make not a full end: take away her banniers, for they are not the Lord's.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Judah have dealt very treacherously against me, saith the Lord.

12 They have hated the Lord, and said, It is not he, neither shall evil come upon us, neither shall we see sword nor famine:

13 And the prophets shall become as fools, and the word is not in them; thus shall it be done unto them.

14 And therefore shall I hate the Lord, and I will make my words in thy mouth lies, and this people wood, and it shall devour them.

15 I.e. I will bring a nation upon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say.

16 Their quiver is as an open sepulchre, they are all mighty men.

17 And they shall eat up thine *harvest, and the bread, which thy sonnes and thy daughters should eat: they shall eat up thy flocks and thine herds; they shall eat up thy vines and thy fig-trees: they shall impoverish the fenced cities wherein thou trustest, with the sword.

18 Nevertheless in thine dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end with you.

19 And it shall come to passe when ye shall say, And therefore hath the Lord done so unto us: I like as ye have forsaken me, and served strange gods in your lands: so shall ye serve strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Jacob, and publish it in Judah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O *feeble people, and without standing, which have eyes and see not, which have ears and hear not.

22 Fear ye not me, saith the Lord: I will ye not tremble at my presence, which have placed the land for the bound of the sea, by a perpetual decree that it cannot pass it; and though the heavens thereof toll themselves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not pass over it.

23 But this people hath a rebellious and a rebellious heart: they are revolted and gone.

24 Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord, our God that giveth rain, both the former & the latter in his seasons: he retheth unto us the appointed weeks of the harvest.

25 Your iniquities have turned away these things, and your sinnes have withheld good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked men: they say, wait as he that sitteth idly, they let a trap, they catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and wares rich.

28 They are wares *fat, they think yes, they overpass the needs of the wicked: they judge not the cause, the cause of the fatherless, yet they prosper: and the right of the needy do they not judge.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord, and shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?

30 I will wonderfull and horrible things be committed in the land.

31 The prophets prophesie *falsly, and the priests bear rule by their means, and my people love to have it so: and what will ye do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The enemies sent against Judah, & encourage themselves. 6 God setteth them on work because of their sinnes. 9 The prophet lamenteth the judgements of God because of their sinnes. 18 He proclaimes Gods wrath. 26 He calleth the people to mourning for the judgements on their sinnes.

O Ye children of Benjamin, gather your selves to flee out of the midst of Jerusalem, and blow the trumpet in Tekoh; and set up a sign of fire in Beth-haccerim: for evil appeareth out of the north, and great destruction.

2 I have likened the daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman.

3 The shepherds with their flocks shall come unto her: they shall pitch their tents against her round about; they shall feed every one in his place.

4 Depart ye warre against her: arise and let us go up at noon: too unto us, for the day is going away; for the shadows of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let us go by night, and let us destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hosts said, Hew ye down trees, and cast a mount against Jerusalem: this is the cite to be visited, she is wholly oppression in the midst of her.

7 As a fountain casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her wickedness: violence and spoil is heard in her, because she continually is grief and wounds.

8 Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soul depart from thee: lest I make thee desolate, a land not inhabited.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, They shall thoroughly glean the remnant of Israel as a vine: turn back thine hand as a grape-gatherer into the baskets.

10 To whom shall I speak and give warning, that they may hear? behold, their care is uncommuniced, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is unto them a reproach: they have no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the fury of the Lord: I am weary with holding in: I will pour it out upon the children abroad, and upon the assembly of young men together: for even the husband with the wife shall be taken, charged with him that is full of days.

12 And their houses shall be turned into others, with their fields and vines together: for I will stretch out my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them, every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest, every one dealeth falsely.

14 They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Where they ashamed when they had committed abomination: nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore they shall fall among them that fall: at the time that I will visit them, they shall be cast down, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls: but they said, We will not walk therein.

17 Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not hearken.

18 Therefore heare, ye nations, and know, O congregation, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will bring evil upon this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, because they have not hearkened unto my words, nor to my law, but rejected it.

20 To what purpose cometh there to me incense from Sheba? and the sweet cane from a farre country? your burnt-offerings are not acceptable, nor your sacrifices sweet unto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, and the fathers and the sounes together shall fall upon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the north country, and a great nation shall be raised from the sides of the earth.

23 They shall lay hold on hold and spear: they are cruel, and have no mercy: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride upon horses, set in array as men for warre against thee, O daughter of Zion.

24 We have heard the same thereof, our hands were feeble, anguish hath taken hold of us, and pain, as of a woman in travail.

25 So not forth into the field, nor walk by the way; for the sword of the enemy and fear is on every side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with lackloth, and waistlo the self in ashes: make thee mourning, as for an only sonne, most bitter lamentation: for the spoiler shall suddenly come upon us.

27 I have set thee for a tower, and a fortress among my people, that thou mayest know, and trie thy way.

28 They are all grievous rebelters, walking with slanders: they are hyssop and iron, they are all corrupters.

29 The bellows are burnt, the lead is consumed of the fire, the founder melteth in vain, for the wicked are not plucked away.

30 I Reprobate silver shall men call them, because the Lord hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

I Jeremiah is sent to call for true repentance, so prevent the Jews captivity. 8 He rejecteth their vain confidence, 12 by the example of Sibiloh 17 He threateneth them for their idolatry, 21 He rejecteth the sacrifices of the disobedient. 29 He exhorteth to mourn for their abominations in Tophet, 32 and the judgements for the same.

The word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lord's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of the Lord, O all ye of Judah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Amend your ways, and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place.

4 Trust ye not in lying words, saying, The temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord are these.

5 For if you thoughtfully amend your ways, and your doings, if you thoughtfully execute judgement between a man and his neighbour;

6 If ye oppress not the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and shed not innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods to your hurt:

7 Then will I cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, for ever and ever.

8 Behold, ye trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will ye steal, murder, and commit adultery, and wear falsly, and burn incense unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not;

11 Is this house, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? behold, I have seen it, saith the Lord.

12 But go ye now unto my place which was in Shiloh, where I set my name at the first, and see what I did to it, for the wickedness of my people Israel.

13 And now because ye have done all these works, saith the Lord, and I spake unto you, rising up early, and speaking, but ye heard not; and I called you, but ye answered not:

14 Therefore will I do unto this house which is called by my name, wherein ye trust, and unto the place which I gave to you, and to your fathers, as I have done to Shiloh.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brethren, even the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercession to me, for I will not hear thee.

17 Seek thou not what they do in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: 18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.

19 Do they provoke me to anger, saith the Lord, do they not provoke themselves to the confusion of their own faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my fury shall be poured out upon this place, upon man and upon beast, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground; and it shall burn, and shall not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts the God of Israel, I hate your burnt-offerings unto your sacrifices, and eat flesh.

22 For I spake unto you, and commanded them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt-offerings of sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

24 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear, but walked in the counsels and in the imagination of their evil heart, and I bent backwards, and not forwards.

25 Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt unto this day, I have even sent unto you all my servants the prophets, daily rising up early, and sending them.

26 Yet they hearkened not unto me, nor inclined their ear, but hardened their neck, they did worse than their fathers.

27 Therefore thou shalt speak all these words unto them, but they will not hearken to thee: thou shalt also call unto them, but they will not answer thee.

28 But thou shalt say unto them, This is a nation that obeyeth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth correction: truth is perished, and is cut off from their mouth.

29 Cut off thine hair, O Jerusalem, and cast it away, and take up a lamentation on high places; for the Lord hath rejected and forgotten the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Judah have done this in my sight, saith the Lord: they have let their abominations in the house which is called by my name, to pollute it.

31 And they have built the high places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither I came it into my heart.

32 Therefore behold, the days shall come, upon my heart, that it shall no more be called heart, Tophet, nor the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Tophet, till there be no place.

33 And the carcasses of this people shall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Judah, and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The calamitie of the Jews both dead and alive. 2 He upbraids their foolish and shamelesse impenitencie.

3 He sheweth their grievous judgements, 18 and bewaileth their desperate estate.

At that time, saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne, and the moon, and all the host of heaven whom they have loved, and whom they have served, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have sought, and whom they have worshipped: they shall not be gathered, nor be buried, they shall be for dung upon the face of the earth.

3 And death shall be chosen rather then life, by all the residue of them that remain of this world, which remain in all the places whither I have driven them, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 Moreover thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall, and not arise? Shall he turn away, and not return?

5 Why then is this people of Jerusalem stiffden back, by a perpetual back-sliding? they hold fast deceit, they refuse to return.

6 I hearkeued and heard, but they spake not aright: no man repented him of his wickedness, saying, What have I done? every one turned to his count, as the dole rusheth into the battell.

7 Yea, the stock in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane, and the swallow observe the time of their coming, but my people know not the judgement of the Lord.

8 How do ye say, We are wise, and the land of the Lord is with us? Lo, certainly I in vain made be it, the pen of the scribes is in vain.

9 The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: to they have rejected the word of the Lord, and I what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I give their wives unto others, and their sisters to them that shall inherit them: for every one from the least even unto the greatest is given to covetousness, from the prophet even unto the priest, every one dealeth falsely.

11 For they have hated the word of the Lord.

CHAP. X.

1 The unequal comparison of God and idols. 17 The prophet exhorteth to flee from the calamity to come. 19 He lamenteth the spoil of the tabernacle by several persons. 23 He maketh an humble supplication.

Hear ye the word which the Lord speaketh unto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them.

3 For the * customers of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (the work of the hands of the workman) with the ax.

4 They deck it with silver and with gold, they fasten it with nails and with hammers: that it move not.

5 They are upright as the palm-tree: * but speak not: they must needs be * born, because they cannot goide nor afraid of them, for * they cannot do evil, neither also is it in them to do good.

6 Forasmuch as there is none * like unto thee, O Lord, thou art great, and thy name is great in might.

7 * Who would not fear thee, O king of nations: for to thee need it appertain: forasmuch as among all the wise men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms there is none like unto thee.

8 But they are * altogether * brutish and foolish: the stock is a doctrine of vanities.

9 Silver (spread into plates) is brought from Cyprus, and gold from Cyprus, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the founder: blue and purple is their clothing: they are all the work of cunning men.

10 But the Lord * is the * true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king: at his wrath the earth shall tremble, and the nations shall not be able to abide his indignation.

11 Thus shall ye say unto them. The gods that have not made the heavens, and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens.

12 He * hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, * and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion.

13 When he uttereth his voice there is multitude of waters in the heavens, he causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings, with rain, and bringeth forth the winds out of his treasures.

14 Every man is * brutish in his knowledge, every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.

15 They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 * The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things, and Israel is the root of his inheritance: the Lord * is his name.

17 Gather up the waters out of the land, O inhabitants of the fountains.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will disperse them, that they may abide it so.

19 * Who is me for my hurt, my wound is grievous: but I said, Truly this is a grief, and I must bear it.

20 My tabernacle is spoiled, and all my courses are broken: my children are gone forth of me, and they are not: there is none to stretch forth my tent any more, and to set up my curtains.

21 For the pious are become filthy, and have not sought the Lord: therefore they shall not prosper, and all their stocks shall be scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the * north country, to make the cities of Judah desolate, and a * den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that the * way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that dwelleth to direct his steps.

24 O Lord, * correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 * Pour out thy fury upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call nish me, not on thy name: for they have eaten up Jacob, and have despised him, and consumed him, and have made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

I Jeremiah proclaimeth Gods covenant, 8 rebuketh the Jews disobeying thereof, 11 propheseth evils to come upon them, 18 and upon the men of Anathoth, for conspiring to kill Jeremiah.

The word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Hear ye the words of this covenant, and speak unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,

3 And say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, * Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, * Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God:

5 That I may perform the * oath which I have sworn unto your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. Then answered I, and said, * I do as thou sayest, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said unto me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying, Hence ye the words of this covenant, and do them.

7 For I earnestly protested unto your fathers, in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even unto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice.

8 Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ears, but walked every one in the * imagination of their evil heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not.

9 And the Lord said unto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 They are turned back to the iniquities of their fathers, which refused to hear my words: and they went after other gods to serve them: the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

11 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring evil upon them which they shall not be able to escape; and though they shall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them.

12 ¶ Then shall the cities of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incense; but they shall not save them at all in the time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Judah; and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem, have ye set up altars to that I know not, even altars to burn incense unto Baal.

14 Therefore say not thou for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time that they cry unto me for their trouble.

15 ¶ I will not have my beloved to do in mine house, seeing the hath wrought lewdness with me; and the holy flesh is parted from thee: I when thou doest evil, then thou rejoicest.

16 ¶ The Lord called thy name, A green olive-tree, fair, and of goodly fruit: with the noise of a great tumult he hath kindled fire upon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hosts that planted thee, hath pronounced evil against thee, for the evil of the house of Israel, and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke me to anger, in offering incense unto Baal.

18 ¶ And the Lord hath given me knowledge of it, and I know it; then thou shalt not me their doings.

19 But I was like a lamb, or an ox that is brought to the slaughter; and I knew not that they had devised devices against me, saying, Let us destroy thy tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living; that his name may be no more remembered.

20 But, O Lord of hosts, that judgest righteously, that triest the reins and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them; for unto thee have I revealed my cause.

21 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord of the men of Anathoth, that seek thy life, saying, Prophesie not in the name of the Lord, so that thou die not by our hands:

22 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will punish them; the young men shall die by the sword, their fathers and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And there shall be no remnant of them, for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, even the year of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

¶ Jeremiah complaining of the wicked's prosperity, by which they see their ruine. 5 God admonisheth him of his brethren's treachery against him, 7 and lamenteth his heritage. 14 He promiseth to the penitent return from captivity.

Righteous art thou, O Lord, when I plead with thee: yet here I talk with thee of thy judgements: Wherefore doeth the way of the wicked prosper? whereas all the day happy hath been very treacherously.

2 Thou hast planted them, ye have taken root: they grow, yea, they bring forth fruit; thou art near in their mouth, and farre from their reins.

3 But thou, O Lord, knowest me; thou hast seen me, and tried mine heart towards thee:

pull them out like sheep for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither? for the wickedness of them that dwell therein the beasts are consumed, and the birds, because they said, We shall not see our last end.

5 ¶ If thou hast run with the footmen, they have wearied thee; then how canst thou contend with horses? and if in the land of peace wherein thou trustedst, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the swelling of Jordan?

6 For thou hast hated them, and the house of thy father, when they have dealt treacherously with thee, yea, they have called a multitude after thee, beleeve them not: though they speak fair words unto thee.

7 ¶ I have forsaken mine house, I have left mine heritage, I have given up the dearly beloved of my soul into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is unto me as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore have I hated it.

9 Mine heritage is unto me as a speckled bird, the birds round about are against her; come ye, assemble all the beasts of the field, I come to devour.

10 Many pastours have destroyed my vineyard, they have troden my portion under foot, they have made me a pleasant position a desolate wilderness.

11 They have made it desolate, and being desolate, it mourneth unto me; the whole land is made desolate, because no man is left to heart.

12 The spoilers are come upon all high places, the wilderness: for the sword of the Lord shall devour from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no flesh shall have peace.

13 ¶ They have sown wheat, but shall reap thorns: they have put themselves to pain, but shall not profit; and they shall be ashamed of your extremes, because of the fierce anger of the Lord.

14 ¶ Thus saith the Lord against all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have caused my people Israel to inherit, Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the house of Judah from among them.

15 And it shall come to pass after that I have plucked them out, I will return, and have compassion on them, and will bring them again every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

16 And it shall come to pass, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to swear by my name, The Lord doth so, (as they taught my people to swear by Baal) then shall they be built in the midst of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up, and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

In the type of a linen girdle hidden at Euphrates, God presseth with the destruction of his people. 12 Under the parable of the basket filled with wine he foretelleth their drunkenness in misery. 15 He exhorteth so present their future judgment. 22 He sheweth their abominations as the cause thereof.

Thus saith the Lord unto me, Go, and get thee a linen girdle, and put it upon thy loins, and put it not in water.

2 So I got a girdle, according to the word of the Lord, and put it on my loins.

Hab. 1. 4.

3 And the word of the Lord came unto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast got, which is upon thy loins, and arise, go to Cypriates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.

5 So I went and hid it by Cypriates, as the Lord commanded me.

6 And it came to pass after many days, that the Lord said unto me, Arise, go to Cypriates, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then I went to Cypriates and digged, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it; and behold, the girdle was matted, it was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I marre the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jerusalem.

10 This evil people which refuse to hear my words, which walk in the imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods to serve them, and to worship them, shall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man; so have I caused to cleave unto me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Judah, saith the Lord; so that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praise, and for a glory: but they would not hear.

12 Therefore thou shalt speak unto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Every bottle shall be filled with wine; and they shall say unto thee, Do we not certainly know, that every bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land; even the kings that sit upon David's throne, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with drunkenness.

14 And I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together, saith the Lord; I will not pity, nor spare, nor have mercy, I will destroy them.

15 Hear ye, and give care, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken.

16 O the glory to the Lord, so your God defaile: he cause darkness, and before your feet stumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye look for light, he turn it into the shadow of death, and make it gross darkness.

17 But if ye will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places for your pride, and mine eye shall weep sore, and runne down with tears, because the Lord's flock is carried away captive.

18 Say unto the king, and to the queen, Humble your selves, sit down; for your principles shall come down, even the crown of your glory.

19 The cities of the south shall be shut up, and none shall open them; Iudah shall be carried away captive all of it: it shall be wholly carried away captive.

20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the north: where is the flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall punish thee? for thou hast taught them to be captains, and as chief over thee: shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in travail?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, I have foretold these things upon me, for the greatness of thine iniquity are thy skirts discovered, and thy deceit made bare.

23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil.

24 Therefore will I scatter them as the stubble that passeth away by the winds of the wilderness.

25 This is the lot, the portion of the adulterers from me, saith the Lord; because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in falsehood.

26 Therefore wilt I discover thy skirts upon thy face, that thy shame may appear.

27 I have seen thine adulteries, and thy neighings, the lewdness of thy whoredome, and thine adornings on the hills in the fields: was unto thee, O Jerusalem, wilt thou not be made clean? when shall it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

1 The grievous famine 7 calebth Jeremiah to pray.

10 The Lord will not be irritated for the people.

13 Lying prophets are no excuse for them. 17 Jeremiah is moved to complain for them.

The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah concerning the dearth.

2 Judah mourned, and the gates thereof languish, they are black unto the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem is gone up.

3 And their nobles have sent their little ones to the waters, they came to the pits, and found no water, they returned with their vessels empty, they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 Because the ground is chapt, for there was no rain in the earth, the plowmen were ashamed, they covered their heads.

5 Dea, the hind also calved in the field, and forsook it, because there was no grass.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, they snuffed up the wind like dragons: their eyes did fail, because there was no grass.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testify against us, do thou let us, thy names sake: for our backslidings are many; we have sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in time of trouble, why shouldst thou be as a stranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man, that turneth aside to tarry for a night?

9 Why shouldst thou be as a man astounded, as a mighty man that cannot save yet thou, O Lord, art in the midst of us, and I we are called by thy name, leave us not.

10 Thus saith the Lord, so unto this people, Thus have they loved to wander, they have not restrained their feet, therefore the Lord will not accept them, he will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord, so unto me, I say not for these people for their good.

12 When they shall I will not hear their cry, and when they offer burnt-offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then said I, O Lord God, behold, the prophets say unto them, Do shall not see the sword, neither shall ye have famine, but I will give you I assure peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said unto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my name; I sent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither spake unto them: they prophesie unto you a false vision and divination, and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart.

16 And the people to whom they prophesied, shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and they shall have none to bury them, their wives, nor their sons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedness upon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word unto them, Let mine eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not cease: for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous blow.

18 If I go forth into the field, then behold the slain with the sword; and if I enter into the city, then behold them that are sick with famine, yea, both the prophet and the priest go about into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou utterly rejected Judah? hath thy soul loathed them? why hast thou broken us, and there is no healing for us? we looked for peace, and there is no good; and for the time of healing, and behold trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord God, our wickedness, and the iniquities of our fathers: for we have sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhor us, for thy names sake, do not disgrace the throne of thy glory: remember, break not thy covenant with us.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cause rain? or can the heavens give showers: are not thou he, O Lord God? therefore wilt thou wait upon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

I The utter rejection and manifold judgement of the Jews. 10 Jeremiah complaining of their spite, receiving a promise for himself, 12 and a threatening for them. 15 He prayeth, 19 and receiveth a gracious promise.

1 Then said the Lord God unto me, Though I spoke and I should soon before me, yet my mind could not be toward this people, cast them out of my sight, and let them go forth.

2 And it shall come to pass, if they say unto thee, Whither shall we go forth? then thou shalt tell them, Thus saith the Lord God, Such as are for death, to death; and such as are for the sword, to the sword; and such as are for the famine, to the famine; and such as are for the captivity, to the captivity.

3 And I will appoint over them four kinds, saith the Lord God, the sword to slay, and the dogs to tear, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the earth, to devour and destroy.

4 And I will cause them to be removed into all kingdoms of the earth; because of I have manifested the iniquities of the king of Judah, for that which he did in Jerusalem.

5 For who shall have pity upon thee, O Jerusalem: or who shall remove thee? or who shall go aside to ask how thou dost?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord God, thou art gone backward: therefore will I stretch out my hand against thee, and destroy thee; I am weary with repenting.

7 And I will famish them with a famine in the gates of the land: I will bereave them of children, I will destroy my people, such they return not from their ways.

8 Their widows are increased to me above the sand of the sea: I have brought upon them I against the mother of the young men, a spoiler at noon-day: I have caused him to fall upon it suddenly, and terrible upon the city.

9 He that hath born seven lambs with: he hath given up the ghost, her name is gone down while it was yet day: she hath been ashamed and confounded, and the residue of the world I deliver to the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord God.

10 Who is me my mother, that thou hast born me a man of strife, and a man of contention to the whole earth: I have neither lent on usury, nor men have lent to me on usury; yet every one of them hath cursed me.

11 The Lord God said, Verily it shall be well with thy remnant, verily I will cause the enemy to retreat that well in the time of evil, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall I now break the northern iron, and the steel?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I give to the spoil without price, and that for all thy sinnes, even in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to pass with thine enemies, into a land which thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burn upon you.

15 O Lord God, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and revenge me of my persecutors, take me not away in thy long-suffering: know that for the sake I have suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found, and I did not eat them, and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart, for I am called by thy name, O Lord God, God of hosts.

17 I sat me in the assembly of the mockers, nor rejoiced: I sat alone because of thy hand; thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 And my pain is my pain perpetual, and my wound incurable which refused to be healed: told thou be altogether unto me as a liar, and as waters that I fall.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, If thou return, then will I bring thee again, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou takest the precious from the vile, thou shalt be as my mouth: let them return unto thee, but return not thou unto them.

20 And I will make thee unto this people a fenced haven, and wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not prevail against thee: for I am with thee to save thee, and to deliver thee, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible.

born in this place, and concerning their mother that bare them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land, 4 They shall die of * grievous deaths, they shall not * be lamented, neither shall they be buried: but they shall be as dung upon the face of the earth, and they shall be consumed by the floods, and by famine, and their * carcases shall be meat for the fowls of heaven, and for the beasts of the earth.
5 For thus saith the L^o * * Enter not into the house of * mourning, neither go to lament, nor bemoan them: for I have taken away my peace from this people, saith the L^o * * even loving kindness and mercies.
6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor * eat themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.
7 Neither shall men * tear themselves for them in mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall men give them the cup of consolation to drink for their father or for their mother.
8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drink.
9 For thus saith the L^o * * of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, * I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride.
10 ¶ And it shall come to pass when thou shalt shew this people all these words, and they shall say unto thee, * Wherefore hath the L^o * * pronounced all this great evil against us? of what is our iniquity? of what is our time that we have committed against the L^o * * our God?
11 Then shalt thou say unto them, Because your fathers have forsaken me, saith the L^o * * , and have walked after other gods, and have served them, and have blasphemed them, and have forsaken me, and have not kept my law:
12 And ye have done * worse then your fathers, (for behold, ye walk every one after the fornication of his evil heart, that they may not hearken unto me)
13 * Therefore will I cast you out of this land, into a land that ye know not, neither ye nor your fathers, and there shall ye serve other gods day and night, where I will not shew you favour.
14 ¶ Therefore behold, the * dayes come, saith the L^o * * , that it shall no more be said, The L^o * * liveth that brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt;
15 But the L^o * * liveth that brought up the children of Israel from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them, and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers.
16 ¶ Behold, I will send for many fishers, saith the L^o * * , and they shall fish them; and after will I send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.
17 For mine * eyes are upon all their ways:
they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.
18 And first I will recompence their iniquity, and their sinne double, because they have despoiled my land, they have filled mine inheritance with the carcases of their detestable and abominable things.
19 O L^o * * my strength and my fortress, and my refuge in the day of affliction, the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and shall say, Surely our fathers have inherited lies, vanity, and things wherein there is no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himself, and
* they are no gods?
21 Therefore behold, I will this once cause them to know, I will cause them to know mine hand and my might, and they shall know that my name is the L^o * * .

God. 15 The prophet cumplimiento of the mockers of his prophesie. 19 He is sent to renew the covenant in hallowing the sabbath.
The sinne of Judah is written with a * pen of iron, and with the * point of a diamond, it is graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars:
2 Whither their children remember their altars and their * groves by the green trees upon the high hills.
3 O my mountain in the field, * I will give the substance, and all thy treasures to the spoil, and thy high places for sinne, throughout all the borders.
4 And thou, even * the self shalt discontinue from thine heritage that I gave thee, and I will cause thee to see thine enemies in the land whither thou knowest not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burn for ever.
5 ¶ Thus saith the L^o * * , Curlew be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departed from the L^o * * :
6 For he shall be like the heath in the desert, and shall not see when good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land and not inhabited.
7 * Blessed is the man that trusteth in the L^o * * , and whose hope the L^o * * is.
8 For he shall be * as a tree planted by the waters, & that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green, and shall not be carefull in the years of * drought, neither shall cease from bearing fruit.
9 ¶ The heart is deceitfull above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?
10 ¶ The L^o * * search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.
11 As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatch-cause they have forsaken the L^o * * , the * fountain of living waters.

14 Heal me, O L^o * * , and I shall be healed;
save me, & I shall be saved: for thou art my masse.

19 ¶ Thus saith the Lord unto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem.

20 And say unto them, Hear ye the word of the Lord, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heed to your selves, and bear no burden on the sabbath-day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem.

22 Neither carry forth a burden out of your houses on the sabbath-day, neither do ye any work, but hallow ye the sabbath-day, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear nor receive instruction.

24 And it shall come to pass, if ye diligently hearken unto me, saith the Lord, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath-day, but hallow the sabbath-day, to do no work therein:

25 ¶ Then shall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horses, they and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and this city shall remain for ever.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the south, bringing burnt-offerings, and sacrifices, and meat-offerings, and incense, and bringing sacrifices of peace unto the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not hearken unto me, to hallow the sabbath-day, and not to bear a burden, even entering in at the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath-day: then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

I Under the type of a potter, is shewed Gods absolute power in disposing of nations. II Judges were threatened to Judah for being strange to God. 18 Jeremiah prayeth against his confession.

THE words which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 And he and go down to the potters house, and there I will cause thee to hear my words.

3 When I went down to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a work on the wheels.

4 And the vessel that he made of clay, was marred in the hand of the potter: so he made it again another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are ye in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 At what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to pluck up, and to pull down, and to destroy it:

8 If that nation against whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them.

9 And at what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a king, to build and to plant it;

10 If it do evil in my sight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good wherewith I said I would benefit them.

11 ¶ Now therefore go to, speak to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I frame evil against you, and devise a device against you: return ye now every one from his evil way, and make your ways and your doings good.

12 And they said, There is no hope, but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ask ye now among the heathen, who have heard such things, the virgin of Israel hath done a very horrible thing.

14 Will a man leave the snow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rock of the fields, or shall the cold flowing waters that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, they have burnt incense to vanity, and they have caused them to stumble in their ways from the ancient paths, to walk in paths, in a way not cast up.

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual hissing: every one that passeth thereby shall be astonished, and wag his head.

17 I will scatter them as with an east-wind, before the enemy: I will spread them the back, and not the face in the day of their calamity.

18 ¶ Then said they, Come, and let us devise devices against Jeremiah: for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet: come and let us smite him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words.

19 Give heed to me, O Lord, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall evil be recompensed for good? for they have digged a pit for me: my soul is consumed, because they do not speak good for them, and to turn away the wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and pour out their blood by the force of the sword, and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows, and let their men be put to death, let their young men be slain by the sword in battle.

22 Let a cry be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring a troop suddenly upon them: for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord, thou knowest all their counsel against me: I will not be moved out of my quietness, neither will I turn from the right, but let them be overthrown before thee, and deal thus with them in the time of thine anger.

Of kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem. Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his ears shall tingle.

4 Because they have forsaken me, and have estranged this place, and have burnt incense in it unto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents.

5 They have built also the high places of Baal, to burn their sacrifices with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde.

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the sonnes of Rimmon, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, & by the hands of them that seek their lives: & their carcasses will I give to be meat for the fowles of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.

8 And I will make this city desolate, & an hissing: wherby one that passeth thereby shall be astonished & hiss, because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will cause them to eat the flesh of their finnes, and the flesh of their hauberges, and they shall eat every one the flesh of his friend in their rage and straightness, insomuch their enemies, and they that seek their lives, shall straiten them.

10 Then shalt thou break the bottle in the sight of the men that go with thee.

11 And shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, When so will I break this people and this city, as one breaketh a potters vessel that cannot be made whole again, and they shall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place left to bury.

12 Thus will I do unto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet.

13 And the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be defiled as the place of Tophet, because of all the houses upon whose roofs they have burnt incense unto all the host of heaven, and have poured out drink-offerings unto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, together the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lord's house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon this city & upon all her towers all the evil that I have pronounced against it; because they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

CHAP. XX.

1 Teshurunite Jeremiah receiveth a new name, and a fearful doom. 7 Jeremiah's complaint of contempt, 10 of treachery, 14 and of his birth.

NOW DId Balthur the sonne of * Sumner the priest, who was also chief governor in the house of the Lord, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things.

2 Then Balthur smote Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And it came to passe on the morrow, that Balthur brought forth Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then said Jeremiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Balthur, but I Balthur-ene-labid.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee a terror to thy self, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, & I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall carry them captive into Babylon, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will destroy all the strength of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hands of their enemies, which shall spoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon.

6 And thou Balthur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall go into captivity, and thou shalt come to Babylon, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

7 ¶ And so, thou hast deceived me, and I was deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision daily, every one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out, I cried violence and spoil; because the word of the Lord was made a reproach unto me, and a derision daily.

9 When I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speak any more in his name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 ¶ For I heard the defaming of many fear on every side: Repose, say they, and we will report it: for all my familiars watched for my baiting, saying, Berabventure he will be enticed, and we shall prevail against him, and we shall take our revenge on him.

11 But the Lord is with me as a mighty terrible one: therefore my persecutors shall stumble, and they shall not prevail, they shall be greatly ashamed; for they shall not prosper, their confounding confusion shall never be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hosts that I trust the righteous, and I seek the truth and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my mouth.

13 Sing unto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath delivered the soul of the poor from the hand of evil doers.

14 ¶ Cursed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bare me be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man who brought tidings to my father, saying, A man child is born unto thee, making him very glad.

16 And let that man be as the cities which the Lord overthroweth, and be repented not: and let him hear the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noontide.

17 Because he slew me not from the womb: or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb to be always great with me.

18 ¶ Wherefore came I forth out of the womb to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with paine?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Zedekiah sendeth to Jeremiah to enquire the event of Nebuchadrezzar's warre. 3 Jeremiah foretelleth a hard siege and miserable captivity. 8 He comforteth the people to fall to the Caldeans, 11 and upbraides the kings house.

64

The word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent unto him Nathan the sonne of Belchiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maasiah the priest, saying,

2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord our God, (for) Nabuchadnezzar king of Babylon maketh warre against us) if so be that the Lord will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us.

3 ¶ Then said Jeremiah unto them, Thus shall ye say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turn back the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babylon, and against the Caldeans, which besedge you without the walls, and I will assemble them into the midst of this cite.

5 And I my self will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a strong arm, even in anger, and in fury, and in great wrath.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And afterwards, saith the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, & his servants, and the people, and such as are left in this city from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nabuchadnezzar king of Babylon, & into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seek their life, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy.

8 ¶ And unto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this city, shall die by the sword, & by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans that besedge you, he shall live, and his life shall be unto him for a prey.

10 For I have set my face against this city for evil, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.

11 ¶ And touching the house of the king of Judah, say, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of David, thus saith the Lord, ¶ Execute judgement in the morning, and deliver him that is spoiled, out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my fury goe out like fire, and burn that none can quench it, because of the evil of your doings.

13 Behold, I am against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rock of the plain, saith the Lord: which say, We shall come down against us: or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, saith the Lord: and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devour all things round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He exhorteth to repentance with promises and threats. 10 The judgement of Shallum, 13 of Zedekiah, 20 and of Coniah.

Thus saith the Lord, Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and speak there this word,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O king of Judah, that sittest upon the throne of David, thou, and thy servants, and thy people that enter in by these gates;

3 Thus saith the Lord, ¶ Execute ye judgement and righteousness, and deliver the spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor: and do no wrong, no no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, nor the widow, neither shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye do this thing indeed, ¶ then shall there enter in by the gates of this house, kings sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horses, he, and his servants, and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I swear by my self, saith the Lord, that this house shall become a desolation.

6 For thus saith the Lord unto the kings house of Judah, Thou art Oilead unto me, and the head of Lebanon: yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and cities which have not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare destructions against thee, every one with his weapons, and they shall cut down the choice cedars, and cast them into the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this city, and they shall lay every man to his neighbour, ¶ Therefore hath the Lord done thus unto this great cite:

9 Then they shall answer, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and served them.

10 ¶ Weep ye not for the dead, neither be moan him, but weep sore for him that goeth away: for he shall return no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lord touching Shallum, the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, which reigned in stead of Josiah his father, which went forth out of this place, he shall not return thither any more.

12 But he shall die in the place whither they have led him captive, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Go unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, & his chambers by wrong: that uteth his neighbours service without wages, and giveth him not for his work:

14 That saith, I will build me a wide house, and large chambers, and cutteth him out twin-dows, and it is ciled with cedar, and painted with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reign, because thou clovest thy self in cedar: did not thy father eat & drink, and doe judgement and justice, and then it was well with him?

16 He judgeth the cause of the poor & needy, then it was well with him: was not this to know me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are not but for thy covetousness, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, & for violence to do it.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, They shall not lament for him, saying, Ah my brother: or ah sister: they shall not lament for him, saying, Ah Lord, or ah his glory.

19 He shall be buried with the buriall of an ass, upon and cast forth beyond the gates of Jerusalem.

20 ¶ Go up to Lebanon, and cry and lift up thy voice in Bashan, and cry from the passages: for all thy lovers are destroyed.

21 I wake unto thee in thy prosperity, but thou saidst, I will not heare: this hath been the manner from thy youth, that thou obeyest not my voice.

22 The winds shall eat up all thy pastours, and thy lovers shall go into captivity, surely then shall

23 O inhabitant of Jerusalem, that maketh thyself in the cedar, how grievous shall thou be when plagues come upon thee, the pain as of a woman in travail.

24 As I live saith the Lord, though Co-mad the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the signet upon my right hand, yet would I pluck thee thence.

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that seek thy life, and into the hand of them whom thou fearest, even into the hand of Jeruchamezar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cast thee out, and the mother that bare thee, into another country, where ye were not born, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land whither thou shalt desire to return, thither shall they not return.

28 Is this man Caneah a helpless broken fool?
is he a vessel wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they cast out, he and his seed, and are cast into a land which they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, write ye this man childless, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes; no man of his seed shall prosper, sitting upon the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The prophetess a refection of the scattered flock, Christ shall rule and save them. 9 Against false prophets, 33 and mockers of the true prophet.

WD be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people, Ye have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them: behold, I will visit upon you the evil of your doings, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my flock, out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their fold, and they shall be fruitful and increase.

4 And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them, and they shall fear no more,
saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous branch, that shall reign as king and prosper, and shall execute judgement and justice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord is with us, which brought us up the Egyptians out of the land of Egypt.

8 For the Lord is with us, which brought us up, and which led the seed of the house of Israel out of the north country, and from all countries whither I had driven them, and they shall dwell in their own land.

9 O spine heart within me is broken because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath possessed; because of the Lord, and because of the words of his prophets.

10 For the law is full of adversaries, for because of it I have hated the land whither I have said that I will dwell, and I will dwell in it, and there I will dwell, and there I will dwell.

11 For both prophet and priest are false, yea, in my house have I found them: therefore saith the Lord.

12 And therefore shall many shall be unto them as slippery wayes in the darkness: they shall be taken on and fall therein: for I will bring evil upon them even the years of their old age,
saith the Lord.

13 And I have seen it fully in the prophets of Samaria; they prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to err.

14 I have seen also in the prophets of Jerusalem such horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lies: they strengthen also the hands of evil doers, that none shall return from his wickedness: they are all of them unto me as Bodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomerah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jerusalem is the word of the Lord gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, hear ye not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you: they make you vain: they speak a million of their own heart, and out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say till unto them that desire me,
The Lord is with us, that shall have peace;
and they say unto every one that trusteth after the imagination of his own heart, so shall come upon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, and hath perceived and heard his word?
who hath marked his word, and heard his voice, that shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked.

19 Behold, a multitude of the Lord is gone forth in fury, even a grievous multitude, which shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord is not returned, until he have redeemed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall consider it perfectly.

21 I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran: I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsel, and had caused my people to hear my voice, then they should have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God afar off?

24 Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? do not I see all heaven and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy in my name, saying, I have dreamt:
ye, I have dreamt.

26 How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? yea they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart.

27 And which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have told them my name, for Baal.

28 The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath a word, let him speak my word faithfully: what is the chaff to 32 Behold, I am against the prophets, said the Lord, that use their tongues, and say, We have said.

33 Behold, I am against them that prophesy false dreams, said the Lord, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies and by their lightness. Yet I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they shall not profit: this people at all, said the Lord.

34 And when this people, O the prophet, in a priest shall ask thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord, O man, without that thou say unto them, What burden? I will even forsake you, said the Lord.

35 And as for the prophet, and the priest, of the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, O man, I will even punish that man and his house.

36 Thus shall ye say every one to his neighbour: every one to his brother, What hath the Lord said? and what hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

37 And the burden of the Lord, O man, shall ye mention no more: for every man's word shall be his burden: for ye have perverted the words of the living God, of the Lord, of hosts our God.

38 Thus shall thou say to the prophet, What hath the Lord said? and what hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

39 But thus ye say, The burden of the Lord, O man; therefore thus said the Lord, O man, Because you say this word, The burden of the Lord, O man, and I have sent unto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord, O man.

40 Therefore behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence.

41 And I will bring an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Under the types of good and bad figs, 4 he foretold the restoration of them that were in captivity, 8 and the destruction of Zedekiah and the rest.

The Lord showed me, and behold, two baskets of figs were set before the temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the carpenters and smiths from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon.

2 One basket had very good figs, even like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten: they were so bad.

3 Then said the Lord unto me, What seest thou? Jeconiah said, I said, figs: the good figs, very good; and the evil, very evil; that cannot be eaten, they are so evil.

4 Against the day of the Lord, O man, came unto me, saying,

5 Thus said the Lord, O the God of Israel, Like these good figs, so will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Caldeans, for their good.

6 For I will set mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land, and I will build them, and they shall not pluck them down, and I will plant them, and they shall not be plucked up.

7 And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the evil figs, which cannot be eaten, they are so evil: (surely thus said the Lord, O man,) so will I give Jeconiah the king of Judah, and his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem, that remain in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt.

9 And I will deliver them to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth for their hurt: to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curse in all places whither I shall send them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed from off the land, that I gave unto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Jeremiah reproving the Jews disobedience to the prophets, 8 foretelling the seventy years captivity, 12 and afterwards the destruction of Babylon, 18 under the type of a cup of wine, he foretold the destruction of all nations, 34 The bowling of the shepherds.

The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah king of Judah, that was the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon:

2 The which Jeremiah the prophet spoke unto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amun king of Judah, even unto this day (that is the three and twentieth years) the word of the Lord, O man, hath come unto me, and I have spoken unto you, rising early and speaking, but ye have not hearkened.

4 And the Lord, O man, hath sent unto you all his servants the prophets, rising early and denouncing them, but ye have not hearkened, nor inclined your ear to hear.

5 They said, We can yet again now serve one from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land, that the Lord hath given unto you and to your fathers, for ever and ever.

6 And ye have not after other gods to serve them, and ye have not hearkened unto me, nor to anger with the words of your hands, and I will do unto you as ye have said.

7 For ye have not hearkened unto me, said the Lord, that ye might provoke me to anger with the words of your hands, to your own hurt.

8 Therefore thus said the Lord, O man, of hosts, because ye have not hearkened to my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take all the families of the north, said the Lord, O man, and Babel, the king of Babylon my servant, and will bring them against this land and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all their nations round about, and will utterly destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and an hissing, and perpetual desolation.

10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstone, and the light of the candle.

11 And this iniquity land shall be a nation, and an astonishment; and their nations shall strive the king of Babylon (seventy years).

12 And it shall come to pass: when seventy years are accomplished, that I will punish the king of Babylon, and that nation, saith the Lord, for they have made me to be desolate, and will make it perpetual desolation.

13 And I will bring upon that land all my terrors which I have pronounced against it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all the nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall despise themselves of them also: and I will recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the words of their own hands.

15 For thus saith the Lord, God of Israel unto me. Take the wine-cup of this fury out of my hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drink it.

16 And they shall drink, and be mad, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.

17 Then took I the cup at the Lord's hand, and made all the nations to drink, unto whom the Lord's hand was sent.

18 To wit, Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, so make them a desolation, an astonishment, and hissing, and a curse, (as it is this day).

19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his servants, and his princes, and all his people.

21 Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon.

22 And all the kings of Tyre, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the Philistines which are beyond the sea.

23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that are in the utmost corners.

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mingled people that dwell in the desert.

25 And all the kings of Hittite, and all the kings of Canaan, and all the kings of the Amorites.

26 And all the kings of the north, farre and neere, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are upon the face of the earth, and the king of Shechem shall drink after them.

27 Therefore thou shalt say unto them. Thus saith the Lord, God of Israel, Drink ye, and be drunken, and smite and fall, and die no more; because of the sword which I will send among you.

28 And it shall be, if they refuse to take the cup at their hand to drink, then shalt thou say unto them. Thus saith the Lord, God of Israel, I will certainly drink.

29 For I begin to bring evil on the city, which is called by my name, and should ye be utterly unpunished? ye shall not be unpunished: for I will call for a sword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord, God of Israel.

30 Therefore prophethou against them all their iniquities, and say unto them. The Lord's voice shall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation, he shall mightily roar upon his habitation, he shall give a shout, as they that tread the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 A noise shall come even to the ears of the earth: for the Lord's voice shall be heard, and he will give them that are wicked to the sword, saith the Lord, God of Israel.

32 Thus saith the Lord, God of Israel, Babylon, evil shall go forth from nation to nation, and a great multitude shall be raised up from the corners of the earth.

33 And the slain of the Lord shall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they shall not be lamented, neither gathered up, nor buried, they shall be dung upon the ground.

34 For I will punish the shepherds and the flock: for I will punish the shepherds, and the flock shall be scattered, and ye shall fall like a pleasant field.

35 And I will punish the shepherds, and the flock shall be scattered, and ye shall fall like a pleasant field.

36 A voice of the cry of the shepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock shall be heard: for the Lord's hand shall spoil their pasture.

37 And the peaceable habitations are cut down, because of the fierce anger of the Lord, God of Israel.

38 The flock hath sought his covert, as the lioness their land is a desolation, because of the fierceness of the oppressor, and because of his fierce anger.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Jeremiah by promises and threatenings, exhorteth to repentance. 2 He is therefore apprehended, 10 and arraigned. 11 His apology, 16 He is quit in judgment, by the example of Achan, 20 and of Uriah, 24 and by the care of Ahikam.

1 In the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah the son of Josiah king of Judah, came this word from the Lord, God of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, God of Israel, Stand in the court of the Lord's house, and speak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the Lord's house, all the words that I command thee to speak unto them: surely not a word.

3 If so be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way, that I may repent me of the evil which I purpose to do unto them, because of the evil of their doings.

4 And thou shalt say unto them. Thus saith the Lord, God of Israel, If ye will not hearken to me, to walk in my law, which I have set before you,

5 To hearken to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I sent unto you, both rising up early and sending them (but ye have not hearkened).

6 Then will I make this house like Shiloh, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the priests and the prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the Lord, God of Israel.

8 For when it came to pass, when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speak unto all the people, that the priests, and the prophets, and all the people took him, saying, Thou shalt surely die.

9 And he said thou shalt be like Shiloh, and this city shall be desolate without an inhabitant: and all the people were gathered against Jeremiah, in the house of the Lord, God of Israel.

10 And when the princes of Judah heard these things, then they came up from the king's house unto the house of the Lord, God of Israel, and sat down in the entry of the new gate of the Lord's house.

10 Then I saw the vessels and the vessels upon the princes, and I saw the people, saying, ¶ This man is brought to die, for he hath prophesied against this city, as ye have heard many your ears.

11 ¶ Then spake Jeremiah unto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I have sent me to prophesie against this house, and against this city, all the words that ye have heard.

12 Therefore now, I beseech your wives and your doings, and obey the voice of the LORD, as ye have said, and the LORD will repent him of the evil that he hath pronounced against you.

13 As for me, behold I am in your hand: do with me; for as I am flesh and blood, and as ye are.

14 But know ye for certain, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood upon your selves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the LORD hath sent me unto you, to speak all these words in your ears.

15 ¶ Then said the princes, and all the people unto the priests, and to the prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God.

16 ¶ Then rose up certain of the elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

17 ¶ Spake the Babylonish prophets in the days of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and spake to all the people of Judah, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I will plow like a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house, as the high places of the forest.

18 ¶ Did Jehoiakim king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death, did he not fear the LORD, and he brought him to the LORD, and the LORD repented him of the evil which he had pronounced against them: thus might we procure great evil against our souls.

19 And there was also a man that prophesied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the sonne of Shemaiah of Beth-lehem, who prophesied against this city, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

20 And when Jehoiakim the king with all his mighty men, and all the princes heard his words, the king sought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard that he was at stake, and fled, and went into Egypt.

21 And Jehoiakim the king sent men into Egypt, namely, Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certain men with him into Egypt.

22 And they set forth Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Jehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead bodie into the graves of the common people.

23 Nevertheless, the hand of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, was with Jeremiah, that they should not give him into the hand of the people, to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

¶ Under the type of bonds and yokes, he propheseth the subduing of the neighbour king into Nebuchadnezzar. 8 He exhorteth them to yield, and not to believe the false prophets. 12 The like he doth to Zedekiah. 19 He foretelleth the remnant of the vessels shall be carried to Babylon, and there continue until the day of visitation.

¶ In the beginning of the reigne of Jehoiakim, the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

1 ¶ Thus saith the LORD, as to me, as to you, as to the house of Judah, and to the king of Judah, and to the king of Egypt, and to the king of Assyria, and to the king of Babylon, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, which come to Jerusalem unto Zedekiah king of Judah.

2 And command them I to say unto their masters, Thus saith the LORD, as to you, as to the king of Assyria, Thus shall ye say unto your masters,

3 I have made the earth, the man and the beast that are upon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arm, and I have given it unto whom it seemed meet unto me.

4 And now have I given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, my servant, and the drakes of the field have I given him also to serve him.

5 And all nations shall serve him and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne, until the very time of his land come; and then many nations and great kings shall serve themselves of him.

6 And it shall come to pass, that the nation and kingdom which will not serve the same Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I punish, saith the LORD.

7 And with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand.

8 ¶ Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets, nor to your visionaries, nor to your enchanters, nor to your soothsayers, which speak unto you, saying, Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon:

9 For they prophesie a lie unto you, to remove you farre from your land, and that I should drive you out, and ye should perish.

10 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him, those will I let remain still in their own land, saith the LORD, and they shall till it, and dwell therein.

11 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and live.

12 Why will ye say, thou and thy people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the LORD hath spoken against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon?

13 ¶ Therefore hearken not unto the words of the prophets that speak unto you, saying, Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon: for they prophesie a lie unto you.

14 For I have not sent them, saith the LORD, yet they prophesie a lie in my name, that I might drive you out, and that ye might perish: ye, and the prophets that prophesie unto you.

15 ¶ Also I spake to the priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I have heard not to the words of your prophets, that prophesie unto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the LORDS house shall now shortly be brought again from Babylon: for they prophesie a lie unto you.

16 ¶ Hearken not unto them, serve the king of Babylon and live: wherefore should this city be laid waste?

19 ¶ For thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the basins, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remain in this city.

20 Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeremiah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 Yea, thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remain in the house of the L. o. m. and in the house of the king of Judah and of Jerusalem.

22 They shall be carried to Babylon, and there shall they be until the day that I will visit them, saith the L. o. m.: then will I bring them up, and restore them to this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Hananiah prophesied falsely the return of the vessels and of Jerusalem. 5 Jeremiah wishing it to be true, sheweth that the event will declare who are true prophets. 10 Hananiah breaketh Jeremiah's yoke. 12 Jeremiah rebuketh of an iron yoke, 15 and foretelleth Hananiah's death.

AND it came to pass the same year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, & in the fifth month, that Hananiah the son of Azur the prophet, which was of Bethel, spake unto me in the house of the L. o. m. in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.

3 Within a two full years will I bring again into this place all the vessels of the L. o. m. house, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon.

4 And I will bring again to this place, I will bring the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah, that went into Babylon, saith the L. o. m.; for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 ¶ When the prophet Jeremiah said unto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the L. o. m.,

6 When the prophet Jeremiah said, Amen: the L. o. m. do so, the L. o. m. perform thy words which thou hast prophesied, to bring again the vessels of the L. o. m. house, and all that is carried away captive from Babylon into this place.

7 Nevertheless, hear thou now this word that I speak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people.

8 The prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, prophesied word against many countries, and against great kingdoms, of wars, and of evil, and of pestilence.

9 The prophet which prophesied of peace, when the word of the prophet shall come to pass, then shall the prophet be known, that the L. o. m. hath truly sent him.

10 ¶ When Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from off the prophet Jeremiah's neck, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the L. o. m., which he said, I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all nations within the space of three full years: and the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ When the month of the L. o. m. came unto Jeremiah the prophet (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah) saying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the L. o. m., Thou hast broken the yokes of iron, but thou shalt make for thee yokes of iron.

14 For thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts, the God of Israel, I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they shall serve him; and I have given him the beasts of the field also.

15 ¶ When said the prophet Jeremiah unto Hananiah the prophet, Hear now, Hananiah. The L. o. m. hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the L. o. m., Behold, I will cast thee from off the face of the earth: this year thou shalt die, because thou hast taught rebellion against the L. o. m.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same year, in the seventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah sendeth a letter to the captives in Babylon, to be quiet there, 8 and not to believe the dreams of their prophets, 10 and that they shall return with grace after seven years. 15 He foretelleth the destruction of the rest for their disobedience. 20 He sheweth the fearfulness of Ahab and Zedekiah, two lying prophets. 24 Shemaiah writeth a letter against Jeremiah. 30 Jeremiah rebuketh him down.

NOW these are the words of the letter, that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem unto the residue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon,

2 ¶ After that ¶ Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, and the carpenters, and the smiths were departed from Jerusalem)

3 By the hand of Eliaha the son of Shaphan and Gemariah the son of Shilhi, (where Zedekiah king of Judah sent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) saying,

4 Thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts the God of Israel unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem unto Babylon, 5 Build ye houses, and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

6 Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters, and take wives for your sons; and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seek the peace of the city, whither I have caused you to be carried away captives, and pray unto the L. o. m. for it: for in the peace thereof shall ye have peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the L. o. m. of hosts, the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your diviners that be in the midst of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cause to be dreamed.

CHAPTER XXXI

3 The restoration of Israel. 10 The publication thereof. 15 Rachel mourning, is brought home again. 22 Christ is promised. 27 His care over the church. 31 His new covenant. 35 The stability, 38 and amplitude of the church.

At the same time, saith the Lord, I will be the God of all the families of Israel; and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which were left of the tower, found grace in the infirmities, when Israel, when I went to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord as hath appeared + of old unto me, saying, Pra. I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore I will loving kindness have I drawn thee.

4 Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel, thou shalt again be adorned with thy + habitation, and shalt go down in the dances of them that make merry.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria, the planters shall plant, and they shall eat thereof as company of thee.

6 For thou shalt be a way, that the watchmen upon the tower shall cry, and let us go up to thee unto the Lord, as our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Sing with gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the nations: publish ye, praise ye and say, O Lord, as saith the people the command of Israel.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth, and will bring them the blind, and the lame, the woman with child, and her that travaileth with child together, a great company shall return thither.

9 They shall come with weeping, and with supplication, I will lead them: I will comfort them to walk by the rivers of waters, in a straight way wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to the fatherless, and a saviour to my first-born.

10 O weep the womb of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and nourish him, as a shepherd doth his flock.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he.

12 Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd: and their field shall be as a garden, and they shall not say, we have any more at all.

13 Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, both young men and old together: I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow.

14 And I will satiate the soul of the priests with fatness, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, saith the Lord.

15 O thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard in Ramah, lamentation and bitter weeping: Rachel weeping for her children, refusing to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Retrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy hope shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come again from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come again to their own home.

18 I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself thus, Thou hast chastised me, and I was chastised, as a bullock unaccustomed to the yoke:
turn thou me, and I shall be turned, for thou art
the Lord, as my God.

19 Surely after that I was turned, I repenteth, and after that I was instructed, I smote upon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea even confounded, because I did hear the reproach of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a precious child? for since I have against him, I do earnestly remember him, his iniquities are my bolts, I am troubled for him; I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee up tow-marks, make thee high heaps: set thine heart to wisdom the high way, even the way which thou wentest from again, O virgin of Israel, turn again to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go about, O thou backsliding daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth, a woman shall compass a man.

17 Al Lord Gm, behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm; and there is nothing too hard for thee.

18 Thou showest loving kindness unto thousands, and recompenseth the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them: the great, the mighty God, the Lord of hosts is his name.

19 Great in counsel, and mighty in work. (for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the sonnes of men, to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings)

20 Which hast set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, even unto this day, and in Israel, and amongst other men, and hast made thee a name, as at this day.

21 And hast brought forth my people Israel out of the land of Egypt, with signs and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with great terror.

22 And hast given them this land which thou didst swear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey.

23 And they came in and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law, they have done nothing of all that thou commandedst them to do: therefore thou hast caused all this evil to come upon them.

24 Behold the mountains, they are come unto the city to take it, and the city is given into the hand of the Caldeans that fight against it, because of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken is come to pass, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said unto me, O Lord Gm, Buy thee the field for money, and take witnesses: for the city is given into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nabuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans that fight against this city, shall come and set fire on this city, and burn it with the houses, upon whose roofs they have offered incense unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other gods, to provoke me to anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Judah, have only done evil before me from their youth: for the children of Israel have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 For this city hath been to me, as a provocation of mine anger, and of my fury, from the day that they built it, even unto this day: that I should remove it from before my face.

32 Because of all the evil of the children of Israel, and of the children of Judah which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they have turned unto me their back, and not the face; though I taught them rising up early, and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive instruction.

34 But they let their abominations in the house (which is called by my name) to dwell in.

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to pass through the fire unto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should do this abomination to cause Judah to sinne.

36 And now therefore thus saith the Lord the God of Israel concerning this city, whereof ye say, It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence:

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, whither I have driven them in mine anger and in my fury and in great wrath; and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me: for ever, for the good of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from them, to do them good, but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land: assuredly, with my whole heart, and with my whole soul.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, so will I bring upon them all the good that I have promised them.

43 And fields shall be bought in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, it is given into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for money, and subscribe evidences, and seal them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the south: for I will cause their captivity to return, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 God promiseth to the captivity a gracious return, 9 a joyfull state, 12 a scilicet government, 15 Christ the branch of righteousness, 17 a continuance of kingdom and priesthood, 20 and a stability of a blessed seed.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the second time (while he was yet shut up in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord who hath formed it, to establish it, the Lord is his name,

3 Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have slain in mine anger, and in my fury, and for all whose wickedness I have hid my face from this city.

6 Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth.

7 And I will cause the captivity of Judah, and the the captivity of Israel to return, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me, and I will pardon all their iniquities whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name of joy, a praise and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness that I do for all the prosperity that I procure unto it.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Again there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate without man and without beast, even in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate without man and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hosts, for the Lord is good, for his mercy endureth forever, and of them that shall bring the sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord: for I will cause to return the captivity of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Again in this place which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, shall be an habitation of shepherds causing their flocks to lie down.

13 In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the south, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah shall the flocks pass again under the hands of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing which I have promised unto the house of Israel, and to the house of Judah.

15 In those days, and at that time will I cause the branch of righteousness to grow up unto David, and he shall execute judgement and righteousness in the land.

16 In those days shall Judah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely: and this is the name wherewith she shall be called, The Lord is our righteousness.

17 For thus saith the Lord, The David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the priests the Levites, want a man before me to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there should not be day and night in their season:

21 Then may also my covenant be broken with David my servant, that he should not have a son to reign upon his throne, and with the Levites the priests, my ministers.

22 As the host of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites that minister unto me.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people have spoken, saying, The two families which the Lord hath chosen, he hath even cast them off: thus they have despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth:

26 Then will I cast away the seed of Jacob, and David my servant, so that I will not take any of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: for I will cause their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Jeremiah prophesieth the captivity of Zedekiah and the cite. 8 The princes and the people having dismissed their bondservants contrary to the covenant of God, reassume them. 12 Jeremiah, for their disobedience, giveth them and Zedekiah into the hands of their enemies.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, (when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth, of his dominion, and all the people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel, Go, and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this cite into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he shall speak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babylon.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah, Thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword;

5 But thou shalt die in peace, and with the burnings of the fathers the former kings which were before thee: so shall they burn odours for thee, and they will lament thee, saying, Alas, the Lord: for I have pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 When Jeremiah the prophet spake all these words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem, 7 When the king of Babels army fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah that were left, against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these defence cities remained of the cities of Judah.

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jerusalem to proclaim liberty unto them;

9 That every man should let his man-servant, and every man his maid-servant, being an Hebrew or an Hebrewess, go free, that none should serve himself of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had entered into the covenant, heard that every one should let his man-servant, and every one his maid-servant go free, that none should serve themselves of them any more, then they obeyed and let them go.

11 But afterwards they turned and caused the servants and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into subjection for servants and for handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus

13 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying,

14 At the end of seven years, let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been sold unto thee: and when he hath served thee six years, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ears.

15 And ye were not now turned, and had done right in my sight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the house of which I am called by my name.

16 But ye turned and polluted my name, and caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom he had set at liberty at their pleasure, to return, and brought them into subjection, to be unto you for servants and for handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, God, Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, saith the Lord, God, to the strong, to the penitent, and to the famine, and I will make you to be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give the men that have transgressed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twain, and passed between the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land which passed between the parts of the calf.

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life, and their dead bodies shall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army which are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, God, and cause them to return to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burn it with fire, and I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 By the obedience of the Rechabites: 12 Jeremiah condemneth the disobedience of the Jews.

18 God blesseth the Rechabites for their obedience.

The word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the days of Jehoshaphat the son of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

2 Go unto the house of the Rechabites, and speak unto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.

3 When I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Nethaniah and his brethren, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the fountains of the house of the Lord, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Shalchun, the son of Shalchun, the keeper of the door.

5 And I set before the fountains of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I said unto them, Drink ye wine.

6 But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever.

7 Neither shall ye build houses, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyards, nor have any: but all your days ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may live many days in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters:

9 Nor to build houses for us to dwell in, neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor seed.

10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 But it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, Come, and let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the arm of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the arm of the Syrians: so we dwell at Jerusalem.

12 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord, God of hosts, the God of Israel, Go and tell the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Shall ye not receive instruction, to hearken to my words, saith the Lord, God?

14 The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, that he commanded his sons not to drink wine, are performed; for unto this day they drink none, but obey their fathers' commandment: notwithstanding I have spoken unto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye hearkened not unto me.

15 I have sent also unto you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them, and ye shall dwell in the land, which I have given to you, and to your fathers: but ye have not inclined your ears, nor hearkened unto me.

16 Because the fountains of Jonadab the son of Rechab, have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them, but this people hath not hearkened unto me:

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, God of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the evil that I have pronounced against them: because I have spoken unto them, but they have not heard, and I have called unto them, but they have not answered.

18 ¶ And Jeremiah said unto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord, God of hosts, the God of Israel, Because ye have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he hath commanded you:

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, God of hosts, the God of Israel, Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for ever.

1 Jeremiah causeth Baruch to write his prophesie, and publicly to read it. 11 The princes hearing intelligence thereof by Michaiah, send Jehudi to fetch the roll and read it. 19 They will Baruch so hide himself and Jeremiah. 20 The king Jehoiakim being certified thereof, heareth part of it, and burneth the roll. 27 Jeremiah denounceth his judgement. 32 Baruch writeth a new copy.

AND it came to passe in the fourth yeare of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

Take thee a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have spoken unto thee against Israel, and against Judah, and against all the nations, from the day I spake unto thee, from the dayes of Josiah, even unto this day.

It may be that the house of Judah will heare all the evil which I purpose to do unto them; that they may return every man from his evil way, that I may forgive their iniquity and their sinne.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken unto him, upon a roll of a book.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up, I cannot go into the house of the Lord:

6 Therefore go thou, and read in the roll, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the Lord, in the eares of the people in the Lord's house upon the fasting day: and also thou shalt read them in the eares of all Judah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will present their supplication before the Lord, and will return every one from his evil way; for great is the anger and the fury that the Lord hath pronounced against this people.

8 And Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the Lord into the Lord's house.

9 And it came to passe in the fifth yeare of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah: in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jerusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the book, the words of Jeremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan the scribe, in the higher court, at the entry of the new gate of the Lord's house in the eares of all the people.

11 Then Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, had heard out of the book all the words of the Lord.

12 Then he went down into the kings house into the scribes chamber, and lo, all the princes sat there, even Elishama the scribe, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiab, and Chinnan the sonne of Achob, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Sedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the eares of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Seraniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Cushi, unto Baruch, saying, Take is thine hand the roll wherein thou hast read in the eares of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they said unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our eares. So Baruch read it in their eares.

16 Now it came to passe when they had heard all the words, they were afraid each one of other, and said unto Baruch, We will surely tell the king of all these words.

17 And they asked Baruch, saying, Tell us now, how didst thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.

19 Then said the princes unto Baruch, So hide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the king into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the eares of the king.

21 So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll, and he took it out of Elishama the scribes chamber, and Jehudi read it in the eares of the king, and in the eares of all the princes which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king sat in the winter house, in the ninth month; and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.

23 And it came to passe that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it with the pen-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these words.

25 Nevertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had made intercession to the king, that he would not burn the roll: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Ariel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdeel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the prophet: but the Lord so did them.

27 Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, after that the king had burnt the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah, saying,

28 Take thee again another roll, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roll, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, The king of Babylon shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall cause to cease from thence man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Je-hoiakim king of Judah, He shall have none to sit upon the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to this year, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will punish him and his seed, and his servants for their iniquity, and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Judah all the evil that I have pronounced against them, but they hearkened not.

32 Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave gave it to Barchi the scribe the sonne of Seraiah who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the book which Jehoiachin king of Judah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides unto them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 The Egyptians having raised the siege of the Caldeans, king Zedekiah sendeth to Jeremiah to pray for the people. 6 Jeremiah prophesieth the Caldeans certain return and deliverie. 11 He is taken for a fugitive, beaten, and put in prison. 16 He assureth Zedekiah of the captivity. 18 Inveigling for his libertie, he obtaineth some favour.

AND king * Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah reigned in stead of Coniah the sonne of Jehoiachin, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah.

2 But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, did hearken unto the words of the LORD, which he spake † by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the priest, to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now unto the LORD our God for us.

4 Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people: for they had not put him into prison.

5 When Pharaohs armie was come forth out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Jerusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Jerusalem.

6 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto the prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the LORD my God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Judah, that sent you unto me to enquire of me. Behold, Pharaohs armie which is come forth to help you, shall return so Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come again, and fight against this cite, and take it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus saith the LORD my God, Deceive not your selves, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from us: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole armie of the Caldeans that fight against you, and they remained hurt & wounded men among them, yet should they rise up every man in his tent, and burn this cite with fire.

11 ¶ And it came to passe that when the armie of the Caldeans was † broken up from Jerusalem for fear of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to separate himself thence in the mids of the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin a captain of the ward was there, whose name was Irisai, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he took Jeremiah the prophet, saying, Thou fallest away to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Jeremiah, It is † false, I fall not away to the Caldeans: but he hearkened not to him: so Irisai took Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 And therefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and smote him, and put him in prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison.

16 ¶ When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the † cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many dayes:

17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took him out; and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the LORD? and Jeremiah said, There is: for, said he, thou shalt be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah said unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended against thee, or against the servants, or against this people, that ye have put me in prison?

19 And here are now your prophets which prophesied unto you, saying, The king of Babylon shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king, I let my supplication, I pray thee, he accepted before thee; that thou caule me not to return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should commit Jeremiah into the court of the prison, and that they should give him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers street, until all the bread in the cite were spent. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Jeremiah by a false suggestion is put into the dungeon of Malchiah. 7 Ebed-melech by suit getteth him some enlargement. 14 Upon severall conference he counselleth the king by yielding to save his life. 24 By the kings instructions, he concealeth the conference from the princes.

THEN Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pahur, and Jucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Jaazaniah the sonne of Balchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken unto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD, The that remaineth in this cite shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence; but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans shall live: for he shall have his life for a prey, and shall live.

3 Thus saith the LORD, This cite shall surely be given into the hand of the king of Babylons armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes said unto the king, We beleeve that let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remain in this cite, and the hands of all the people in speaking such words unto them: for this man seeketh not the welfare of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing against you.

6 Then took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Balchiah the sonne of Hanamelech that was in the court of the prison: and they let down Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: so Jeremiah sank in the mire.

7 ¶ Now when Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon, (the king then sitting in the gate of Benjamin)

8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, Take from hence thirtie men † with thee, and take up Jeremiah the p-rophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the house of the king under the treasure, and took thence old cast clouts, and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian said unto Jeremiah, But now these old cast clouts, and rotten rags under thine arm-holes, under the cords; and Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon, and Jeremiahs remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ When Zedekiah the king sent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the third entry that is in the house of the L o s w, and the king said unto Jeremiah, I will ask thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah said unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not surely put me to death? and if I give thee counsel, wilt thou not hearken unto me?

16 So the king wrote secretly unto Jeremiah, saying, As the L o s w liveth, that made us this soul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of these men that seek thy life.

17 Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus saith the L o s w the God of hosts, the God of Israel, If thou wilt assuredly go forth unto the king of Babylons princes, then thy soul shall live, and this city shall not be burnt with fire, and thou shalt live, and shalt live.

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylons princes, then shall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they shall burn it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hand.

19 And Zedekiah the king said unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hands, and they mock me.

20 But Jeremiah said, They shall not deliver thee: obey, I beseech thee, the voice of the L o s w, which I speak unto thee: so it shall be well unto thee, and thy soul shall live.

21 But if thou refuse to go forth, this is the word that the L o s w hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the king of Judahs house, shall be brought forth to the king of Babylons princes, and those women shall say, ¶ Thy friends have let thee on, and have prevailed against thee: thy feet are sunk in the mire, and they are turned away back.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and † thou shalt cause this city to be burnt with fire.

24 ¶ When said Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and say unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou hast said unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; also what the king said unto thee:

26 Then thou shalt say unto them, I preken-my supplication before the king, that he would not cause me to return to Iovachans house to die there.

27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah, and asked him, and he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded: so † they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the prison, until the day that Jerusalem was taken, and he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Jerusalem is taken. 4 Zedekiah is made blind, and sent to Babylon. 8 The city is ruined, 9 the people captivated. 11 Nebuchadnezzar charge for the good usage of Jeremiah. 15 Gods promise to Ebed-melech.

IN the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and sat in the middle gate, even Nergal-Sbarezzer, Samgar-Nebo, Sarstchim, Rab-laris, Nergal-Sbarezzer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to pass, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah saw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the kings garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls, and he went out the way of the plain.

5 But the Chaldeans army pursued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he † gave judgement upon him.

6 ¶ When the king of Babylon slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babylon slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him † with chains to carry him to Babylon.

8 ¶ And the Chaldeans burnt the kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake down the walls of Jerusalem.

9 ¶ Then Nebuzaradan the † captain of the guard carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left of the poor of the people which had nothing in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields † at the same time.

11 ¶ Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon gave charge concerning Jeremiah † to Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, saying, 12 Take him, and † look well to him, and do him no harm, but do unto him even as he shall say unto thee.

13 So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard sent, and Nebuchadshan, Rab-laris, and Nergal-Sbarezzer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babylons princes:

15 ¶ Now the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

16 So and speak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words upon this city for evil, and not for good; and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid.

18 For I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a prey unto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Jeremiah being set free by Nebuzaradan, goeth to Gedaliah, 7 The dispersed Jews repair unto him. 13 Johanan revealing Ishmael's conspiracy, is not believed.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all that were carried away captive of Jerusalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon.

2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and laid unto him, The Lord God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chains which were upon thine hand: if it seem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come; and if I will look well unto thee: but if it seem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 Now while he was not yet gone back, he said, Go back also to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over all the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go wheresoever it seemeth convenient unto thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 ¶ Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed unto him men, and women, and children, and of the people of the land of whom that were not carried away captive to Babylon;

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth, and the sonnes of Ephyai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the sonne of a Shachathite, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, came unto them and to their men, saying, Fear not to serve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for me, Behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to serve the Chaldeans, which will come upon us: but ye gather ye wine, and summer-fruits, and oil, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken.

11 Likewise also the Jews that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan;

12 Then all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah: to Gedaliah unto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer-fruits, very much.

13 ¶ Moreover Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And said unto him, Dost thou certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam believed them not.

15 Then Johanan the sonne of Kareah, spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let us go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah, and no man shall know it: wheresoever should he slay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Judah perish.

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said unto Johanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not do this thing, for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

Ishmael, treacherously killing Gedaliah and others, here poseth with the residue to flee unto the Ammonites. 11 Johanan recovereth the captives, and murthereth to flee into Egypt.

Now it came to passe in the seventh moneth, that Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah the sonne of Elishamaah of the seed royal, and the princes of the king, even ten men with him, came unto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.

4 And it came to passe the second day after he had slain Gedaliah, and no man knew it.

5 That there came certain from Shechem, from Shiloh, from Samaria, even fourscore men having their beards shaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themselves, with offerings and incense in their hand, to bring them to the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Netaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, with weeping all along as he went: and it came to passe as he met

met them, he said unto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And it was so when they came into the midst of the city, that Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah slew them, and cast them into the midst of the pit, he, and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them that said unto Ahmael, Shew us now, we have treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyl, and of honey: so he slew them, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ahmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slain: for because of Gedaliah) was it, which Asa the king had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel: and Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah filled it with them that were slain.

10 Then Ahmael carried away captive all the residue of the people, that were in Mizpah, even the kings daughters, & all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites.

11 ¶ But when Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah had done, 12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now it came to passe, that when all the people which were with Ahmael saw Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.

14 So all the people that Ahmael had carried away captive from Mizpah, cast about and returned, and went unto Johanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then took Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah, from Mizpah (after that he had slain Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) even mighty men of warre, and the women and the children, and the eunuchs whom he had brought again from Gibeon.

17 And they departed and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to go to enter into Egypt.

18 Because of the Caldeans: for they were afraid of them, because Ahmael the sonne of Netthaniah had slain Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon made governor in the land.

from the least even unto the greatest, came near.

2 And said unto Jeremiah the prophet, I let, we beseech thee, our supplication be accepted before thee, and pray for us unto the Lord our God, even for all this remnant, (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold us)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said unto them, I have heard you; behold, I will pray unto the Lord your God according to your words, and it shall come to passe, that whatsoever thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it unto you: I will keep nothing back from you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, The Lord be a true and faithfull witness between us, if we do not even according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to us.

6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord our God, to whom we send thee: that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And it came to passe after ten dayes, that the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest.

9 And said unto them, Thus saith the Lord thy God of Israel, unto whom ye sent me to present your supplication before him,

10 If ye will still abide in this land, then will I build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you, and not pluck you up: for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you.

11 Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid: he is not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you to save you, and to deliver you from his hand.

12 And I will shew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you, and cause you to return to your own land.

13 ¶ But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, No, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell:

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, If ye wholly set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to sojourn there)

16 Then it shall come to passe, that the sword which ye feared, shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine wherof ye were afraid, shall follow close after you there in Egypt, and there ye shall die.

17 ¶ So shall it be with all the men that set their faces to go into Egypt to sojourn there, they shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: and none of them shall remain of escape from the evil that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, As mine anger and my fury hath been poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so shall my fury be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt: ye shall be an expectation,

For, neare Gedaliah, killed by the hand, or by the side of Gedaliah.

10, let our supplication fall before thee.

† Heb. shall cleave after you.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Johanan deserveth Jeremiah to enquire of God, promising obedience to his will. 2 Jeremiah assureth him of safety in Judea, 3 and destruction in Egypt. 4 He reprooveth their hypocrisie in requiring of the Lord that which they mean not.

Then all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and Jezaniah the sonne of Josiah, and all the people exoration, and an afflictment, and a curse, and a reproach, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 ¶ The Lord saith concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt, know certainly, that I have admonished you this day.

20 For [ye dissembled in your hearts, when ye sent me unto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for us unto the Lord our God, and according unto all that the Lord our God shall say, so declare unto us, and we will do it.

21 And now I have this day declared it to you, but ye have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

22 Now therefore know certainly, that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go, and to sojourn.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Johanan differing Jeremiahs prophesie, carrieth Jeremiahs and others into Egypt. 8 Jeremiahs prophesie by a type the conquest of Egypt by the Babylonians.

And it came to passe, that when Jeremiahs had made an end of speaking unto all the people, all the words of the Lord unto their God, for which the Lord saith our God had sent him to them, even all these words.

2 Then spake Ariah the sonne of Johaiab, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the young men saying unto Jeremiahs, Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to sojourn there.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Ariah setteth thee on against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon.

4 So Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Judah.

6 Even men, and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and every person that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Gabaon, and Jeremiahs the prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Ariah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord, thus came they, even to Tappanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiahs in Tappanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the brickkiln, which is at the entry of Pharaoes house in Tappanhes, in the sight of the men of Judah.

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my servant, and will let his throne upon these stones that I have hid, and he shall spread his royal pavilion over them.

11 And when he cometh, he shall smite the land of Egypt, and deliver such as are for death, to death; and such as are for captivity, to captivity, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them, and carry them away captives, and he shall aray himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment; and he shall go forth from thence in peace.

13 He shall burn also the images of Bethshemesh, that is in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall be burnt with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

1 Jeremiahs expresseth the desolation of Judah for their idolatry. 11 He prophesieeth their destruction, who commit idolatry in Egypt. 15 The obduracy of the Jews. 20 Jeremiahs threateth them for the same. 29 and for a signe, prophesieeth the destruction of Egypt.

The word that came to Jeremiahs concerning all the Jews which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at Migdol and at Tappanhes, and at Memphis, and in the country of Pathmos, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Ye have seen all the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are a desolation, and no man dwelleth therein.

3 Because of their wickedness, which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense, and to serve other gods whom they knew not, neither they, nor your fathers.

4 Wherefore I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, rising early and sending them, saying, Do do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ears to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense unto other gods.

6 Wherefore my fury and mine anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, and they are wasted and desolate, as at this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great evil against your souls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Judah, to leave you none to remain?

8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut your selves off, and that ye might be a curse, and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?

9 Have ye forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem?

10 They are not yet humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared nor walked in my law, nor in my statutes that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you for evil, and to cut off all Judah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that have let their faces to go into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall even be consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die, from the least even unto the greatest, by the sword, and by the famine: and they shall be an execration and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach.

13 For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall escape or remain, that they should return into the land of Judah, to the which they shall have a desire to return to dwell there: for none shall return but such as shall escape.

15 ¶ Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwell in the land of Egypt in Pathos, answered Jeremiah, saying,

16 As for the word that thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken unto thee.

17 But we will certainly do whatsoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth to burn incense unto the Lord, queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done, we & our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and saw no evil.

18 But since we left off to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, & have been consumed by the sword, and by the famine.

19 ¶ And when we burnt incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her without our men?

20 ¶ Then Jeremiah said unto all the people, to the men and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that answer, saying,

21 The incense that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, ye and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the Lord remember them, and came it not into his mind?

22 So that the Lord could no longer bear, because of the evil of your doings, and because of the abominations which ye have committed: therefore is your land a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse without an inhabitant, as at this day.

23 Because you have burnt incense, and because ye have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies: therefore this evil is happened unto you, as at this day.

24 Wherefore, Jeremiah said unto all the people, and to all the women, Hear ye the word of the Lord, all Judah, that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wives have both spoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will surely accomplish your vows, and will surely perform your vows.

26 Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I have sworn by my great name, saith the Lord, that my name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold, I will touch over them for evil, and not for good, and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, until there be an end of them.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 ¶ And this shall be a sign unto you, saith the Lord, that I will punish you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give Pharaoh-Nophia king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and that sought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Baruch being dismayed, 4 Jeremiah instructeth and comforteth him.

The word that Jeremiah the prophet spake unto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel unto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou didst say, And is me now, for the Lord hath added grief to my sorrow, I faint-ed in my sighing, and I finde no rest.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord unto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted, I will pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And seeketh thou great things for thy self? seek them not: for behold, I will bring evil upon all flesh, saith the Lord: but the life will I give unto thee: for a prey in all places whither thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 Jeremiah prophesieth the overthrow of Pharaoh's army at Euphrates, 13 and the conquest of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar, 27 He comforteth Jacob in their affliction.

The word of the Lord which came to Jeremiah the prophet, against the Gentiles.

2 Against Egypt, against the army of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemish, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon smote in the fourth year of Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah king of Judah.

3 Order ye the buckler and shield, and draw near to battell.

4 Harness the horses, and get up ye horsemen, and stand forth with your helmets, furnish the speares, and put on the bucklins.

5 Wherefore have I seen them dismayed, and turned away back? & their mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apace, and look not back: for fear was found about, saith the Lord.

¶ Heb. broken in pieces, & fled a flight.

6 Let not the swift flee away, nor the mighty man escape; they shall stumble, and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.

7 And he is this that cometh up as a flood, whose waters are moved as the rivers:

8 Egypt stretch up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers, and he saith, I will go up, and will cover the earth. I will destroy the city, and the inhabitants thereof.

9 Come up ye houses, and rage ye chariots, and let the mighty men come forth. The Ethiopians, and the Lybians that handle the shield, and the Lybians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adversaries: and the word shall be done, and it shall be satiate, and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take balm, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: vain shalt thou use many medicines: for thou shalt not be cured.

12 The nations have heard of thy fame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the mighty man hath stumbled against the mighty, and they are fallen both together.

13 The word that the Lord God spoke to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publish in Migdol, and publish in Shoph, and in Tappan: say ye, Stand fast, and prepare thee; for the word shall denote round about thee.

15 And by are they valiant men swept away: they stood not, because the Lord God did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, yea one fell upon another, and they laid, Arise, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity: from the oppressing sword.

17 They did cry there, O Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noise, he hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I live, saith the king, whose name is the Lord God of hosts, Surely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the sea, so shall he come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt; furnish thyself to go into captivity: for Shoph shall be waste & desolate without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but destruction cometh: it cometh out of the north.

21 Also her hired men are in the midst of her, like fatted bullocks, for they also are turned back, and are fled away together; they did not stand, because the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voice thereof shall go like a serpent, for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut down her forest, saith the Lord God, though it cannot be searched, because they are more than the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded, she shall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The Lord God of hosts the God of Israel saith, Behold, I will punish the multitude of Moab, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, even Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him.

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of those that seek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his servants, and afterwards it shall be inhabited, as in the days of old, saith the Lord God.

27 But fear not thou, O my servant Jacob, and be not dismayed, O Israel: for behold, I will save thee from all thine iniquities, and thy seed from the land of their captivity, and Jacob shall return and be in rest and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my servant, saith the Lord God, for I am with thee, for I will make a full end of all the nations together: I have given thee, but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in measure, yet will I not leave thee wholly unpunished.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of the Philistines.

The word of the Lord God that came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Philistines, before that Pharaoh smote Gaza.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, waters rise up out of the north, and shall be an overflowing flood, and shall overflow the land, and all that is therein, the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl.

3 At the noise of the stamping of the hoofs of his strong horses, at the rushing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers shall not look back to their children, for feebleness of hands.

4 Because of the day that cometh to spoil all the Philistines, and to cut off from Tyruis and Sidon every helper that remaineth: for the Lord God will spoil the Philistines, the remnant of the country of Caphtor.

5 Baldwin is come upon Gaza, Ashkelon is cut off with the remnant of thy valley: how long wilt thou cut thyself?

6 O thou sword of the Lord God, how long will it be ere thou be quiet? put up thyself into the scabbard, rest and be still.

7 How can it be quiet, seeing the Lord God hath given it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea-shore: there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The judgement of Moab for their pride, for their servitude, for their carnal confidence, and for their contempt of God, and his people. The restoration of Moab.

Against Moab thus saith the Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel, Mo unto Moab, for it is spoiled: Kiriatbaim is confounded and taken, and Diblah is confounded and dismayed.

2 There shall be no more praise of Moab: in Bethbany they have devised evil against it; come and let us cut it off from being a nation; also thou shalt be cut down, O Madmen, the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Bozrah, spoiling and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed, her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.

5 For in the going up of Lulaim, continuing all weeping shall go up; for in the going down of Bozrah the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee, save your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken,

1. And Chemosh shall go forth into captivity with his priests and his princes together.
2. And the spoiler shall come upon every citie, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be destroyed, as the Lord hath spoken.
3. Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.
4. Cursed be he that doth not the work of the Lord: and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood.
5. For Moab hath been at ease from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste is remained in him, and his sent is not changed.
6. Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send unto him wanderers that shall cause him to wander, and shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles.
7. And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.
8. How say ye, We are mighty and strong men for the warre?
9. Moab is spoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his chosen young men are gone down to the slaughter, saith the king, whose name is the Lord.
10. The calamitie of Moab is neare to come, and his affliction hatheneth fast.
11. All ye that are about him demone him, and all ye that know his name, say, How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod!
12. Thou daughter that dost inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and sit in thicks; for the spoiler of Moab shall come upon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.
13. O inhabitant of Aroer, stand by the way and espy, ask him that flieth, and her that escapeth, and say, What is done?
14. Moab is confounded, for it is broken down: hold and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is spoiled.
15. And judgement is come upon the plain country: upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephath, and upon Beth-diblahaim, and upon Beth-meon.
16. And upon Kereth, and upon Borah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, farre or neare.
17. The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, saith the Lord.
18. Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himself against the Lord: Moab also shall wallow in his vomit, and he also shall be in derision.
19. For was not Israel a derision unto thee? was he found among thieves? for since thou spakest of him, thou hast skipped for joy.
20. O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.
21. We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftinesse and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the haughtinesse of his heart.
22. I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shall not be so; his lies shall not so effect it.
23. Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab, mine heart shall mourn for the men of Kir-herses.

24. O vine of Sodom, I will weep for thee, with the weeping of Jazer; thy plants are gone over the sea, they reach even to the sea of Jazer, the spoiler is fallen upon thy summer-fruits, and upon thy vintage.
25. And joy and gladnesse is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have caused wine to fall from the wine-presses, none shall tread with shouting, their shouting shall be no shouting.
26. From the cite of Heshbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even unto Hononaim, as an heifer of three yeares old: for the waters also of Minim shall be desolate.
27. Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.
28. Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart shall sound like pipes for the men of Kir-herses: because the riches that he hath gotten is perished.
29. For every head shall be bald, and every beard shall clip: upon all the bands shall be cuttings, and upon the loynes sackcloth.
30. There shall be lamentation generally upon all the house tops of Moab, and in the streets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a vessel, wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.
31. They shall howl, saying, How is it broken down: how hath Moab turned the back with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a saying to all them about him.
32. For thus saith the Lord, Behold, he shall sit as an eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.
33. Kirioth is taken, and the strong holds are surprised, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.
34. And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath magnified himself against the Lord.
35. Fear and the pit, and the snare shall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.
36. He that flieth from the fear, shall fall into the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their visitation, saith the Lord.
37. They that fled, stood under the shadow of Heshbon, because of the force: but a fire shall come forth out of Heshbon, and a flame from the midst of Sihon, and shall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.
38. We be unto thee, O Moab, the people of Chemosh perish: for thy idones are taken, captives, and thy daughters captives.
39. Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter dayes, saith the Lord.
Thus saith the judgement of Moab.

2 Therefore behold the dayes come, saith the Lord, when I will cause an alarm of warre to be heard in * Babylon of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heap, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall I be to her unto them that were his heirs, saith the Lord.

3 Howl, O Beeldan, for Ai is spoiled: cry ye daughters of Babbay, and we with sackcloth lament and run to and fro by the hedges, for the king shall go into captivity, and his priests and his princes together.

4 And therefore glorified thou in the balleys, by the flowing valley, O backsliding daughter: that trusted in her treasures, saying, I will not be moved.

5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, from all those that be about thee, and ye shall be driven out every man right forth, and none shall gather up him that wandereth.

6 And afterward I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, saith the Lord.

7 Concerning Edom, thus saith the Lord God of hosts, * Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from the prudent? is their wisdom banished?

8 * Flee ye, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan, for I will bring the calamitie of Edom upon him, the time that I will visit him.

9 If * grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some gleaning grapes? if thieves by night, they will destroy till they have enough.

10 But I have made Edom bare, I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is spoiled, and his children and his neighbours, and he is not.

11 Leave the fatherless children, I will preserve them alive, and let the widows trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, they whose judgement was not to drink of the cup, have assuredly drunken, and are thou he that shalt altogether go unpunished? thou shalt not go unpunished, but thou shalt surely sink of it.

13 For I have sworn by my self, saith the Lord God, that Borsah shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes.

14 I have heard a * rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather ye together and come against her, and rise up to the battell.

15 For so, I will make thee small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy rebelliousness hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart, O thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, that holdest the height of the hill: though thou shouldst make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall be a desolation: * every one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

18 * As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, and in the neighbour cities thereof, saith the Lord, so no man shall abide there, neither shall a son of man dwell in it.

19 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan against the habitation of the strong: but I will suddenly make him run away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will I appoint me the time? and who is that shepherd that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord, so that he hath taken against Edom, and his purpose that he hath purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flock shall drive them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moved at the noise of their fall: at the cry, the noise thereof was heard in the Red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come up and flye as the eagle, and spread his wings over Borsah: and at that day shall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be, as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

23 Concerning Damascus, Damascus is confounded, and Arpad: for they have heard evil tidings, they are; faint-hearted, there is sorrow upon the sea, it cannot be quiet.

24 Damascus is waxed feeble, and turned her self to flee, and fear hath seized on her: anguish & sorrows have taken her as a woman in travail.

25 How is the cite of praise not left, the cite of my joy?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all the men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord God of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a * fire in the wall of Damascus, and it shall consume the palaces of Beth-bahad.

28 Concerning Kedar, and concerning the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon shall smite, thus saith the Lord God, Arise ye, go ye up to Kedar, and spoil the men of the east.

29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away, they shall cause to themselves their curtains and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry unto them, Fear is on every side.

30 * Flee, I get you farre off, dwell deep, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord God, for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath taken counsell against you, and hath conceived a purpose against you.

31 Arise, get you up unto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord God, which have neither gates nor barres, which dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattell a spoil, and I will scatter into all windes them that are in the utmost corners, and I will bring their calamitie from all sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and a desolation for ever: there shall no man dwine there, nor any sonne of man dwell in it.

34 The word of the Lord, so that came to Jeremiah the prophet against Edom in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Behold, I will break the bow of Edom: the chief of their might.

36 And upon Edom will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter them towards all those windes, and there shall be no nation, whither the outcasts of Edom shall not come.

37 For I will cause Edom to be dismayed before their enemies, and before them that seek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, even my fierce anger, saith the Lord God, and I will send the sword after them till I have consumed them.

38 And I will set my thorne in Edom, and will destroy from thence the king, and the princes, saith the Lord.

39 But I will come to passe in the latter dayes, that I will bring again the captivity of Edom, saith the Lord.

1. 9. 21. 35 The judgement of Babylon. 4. 17. 33 The redemption of Israel.

The word that the Lord saith against Babylon, and against the land of the Caldeans: by Jeremiah the prophet.

† Heb. by the hand of Jeremiah.

† Heb. lift up.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publish, and set up a standard, publish and conceal not: say, Babylon is taken, Babel is confounded, Berodach is broken in pieces, her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces.

3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation against her, which shall make her land desolate, and none shall dwell therein: they shall remove, they shall depart both man and beast.

4 In those days, and in that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Judah together, going and weeping: they shall go, and seek the Lord, their God.

5 They shall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us join our selves to the Lord, in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 The people hath been lost: they: their shepherds have caused them to go astray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their resting place.

† Heb. placeto lie down in.

7 All that found them have devoured them, and their adversaries said, We offend not, because they have sinned against the Lord, the habitation of justice, even the Lord, the hope of their fathers.

8 Remove out of the midst of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Caldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.

9 For lo, I will raise and cause to come up against Babylon, an assembly of great nations from the north country, and they shall set themselves in array against her, from thence she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a mighty expert man: none shall return in vain.

† Or, destroyer.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoil: all that spoil her shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.

† Heb. Lig. or copulent.

11 Because ye were glad, because ye rejoiced, O ye destroyers of mine heritage, because ye are grown fat, as the heifer at grass, and bellows as bulls.

12 Your mother shall be sore confounded, she that bare you shall be ashamed: behold, the hindermost of the nations shall be a wilderness, a dry land and a desert.

* Chap. 49. 17.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but it shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babylon shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues.

14 But your felices in array against Babylon round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Shoot against her round about: she hath given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thipton down: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: to take vengeance upon her, as she hath done, do unto her.

† Or, fish.

16 Cut off the tower from Babylon, and him that handled the scale in the time of harvest: for fear of the oppressing sword, they shall turn every one to his people, and they shall flee every one to his own land.

17 Israel is a scattered sheep, the lions have gotten him away: first the king of Assyria hath devoured him, and last this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord, God of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon, and his land, as I have punished the king of Assyria.

19 And I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those days, and in that time, saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none, and the sinnes of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I please.

21 I will rise up against the land of Beruthaim, even against it, and against the inhabitants of it: I will waste and utterly destroy after them, saith the Lord, and do according to all that I have commanded them.

† Or, of the rebels. Or, vision.

22 A sound of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken: how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations?

24 I have laid a snare for thee, and thou art also taken, O Babylon: thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his armory, and hath brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord God of hosts, in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her,† from the utmost border, open her strong-houses:† cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

† Heb. from the end. Or, tread her.

28 The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, the vengeance of his temple.

29 Call together the archers against Babylon: all ye that bend the bow, camp against it round about: let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her work: according to all that she hath done, do unto her: for she hath been proud against the Lord, against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I am against thee, O thou most proud, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, the time that I will visit thee.

† Heb. pride.

32 And† the most proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

† Heb. pride.

33 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts, The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives held them fast, they refused to let them go.

34 Their redeemer is strong, the Lord God of hosts is his name, he shall thoroughly plead their cause, that he may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 A sword is upon the Caldeans, saith the Lord God of hosts, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wise men.

36 A sword is upon the† fiers, and they shall do: a sword is upon her mighty men, and they shall be slain.

† Or, chief. Heb. barret.

37 A sword is upon their horses, and upon their their chariots, and upon all the mingled people that are in the midst of her, and they shall become as women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be robbed.

38 A drought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols.

39 Therefore the wilde beasts of the desert, with the wilde beasts of the islands shall dwell there, and the owls shall dwell therein: and it shall be no more inhabited for ever: neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.

40 * As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, saith the Lord: so shall no man abide there, neither shall any sonne of man dwell therein.

41 Behold, a people shall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the lance: they are cruel and will not show mercy: their voice shall roar like the sea, and they shall ride upon horses, every one put in array like a man to the battell, against thee, O daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxen feeble: anguish took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold he shall come up * like a lion from the swelling of Jordan, unto the habitation of the strong: but I will make them suddenly run away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me, and * who will appoint me the ward? and who is that they hear that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare ye the counsell of the Lord, that he hath taken against Babylon, and his purposes: that he hath purposed against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flock shall mow them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

1 The severe judgement of God against Babylon, in revenge of Israel. 29 Jeremiah delivereth the book of this prophesie to Seraiah, to be cast into Euphrate, in token of the perpetual sinking of Babylon.

Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up against Babylon, and against them that dwell in the midst of them that rise up against me, a destroying wind;

2 And will send unto Babylon famines, that shall famish her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her round about.

3 Against him that at bendeth let the archer bend his bow, and against him that lifted himself up in his biglantine; and spare ye not her young men, destroy ye utterly all her host.

4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath not been forsaken, no; Judah of his God, of the Lord of hosts: though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 * Flew out of the midst of Babylon, and deliver every man his soule: be not cut off in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lord's vengeance: he will render unto her a recompence.

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lord's hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore the nations are mad.

8 Babylon is suddenly * fallen and destroyed: * I will be holie for her, take balm for her pain, if so be she may be healed.

9 Wee would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed: forsake her, and let us go every one into his own country: for her judgement reacheth unto heaven, & is lifted up even to the skies.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God.

11 Make ye bright the arrows: gather the shields: the Lord hath called up the spirit of the kings of the Assyres: for his device is against Babylon, to destroy it; because it is the vengeance of the Lord: the vengeance of his temple.

12 Set up the standards upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch strong, let up the watchmen, prepare the ambushes: for the Lord hath bidden, and he will do it: that which he hath said against the inhabitants of Babylon.

13 O thou that dwellest upon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, and the measure of thy covetousness.

14 * The Lord of hosts hath sworn by himself, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with carrion: and they shall lift up a shout against thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his understanding.

16 When he uttereth his voice there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man is foolish by his knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.

18 They are hantie, the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 * The portion of Jacob is not like them, for he is the former of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his name.

20 Thou art my battell, and weapons of warre: for I with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdoms:

21 And with thee will I break in pieces the people, and his rider, and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider:

22 With thee also will I break in pieces man and woman, and with thee will I break in pieces old and young, and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid:

23 I will also break in pieces with thee the shepherd and his flock, and with thee will I break in pieces the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers.

24 And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Caldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I am against thee, O destroying mountain, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain.

26 And they shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations; but thou shalt be desolate for ever, saith the Lord.

27 Set ye up a standard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations against her, call together against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Gimir, and Agchemaz, appoint a captain against her, come her hories to come up as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, & all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and be broken: for every purpose of the Lord shall be performed against Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a desolation without an inhabitant.

30 The mighty men of Babylon have forgotten to fight, they have remained in their holds, their might hath failed, they became as women: they have burnt her dwelling places, her bars are broken.

31 One post shall run to meet another, and one messenger to meet another, to shew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds they have burnt with fire, and the men of heart are affrighted.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, The danger of Babylon is like a thyching floor; it is time to crush her; yet a little while, & the time of her harvest shall come.

34 Behold, because the king of Babylon hath drunken me, he hath crushed me, he hath made me an empty vessel, he hath swallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath cast me out.

35 The violence done to me and to my flesh, be upon Babylon, shall the inhabitant of Zion say; and my blood upon the inhabitants of Caldea, shall Jerusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will plead thy cause, & take vengeance for thee, & I will rive up her sea, and make her springs dry.

37 And Babylon shall become heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an abomination, and an hissing without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roar together, like lions: they shall I yell as lions whelps.

39 In their heat I will make their feasts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rammes with ho-goates.

41 Who is Shephach taken? and how is the prince of the whole earth surprised: how is Babylon become an abomination among the nations?

42 The sea is come up upon Babylon: she is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are a desolation, a dry land and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any sonne of man passe thereby.

44 And I will punish Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath swallowed up, and the nations shall not flow together any more upon him, yea the wall of Babylon shall fall.

45 O ye people, go ye out of the midst of her, and deliver ye every man his soul from the fierce anger of the Lord.

46 And let your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour that shall be heard in the land: a rumour shall come one year, & after that in another year shall come a rumour, & violence in the land, ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will do judgement upon the graven images of Babylon, and her idols shall be confounded, and all her slain shall fall in the midst of her. When the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, shall sing for Babylon: for the spoilers shall come unto her from the north, saith the Lord.

49 As Babylon hath caused the slain of Israel to fall: so at Babylon shall fall the slain of all the earth.

50 Ye that have stayed the Choz, go away, stand not still: remember the Lord afar off, and let Jerusalem come into your minde.

51 We are confounded, because we have heard reproach, shame hath covered our faces: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the Lord's house.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will do judgement upon her graven images, and through all her land the wounded shall groan.

53 Though Babylon should mount up to heaven, and though she should fortifie the height of her strength, yet from me shall spoilers come unto her, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a cry cometh from Babylon, & great destruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath spoiled Babylon, and destroyed out of her the great voice when her waves do roar like great waters, a noise of their voice is uttered.

56 But as the spoiler is come upon her: even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken, every one of their houses is broken, for the Lord God of recompenses shall surely requite.

57 And I will make drunk her princes, and her wise men, her captains and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the king, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I the broad walls of Babylon shall be utterly broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they shall be weary.

59 All the words which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Shaphan, when he went with Jeremiahs the king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign, & this Seraiah was a quiet prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that should come upon Babylon, even all these words that are written against Babylon.

61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When thou comest to Babylon, and shalt see, and shalt read all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to cut it off, that none shall remain in it, neither man nor beast, but that it shall be a desolate for ever.

63 And it shall be when thou shalt have made an end of reading this book, that thou shalt bind a stone to it, & cast it into the midst of Euphrates.

64 And thou shalt say, Thus shall Babylon sink, and shall not rise from the evil that I will bring upon her: and they shall be weary. Thus saith the words of Jeremiah.

eleven years in Jerusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord as was, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 For though the anger of the Lord as was it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, till he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 ¶ And it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army against Jerusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the kings garden, (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the plain.

8 ¶ But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and all his army was scattered from him.

9 Then they took the king, and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgement upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babylon bound him in chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 ¶ Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) came Nebuzaradan a captain of the guard, which served the king of Babylon, into Jerusalem.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord as was, and the kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the houses of the great men burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the captain of the guard, brake down all the walls of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, left certain of the poor of the land for vine-dressers, and for husbandmen.

17 Also the pillars of brass that were in the house of the Lord as was, and the basins, and the basen sea that was in the house of the Lord as was, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the brass of them to Babylon.

18 The cauldrons also and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the bowls, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered, took they away.

19 And the basins and the firepans, and the bowls, and the cauldrons, and the candlesticks, and the spoons, and the cups; that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of silver in silver, took the captain of the guard away.

20 The two pillars, one sea, and twelve brasen bulls that were under the bases, which king Solomon had made in the house of the Lord as was: the brass of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a fillet of twelve cubits did compass it, and the thickness thereof was four fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brass was upon it, and the height of one chapter was five cubits, with network and pomegranates upon the chapters round about, all of brass: the second pillar also and the pomegranates were like unto these.

23 And there were ninety and six pomegranates on a side, and all the pomegranates upon the network, were an hundred round about.

24 ¶ And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the door.

25 He took also out of the city an eunuch, which had the charge of the men of war, and seven men of them that were ware the kings person which were found in the city, & the principal scribe of the host, who instructed the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land that were found in the midst of the city.

26 So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babylon smote them, and put them to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.

28 This is the people whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive in the seventh year, thre thousand Jews and thre and twenty.

29 In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred thirte and two persons.

30 In the thre and twentieth year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred forty and five persons: all the persons were four thousand and six hundred.

31 ¶ And it came to pass in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month, that Cull-meroch king of Babylon, in the first year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of prison.

32 And spake kindly unto him, and let him sit above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon.

33 And changed his prison garments: and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.

34 And for his diet, there was a continual diet given him of the king of Babylon, every day a portion until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

THE LAMENTATIONS of JEREMIAH.

CHAP. I.

The miserable estate of Jerusalem by reason of her sins. 12 She complaineth of her griefs, 18 and confesseth Gods judgement to be righteous.

JW both the citie sit solitary, that was full of people: how is she become as a widow: & she that was great among the nations, and princesse among the provinces, how is she become tributarie?

 Jer. 13. 17.
* Job 7. 3.*

2 She weepeth sore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks: among all her lovers she hath none to comfort her, all her friends have dealt treacherously with her, they are become her enemies.

 Heb. for the greatnesse of servitude.*

3 Judah is gone into captivity, because of affliction, & because of great servitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, she findeth no rest: all her persecutions overtook her between the straits.

4 The wayes of Zion doe mourn, because none come to the solemn feasts: all her gates are desolate: her priests sigh, her virgins are afflicted, and she is in bitterness.

 Deut. 28. 13.
* 14.
* Jer. 5. 2, 28.*

5 Her adversaries are the chief, her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her: for the multitude of her transgressions, her children are gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beau-tie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

|| Or, desirable.

7 Jerusalem remembered in the dayes of her affliction, & of her miseries, all her pleasant things that she had in the dayes of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her, the adversaries saw her, and did mock at her sabbaths.

 Heb. is become a removing, & wandering.*

8 Jerusalem hath grievously sinned: therefore she is removed: all that honoured her, despise her, because they have seen her nakednesse: yea, the sight, and turned backward.

9 Her filthinesse is in her skirts, she remembereth not her last end, therefore she came down wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold my affliction: for the enemy hath magnified himselfe.

|| Or, desirable.

10 The adversary hath spread out his hand upon all her pleasant things: for she hath seen that the heathen entered into her sanctuary, whom thou dost command that they should not enter into thy congregation.

 Deut. 23. 3.*

11 All her people sigh, they seek bread, they have given their pleasant things for meat: to relieve the soul: see, O Lord, and consider, for
I am become vile.

*|| Or, to make the soul to come again.
|| Or, it is nothing.
* Heb. passe by the way.*

12 Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by: behold and see, if there be any sorrow like unto my sorrow, which is done unto me, whereunto the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.

13 From above hath he sent fire into my boorne, and it prevailed against them: he hath spread a net for my feet, he hath turned me back:
he hath made me desolate, and faint all the day.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bound by his hand: they are weighed, and come up upon my neck: he hath made my strength to fall, the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, from whom I am not able to rise up.

15 The Lord hath trodden under foot all my mighty men in the midst of me, he hath called an assembly against me, to crush my young men:
the Lord hath trodden the virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a wine-press.

|| Or, the wine-presse of the virgin, &c.

16 For these things I weep, mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water, because the comforter that should relieve my soul, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.

and 14. 17.
Chap. 2. 18.
* Heb. bring back.*

17 Zion spreadeth forth her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath commanded concerning Jacob, that his adversaries should be round about him: Jerusalem is as a menstruous woman among them.

18 The Lord is righteous, for I have rebelled against his commandment: heare I pay you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.

 Dan. 9. 7.
* Heb. mourning.*

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my priests and mine elders gave up the ghost in the citie, while they sought their meat to relieve their souls.

20 Behold, O Lord, for I am in distress:
my bowels are troubled: mine heart is turned within me, for I have grievously rebelled:
abroad the sword bereaveth, at home there is as death.

 Isa. 56. 11.
Jer. 48. 36.*

21 They have heard that I sigh, there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, they are glad that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast called, and they shall be like unto me.

|| Or, proclaimed.

22 Let all their wickednesse come before thee:
and do unto them, as thou hast done unto me: for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many,
and my heart is faint.

CHAP. II.

*I Jeremiah lamenteth the miserie of Jerusalem.
20 He complaineth thereof to God.*

How hath the Lord covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud in his anger, and cast down from heaven unto the earth the beauty of Israel, and remembered not his footstool in the day of his anger.

2 The Lord hath swallowed up all the habitations of Jacob, and hath not pitied: he hath throned down in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Judah: he hath brought them down to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

 Heb. made to touch.*

3 The hath cut off in his fierce anger all the horn of Israel: he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy, and he burned against Jacob like a flaming fire which devoureth round about.

4 He hath bent his bow like an enemy: he stood with his right hand as an adversarie, and stew all that were pleasant to the eye, in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury like fire.

 Heb. all the desirable of

lowed up Israel, he hath swallowed up all her palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds and hath increased in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation.

6 And he hath violently * taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a garden, he hath destroyed his places of the assembly: the Lord hath cancelled the solemn feasts and sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his anger the king and the priest.

7 The Lord hath cast off his altar: he hath abhorred his sanctuary: he hath given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they have made a noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of a solemn feast.

8 The Lord hath purposed to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion; he hath stretched out a line, he hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying, therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament: they languished together.

9 Her gates are sunk into the ground; he hath destroyed and broken her barres; her king and her princes are among the Gentiles; the law is no more, her * prophets also finde no vision from the Lord.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground and keep silence: they have cast up dust upon their heads, they have girded themselves with sackcloth, the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do fall with tears, my bowels are troubled, my liver is poured upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and the sucklings * in the streets of the city.

12 They say to their mothers, where is coyn and wine? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the city, when their soul was poured out into their mothers' bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee: what thing shall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jerusalem? what shall I equal to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea; who can heal thee?

14 Thy * prophets have been vain and foolish things for thee, and they have not discovered thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity; but have seen for thee false burdens, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by, clap their hands at thee: they hiss and wag their head at the daughter of Jerusalem, saying, is this the city that men call * the perfection of beauty, the joy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth against thee: they hiss and gnash the teeth: they say, we have swallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we have found, we have seen it.

17 The Lord hath done that which he had * devised: he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the dayes of old: he hath chosen down, and hath not pitied: and he hath caused thine enemy to rejoyce over thee, he hath set up the horn of thine adversaries.

18 Their heart cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter of Zion, * let tears run down like a river day and night: give the sile no rest, let not the apple of thine eyes cease.

19 Arise, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thy hands towards him, for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every street.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done this: shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a span long shall the priest and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets, my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slain them in the day of thy anger, thou hast killed and not pitied.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemn day my terrors round about, so that in the day of the Lord, no anger none escaped nor remained: that I have swailed and brought up, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seen affliction by the rod of his wrath.

2 He hath led me and brought me into darkness, but not into light.

3 Surely against me is he turned, he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my shame hath he made old, he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall and travail.

6 He hath set me in dark places, as they that be dead of old.

7 He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chain heavy.

8 Also when I cry and shout, he shattereth out my prayer.

9 He hath enclosed my wayes with thorns, he hath made my paths crooked.

10 He was unto me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath turned aside my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and set me as a mark for the arrow.

13 He hath caused the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins.

14 I was as a * driftion to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterness, he hath made me drunken with wormwood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with gravel stones, he hath covered me with ashes.

17 And thou hast removed my soul farre off from peace: I forgot * prosperitie.

18 And I said, My strength and my hope is perished from the Lord.

19 Remembering mine affliction and my misery, the wormwood and the gall.

20 My soul hath them still in remembrance, and is * humbled in me.

21 This I * recall to my minde; therefore I have I hope.

22 It is of the Lord's mercies that we are my heart, not consumed, because his compassions fail not.

23 They are new every morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my * portion, saith my soul, therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him.

30 He giveth his cheek to him that smiteth him, he is filled full with reproach.

31 For the Lord will not cast off for ever.

32 But though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not afflict willingly, nor grieves the children of men.

34 To crush under his feet all the prisoners of the earth.

35 To turn aside the right of a man before the face of the most high.

36 To subvert a man in his camp, the Lord hath sworn.

37 O Lord, how is he that hath said, and it cometh to pass, when the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not evil and good.

39 And therefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sinnes:

40 Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord.

41 Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens.

42 We have transgressed and have rebelled, thou hast not pardoned.

43 Thou hast covered with anger, and persecuted us: thou hast slain, thou hast not pitied.

44 Thou hast covered thy self with a cloud, that our prayer should not pass through.

45 Thou hast made us as the off-scouring and refuse in the midst of the people.

46 All our enemies have opened their mouths against us.

47 Fear and a snare is come upon us, destruction and destruction.

48 Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye tricketh down and ceaseth not, without any intermission:

50 Till the Lord look down, and behold from heaven.

51 Mine eye affecteth mine heart, because of all the daughters of my city.

52 Mine enemies chafed me sore like a bird, without cause.

53 They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone upon me.

54 Waters flowed over mine head, then I said, I am cut off.

55 I called upon thy name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voice, hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry.

57 Thou hast heard me in the day that I called upon thee: thou saidst, Fear not.

58 O Lord, thou hast pleaded the cause of my soul, thou hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seen my wrong, judge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seen all their vengeance, and all their imaginations against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproach, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me.

62 The lips of those that rose up against me, and their device against me all the day.

63 Behold their sitting down and their rising up, I am their mock.

64 Render unto them a recompense, O Lord, according to the work of their hands.

65 Give them, O Lord, of heart, thy curse: O Lord, of heart, unto them.

66 Persecute and destroy them in anger, from under the heavens of the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Zion bewaileth her pitifull estate. 13 She confesseth her sinnes. 21 Edom is threatened. 22 Zion is comforted.

How is the gold become dunnie! how is the most fine gold changed! the stones of the sanctuary are poured out in the top of every street.

2 The precious stones of Zion, comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!

3 Even the young men have dwelt out of the breast, they give suck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel, like the ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirst: the young children ask bread, and no man breaketh it unto them.

5 They that did feed delicately, are desolate in the streets: they that were brought up in scarlet, embrace dung-hills.

6 For the punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people, is greater than the punishment of the sin of Sodom, that was overthrown: as in a moment, and no hands stayed on her.

7 Her fornications were purer than snow, they were whiter then milk, they were more ruddy in body then rubies, their polishing was of sapphire.

8 Their visage is as blacker then a coal: they are not known in the streets: their skinne cleaveth to their bones: it is as withers, it is become like a stick.

9 They that be slain with the sword, are better then they that be slain with hunger: for thirst they pine away, stricken though for want of the fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitifull woman have sodden their own children, they were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his fury, he hath poured out his fierce anger, and hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed, that the adversary and the enemy should have entered into the gates of Jerusalem.

13 For the sinnes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that have shed the blood of the just in the midst of her:

14 They have wandered as blind men in the streets, they have polluted themselves with blood, so that men could not touch their garments.

15 They cried unto them, Depart ye, it is unclean, depart, depart, touch not, when they fled away and wandered: they laid among the heathen, they shall no more sojourn there.

16 The anger of the Lord hath divided them, he will no more regard them, they respected not the persons of the priests, they favoured not the elders.

17 As for us, our eyes as yet have looked for our pain help: in our watching we have watched for a nation that could not save us.

18 They burn our steps that we cannot go in our streets, our end is near, our days are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecutors are swifter then the eagles of the heaven: they pursued us upon the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderness.

CHAP. V.

A pitifull complaint of Zion, in prayer unto God.

Remember, O L^o & M^o, what is come upon us: consider and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to strangers, our houses to aliens.

3 We are orphans and fatherlesse, our mothers are as widows.

4 We have drunken our water for money, our wood is sold unto us.

5 ¶ Our necks are under persecution: we labour and have no rest.

6 We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Assyrians, to be satisfied with bread.

7 ¶ Our fathers have sinned and are not, and we have borne their iniquities.

8 Servants have ruled over us: there is none that hath deliver us out of their hand.

9 We gat our bread with the perill of our lives, because of the sword of the wickedness.

10 Our shame hath black like an oven, because of the terrible famine.

THE BOOK OF THE prophet EZEKIEL.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of Ezekiel's prophesie at Chebar. 4 His vision of foure cherubims, 15 of the foure wheels, 26 and of the glory of GOD.

NOW it came to passe in the thirtieth yeare, in the fourth moneth, in the fifth day of the moneth, (as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fifth day of the moneth, (which was the fifth yeare of king Iehoiachins captivitie)

3 The word of the L^o & M^o came expressly unto I Ezekiel the priest, the sonne of Buz, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, and the hand of the L^o & M^o was there upon him.

4 ¶ And I looked, and behold, a whelme came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire ¶ infolding it self, and a brightnesse was about it, and out of the midst thereof as the colour of amber, out of the midst of the fire.

5 Also out of the midst thereof came the likeness of foure living creatures. And this was their appearance, They had the likeness of a man.

6 And every one had foure faces, and every one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were ¶ straight feet, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calves foot, and they sparkles like the colour of burnished brass.

8 And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four sides, and they four had their faces and their wings.

9 Their wings were joyned one to another;

they turned not when they went, they went every one straight forward.

10 As for the likeness of their faces, they four had the face of a man, and the face of a lion on the right side, and they four had the face of an ox on the left side: they four also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: and their wings were ¶ stretched upward, two wings of every one were joyned one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And they went every one straight forward: whither the spirit was to go, they went: and they turned not when they went.

13 As for the likeness of the living creatures, their apparance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: it went up and down among the living creatures, and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightening.

14 And the living creatures ran, and returned as the appearance of a flash of lightening.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the living creatures, behold, one wheel upon the earth by the living creatures, with his four faces.

16 The appearance of the wheels, and their work was like unto the colour of a beryl: and they four had one likeness, and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the midst of a wheel.

17 When they went, they went upon their four sides: & they returned not when they went.

18 As for their rings, whither so high that they were headfull, and the rings were full of eyes round about them four.

19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels wheels went by them and when the living creatures were lift up from the earth, the wheels were lift up.

Or, of life.

20 And whither the spirit was to go, they went, thither was their spirit to go, and the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels.

Or, of life.

21 And when those went, these went; and when these stood, those stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels.

22 And the likeness of the firmament upon the heads of the living creature was as the colour of the terrible crystall, stretched forth over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other; every one had two, which covered on this side, and every one had two, which covered on that side, their bodies.

24 And when they went, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, as the voice of the Almighty, the voice of speech as the noise of an host: when they stood, they let down their wings.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament, that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings.

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads, was the likeness of a throne, as the appearance of a sapphire stone, and upon the likeness of the throne was the likeness as the appearance of a man above upon it.

27 And I saw as the colour of amber, as the appearance of fire round about within it; from the appearance of his loins even upward, and from the appearance of his loins even downward, I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and it had brightness round about.

28 As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

C H A P. II.

1 Ezekiels commission. 6 His instruction. 9 The roll of his heavie prophesie.

And he said unto me, Sonne of man, stand upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee.

2 And the spirit entered into me, when he spake unto me, and let me up upon my feet, that I heard him that spake unto me.

Nations.

3 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: they and their fathers have transgressed against me, even unto this very day.

Hard of face.

4 For they are a stubborn children and stiff-hearted: I do send thee unto them, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 And they, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, (for they are a rebellious house) yet shall know that there hath been a prophet among them.

Rebels.

6 And thou sonne of man, be not afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though they bite and though be with thee, and thou dost dwell among scorpions: be not afraid of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.

7 And thou shalt speak my words unto them, whether they will heare, or whether they will forbear: for they are a most rebellious house.

8 But thou, sonne of man, heare what I say unto thee, be not thou rebellious like that rebellious house: open thy mouth and eat that I give thee.

9 And when I looked, behold, an hand was sent unto me, and lo, a roll of a book was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

C H A P. III.

1 Ezekiel eateth the roll. 4 God encourageth him. 15 God sheweth him the rule of prophesie. 22 God setteth and openeth the prophets mouth.

Moreover he said unto me, Sonne of man, eat that thou findest, eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat that roll.

3 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roll that I give thee. Then did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness.

4 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, go, get thee unto the house of Israel, and speak with my words unto them.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of a strange speech, and of an hard language, but to the house of Israel.

6 Not to many people of a strange speech, and of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: I surely had I sent thee to them, they would have hearkened unto thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not hearken unto thee; for they will not hearken unto me: for all the house of Israel are stubborn and hard-hearted.

8 Behold, I have made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead strong against their foreheads.

9 As an adamant harder than flint have I made thy forehead: fear them not, neither be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.

10 Moreover, he said unto me, Sonne of man, all my words that I shall speak unto thee, receive in thine heart, and heare with thine ears.

11 And go, get thee to them of the captivity, unto thy people, and speak unto them and tell them. Thus saith the Lord God, whether they will heare, or whether they will forbear.

12 Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord from his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the living creatures that touched one another, and the noise of the wheels over against them, and a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me.

15 And when I came to them of the captivity at Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river of Chebar, and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.

16 And it came to pass at the end of seven days, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word of my mouth, and give them warning from me.

18 When I lay unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way to save his life: the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul.

20 Again, when a righteous man doeth turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, I lay a stumbling block before him, he shall die: because thou hast not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he hath done shall not be remembered; but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheless, if thou warn the righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and he doeth not sinne, he shall surely live, because he is warned: also thou shalt deliver thy soul.

22 ¶ And the dam of the L. 10 10 was there upon me, and he said unto me, Arise, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with thee.

23 Then I arose, and went forth into the plain, and behold, the glory of the L. 10 10 stood there, as the glory which I saw by the river of Euphrates; and I fell on my face.

24 Then the spirit entered into me, and set me upon my feet, and spake with me, and said unto me, O, shut thy self within thine house.

25 But thou, O some of man, behold, they shall put bands upon thee, & shall binde thee with cords, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue cleave to the roof of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be to them a rebopper; for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I speak with thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord G. 10, he that heareth, let him hear, and he that forbear, let him forbear; for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIIL

1 Under the type of a siege, I showed the time from the defection of Jerusalem to the captivity. 9 By the provision of the siege is showed the hardness of the famine.

Thou also some of man, take thee a tile, and lay it before thee, and penmanship upon it the city, even Jerusalem;

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: for the camp also against it, & set battering rammes against it round about.

3 Moreover, take thou unto thee an iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between thee and the city, and let thy face against it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a sign to the house of Israel.

4 ¶ Let thou also upon thy left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it: according to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon it, thou shalt bear their iniquity.

5 For I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety days: so shalt thou bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, lie again on thy right side, and thou shalt bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days: I have appointed thee each day for a year.

7 ¶ Therefore thou shalt say for the house of the siege of Jerusalem, and thou art shall be uncovered, and thou shalt be brought again to it.

8 And behold, I will lay waste upon thee, and thou shalt not turn thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the days of thy siege.

9 ¶ Take thou also unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and flitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof, according to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon thy side: three hundred and ninety days shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And thy meat which thou shalt eat, shall be by weight twenty shekels a day from time to time shalt thou eat it.

11 Thou shalt drink also water by measure, the fifth part of an hin: from time to time shalt thou drink.

12 And thou shalt eat it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it with dung that cometh out of man in their sight.

13 And the L. 10 10 said, When thus shall the children of Israel eat their desired bread among the Gentiles, together I will deliver them.

14 Then said I, As I live, O L. 10 10, behold, my soul hath not been polluted from my youth up even till now, have I not eaten of that which is set before it, as corn in pitch, neither came these abominable flesh into my mouth.

15 Then he said unto me, Lo, I have given thee colts dung for many days, and thou shalt prepare thy bread thereof.

16 Moreover, he said unto me, Some of man, behold, I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drink water by measure, and with affliction.

17 That they may want bread and water, and be afflicted one with another, and consume also for their iniquity.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the type of hair, I showed the judgement of Jerusalem for their rebellion, & by some sword, and disfigurement.

And thou some of man, take thee a hair knife, take thee a barbours razor, and cause it to pass upon thine head, and upon thy beard, then take the balances to weigh and divide the hair.

2 Thou shalt burn with fire a third part in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take a third part, and smite about it with a knife, and a third part thou shalt scatter in the winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and binde them in thy skirts.

4 Then take of them again, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire; for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord G. 10, This is Jerusalem: I have set it in the midst of the nations and countries that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my judgements into wickedness, more than the nations, and my statutes more than the countries that are round about her: for they have refused my judgments, and my statutes, they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord G. 10, Because ye multiplied more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my statutes, neither have kept my judgments, neither have done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you, therefore shall I

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord G^d : Be- hold, I, even I am against thee, and will execute judgements in the midst of thee in the sight of the nations.

8 And I will do in thee that which I have not done, and whereunto I will not do any more the like; because of all thine abominations.

9 Therefore the fathers shall eat the sonnes in the midst of thee, and the sonnes shall eat their fathers, and I will execute judgements in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

10 Therefore, as I live, saith the Lord G^d, Surely because thou hast defiled my sanctuary with all thy detestable things, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also diminish thee, neither shall mine eye spare, neither will I have any pity.

11 A third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the midst of thee: and a third part shall fall by the sword round about thee; and I will scatter a third part into all the winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

12 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my fury to rest upon them, and I will be comforted; and they shall know that I the Lord G^d have spoken it in my zeal, when I have accomplished my fury in them.

13 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and a reproach among the nations that are round about thee, in the sight of all that pass by.

14 So it shall be a reproach and a laugh, an infestation and an astonishment unto the nations that are round about thee; when I shall execute judgements in thee in anger and in fury, and in furious rebukes: I the Lord G^d have spoken it.

15 And I will send upon them the evil arrows of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you; and I will increase the famine upon you, and will break your staff of bread.

16 So will I send upon you famine, and evil beasts, and they shall consume thee; and pestilence and bloud shall pass through thee, and I will bring the sword upon thee: I the Lord G^d have spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

1 The judgement of Israel for their idlery. 8 A re- mnant shall be blessed. 11 The faithfull are exhorted to lament their calamities.

And the word of the Lord G^d came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face towards the mountains of Israel, & prophesse against them, 3 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, heare the word of the Lord G^d, Thus saith the Lord G^d unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Behold, I, even I will bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high places.

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images shall be broken: and I will cast down your slain men before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carcasses of the children of Israel before their idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places, the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate; that your altars may be laid waste, & made desolate, and your idols may be broken and cease, and your images may be cut down, and your high places may be abolished.

7 And the slain shall fall in the midst of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord G^d.

8 For will I leave a remnant, that ye may have some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when ye shall be scattered through the countries.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, whither they shall be carried captives, because I am broken with their whoredom heart which hath departed from me, and with their eyes which go a whooring after their idols: and they shall loath themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord G^d, and that I have not said in vain that I would do this evil unto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord G^d, Smite with thine hand, and stamp with thy foot, and say, A-las, for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel; for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off shall die of the pestilence, and he that remaineth and is besieged shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my fury upon them.

13 Then shall ye know that I am the Lord G^d, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, upon every high hill in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they did offer sweet savour to all their idols.

14 So will I stretch out my hand upon them, and make the land desolate; yea, I more desolate it than the wilderness towards Idolatry, in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord G^d.

CHAP. VII.

1 The small desolation of Israel. 16 The mournfull re- pentance of them that escape. 20 The enemies desile the sanctuary because of the Israelites abominations. 23 Under the type of a chain, is shewed their miserable captivity.

Moreover the word of the Lord G^d came unto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord G^d unto the land of Israel, An end, the end is come upon the four corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will send mine anger upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy wayes, and will recompense up- on thee all thine abominations.

4 And mine eye shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense thy wayes upon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord G^d.

5 Thus saith the Lord G^d, An evil, an evil, an evil, behold, is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it watch- eth for thee, behold, it is come.

7 The mourning is come upon thee, O thou that dwellest in the land, the time is come, the day of trouble is near, and not the sounding again of the mountains.

8 Now will I shortly pour out my fury upon thee, and accomplish mine anger upon thee: and I will judge thee according to thy wayes, and will recompense thee for all thine abominations.

9 And mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity: I will recompense thee according to

AND it came to pass in the fifth year, in the fifth month, in the fifth day of the month as I sat in mine house, and the elders of Judah sat before me, that the hand of the Lord was against me, so that they fell there upon me.

2. Then I behold, and lo, a likeness as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins even downward, fire: and from his loins even upward, as the appearance of brightness, as the colour of amber.

3 And he put forth the form of an hand, and took me by a lock of mine head, and the Spirit lift me up between the earth and the heaven, and thought me in the billows of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the inner gate, that looked toward the north, where was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provoked to jealousy.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw in the plain.

5 ¶ Then said he unto me, Some of man, lift up thine eyes unto the way towards the north: so I lift up mine eyes the way towards the north, and behold, northward at the gate of the altar, this image of jealousy in the entry.

6 He said furthermore unto me, Some of man-rest thou when they do even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here, but I should go farre off from my Sanctuary, and turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 ¶ And he brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall.

3 Then said he unto me, Son of man, dig now in the wall: and when I had digged in the wall, behold a door.

9 And he said unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in and saw, and behold, every man of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the fowls of the house of Israel pouring out upon the trail round about.

21 And there stood before them seventy men of the ancients of the house of Israel, and in the midst of them stood Jaazaniah the sonne Shaphan, told every man his center in his hand, and a thick cloud of smoke went up.

12 Then said he unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery: for they say, * The Lord seeth us not, the Lord is without faithfulness the earth

3 ¶ He said also unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations than these.

14 Then he brought me to the doors of the city of the Lamas house, which was towards the north, and behold, there sat women weeping for Lammas.

¶ Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen this, sonne of man? turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he brought me into the inner court of the house, and behold, at the doore of the temple of the Lord, between the two pillars the temple of the Lord, between the porch and altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the east, and they worshiped the sunne toward the east. 110

1 I cried also in mine ears with a loud voice, saying, Cause them that have charge over the city, to draw near; then every man with his destroying weapon in his hand.

2 And behold, six men came from the way of the higher gate, which lieth toward the north, and every man a slaughter-weapon in his hand; and one man among them was clothed with linen, and one man withers in his bow by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the cherub whereupon he was, to the threshold of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the withers in his bow by his side,

4 And the Lord said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem; and thou shalt see a mark upon the foreheads of the men that sit, and thou shalt cry, for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof.

5 And to the others he said in mine hearing, Go ye after him through the city, and smite: let not your eye spare, neither have ye pity.

6 Slay utterly old and young, and maids and little children, & women; but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at my sanctuary: then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.

7 And he said unto them, Desile the house, and fill the courts with the slain, go ye forth: & they went forth and slew in the city.

8 And it came to pass while they were slaying them, and I was left, that I fell upon my face, and cried and said, Ah, Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in the pouring out of thy fury upon Jerusalem?

9 Then said he unto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of perverness: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord hath no part.

10 And as for me, mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will recompense their way upon their head.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen, which had the inkhorn by his side, reported the matter, saying, I have done as thou hast commanded me.

under the cherub, and fill thine hand with coals of fire from between the cherubims, and scatter them over the city. And he went in my sight.

3 Now the cherubims stood on the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went up from the cherub, and stood over the threshold of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the Lord's glory.

5 And the sound of the cherubims' wings was heard even to the utter court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And it came to pass, that when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubims; then he went in, and stood beside the wheels.

7 And one cherub stretched forth his hand from between the cherubims unto the fire that was between the cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the cherubims, the form of a man hand under their wings.

9 And when I looked, behold, the four wheels by the cherubims, one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was as the colour of a beryl stone.

10 And as for their appearances, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been in the midst of a wheel.

11 When they went, they went upon their four sides; they turned not as they went, but to the place whither the head looked, they followed it; they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels were full of eyes round about, even the wheels that they four had.

13 As for the wheels, it was cried unto them in my hearing, O wheel.

14 And every one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the cherubims were lifted up: this is the living creature that I saw by the river of Chebar.

16 And when the cherubims went, the wheels went by them; and when the cherubims lift up their wings, to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also turned not from beside them.

17 When they stood, these stood, and when they were lifted up, these lift up themselves also: for the spirit of the living creature was in them.

18 When the glory of the Lord departed from off the threshold of the house, and stood over the cherubims.

19 And the cherubims lift up their wings, & mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheels also were beside them, and every one stood at the door of the east-gate of the Lord's house, and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

20 This is the living creature that I saw under the God of Israel, by the river of Chebar, and I knew that they were the cherubims.

21 Every one had four faces a piece, and every one four wings, and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings.

22 And the likeness of their faces was the same

CHAP. XI.

1 The presumption of the princes. 4 Their sinne and judgement. 13 Ezekiel complaining, God sheweth him his purpose in saving a remnant, 21 and punishing the wicked. 22 The glory of God leaveth the citie, 24 Ezekiel's returned to the captivity.

MDecember, the spirit lift me up, and brought me unto the east-gate of the house, which looketh east-ward: and behold, at the doore of the gate five and twentie men; among whom I saw Jaazaniah the sonne of Gur, and Delatiah the sonne of Benaiab, princes of the people.

2 Then said he unto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that devise mischief, and give wicked counsel in this citie.

3 Which say, It is not ^{to} neare, let us build houses: this citie is the cauldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, prophesie, O Sonne of man.

5 And the spirit of the Lord was upon me, he said unto me, Speak. Thus saith the Lord, Thus have ye said, O house of Israel: for I know the things that come into your minde, every one of them.

6 Ye have multiplied your slain in this citie, & ye have filled the streets thereof with the slain.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Your slain whom ye have laid in the midst of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the cauldron: but I will bring you forth out of the midst of it.

8 Ye have feared the word, and I will bring a sword upon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and will execute judgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, I will judge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not be your cauldron: neither shall ye be the flesh in the midst thereof, but I will judge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my judgements, but have done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 And it came to passe when I prophesied, that Delatiah the sonne of Benaiab died: then fell I down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou make a full end of the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they, unto whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Get ye farre from the Lord: unto us is this land given in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I have cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will even gather you out of the people, and assemble you out of the countries where ye have been scattered: and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the detestable things thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you; and I will take the stone heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walk in my statutes, and keep mine ordinances, and do them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But as for them whose heart walketh after the heart of their detestable things, and their abominations, I will recompense their way upon their own heads, saith the Lord God.

22 Then did the cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheels besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

23 And the glory of the Lord was as it were up from the midst of the citie, and stood upon the mountain, which is on the east side of the citie.

24 Afterwards the spirit took me up, and brought me in vision by the spirit of God into Caldea, to them of the captivity: so the vision that I had seen went up from me.

25 Then I spake unto them of the captivity, all the things that the Lord God had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The type of Ezekiel's removing. 8 It shewed the captive wife of Zedekiah. 17 Ezekiel's removing shewed the Jews desolation. 21 The Jews presumptuous proverb is reproved. 26 The steadfastness of the vision.

The word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious house, which have eyes to see, and see not: they have eares to hear, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thee a fluffe for removing, and remove by day in their sight, and thou shalt remove from the place to another place in their sight: it may be they will consider, though they be a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy fluffe by day in their sight, as fluffe for removing: and thou shalt go forth at even in their sight, as they that go forth into captivity.

5 Dig thou through the wall in their sight, and carrie out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou bear it upon thy shoulders, and carrie it forth in the twilight: thou shalt cover thy face that thou see not the ground: for I have set thee for a signe unto the house of Israel.

7 And I did so as I was commanded: I brought forth my fluffe by day, as fluffe for captivity, and in the even I digged through the wall with mine hand, I brought it forth in the twilight, and I bare it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel the rebellious house, said unto thee, Thou dost thou?

10 Say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerns the prince in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your sight: like as I have done, so shall it be done unto them: they shall remove and go into captivity.

12 And the prince that is among them shall bear upon his shoulder in the twilight, and shall go forth: they shall dig through the wall to carrie out.

12 And I will also will I spread upon him, and he shall be taken in my snare; and I will bring him to Babylon to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every wind all that are about him to help him, & all his hands, and I will make out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But I will leave a few men of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen whither they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

18 Some of men, eat thy bread with quaking, and drink thy water with trembling and with carefulness.

19 And say unto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God, of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with carefulness, and drink their water with astonishment, that her land may be desolate from the first day is therein, because of the violence of all them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

22 Some of men, what is that proverb, what ye have in the land of Israel, saying, The days are prolonged, and every vision faileth?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel: but say unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision.

24 For there shall be no more any vain vision, nor flattering divination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord God: I will speak, and the word that I shall speak shall come to pass: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious house, will I say the word, and will perform it, saith the Lord God.

26 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

27 Some of men, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth is * for many days to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are far off.

28 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, There shall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have spoken shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The reproof of lying prophets, 10 another untemper'd mortar. 17 Of prophets, and their pillows.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of men, prophesie against the prophets of Israel that prophesie, and say thou unto them that prophesie out of their own hearts, Hear ye the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Unto the foolish prophets, that follow their own spirit, I have been nothing.

4 ¶ And, the prophets are like the fowls in the desert.

5 Ye have not gone up into the gaps, neither have ye made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battle in the day of the Lord.

6 They have seen vanity, and lying divination, saying, We the Lord God saith; and the Lord saith not sent them: and they have made others to hope, that they would confirm the word.

7 Have ye not den a vain vision, and have ye not spoken a lying divination, whereas ye say, We the Lord saith it, albeit I have not spoken?

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye have spoken vanity, and seen lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 ¶ Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace; and one built up a wall, and lo, others have dashed it with untemper'd mortar.

11 Say unto them which build it with untemper'd mortar, that it shall fall: there shall be an overflowing shower, and ye, O great hail-stones, shall fall, and a stormy wind shall rent it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where is the damming wherewith ye have builded it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will even rent it with a stormy wind in my furie; and there shall be an overflowing shower in mine anger, and great hail-stones in my furie to consume it.

14 So will I break down the wall that ye have builded with untemper'd mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have builded it with untemper'd mortar, and will say unto you, the wall is no more, neither they that builded it;

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel, which prophesie concerning Jerusalem, and which see visions of peace for her, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ Likewise thou forme of men, set thy face against the daughters of the people, which prophesie out of their own heart; and prophesie thou against them.

18 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Unto the women that sow poisonous to all animals, and make herchiefs upon the head of every stature to hunt souls: will ye hunt the souls of my people, and will ye save the souls alive that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread, to slay the souls that should not die, and to save the souls alive that should not live, by your lying to my people that hear your lies?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against your pillows, wherewith ye there hunt the souls, to make them lie: I will cut them from your arms, and will let down the souls, even the souls that ye hunt to make them lie.

21 Pour herchiefs also with a tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they shall

Or, when I looked upon thee.

4 And as for thy nativity in the day thou wast born, thy navel was not cut, neither wast thou washed in water, to supple thee: thou wast not salted at all, nor washed at all.

5 None eye pitied thee, to do any of these unto thee, to have compassion upon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field, to the sucking of thy puer, in the day that thou wast born.

Or, troden under foot.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I thoroughly washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oil.

10 I clothed thee also with bordered work, and shod thee with badgers skin, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with silk.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chain on thy neck.

12 And I put a jewel on thy forehead, and earrings in thine ears, and a beautiful crown upon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and silver, and the raiment was of fine linen, and silk, and bordered work: thou didst eat fine flower, and honey, and oil: and thou wast exceeding beautiful, and thou didst prosper into a kingdom.

14 And thy renown went forth among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my concupiscence which I had put upon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 But thou didst trust in thine own beauty, and playedst the harlot because of thy renown, and pouredst out thy fornications on every one that passed by: his it was.

16 And of thy garments thou didst take, and deckedst thy high places with divers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither shall it be so.

17 Thou hast also taken the fair jewels of my gold, and of my silver, which I had given thee, and madest to thyself images of men, and didst commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookest thy bordered garments, and coveredst them, and thou hast set mine oil, and mine incense before them.

19 By meat also which I gave thee, fine flour and oil, and honey wherewith I fed thee, thou hast even set it before them for a sweet savour: and thus it was, saith the Lord God.

Heb. a favour of, i.e.

22 And in all thine abominations, and thy whoredomes thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in the blood.

23 And it came to pass after all thy wickedness, (two, two unto thee, saith the Lord God)

Or, brotherly house.

24 That thou hast also built unto thee an eminent place, and hast made thee an high place in every street.

25 Thou hast built thy high place at every head of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred, and hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredomes.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, great of flesh, and hast increased thy whoredomes, to provoke me to anger.

27 Behold therefore, I have stretched out my hand over thee, and have diminished thine ordinary food, and delivered thee unto the will of them that hate thee, thy daughters of the Idollities, which are ashamed of thy lewd way.

Or, cities.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast unsatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication in the land of Canaan unto Galilee, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou dost all these things, the work of an imperious whores woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine eminent place in the head of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not been as an harlot (in that thou lookest hire)

Or, in thy daughters, i.e. thine, &c.

32 But as a wife that committeth adultery, which taketh strangers in stead of her husband.

33 They give gifts to all whoredomes, but thou givest thy gifts to all thy lovers, and I curse them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy whoredome.

Heb. whoredome.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy whoredomes, whereas none followeth thee to commit whoredomes: and in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 O whoredome, O harlot, hear the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy faithfulness was poured out, and thy nakedness discovered through thy whoredomes with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thy abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didst give unto them;

37 Behold therefore, I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will even gather them round about about against thee, and will discover thy nakednesse unto them, that they may see all thy nakednesse.

38 And I will judge thee, & as women that break wedlock, and shed blood, are judged, and I will give thee blood in turne and jealousie.

39 And I will also give thee into their hand, and they shall shew down thine eminent place, and shall break down thy high places: they shall strip thee also of thy clothes, and shall take & thy fair jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring up a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they shall burn thine houses with fire, and execute judgments upon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou also shalt give no hire any more.

42 So will I make my fury towards thee to rest, and my jealousie shall depart from thee, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast fretted me in all these things; behold therefore, I also will recompense thy way upon thine head, saith the Lord God, and thou shalt not commit thine wickednesse, above all thine abominations.

44 Behold, every one that useth proverbes, shall use this proverb against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art the mothers daughter, that loathest her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which loathest their husbands; and their children: your mother was an Adulteress, and your father an Adulterer.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, she and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand: and thy younger sister that dwelleth at thy right hand is Sodom and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as if that were a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I live, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, she nor her daughters, as thou hast done, thou and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters, neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore, and needy.

50 And they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away as I saw good.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed half of thy sinnes, but thou hast multiplied thine abominations more then they, and hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.

52 Thou also which hast judged thy sisters, bear thine own shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they: they are more righteous then thou: yea, be thou confounded also, and bear thy shame, in that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 When I shall bring again their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, and the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, then will I bring again the captivity of thy captives in the midst of them.

54 That thou mayest bear thine own shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou art a comfort unto them.

55 When thy sisters, Sodom and her daughters, shall return to their former estate, and Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former estate, then thou and thy daughters shall return to your former estate.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not mentioned by thy mouth in the day of thy pride.

57 Before thy wickednesse was discovered, as at the time of thy reproach of the daughters of Syria, and all that are round about her, the daughters of the Philistines which despite thee round about.

58 Thou hast & thine abominations, saith the Lord God, and thine abominations, saith the Lord God.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I will even deal with thee as thou hast done, which hast despised the oath in breaking the covenant.

60 Nevertheless, I will remember my covenant with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will establish unto thee an everlasting covenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receive thy sisters, thine elder and thy younger, and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not by thy covenant.

62 And I will establish my covenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord God.

63 That thou mayest remember and be confounded, and never open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame, when I am pacified towards thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Under the parable of two eagles and a vine, 21 is shewed Gods judgement upon Jerusalem for removing from Babylon to Egypt. 22 Gail promisseth to plant the cedar of the gospel.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a riddle, and speak a parable unto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, A great eagle with great wings, long winged, full of feathers, which had & adorned colour, came unto Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar:

4 He cropt off the top of his young twigs, and carried it into a land of traffique; he set it in a city of merchants.

5 He took also of the top of the land; and planted it in a fruitful field, he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it grew, and became a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: so it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and shot forth leaves.

7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did bend her roots towards him, and shot forth her branches toward him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soil by great waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a good vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper: shall he not pull up the roots thereof, & cut off the fruit thereof that it wither: it shall wither in all the leaves of her spring, even without great power, or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof.

10 Yea behold, being planted, shall it prosper: shall it not utterly wither, when the east wind 15 But he rebelled against him in sending his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might give him horses and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape that doth such things? or shall he break the covenant and be delivered?

16 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely in the place where the king dwelleth that made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant he brake, even with him, in the midst of Babylon he shall die.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company make for him in the warfare by casting up mounts, and building forts, so cut off many persons.

18 Seeing he despised the oath, by breaking the covenant (when lo, he had given his hand) & hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God. As I live, surely mine oath that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, even it will I recompense upon his own head.

CHAP. XIX.

1 A lamentation for the princes of Israel, under the parable of lions whelps taken in a pit: 10 and for Jerusalem, under the parable of a wasted vine.

Mocheb, take thou up a lamentation for the princes of Israel.

2 And say, What is thy mother? a lioness: she lay down among lions, she nourished her whelps among young lions.

3 And she brought up one of her whelps: it became a young lion, and it learned to catch the prey, it devoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him, he was taken in their pit, and they brought him with chains unto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when the saw that she had wasted, and her hope was lost, then she took another of her whelps, and made him a young lion.

6 And he went up and down among the lions, he became a young lion and learned to catch the prey, and devoured men.

7 And he knew his desolate palaces, and he laid waste their cities, and the land was desolate, and the fulness thereof by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on every side from the mountains, and spread their net over him: he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in ward in his chains, and brought him to the king of Babylon: they brought him into holds, that his voice should no more be heard upon the mountains of Israel.

10 ¶ Thy mother is like a vine in the blood, planted by the waters, she was fruitful and full of branches by reason of many waters.

11 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that bare rule, and her stature was exalted among the thick branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked up in fury, she was cast down to the ground, and her east window was open up her fruit: her strong rods were broken and withered, the fire consumed them.

13 And now she is planted in the wilderness, in a dry and chitric ground.

14 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath devoured her fruit, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

1 God refuseth to be consulted by the elders of Israel.

5 He sheweth the storie of their rebellion in Egypt, 10 in the wilderness, 27 and in the land. 33 He promisseth to gather them by the gospel. 45 Under the name of a forest he sheweth the destruction of Jerusalem.

And it came to passe in the seventh year, in the fifth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, that certain of the elders of Israel came to enquire of the Lord God, and sat before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord God unto me, saying,

3 Some of man, speak unto the elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, saith the Lord God, I will not be enquired of by you.

4 Wilt thou I? judge them, some of man, wilt thou judge them? canst thou know the abominations of their fathers?

5 ¶ And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lifted up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Jacob, and made my self known unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lifted up mine hand unto them, saying, I am the Lord God of your fathers,

6 In the day that I lifted up mine hand unto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had sworn for them, saying, I will make you a nation, and you shall be my people.

7 Then said I unto them, Cast ye away every man the abominations of his eyes, and desire not your selves with the idols of Egypt: I am the Lord God of your fathers.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not hearken unto me: they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt: then I said, I will pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I thought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, in whose sight I made my self known unto them, in bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt.

10 ¶ And therefore I caused them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

12 Moreover also, I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, so that I sanctified them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they hearkened not in my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; and my sabbaths they greatly polluted: then I said, I would pour out my fury upon them in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I wrought for my names sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet also I lifted up my hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands.

16 Because they despised my judgments, and walked not in my statutes, but polluted my sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.

17 Nevertheless, mine eye spared them from destroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderness.

18 But I said unto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in the statutes of your fathers, neither observe their judgments, nor desire your selves with their idols.

19 I am the Lord, so your God: walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them.

20 And I will give you sabbaths, and they shall be a sign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord, so your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, neither kept my judgments to do them, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; they polluted my sabbaths: then I said, I would pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless I withheld mine hand, and wrought for my names sake, that it should not be polluted in the sight of the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 I lifted up mine hand unto them also in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries;

24 Because they had not executed my judgments, but had despised my statutes, and had polluted my sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idols.

25 Wherefore I gave them also statutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they should not live.

26 And I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they caused to pass through the fire all that opened the wombs, that I might make them desolate, to the end, that they might know that I am the Lord, so.

27 Therefore some of man, speak unto the house of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, so, Per in this your fathers have blasphemed me, in that they have committed a trespass against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they saw their high hills, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented the provocation of their offerings: there also they made their sweet salute, and poured out their drink-offerings.

29 When I said unto them, What is the high place wherunto ye go? and the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day.

30 Wherefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, so, Are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye whoredoms after their abominations?

31 For when ye offer your gifts, when ye make your selves to pass through the fire, ye pollute your selves with all your idols even unto this day: and shall I be enquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord God, so, I will not be enquired of by you.

32 And that which cometh into your minds, shall not be at all, that ye say, We will be as the heathen, as the families of the countries, to serve wood and stone.

33 As I live, saith the Lord God, so, surely with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out, will I rule over you.

34 And I will bring you out from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God, so.

37 And I will cause you to pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will purge out from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me: I will bring them forth out of the country where they sojourn, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord, so.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, so, Do ye, serve ye every one his idols, and hereafter also, if ye will not hearken unto me: but pollute ye my holy name no more with your gifts, and with your idols.

40 For in mine holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first-fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept you with your sweet savour, when I bring you out from the people, and will gather you out of the countries whereto ye have been scattered, and I will be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, so, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the country for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your ways, and all your doings, wherein ye have been desisted, and ye shall loath your selves in your own sight, for all your evils that ye have committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, so, when I have wrought with you for my names sake, not according to your wicked ways, nor according to your corrupt doings, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God, so.

45 Wherefore, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

46 Some of man, set thy face toward the south, and drop thy word toward the south, and prophecie against the forest of the south field:

47 And say to the forest of the south, heare the word of the Lord, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall devour every green tree in thee, and every dry tree: the flaming flame shall not be quenched, and all faces from the south to the north shall be burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see that I the Lord am to have kindled it: it shall not be quenched.

49 Then said I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Dost he not speak parables?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ezekiel prophesieth against Jerusalem with a signe of sighing. 8 The sharp and bright sword, 18 as against Jerusalem, 25 against the kingdom, 28 and against the Ammonites.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, let thy face toward Jerusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel.

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from thee the righteous & the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of his sheath against all flesh from the south to the north:

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord am have drawn forth my sword out of his sheath: it shall not return any more.

6 Sigh therefore, thou sonne of man, with the breaking of thy loynes; and with bitterneesse sigh before their eyes.

7 And it shall be, when they say unto thee, wherefore sighest thou? that thou shalt answer, For the tidings, because it cometh: and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble: and every spirit shall faint, and all knees shall be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be brought to passe, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Say, A sword, a sword is sharpened and also fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a soile slaughter: it is fourbished that it may glitter: should we then make mirth? it concerneth the rod of my sonne, as every tree.

11 And he hath given it to be fourbished, that it may be handled: the sword is sharpened, and it is fourbished to give it into the hand of the slayer.

12 Cry and howl, sonne of man, for it shall be upon my people, it shall be upon all the princes of Israel, stirrours, by reason of the sword, shall be upon my people: * finite therefore upon thy thigh.

13 ¶ Because it is a trial, and what if the sword continue even the rod: it shall be no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie and smite thine * handes together, and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the slain, which entereth into their privy chambers.

15 I have set the point of the sword against all these gates, that their heart may faint, and the remembrance be multiplied: ah, it is made bright, it is * brought up for the slaughter.

16 Whether one way or other, either on the right hand, * or on the left, whethersoever thy face is set.

17 I will also finite mine hands together: and I will cause my fury to rest, I the Lord am have said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sword of the king of Babylon may come: both twain shall come forth out of one land, and chooseth thou a place, chooseth it at the head of the way to the city.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Judah in Jerusalem the defenced.

21 For the king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, to use divination: he made his arrows bright, he consulted with jugglers, he looked in the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem to appoint * captains, to open the mouth in the slaughter: so lift up the voice with shouting, to appoint battering rammes against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fort.

23 And it shall be unto them as a false divination in their sight, to them that have sworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity, that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye have made your iniquity to be remembered in that your transgressions are discovered, so that in all your doings, your sinnes do appeare: because I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 ¶ And thou prophane wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end.

26 Thus saith the Lord God, Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this shall not be the same, exalt him that is low, and abase him that is high.

27 I will overturn, overturn, overturn it: and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is, and I will give it him.

28 And thou sonne of man, prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord God concerning the Ammonites, and concerning their reproach: even say thou, The sword, the sword is drawn, for the slaughter it is fourbished, to consume because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they be dainty unto thee, whiles they divine a lie unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

30 I shall I cause it to return into his sheath: I will judge thee in the place where thou wast created, in the land of the natives.

31 And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee, I will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and will deliver thee into the hand of my just men, and shall kill to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be for fuel to the fire: thy blood shall be in the midst of the land, thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord am have spoken it.

2 Thou thou sonne of man, * telle thou Iudge. telle thou Iudge the * bloudy city: yea thou shalt
 * shew her all her abominations.

3 When thou shalt say the Lord God so.
 The city * Heweth bloud in the midst of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against her self to defile her self.

4 Thou art become guilty in thy bloud that thou hast * shed, and hast defiled thy self in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou shalt cause thy dayes to draw neare, and art come even unto thy yeares: therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be neare, and those that be farre from thee, shall mock thee, which are infamous, and much vered.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel, every one were in thee to their * power to shed bloud.

7 In thee have they set light by father and mother: in the midst of thee have they dealt by * oppression with the stranger: in thee have they been the fatherless and the widows.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast profaned my sabbaths.

9 In thee are * men that carry tales to shed bloud: and in thee they eat upon the mountains:
 in the midst of thee they commit lewdness.

10 In thee have they * discovered their sa-thers nakedness: in thee have they humbled her that was * set apart for pollution.

11 And I one hath committed abomination with his neighbours * wife, and I another hath ther in thee hath humbled his sister, his fathers daughter.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to shed bloud: thou hast taken mury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God so.

13 * Behold therefore I have * smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain, which thou hast made, and at thy bloud which hath been in the midst of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong in the dayes that I shall deal with thee?
 I the Lord so have spoken it, and will do it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and will consume thy filthiness out of thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy self in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord so.

17 And the word of the Lord so came unto me, saying,

18 Some of man, the house of Israel is to me become droffe, all they are brass, and stone, and iron, and lead in the midst of the furnace, they are even the * droffe of silver.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God so. Because ye are all become droffe, therefore I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem.

20 * As they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tinne into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it: so will I gather you in mine anger, and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you.

21 Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye shall be melted in the midst thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord so have poured out my fury upon you.

23 * And the word of the Lord so came unto me, saying,

24 Some of man, say unto her, Thou art the land that is not cleansed, nor rained upon in the day of indignation.

25 There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the midst thereof like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured souls: they have taken the treasure and precious things: they have made her many widows in the midst thereof.

26 Her priests have * violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they showed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her * princes in the midst thereof are like wolves ravining the prey, to shed bloud, and to destroy souls: to get dishonest gain.

28 And her prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, seeing vanity, and devising lies unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God so, when the Lord so hath not spoken.

29 The people of the land have used * opposition, and excelled robbery, and have hated the poor and needy: yea, they have oppressed the stranger * wrongfully.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land that I should not destroy it: but I found none.

31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them, I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I recompensed upon their heads, saith the Lord God so.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The whoredomes of Aholah and Aholibah. 23 Aholah libah is to be plagued by her lovers. 36 The prophetess reproveh the adulteries of them both, 45 and sheweth their judgement.

The word of the Lord so came again unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, there were two women the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed whoredomes in Egypt:
 they committed whoredomes in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they builded the tents of their virginity.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Jerusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot when she was mine, and she doted on her lovers, on the Assyrians her neighbours.

6 Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them desirable young men, horse-men riding upon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoredomes with them, with all them that were * the chosen men of Assyria, and with all on whom she doted, with all their tools she defiled her self.

8 Neither left she her whoredomes brought from Egypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they builded the bras of her virginity, and poured their whoredome upon her.

9 Therefore I have delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the * Assyrians, upon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her nakedness, they took her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the Moors: and she became famous among women, for they had created judgement upon her.

11 And when her sister Abolihah saw this, she was more corrupt in her inordinate love then she, and in her whoresomeness more then her sister in her whoresomeness.

12 She doted upon the Egyptians her neighbours, captains and rulers clothed most gorgeously, holmen riding upon horses, all of them desirable young men.

13 Then I said that she was desirous, that they took both one way.

14 And that the increased her whoresomeness: for when the sato men pourtrayed upon the wall, the images of the Caldreans pourtrayed with vermilion.

15 Given with grates upon their loynes, exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them pined to look to, after the manner of the Babylonians of Caldea; the land of their nativity.

16 And I assoon as she saw them with her eyes, she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them into Caldea.

17 And the Babylonians came to her into the den of love, and they defiled her with their whoresomeness, and she was polluted with them, and her minde was alienated from them.

18 So she discovered her whoresomeness, and discovered her nakedness, then my minde was alienated from her like as my minde was alienated from her sister.

19 Per she multiplied her whoresomeness, in calling to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted upon their paramours, whose flesh is as the flesh of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thus thou calledst to remembrance the lewdness of thy youth, in husling thy teats by the Egyptians, for the paps of thy youth.

22 Therefore, O Aboliah, thus saith the Lord God. Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thy minde is alienated, and I will bring them against thee on every side.

23 The Babylonians, and all the Caldreans, Dekon, and Shon, and Hos, and all the Egyptians with them: all of them desirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding upon horses.

24 And they shall come against thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an assembly of people which shall see against thee buckler, and shield, and helmet round about: and I will see judgement before them, and they shall judge thee according to their judgments.

25 And I will see my jealousy against thee, and they shall deal furiously with thee: they shall take away thy nose, and thine ears, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall take thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be devoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fair jewels.

27 Thus will I make thy lewdness to cease from thee, and thy whoresomeness brought from the land of Egypt: that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them whom thou hatest, into the hand of them from whom thy minde is alienated.

29 And they shall deal with thee basefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leave thee naked and bare, and the nakedness of thy whoresomeness shall be discovered, both thy lewdness and thy whoresomeness.

30 I will do these things unto thee, because thou hast gone a whooring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister, therefore will I give her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drink of the sitters cup deep and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision; it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drink it and suck it out, and thou shalt break the shards thereof, and pluck off thine own breasts: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and hast made thine back, therefore bear thou also thy lewdness, and thy whoresomeness.

36 The Lord said moreover unto me, Some of man, tell thou I judge Aboliah and Abolihah? yea, declare unto them their abominations.

37 That they have committed adulterie, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adulterie, and have also caused their sonnes whom they bare unto me, to passe for them through the fire to devour them.

38 Moreover, this they have done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and have profaned my sabbaths.

39 For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it, and lo, thus have they done in the midst of mine house.

40 And furthermore, that ye have sent for men to come from sack, unto whom a messenger was sent, and lo, they came, for whom thou didst wash thy self, paintedst thy eyes, and deckedst thy self with ornaments.

41 And sated upon a stately bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyl.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease was with her, and with the men of the common sort were brought Sabeans from the wilderness, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.

43 Then said I unto her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit whoresomeness with her, and she with them?

44 Per they went in unto her, as they go in unto a woman that playeth the harlot: so went they in unto her, and unto Aboliah the lewd woman.

45 And the righteous men, thus shall I judge them after the manner of adulterers, and after the manner of women that shed blood, because they are adulterers, and blood is in their hands.

46 For thus saith the Lord God, I will bring up a company upon them, and will give them to be removed and spoiled.

47 And the company shall stone them with stones, and dispatch them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause lewdness to cease out of CHAP. XXIII.

Under the parable of a boyling pot, 6 is shewed the irrevocable destruction of Jerusalem. 15 By the signe of Ezekiel not mourning for the death of his wife, 19 is shewed the calamitie of the Jews to be beyond all sorrow.

Again in the ninth yeare, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

1 Some of man, sitte thee the name of the day, even of this same day: the king of Babylon set himself against Jerusalem this same day.

3 And utter a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Set on a pot, let it on, and also pounce water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh and the shoulder, fill it with the choice bones.

5 Take the choice of the flock, and burn also the bones under it, and make it boyl well, and let him seeth the bones of it therein.

6 And herefore thus saith the Lord God, Woe to the bloudie cite, to the pot whose scumme is therein, and whose scumme is not gone out of it: being it out piece by piece, let no loc fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midst of her, she let it upon the top of a rock, she poured it not upon the ground to cover it with dust.

8 That it might cause fury to come up to take vengeance: I have set her blood upon the top of a rock, that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Woe to the bloudie cite, I will even make the pile for fire great.

10 Heap on wood, kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and spice it well, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then let it emptie upon the coals thereof, that the haffe of it may be hot, and may burn, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, that the scumme of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her self with lies, and her great scumme went not forth out of her: her scumme shall be in the fire.

13 In the filthinesse is lewennes: because I have purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse any more, till I have caused my fury to rest upon thee.

14 If the Lord have spoken, it shall come to passe, and I will do it, I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent, according to thy wayes, and according to thy doings shall they judge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 And also the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

16 Some of man, behold, I take away from thee the desire of thine eyes with a stroke: yet neither shalt thou mourn nor weep, neither shall thy teares run down.

17 Forbear to cry, make no mourning for the dead, bime the tire of thine head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the mourning, and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what these things are to us, that thou dost so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 21 Speak unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will profane my sanctuary, the excellencie of your strength, the besse of your eyes, and that which your soul pitieth; and your sonnes and your daughters whom ye have left shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I have done: ye shall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men.

23 And your tires shall be upon your heads, and your shoes upon your feet: ye shall not mourn nor weep, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourn one towards another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a signe: according to all that he hath done shall ye do; and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their strength, the joy of their glory, the besse of their eyes, and that whereupon they set their minde, their sonnes and their daughters;

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come unto thee, to cause thee to feare it with thine rare.

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speak and be no more dumb, and thou shalt be a signe unto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Gods vengeance for their insolencie against the Jews, upon the Ammonites, 8 upon Moab and Seir, 12 upon Edom, 15 and upon the Philistines.

The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, let thy face be against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them: Jer. 49. 1 & 2

3 And say unto the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidst, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate; and against the house of Judah, when they went into captivity;

4 Behold therefore, I will deliver thee to the men of the east for a possession, and thy shall be their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drink thy milk. Heb. children.

5 And I will make Rabbah a stable for camels, and the Ammonites a couching place for flocks: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped thine hands and stamped with thy feet, and rejoiced in thine heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel;

7 Behold therefore, I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee for a spoil to the heathen, and I will cut thee off from the people, and I will cause thee to perish out of the countreys: I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord God. 8 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that I have said, Behold, the house of Judah is like unto all the heathen:

9 Therefore behold, I will open the fane of Idoth from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriat-haim.

10 Unto the men of the east I will give the Ammonites, and will give them in possession, that the Ammonites may not be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute judgments upon Idoth, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Idoth hath dealt against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and hath greatly offended, and rebegged himself upon them;

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand upon Idoth, and will cut off man and beast from it, and I will make it desolate from Teman; and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Idoth by the hand of my people Arab, and they shall be in Idoth according to mine anger, and according to my fury, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistines have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with a desperate heart, to destroy it for the old hatred;

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand upon the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the great sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

¶ Tyrus for insulting against Jerusalem, is threatened. 7 The power of Nebuchadnezzar against her, 15 The mourning and astonishment of the sea, at her fall.

And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, Because that Tyrus hath said against Jerusalem, She is broken that was the gates of the people, she is turned unto me, I shall be repented: now she is laid waste;

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, O Tyrus, and will cause many nations to come up against thee, as the sea causeth his waves to come up.

4 And they shall destroy the walls of Tyrus, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rock.

5 It shall be a place for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall become a spoil to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field shall be slain by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 ¶ For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, a king of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and companies, and much people.

8 He shall lay with the sword the daughters in the field, and he shall make a spoil against thee, and I cast a mount against thee, and lift up the buckler against thee.

9 And he shall set engines of war against thy walls, and with his axes he shall break down thy towers.

10 By reason of the abundance of his horses, their dust shall cover thee, thy walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates, as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach.

11 With the books of his horses shall he tread down all thy streets: he shall lay thy people by the sword, and thy strong garisons shall go down to the ground.

12 And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandise, they shall break down thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall lay thy floors, and thy timber, and thy dust in the midst of the water.

13 ¶ And I will cause the noise of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thy harp shall be no more heard.

14 And I will make thee like the top of a rock: they shall be a place to spread nets upon: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord God have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the Isles shake at the sound of the fall, when the land shall be, when the slaughter is made in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, and lay away their robes, and put off their bordered garments: they shall clothe themselves with trembling, they shall lie upon the ground, and shall tremble at every moment, and be astonished at thee.

17 And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed that wast inhabited of sea-faring men, the renowned city which wast strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which cause their terror to be on all that haunt it?

18 How shall the Isles tremble in the day of thy fall, yea, the Isles that are in the sea shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, when I shall bring up the deep upon thee, and great waters shall cover thee;

20 When I shall bring thee down, with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, in places desolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that thou be not inhabited, and I shall set glory in the land of the living:

21 I will make thee a terror, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord God.

of the wilderness, and they shall desire thy beauty.

8 They shall bring thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them that are slain in the midst of the seas.

9 Wilt thou yet lay before him that slayeth thee, I am God? but thou shalt be a man and no God in the hand of him that I slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the uncircumcised, by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Therefore, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Some of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest up the summe full of wisdoms and perfect in beauty.

13 Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sapphire, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the alper, the sappire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy carvers and of thy pipes was prepared in thee, in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth: and I have set thee so; thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty: thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffick; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee, and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt thou be any more.

20 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Some of man, let thy face against Zion, and prophesie against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, O Zion, and I will be glorified in the midst of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord God, when I shall have executed judgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her, pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the wounded shall be judged in the midst of her by the sword upon her on every side; and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

24 And there shall be no more a pricking thier unto the house of Israel, nor any grieving thoin of all that are round about them that despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people among whom they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in their land, that I have given to my servant Jacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell with confidence when I have executed judgements upon all those that despise them round about them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The judgement of Pharaoh, for his breachery to Israel.
2 The desolation of Egypt. 13 The reparation thereof of, after forty years. 17 Egypt the reward of Nebuchadnezzar. 28 Israel shall be restored.

1 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, let thy face against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speak and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midst of his rivers, which hath said, My river is mine own, and I have made it for my self.

4 But I will put hooks in thy chins, and I will cause the fish of thy rivers to stick unto thy scales, and I will bring thee up out of the midst of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall stick unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee thrown into the wilderness, thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the open fields, thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the fowls of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord God, because they have been a snare of rest to the house of Israel.

7 When they took hold of thee by thy hands, thou didst break, and rent all thy shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou wast, and madest all their loins to be at a band.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and cut off man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord, because he hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold therefore, I am against thee, and against thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from the tower of Egypt even unto the border of Ethiopia.

11 No foot of man shall pass through it, nor foot of beast shall pass through it, neither shall it be inhabited forty years.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, & her cities among the cities that are laid waste, shall be desolate forty years: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people whither they were scattered.

14 And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and will cause them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a base kingdome.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, which bringeth their iniquity to remembrance, when they shall look after them: but they shall know that I am the Lord God.

17 And it came to pass in the seven and twentieth year, in the first month, in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to serve a great service against Tyre: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army for Tyre, for the service that he had served against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take her multitude, and I take her spoil and take her prey, and it shall be the wages for his army.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour: where with he served against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horn of the house of Israel to bud forth, and I will give thee the opening of the mouth in the midst of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The delolation of Egypt, and her helpers. 20 The arm of Babylon shall be strengthened to break the arm of Egypt.

The word of the Lord came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Woe be unto the day.

3 For the day is near, even the day of the Lord is near, a cloudy day, it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt, and great pain shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, and they shall take away her multitude, and her foundations shall be broken down.

5 Ethiopia, and Libya, and Lydia, and all the mingled people, and Chub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord God, They also that uphold Egypt shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come down: from the tower of Syene shall they fall in it by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord God, when I have set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the careless Ethiopians afraid, and great pain shall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for so, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

11 He and his people with him, the terrible of the nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.

12 And I will make the rivers dry, and will the land into the hand of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and I will cut it off, I will cut it off by the hand of strangers: I the Lord have spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause their images to cease out of Egypt: and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will put a fear in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and will execute judgements in No.

15 And I will pour my fury upon Sin, the strength of Egypt, and I will cut off the multitude of No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt, Sin shall have great pain, and No shall be rent asunder, and Noth shall have distresses daily.

17 The young men of Iken and of Ikenbeseth, shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.

18 At Tahaphuch also the day shall be darkened, when I shall break there the poles of Egypt, and the pomp of her strength shall cease in her: for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

19 Thus will I execute judgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

20 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, in the seventh day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound up to be healed, to put a roller to bind it, to make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his arms, the strong, and that which was broken; and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my sword in his hand: but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he shall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man.

25 But I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down; and they shall know that I am the Lord God, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 A revelation unto Pharaoh, 3 of the glory of Assyria, 10 and the fall thereof for pride, 18 The like destruction of Egypt.

And it came to pass in the eleventh year in the third month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatness?

3 Behold, the Assyrian was a cedar in Lebanon with fair branches, and with a shadowing proud, and of an high stature, and his top was among the thick boughs.

him upon high with her rivers running round about his places, and first out her little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long because of the multitude of waters, when he shot forth.

6 All the fowls of heaven made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under his shadow dwelt all great nations.

7 Thus was he fair in his greatness, in the length of his branches: for his root was by great waters.

8 The cedars in the * garden of God could not hide him: the fire-trees were not like his boughs, and the chefnut-trees were not like his branches; not any tree in the garden of God was like unto him in his beauty.

9 I have made him fair by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast lifted up thy self in height, and hast shot up thy top among the thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his height;

11 I have therefore delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen: he shall surely deal with him, I have given him out for his wickedness.

12 And strangers, the terrible of the nations have cut him off, and have left him: upon the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land, and all the people of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.

13 Upon his ruins shall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon his branches.

14 To the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves for their height, neither shoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither trees stand up in their height, all that drink water: for they are all delivered unto death to the nether parts of the earth in the midst of the children of men, with them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went down to the grave, I caused a mourning, I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed; and I caused Lebanon to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted for him.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to hell with them that descend into the pit: and all the trees of Eden, the choice and best of Lebanon, all that drink water, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went down into hell with him, unto them that be slain by the sword, and they that were his arm that dwell under his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 ¶ To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? yet shalt thou be brought down with the trees of Eden unto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt lie in the midst of the uncircumcised, with them that be slain by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

I A lamentation for the fearful fall of Egypt. II The sword of Babylon shall destroy it. 17 It shall be brought down to hell among all the uncircumcised nations.

And it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say unto him, Thou art like a young lion of the nations, and thou art as a whale in the seas: and thou camest forth with thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and thou wast like the rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore * spread out my net over thee, with a company of many people, and they shall bring thee up in my net.

4 Then wilt I leave thee upon the land, I will cast thee forth upon the open field, and will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill the beasts of the whole earth with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thy height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimmest, even to the mountains; and the rivers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark: I will cover the sunne with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.

8 All the bright lights of heaven will I make dark over thee, and set darkness upon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also utter the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, into the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for thee, when I shall punish my sword before them, and they shall tremble at every moment; every man for his own life, in the day of thy fall.

11 ¶ For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall, the terrible of the nations all of them; and they shall spoil the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be destroyed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from besides the great waters, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country shall be a desolitude of that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord God.

16 This is the lamentation wherewith they shall lament her, the daughters of the nations shall lament her, they shall lament for her, even for Egypt and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ It came to pass also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Some of men shall fall for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, unto the nether parts of the earth with them that go down into the pit.

19 When dost thou pass in haunts? go down, and be thou laid with the uncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the midst of them that are slain by the sword: she is delivered to the sword, draw her and all her multitudes.

21 The strong among the mighty shall speak to him out of the midst of hell, saying, they that help him: they are gone down, they lie uncircumcised, slain by the sword.

22 As for is there and all her company: his graves are about him: all of them slain, fallen by the sword.

23 Without graves are set in the sides of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which caused terror in the land of the living.

24 There is slain and all her multitude round about her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which are gone down uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused their error in the land of the living, yet have they born their shame with them that go down to the pit.

25 They have set her a bed in the midst of the slain with all her multitude: her graves are round about him, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword: though their terror was caused in the land of the living, yet have they born their shame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the midst of them that be slain.

26 There is Shechem, Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, though they caused their terror in the land of the living.

27 And they shall not lie with the mighty, that are fallen of the uncircumcised, which are gone down to hell: with their weapons of war: and they have laid their swords under their heads, but their iniquities shall be upon their bones, though they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 Pra, thou shalt be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and shalt lie with them that are slain with the sword.

29 There is Edom, her kings and all her princes, which with their might are slain by them that were slain by the sword: they shall lie with the uncircumcised, and with them that go down to the pit.

30 There be the princes of the north all of them, and all the Sionians, which are gone down with the slain, with their terror: they are ashamed of their might, and they lie uncircumcised with them that be slain by the sword, and bear their shame with them that go down to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, & shall be comforted over all his multitude, even Pharaoh & all his army slain by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I have caused my terror in the land of the living: and he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised with them that are slain with the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 According to the duty of a watchman, in warning the people, 7 Ezekiel is admonished of his duty.

10 God sheweth the justice of his way towards the penitent, and towards rebels. 17 He maintaineth his justice. 21 Upon the news of the taking of Jerusalem, he propheseth the desolation of the land. 30 Gods judgement upon the mockers of the prophets.

Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, I have said the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their watchman.

3 If when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;

4 Then whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

5 He heard the sound of the trumpet, and took not warning, his blood shall be upon him: but he that taketh warning, shall deliver his soul.

6 But if the watchmen see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Israel, therefore thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me.

8 When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it: if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity, but thou shalt deliver thy soul.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speak unto the house of Israel, thus ye speak, saying, If our transgressions and our sinnes be upon us, & we pine away in them, how should we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way, and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; why will ye die, O house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say unto the children of thy people, O righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickednesse of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickednesse, neither shall he righteous be able to live for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say to the righteous, that he shall surely live: if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity; all his righteousness shall not be remembered, but for his iniquity that he hath committed he shall die for it.

14 Again, when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die: if he turn from his sinne, and do that which is lawful and right;

15 If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of justice without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed shall be mentioned unto him: he hath done that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live.

17 ¶ Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity; he shall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turn from his wickednesse, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

20 ¶ Yet ye say, * The way of the Lord is not equal: O ye house of Israel, I will judge you every one after his ways.

21 ¶ And it came to pass in the thirtieth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came unto me, saying, * The city is laid waste.

22 Now the hand of the Lord was upon me in the evening, afore he that was escaped came, and had opened my mouth until he came to me in the morning, and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb.

23 When the word of the Lord was come unto me, saying,

24 Some of man, they that inhabit those wastes of the land of Israel, shall say, saying, Abraham was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many, the land is given us for inheritance.

25 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood; and shall ye possess the land?

26 Ye stand upon your sword, ye work abomination, and ye defile every one his neighbours wife, and shall ye possess the land?

27 Say thou thus unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I live, surely they that are in the wastes shall fall by the sword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beasts to be devoured: and they that be in the foyes and in the caves, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land most desolate, and the power of her strength shall cease: and the mountains of Israel shall be desolate, that none shall pass through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord God, when I have laid the land most desolate, because of all their abominations which they have committed.

30 Also thou some of man, the children of the people still are talking against thee by the walls, and in the doores of the houses, and speak one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that cometh forth from the Lord God.

31 And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they speak much love, but their heart is set against thee, and they will not do them.

32 And so, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not.

33 And when this cometh to pass (so it will come) then shall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 A reproof of the shepherds. 7 Gods judgements against them. 11 His providence for his flock. 20 The kingdom of Christ.

And the word of the Lord was come unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophete against the shepherds of Israel, prophete and say unto them; Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds, Who be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flocks?

3 Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock.

4 The diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost; but with force and with cruelty have ye ruled them.

5 And the flock was scattered, because there is no shepherd: and they became meat to all the beasts of the field, when they were scattered.

6 And sheep wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered upon all the face of the earth, and none did search or seek after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherds, hear the word of the Lord God.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my flock, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my flock:

9 Therefore, O ye shepherds, hear the word of the Lord God.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will require my flock at their hand, & cause them to cease from feeding the flock, neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more; for I will deliver my flock from their mouth, that they may not be meat for them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out.

12 As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all places, where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall they fold: neither shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel.

15 I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, & will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick: but I will destroy the fat and the strong, I will feed them with judgement.

17 And as for you, O my flock, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I judge between cattle and cattell, between the rammes and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing unto you, to have eaten up the good pasture, but ye must tread down with your feet the residue of your pasture, and to have drunk of the deep waters, but ye must foul the residue with your feet?

19 And as for my flock, they eat that which ye have trodden with your feet; and they drink that which ye have fouled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God unto them, Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat cattell, and between the lean cattell.

21 Because ye have thrust with shew and with shoulder, and push all the diseased with your horns, till ye have scattered them abroad.

22 Therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey, and I will judge between cattell and cattell.

23 And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant David; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my servant David shall be a prince among them, I the Lord will have spoken it.

26 And I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in his season: there shall be showers of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall yield her fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I have broken the bands of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hand of those that served themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be a prey to the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land devour them; but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise up for them a plant of renown, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the shame of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they know that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The judgments of mount Seir, for their hatred of Israel.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it.

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee a most desolate.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord God.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast slain the blood of the children of Israel, by the sword, in the time of their calamitie, in the time that their iniquities had an end:

6 Therefore, as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: thou shalt not have blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir a most desolate, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountains with his slain men: in thy hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall that are slain with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not return, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess it; I, whereas the Lord God was there:

11 Therefore, as I live, saith the Lord God, I will even do according to thine anger, and according to thine envy which thou hast used out of thy hatred against them: and I will make myself known amongst them, when I have judged thee.

12 And thou shalt know that I am the Lord God, and that I have heard all thy blas-phemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They are laid desolate, they are given us to consume.

13 Thus saith your mouth ye have boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Thumae, even all of it, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The land of Israel is comforted, both by destruction of the heathen, who spitefully used it, 8. and by the blessing of God promised unto it. 16 Israel was rejected for their sinne, 21. and shall be restored without their desert. 25 The blessing of Christs kingdom.

Also thou some of man, prophesie unto the mountains of Israel, and say, Ye mountains of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy had said against you, Aha, then the ancient high places are ours in possession:

3 Therefore prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord God, I Because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people:

4 Therefore ye mountains of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes, and to the cities that are forsaken, which became a prey and derision to the residue of the heathen: shall ye be round about:

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the first of my jealousie have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Thumae, which have appointed my land unto their possession, with the joy of all their heart, with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophezie therefore concerning the land of Israel, and say unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I have broken in my jealousie and in my fury, because ye have done the shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I have lifted up mine hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they shall bear their shame.

8 But ye, O mountains of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, and ye shall grow: ye shall shoot forth your fruit, and ye shall be fruitful to my people of Israel, for they are at hand to come.

9 For behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto you, and ye shall be blessed and sown.

10 And I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Israel, even all of it, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the wastes shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring forth, and I will settle you after your old estates, and will do better unto you then at your beginnings, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walk upon you, even my people Israel, & they shall possess thee, and thou shalt be their inheritance, and thou shalt no more henceforth breake them off men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say unto you, Thou land desolate up men, and hath derided thy nations;

14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither shalt thou deride any more, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to dwell in thee the name of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou bear the reproach of the people any more, neither shalt thou cause thy nations to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 And therefore, the word of the Lord came unto me saying,

17 Some of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, they desired it by their own way, and by their doings; their way was before me as the uncleanness of a removed woman.

18 And therefore I poured my fury upon them for the blood that they had shed upon the land, and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries; according to their way and according to their doings I judged them.

20 And when they entered unto the heathen whither they went, they profaned my holy name, when they said to them, These are the people of the Lord God, and are gone forth out of his land.

21 But I had pitié for mine holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the heathen whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I do not think for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy names sake, which ye have profaned among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And, I will sanctifie my great name which was profaned among the heathen which ye have profaned in the midst of them, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you, before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 When will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all your idols will I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgements, and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also save you from all your uncleanness, and I will call for the corn, and will increase it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that ye shall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and shall loath your selves in your own sight, for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Not for your sakes do I this, saith the Lord God, be it known unto you, be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day that I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will also cause you to dwell in the cities, and the houses shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be filled, where as it lay desolate in the sight of all that passed by.

35 And they shall say, This land that was desolate is become like the garden of Eden; and the waste, and desolate, and ruined cities are become fenced, and are inhabited.

36 Then the branches that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord God have spoken it, and I will yet for this be glorified of by the house of Israel, to do it for them, I will increase them with men like a flock.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be glorified of by the house of Israel, to do it for them, I will increase them with men like a flock.

38 As the flock, as the flock of Jerusalem in her solemn feasts, so shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXVII.

I By the resurrection of dry bones, II the dead hope of Israel is restored: 13 By the raising of the dead, 18 is shown the incorporation of Israel into Judah. 20 The promise of Christ's kingdome.

THE hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the spirit of the Lord, and set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones,

2 And caused me to pass by them round about, and behold, there were very many in the open valley, and so, they were very dry.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said unto me, Prophesie upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus said the Lord God unto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live.

6 And I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you; and ye shall live, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied there was a noise, and behold a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinews and the flesh came up upon them, and the skin covered them above; but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he unto me, Prophesie unto the wind, prophesie, some of man, and say to the winds, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live.

10 So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, & they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

11 Then he said unto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel: behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is lost, we are cut off for our parts.

12 Therefore prophesie and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, 16 Moreover, thou son of man, take thee one stick, and write upon it, For Judah, and for the children of Israel his companions: then take another stick, and write upon it, For Joseph the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And join them one to another into one stick, and they shall become one in thine hand.

18 ¶ And when the children of thy people shall speak unto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew us what thou meanest by these?

19 Say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the stick of Joseph which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 ¶ And the sticks wherewith thou hasten, shall be in thine hand before their eyes.

21 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen together, they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land.

22 And I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel, and one king shall be king to them all, and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all.

23 Neither shall they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my servant shall be king over them; and they all shall have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my judgments, and observe my statutes, and do them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land that I have given unto Jacob my servant, wherein your fathers have dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they and their children, and their children's children for ever, and my servant David shall be their prince for ever.

26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them, it shall be an everlasting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary in the midst of them for evermore.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them; yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 And the heathen shall know that I the Lord do sanctify Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them for evermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 The army, and malice of Gog, 14 Gods judgement against him.

¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, let thy face against Gog, the land of Magog, I the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, O Gog the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will turn thee back, & will put hooks into thy jaws, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine army, houses, and holdens, all of them clothed with all sorts of armour, even a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords.

5 Persia, Ethiopia, and Libya with them; all of them with shields and helmets.

6 Bowmen, and all his bands, the bowmen of Garmath of the north quarters, & all his bands, and many people with thee.

7 Be thou prepared, and prepare for thyself, thou and all thy company that are assembled unto thee, and be thou a guard unto them.

8 ¶ After many days thou shalt be visited in the latter years thou shalt come into the land that is brought back from the sword, and to be gathered out of many people against the mountains of Israel, which have been always waste: but it is brought forth out of the nations, and they shall dwell safely all of them.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come like a storm, thou shalt be like a cloud to cover the land, thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall also come to pass, that at the same time shall things come into mine hand, and thou shalt think an evil thought.

11 And thou shalt say, I will go up to the land of unwalled villages, I will go to them that are at rest, that dwell safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates.

12 ¶ To take a spoil, and to take a prey, to turn their hand upon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattle and goods, that dwell in the midst of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the young lions thereof, shall say unto thee, Art thou come to take a spoil? hast thou gathered thy company to take a prey? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to take a great spoil?

14 ¶ Therefore, some of man, prophesy and say unto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwell safely, shall thou not know it?

15 And thou shalt come from thy place out of the north parts, thou and many people with thee, all of them riding upon horses, a great company, and a mighty army.

16 And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel, as a cloud to cover the land: it shall be in the latter days, and I will bring thee against my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art thou he of whom I have spoken in old times by my servants the prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those days many years, that I would bring thee against them?

18 And it shall come to pass at the same time, when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, that my fury shall come up in my face.

19 For in my jealousy, and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken: surely in that day there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the field, and all creeping things that creep upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the face of the earth, shall shake at my presence, and the mountains shall be removed.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Gods judgement upon Gog & Israels victory. 11 Gogs buriall in Hamon-gog. 17 The feast of the fowls. 23 Israel having been plagued for their sinnes, shall be gathered againe with eternal favour.

Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord G^d;, Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will turn thee back, and I leave but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the north parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Israel:

3 And I will smite thee both out of thy left hand, and will cause thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, thou and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: I will give thee unto the ravenous birds of every fowl, and to the beasts of the field: & thou shalt be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the open fields, for I have spoken it, saith the Lord G^d;;

6 And I will lend a fire on Bagad, & among them that dwell carelessly in the hills, and they shall know that I am the Lord G^d;;

7 So will I make my holy name known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not let them pollute my holy name any more; and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord G^d;; the holy one in Israel.

8 ¶ Behold it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord G^d;; this is the day whereof I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall go forth, and shall set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and the dunclees, the bows and the arrows, and the hand-staves and the spears, and they shall burn them with fire seven years.

10 So that they shall take no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burn the weapons with fire, and they shall spoil those that spoiled them, and rob those that robbed them, saith the Lord G^d;;

11 ¶ And it shall come to passe at that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Israel, the valley of the passengers on the east of the sea: and it shall stop the noses of the passengers, and there shall they bury Gog, and all his multitude: and they shall call it, the valley of Hamon-gog.

12 And seven months shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea all the people of the land shall bury them, and it shall be to them a renown the day that I shall be glorified, saith the Lord G^d;;

14 And they shall stee out of men of continual employment, passing through the land to bury with the passengers those that remain upon the face of the earth to cleanse it: after the end of seven months shall they cease.

15 And the passengers that passe through the land, when any seeth a mans bone, then shall he set up a signe by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamon-gog.

16 And also the name of the cite shall be Hamonag: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 ¶ And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord G^d;; Speak I unto every feathered fowl, and to every beast of the field, Assemble your selves, and come, gather your selves on every side to my sacrifice that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice upon the mountains of Israel, that ye may eat flesh and drink blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the mighty, & drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rammes of lambs, and of goats, of bullocks, all of them fattings of Babylon.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you.

20 Thus ye shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord G^d;;

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my judgement that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid upon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall know that I am the Lord G^d;; their God from that day and forward.

23 ¶ And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquitie: because they trespassed against me, therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies; so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleanness, and according to their transgressions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord G^d;; Now will I bring againe the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy upon the whole house of Israel, and will be jealous for my holy name.

26 After that they have borne their shame, and all their trespasses whereby they have trespassed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and none made them afraid.

27 When I have brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands; and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations;

28 Then shall they know that I am the Lord G^d;; their God, & which caused them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have caused of gathered them unto their own land, and have left them, & none of them any more there.

29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have poured out my spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord G^d;;

day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was smitten, in the self-same day the hand of the Lord was upon me, and brought me thither.

Or, upon which.

2 In the visions of God brought he me into the land of Israel, and set me upon a very high mountain, || he brought me as the frame of a city on the south.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man, whose appearance was like the appearance of brass, with a line of flax in his hand, and a measuring reed; and he stood in the gate.

4 And the man said unto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and see thine heart upon all that I shall shew thee; for to the intent that I might shew them unto thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, to the house of Israel.

5 And behold, a wall on the outside of the house round about, and in the mans hand a measuring reed of six cubits long, by the cubit, and an hand-breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building, one reed, & the height one reed.

6 Then came he unto the gate which looked toward the east, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and between the little chambers were five cubits, and the threshold of the gate, by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within, one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits, and the posts thereof two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the little chambers of the gate eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side and on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the length of the gate thirteen cubits.

Heb. limits or bound.

12 The space also before the little chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side, and the little chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, doors against doors.

14 He made also posts, of threescore cubits, even unto the posts of the court round about the gate.

15 And from the face of the gate of the entrance, unto the face of the porch of the inner gate, were fifty cubits.

Heb. closed.

16 And there were narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and windows were round about || inward: and upon each post were palm-trees.

Or, galleries, or porches.

Or, within.

17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about: thirty chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates, was the lower pavement.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate, unto the forefront of the inner court || without, an hundred cubits eastward and northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the north, he measured the length thereof, and the breadth thereof.

Or, from without, Heb. whole face was.

21 And the little chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

Or, galleries or porches.

22 And their windows, and their arches, and their palm-trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked towards the east, & they went up unto it by seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court was over against the gate toward the north, and toward the east, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that he brought me toward the south, and behold a gate toward the south, and he measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windows; the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and it had palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side upon the posts thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the south, and he measured from gate to gate toward the south, an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me to the inner court by the south gate, and he measured the south gate according to these measures.

29 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

Heb. breadth

31 And the arches thereof were toward the inner court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof, and the going up to it had eight steps.

32 And he brought me into the inner court toward the east, & he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the outward court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 And he brought me to the north gate, and measured it according to these measures.

36 The little chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and the windows to it round about: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the inner court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And the chambers, and the entries thereof were by the posts of the gates, where they washed the burnt-offering.

39 ¶ And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to lay thereon the burnt-offering, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering.

40 And at the side without, as one goeth up to the entry of the north gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.

42 And the four tables were of beaten stone for the burnt-offering of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt-offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were books, an hand broad, fastened round about, and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.

44 ¶ And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate: and their prospect was toward the south, one at the side of the east gate, having the prospect toward the north.

45 And he said unto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, which come near to the Lord to minister unto him.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the north, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, which come near to the Lord to minister unto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, foursquare, and the altar that was before the house.

48 ¶ And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went up to it: and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

The measures, parts, chambers, and ornaments of the temple.

Afterward he brought me to the temple, and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the doorway was ten cubits, and the sides of the house were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side: and he measured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then went he inward, and measured the post of the doorway two cubits, and the doorway seven cubits, and the breadth of the doorway seven cubits.

4 So he measured the length thereof, twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits before the temple, and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After he measured the wall of the house, six cubits, and the breadth of every side-chamber four cubits round about the house on every side.

6 And the side-chambers were three, and one over another, and thirty in order, and they entered into the wall which was of the house for the side-chambers round about, that they might have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the house.

7 And there was an enlarging and a winding about still upward to the side-chambers, for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house was still upward, and so increased from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the height of the house round about; the foundations of the side-chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the side-chamber without, was five cubits, and that which was left, was the place of the side-chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the thicknesse of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.

11 And the doores of the side-chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the south, and the breadth of the place that was left, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place, at the end toward the west, was seventy cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits.

13 So he measured the house, an hundred cubits long, and the separate place, and the building with the walls thereof, an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the face of the house, and of the separate place toward the east, an hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building over against the separate place which was behind it, and the galleries thereof on the one side, and on the other side an hundred cubits with the inner temple, and the porches of the court.

16 The doorway, and the narrow windows, and the galleries round about on their three stories, over against the doorway, cleft with wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered.

17 So that above the doorway then unto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without, by 1 measure.

18 And it was made with cherubims and palm-trees, so that a palm-tree was between a cherub and a cherub, and every cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palm-tree on the one side, and the face of a young lion toward the palm-tree on the other side: it was made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doorway were cherubims and palm-trees made, and on the wall of the temple.

21 The posts of the temple were squared, and the face of the sanctuary the appearance of the one as the appearance of the other.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof, two cubits; and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof, were of wood: and he said unto me, This is the table that is before the Lord.

23 And the temple and the sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two leaves a piece, two turning leaves: two leaves for the one door, and two leaves for the other door.

25 And there were made on them, on the doores of the temple, cherubims and palm-trees, like as were made upon the walls: and there were thick planks upon the face of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windows and palm-trees on the one side and on the other side, on the sides of the porch and upon the side-chambers of the house, and thick planks.

C H A P. XLII.

1 The chambers for the priests, 13 The use thereof.
19 The measures of the outward court.

Then he brought me forth into the utter court, the way toward the north, and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the north.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.

3 Over against the twenty cubits, which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement which was for the utter court, was gallery against gallery in three stories.

4 And before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit, and their doors toward the north.

5 Now the upper chambers were shorter: for the galleries were higher than these, then the lower and then the middlemost of the building.

6 For they were in three stories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the building was straitened more than the lowest, and the middlemost from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the utter court on the fore-part of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits: and so before the temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And from under these chambers was the entry on the east side, as one goeth into them from the utter court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the east, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers, which were toward the north as long as they, and as broad as they, and all their goings out were both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south, was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one entereth into them.

13 ¶ Then said he unto me, The south chambers and the four chambers, which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, where the priests that approach unto the Lord shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sinne-offering, and the trespass-offering, for the place is holy.

14 When the priests enter therein, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall lay their garments, wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and shall approach to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate, whose prospect is toward the east, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the east side with the measuring reed, five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.

17 He measured the north side five hundred reeds, with a measuring reed round about.

18 He measured the south side five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed.

19 ¶ He turned about to the west side, and measured five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad, to make a separation between the Sanctuary and the profane place.

1 The returning of the glory of God into the temple. 7 The summe of Israel hindered Gods presence. 10 The prophet exhorteth them to repentance, and observation of the law of the house. 13 The measures, 18 and the ordinances of the altar.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that looked toward the east.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east: and his voice was like the noise of many waters, and the earth shined with his glory. * Chap. 1. 3

3 And it was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw even according to the vision that I saw: when I came to destroy the city: for when I and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: and I fell upon my face. * Chap. 1. 4

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the east. * Chap. 1. 5

5 So the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord was filled the house. * Chap. 1. 6

6 And I heard him speaking unto me out of the house, and he said unto me, Stand by me.

7 ¶ And he said unto me, Some of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel for ever, and my holy name shall the house of Israel no more defile, neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredoms, nor by the carcasses of their kings in their high places.

8 In their setting of their thresholds by my thresholds, and their posts by my posts, and the wall between me and them, they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that between me they have committed: wherefore I have concluded them in mine anger. * Chap. 1. 7

9 Now let them put away their whoredoms, and the carcasses of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell in the midst of them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou come of man, shew the house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities, and let them measure the pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the form of the house, and the fashion thereof, and the goings out thereof, and the comings in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the law of the house: upon the top of the mountain, the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy: behold, this is the law of the house.

13 ¶ And these are the measures of the altar after the cubits: the cubit is a cubit and an half, the breadth of the bottom shall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a spanne, and this shall be the higher place of the altar. * Chap. 1. 8

14 And from the bottom upon the ground, even to the lower settle, shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit, and from the lesser settle even to the greater settle shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit.

15 So † the altar shall be four cubits, and from † the altar and upward shall be four boies.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubits long, twelve broad, square in the four squares thereof.

17 And the settle shall be fourteen cubits long, and fourteen broad in the four squares thereof, and the border about it shall be half a cubit, and the bottom thereof shall be a cubit about, and the stairs shall look toward the east.

18 ¶ And he said unto me, Some of man, thus saith the Lord G^d ω , These are the ordinances of the altar, in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt-offerings thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the priests the Levites that be of the seed of Jacob which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord G^d ω , a young bullock for a sinne-offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the settle, and upon the border round about, thus shalt thou cleanse and purge it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sinne-offering and he shall burn it in the appointed place of the house without the sanctuary.

22 And on the second day thou shalt offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sinne-offering, and they shall cleanse the altar as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ramme out of the flock, without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord ω , and the priests shall cast salt upon them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt-offering unto the Lord ω .

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day a goat for a sinne-offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock, and a ramme out of the flock without blemish.

26 Seven dayes shall they purge the altar and purifie it, and they shall † consecrate themselves.

27 And when these dayes are expired, it shall be that upon the eighth day and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt-offerings upon the altar, and your peace-offerings; and I will accept you, saith the Lord G^d ω .

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 The east gate assigned onely to the prince. 4 The priests reprov'd for polluting of the sanctuary. 9 Idolaters incapable of the priests offices. 15 The sinners of Jacob are accepted thereto. 17 Ordinances for the priests.

Then he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward sanctuary which looketh toward the east, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord ω unto me, This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter in by it; because the Lord ω is the God of Israel hath entered in by it, therefore it shall be shut.

3 It is for the prince, the prince, he shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord ω ; he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me the way of the north gate before the house; and I looked and behold, the glory of the Lord ω is in the house of the Lord ω ; and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord ω said unto me, Some of man, † mark well, and hearken with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares all that I say unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord ω , and all the laws thereof, and mark well the entering in of the house, with every going forth of the sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord G^d ω , Ye house of Israel, let it suffice you of all your abominations.

7 In that ye have brought into my sanctuary † strangers uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary to pollute it, even my house, when ye offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 And ye have not kept the charge of mine holy things: but ye have let keepers of my charge in my sanctuary for your selves.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord G^d ω , No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh shall enter into my sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 And the Levites that are gone away farre from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray away from me after their idols, they shall even bear their iniquity.

11 Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, having charge at the gates of the house, and ministering to the house: they shall slay the burnt-offering, and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister unto them.

12 Because they ministered unto them before their idols, and † caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity; therefore have I lift up mine hand against them, saith the Lord G^d ω , and they shall bear their iniquity.

13 And they shall not come neare unto me to do the office of a priest unto me, nor to come neare to any of my holy things, in the most holy place: but they shall bear their shame, and their abominations which they have committed.

14 But I will make them keepers of the charge of the house for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 ¶ But the priests the Levites, the sinners of Jacob, that kept the charge of my sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neare to me to minister unto me, and they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord G^d ω .

16 They shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come neare to my table to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

17 ¶ And it shall come to pass, that when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wooll shall come upon them, whilst they minister in the gates of the inner court and within.

18 They shall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loins: they shall not gird themselves with any thing that causeth heat.

19 And when they go forth into the utter court, even into the utter court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they they shall put on other garments, and they shall not sanctify the people with their garments.

20 Neither shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, they shall only poll their heads.

21 Neither shall any priest drink wine, when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, or a ber that is put away: but they shall take maidens of the free of the house of Israel, or a widow that had a priest before.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.

24 And in controversy they shall stand in judgement, and they shall judge it according to my judgements: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall hallow my sabbaths.

25 And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves: but for father or for mother, or for sonne or for daughter, for brother, or for sister that hath had no husband, they may defile themselves.

26 And after he is cleansed, they shall reckon unto him seven days.

27 And in the day that he goeth into the sanctuary, unto the inner court to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer his sinne-offering, saith the Lord God.

28 And it shall be unto them for an inheritance; I am their inheritance: and ye shall give them no possession in Israel; I am their possession.

29 They shall eat the meat-offering, and the sinne-offering, and the trespass-offering, and every dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs.

30 And the first of all the first-fruits of all things, and every oblation of all of every sort of your oblations shall be the priests: ye shall also give unto the priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

31 The priest shall not eat of any thing that is dead of it self, or torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The portion of land for the sanctuary, 6 for the city, 7 and for the prince. 9 Ordinances for the prince.

Moreover, when ye shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord God, an holy portion of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twentieth thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be ten thousand: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, square round about, and sitre cubits round about, for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentieth thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the Lord God, and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the sanctuary.

5 And the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall also the Levites the ministers of the house have for themselves, for a possession for twenty chambers.

6 And ye shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other side of the oblation of the holy portion and of the possession of the city, before the oblation of the holy portion and before the possession of the city, from the west side west ward and from the east side eastward; and the length shall be over against one of the portions, from the west border unto the east border.

8 In the land shall be his possession in Israel, and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: remove violence and spoil, and execute judgement and justice, take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall have just balances, and a just ephah, and a just bath.

11 The ephah and the bath shall be of one measure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of an homer, and the ephah the tenth part of an homer: the measure thereof shall be after the homer.

12 And the shekel shall be twenty gerahes: twenty shekels, five and twenty shekels, fifteen shekels shall be your maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye shall give the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of oyl, the bath of oyl, ye shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the eph, which is an homer of ten baths, for ten baths are an homer.

15 And one lamb out of the flock, out of two hundred, out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat-offering, and for a burnt-offering, and for peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to give burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and drink-offerings, in the feasts, and in the new moons, and in the sabbaths, in all solemnities of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne-offering, and the meat-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month in the first day of the month, thou shalt take a young bullock without blemish, and cleanse the sanctuary.

19 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sinne-offering, and put it upon the posts of the house, and upon the four corners of the settle of the altar, and upon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so thou shalt do the seventh day of the month, for every one that erreth, and for him that is simple: so shall ye reconcile the house.

21 In the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month ye shall have the passover, a feast of seven dayes, unleavened bread shall be eaten.

22 And upon that day shall the prince prepare for himself, and for all the people of the land, a bullock for a sinne-offering.

23 And seven dayes of the feast he shall prepare a burnt-offering to the Lord, seven bullocks, and seven rammes without blemish daily the seven dayes, and a kid of the goats daily for a sinne-offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meat-offering of an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ramme, and an hin of oyl for an ephah.

25 In the seventh moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth shall he do the like in the feast of the seven dayes, according to the sinne-offering, according to the burnt-offering, and according to the meat-offering, and according to the oyl.

CHAP. XLVI.

I Ordinances for the prince in his worship, 9 and for the people. 16 An order for the princes inheritance. 19 The courts for boiling and baking.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court that looked toward the east, shall be shut the six working dayes: but on the sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his burnt-offering, and his peace-offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gates then he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut until the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the doore of this gate before the Lord, in the sabbaths, and in the new moons.

4 And the burnt-offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord in the sabbath-day, shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meat-offering shall be an ephah for a ramme, and the meat-offering for the lambs, as he shall be able to give, and an hin of oyl to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs, and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat-offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ramme, and for the lambs according as his hand shall attain unto, and an hin of oyl to an ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord, in the solemn feast, he that entereth in by the way of the north gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the south gate, and he that entereth by the way of the south gate, shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go forth over against it.

10 And the prince in the midst of them when they go in, shall go in; and when they go forth, shall go forth.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities, the meat-offering shall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ramme and to the lambs, as he is able to give, and an hin of oyl to an ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall prepare a voluntary burnt-offering, or peace-offerings, voluntarily unto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that looked toward the east, and he shall prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, as he did on the sabbath-day, then he shall go forth, and after his going forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily prepare a burnt-offering unto the Lord, of a lamb of the first year without blemish; thou shalt prepare it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat-offering for it every morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oyl, to temper with the fine flour; a meat-offering continually, by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meat-offering, and the oyl, every morning, for a continual burnt-offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift unto any of his sonnes, the inheritance thereof shall be his sonnes, it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the year of liberitie; after, it shall return to the prince: but his inheritance shall be his sonnes for them.

18 Moreover, the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance by oppression to thrust them out of their possession; but he shall give his sonnes inheritance out of his own possession: that my people be not scattered every man from his possession.

19 After, he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests, which looked toward the north: and behold, there was a place on the two sides westward.

20 Then said he unto me, This is the place where the priest shall boil the trespass-offering and the sinne-offering, where they shall bake the meat-offering: that they bear them not out into the outer court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the inner court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the courts and behold, in every corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts, joyined of fourtie cubits long, and thirtie broad: these four corners were of one measure.

23 And there was a new building round about in them, round about them court, and it was made with boiling places under the rows round about.

24 Then said he unto me, These are the places of them that boil where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifice of the people.

I The vision of the holy waters. 6 The vertue of them. 13 The borders of the land. 23 The division of it by lot.

Afterward he brought me again unto the doore of the house, and behold, waters issued out from under the threshold of the house eastward: for the fore-front of the house stood toward the east, and the waters came down from under from the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar.

2 Then thought he me out of the way of the gate northward, and led me about the way without unto the inner gate by the way that looked eastward, and behold, there ran out waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth east-ward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ankles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loyns.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, waters to swim in, a river that could not be passed over.

6 ¶ And he said unto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seen this? then he brought me and caused me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now when I had returned, behold, at the bank of the river were very many trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then said he unto me, These waters issue out toward the east country, and go down into the desert, and go into the sea: which being brought forth into the sea, the water shall be healed.

9 And it shall come to passe, that every thing that liveth, which moveth, whithersoever the rivers shall come, shall live: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be healed, and every thing shall live whither the river cometh.

10 And it shall come to passe, that the fishers shall stand upon it, from Engedi, even unto En-gelaim: they shall be a place to spread forth nets, their fish shall be according to their kinds as the fish of the great sea, exceeding many.

11 But the meere places thereof, and the marshes thereof, I shall not be healed, they shall be given to sale.

12 And by the river upon the bank thereof on this side and on that side, I shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issue out of the sanctuary, and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I have lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, and this land shall fall unto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the north side, from the great sea, the way of Hethlon, as men go to Zidon:

16 Hamath, Berobah, Shihah, which is between the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath: Hamath, Berobah, which is by the coast of Hamath.

17 And the border from the sea, shall be Hamath, the border of Damascus, and the north north-ward, and the border of Hamath: and this is the north side.

18 And the east side ye shall measure from Hamath, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, from the border unto the east sea: and this is the east side.

19 And the south side south-ward from Teman, even to the waters of Meribah in Kadesh, the river to the great sea: and this is the south side.

20 The west side also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this is the west side.

21 So shall you divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 ¶ And it shall come to passe, that ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that sojourn among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be unto you as born in the country among the children of Israel: they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.

23 And it shall come to passe, that in what tribe the stranger sojourneth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1, 23 The portions of the twelve tribes, 8 of the sanctuary, 15 of the citie and suburbs, 21 and of the prince, 30 The dimensions, and gates of the citie.

Now these are the names of the tribes, from the north end to the coast of the way of Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hamath, the border of Damascus north-ward, to the coast of Hamath (for these are his sides east and west) a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan, from the east side unto the west side a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Manasse.

5 And by the border of Manasse, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Judah.

8 ¶ And by the border of Judah, from the east side unto the west side, shall be the offering which they shall offer of silver and twenty thousand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the other parts, from the east side unto the west side, and the sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer unto the Lord, shall be of silver and twenty thousand in length, and of ten thousand in breadth.

10 And for them, even for the priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the north, five and twenty thousand in length, & toward the west ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east ten thousand in breadth, and toward the south five and twenty thousand in length, and the sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the midst thereof.

11 It shall be for the priests that are sanctified, of the houses of Sadoch, which have kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 And this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be unto them a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the priests, the Levites shall have five and twenty thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth: all the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it; neither exchange, nor alienate the first-fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 ¶ And the four thousand that are left in the the breadth over against the five and twenty thousand shall be a profane place for the citie, for dwelling and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the midst thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the north side four thousand and five hundred, and the south side four thousand and five hundred, and on the east side four thousand and five hundred, and the west side four thousand and five hundred.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the north two hundred and fifty, and toward the south two hundred and fifty, and toward the east two hundred and fifty, and toward the west two hundred and fifty.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion, shall be ten thousand eastward, and ten thousand westward: and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serve the citie.

19 And they that serve the citie, shall serve it out of all the tribes of Israel.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand, by five and twenty thousand: ye shall offer the holy oblation four-square, with the possession of the citie.

21 ¶ And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the holy oblation, and of the possession of the citie over against the five and twenty thousand, of the oblation toward the east border, and westward over against the five and twenty thousand toward the west border, over against the portions for the prince, and it shall be the holy oblation, and the sanctuary of the house shall be in the midst thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the citie, being in the midst of that which is the prince's, between the border of Judah, and the border of Benjamin, shall be for the prince.

min, shall be for the prince.

23 As for the rest of the tribes, from the east side unto the west side, Benjamin shall have a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the east side unto the west side, Simeon shall have a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon, from the east side unto the west side, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the east side unto the west side, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun, from the east side unto the west side, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad, at the south side southward, the border shall be even from Tamar, unto the waters of the strife in Kadesh, and to the river toward the great sea.

29 This is the land which ye shall divide by lot unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 ¶ And these are the goings out of the citie on the north side, four thousand and five hundred measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, three gates northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, one gate of Levi.

32 And at the east side four thousand and five hundred: and three gates; & one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, one gate of Dan.

33 And at the south side four thousand and five hundred measures: and three gates; one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the west side four thousand and five hundred, with their three gates: one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteen thousand measures: and the name of the citie from that day shall be, The Lord is with us.

THE BOOK OF DANIEL.

CHAP. I.

1 Jehoiakim captivities. 3 Ashpenaz taketh Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. 8 They refusing the king's portion, do prosper with pulse and water. 17 Their excellency in wisdom.

IN the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, unto Jerusalem, and besetged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah, into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into the treasure-house of his god.

3 ¶ And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the kings seed, and of the princes;

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well-favoured, and skillfull in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine which he drank: so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah:

7 Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave unto Daniel the name of Belteshazzar; and to Hananiah of Shadrach, and to Mishael, of Meshach; and to Azariah, of Abed-nego.

8 ¶ But Daniel purposed in his heart, that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs, that he might not defile himself.

9 Now God had brought Daniel into favour and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs.

10 And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat & your drink: for why should he see your faces? I would like then the children which are of your sort: then shall ye make me endamage my head to the king.

11 Then said Daniel to the prince of the eunuchs that he set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,

12 I have seen thy servants, I beseech thee, ten

13 When let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the kings meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and fatter in flesh then all the children which did eat the portion of the kings meat.

16 Thus Belshazzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink: and gave them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom, and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now at the end of the dayes that the king had said he should bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the king communed with them, and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom and understanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better then all the magicians and astrologers that were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel continued even unto the first year of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 Nebuchadnezzar forgetting his dream, requirereth it of the Chaldeans by promises and threatenings.

2 They acknowledging their inability, are judged to die. 14 Daniel obtaining some respite, findeth the dream. 19 He blest the God. 24 He stayeth the decree, is brought to the king. 31 The dream. 36 The interpretation. 46 Daniels advancement.

AND in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams, wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleep brake from him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the astrologers, and the soothsayers, and the Chaldeans, for to shew the king his dreams: to they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in Syriack, O king, live for ever: tell thy servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation.

5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made a dunghill.

6 But if ye shew the dream, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts, and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dream, and the interpretation thereof.

7 They answered again and said, Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation of it.

8 The king answered and said, I know of certainty that ye would gain the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not make known unto me the dream, there is but one decree for you: for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to speak before me, till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that ye can shew me the interpretation thereof.

10 The Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is not a man upon the earth that can shew the kings matter: therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that asked such things at any magician, or astrologer, or Chaldean.

11 And it is a rare thing that the king requirereth, and there is none other that can shew it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.

13 And the decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be slain.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel to Arioch the captain of the kings guard, which was gone forth to slay the wise men of Babylon:

15 We answered and said to Arioch the kings captain, Why is the decree so hasty from the king? then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel.

16 Then Daniel went in, and desired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would shew the king the interpretation.

17 Then Daniel went to his house, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions:

18 That they would desire mercies of the God of heaven concerning this secret; what Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

19 Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a night vision: then Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

20 Daniel answered and said, Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his.

21 And he changed the times and the seasons: he removed kings, and setteth up kings: he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding.

22 He revealeth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee, and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, who hast given me wisdom, and might, and hast made known unto me now what we desired of thee: for thou hast now made known unto us the kings matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went in unto Arioch whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babylon: he went and said thus unto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will shew unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought in Daniel before the king in haste, and said thus unto him, I have found a man of the captivity of Judah, that will make known unto the king the interpretation.

26 The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dream which I have dreamed, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, cannot the wise men the astrologians, the magicians, the soothsayers, shew unto the 18 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar, what shall be in the latter dayes: Thy dream, and the visions of the head upon thy bed are these.

19 As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came into thy minde, upon thy bed, what should come to passe hereafter: and he that revealeth secrets maketh known unto thee what shall come to passe.

20 But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me, for any wisdom that I have more then any living, but for their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thy heart.

21 Thou, O king, I sawest, and behold, a great image: this great image whose brightnesse was excellent, stood before thee, and the form thereof was terrible.

22 This image whose head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass, 23 His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay.

24 Thou sawest till that a stone was cut out without hands, which smote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

25 Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver and the gold broken to pieces together, and became like the chaffe of the summer threshing-floores, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.

26 This is the dream, and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.

27 Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

28 And whereas he hath given thee wisdom, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art this head of gold.

29 And after that shall arise another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth.

30 And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces, and bruise.

31 And whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of iron: the kingdom shall be divided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with mirie clay.

32 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay: so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken.

33 And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with mirie clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.

34 And in the dayes of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces, and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.

35 Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to passe hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure.

36 Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worshipped Daniel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation, and sweet odours unto him.

37 The king answered unto Daniel, and said, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldst reveal this secret.

38 Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors over all the wise men of Babylon.

39 Then Daniel requested of the king, and he let Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego over the affairs of the province of Babylon: but Daniel sat in the gate of the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Nebuchadnezzar dedicated a golden image in Dura. 2 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego are accused for not worshipping the image. 3 They being threatened, make a good confession. 4 God delivereth them out of the furnace. 5 Nebuchadnezzar seeing the miracle, blesteth God.

Nebuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

3 Then the princes, the governors, and captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up: and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That at what time ye heare the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all kinds of musick, ye fall down, and worship the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up.

6 And whoso falleth not down and worshippeth, shall the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.

7 Therefore at that time, when all the people heard the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and all kinds of musick, all the people, the nations, and the languages fell down and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

8 And whereas some at that time certain Chaldeans came near and accused the Jews.

9 They spake and said to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king, live forever.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all kinds of musick, shall fall down and worship the golden image:

11 And whoso falleth not down and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.

12 There are certain Jews whom thou hast set over the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego: these men ¶ Or, of purpose, as Exod. 21. 13.

14 Nebuchadnezzar spake and said unto them, Is it true, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego? do not ye serve my gods, nor worship the golden image which I have set up?

15 Now if ye be ready that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all kinds of musick, ye fall down, and worship the image which I have made, well: but if ye worship not, ye shall be cast the same hour into the midst of a fierce furnace, and who is that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego answered, and said to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 If it be so, our God whom we serve, is able to deliver us from the burning fierce furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

27 And the princes, governors and captains, and the kings counsellors being gathered together, saw these men, upon whose bodies the fire had no power, nor was an hair of their head singed, neither were their coats changed, nor the smell of fire had passed on them.

16 Let his heart be changed from man, and let a beasts heart be given unto him, and let seven times pass over him.

17 This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know, that the most high ruler in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men.

18 This dream I king Nebuchadnezzar have seen: now thou, O Belshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof, so that I shall not be one of the multitude: for my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

19 ¶ When Daniel (whose name was Belshazzar) was accused for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him in the king's palace, and said, Belshazzar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

20 The tree that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth:

21 Whose leaves were fine, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all, under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose boughs the fowls of the heaven had their habitation:

22 It is thou, O king, that art grown and become strong: for thy greatness is grown and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion to the end of the earth.

23 And whereas the king saw a watcher, and an holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew to the tree, and destroy it, yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and with nails of brass, upon the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him:

24 This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the most high, which is come upon thy lord the king:

25 That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee: till thou know that the most high ruler in the kingdom of men hath given it to whomsoever he will.

26 And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree roots, thy kingdom shall be sure unto thee, after that thou shalt have known that the heavens do rule.

27 Therefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and break off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by showing mercy to the poore, (it may be) a lengthening of thy tranquillity.

28 ¶ All this came upon the king Belshazzar.

29 At the end of twelve months he walked in the palace of the kingdom of Babylon.

30 The king spake, and said, Is not this great Babylon that I have built for the house of the kingdom, by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

31 While he was thus saying, in the kings mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O king Belshazzar, to thee it is spoken, The kingdom is departed from thee:

32 And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee: till thou know that the most high ruler in the kingdom of men hath given it to whomsoever he will.

thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee: until thou know that the most high ruler in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

33 The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Belshazzar, and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as oxen, and his hairs were grown like eagles feathers, and his nails like birds claws.

34 And at the end of the dayes, I Belshazzar lift up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me, and I blessed the most high, and I praised and honoured him that liveth for ever, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

35 And all the inhabitants of the earth are required as nothing: and he doth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say unto him, What dost thou?

36 At the same time my reason returned unto me, and for the glory of my kingdom, mine honour and brightness returned unto me, and my counsellors and my lords brought unto me, and I was established in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added unto me.

37 Now I Belshazzar praise, and extol, and honour the king of heaven, all whose works are truth, and his wayes judgement, and those that walk in pride he is able to abase.

Belshazzar the king made a great feast to a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the chound.

2 Belshazzar, while he called the wine, commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines might drink therein.

3 When they brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the temple of the house of God, which was at Jerusalem; and the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines drank in them.

4 They drank wine, and praised the gods of gold, and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone.

5 ¶ In the same hour came forth lightnings of a mans hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaiter of the wall of the kings palace; and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joints of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against another.

7 The king cried aloud to him in the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers: and the king spake and said to the wise men of Babylon, Whosoever shall readeth this writing, and show me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with a scarlet, and have a chain of gold about his neck.

is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was grieved in my spirit in midst of my body, and the visions of my head troubled me.

16 I came near unto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things.

17 These great beasts, which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 But the fourth shall be the fourth king, and shall possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever.

19 ¶ When I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was diverse from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass, which devoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet.

20 And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell, even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spake very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows.

21 ¶ I beheld, and the same beast made wars with the saints, and prevailed against them;

22 Until the ancient of days came, and judgement was given to the saints of the most high: and the time came, that the saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and brake it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings, that shall arise, and another shall rise after them; and he shall be diverse from the first, and he shall subvert three kings.

25 And he shall speak great words against the most high, and shall wear out the saints of the most high, and shall think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand, until a time and times and the dividing of time.

26 But the judgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume, and to destroy it unto the end.

27 And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him.

28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me, Daniel, my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Daniels vision of the ramme, and he-goat. 2 The two thousand, three hundred dayes of sacrifice. 3 Gabriel comforteth Daniel, and interpreteth the vision.

I In the third year of the reign of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision (and it came to pass when I lay) that I was at Bethshazur, in the palace, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in a vision, and I was by the river of Ulai.

3 ¶ When I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and behold, there stood before the river, in summer which had two horns, and the two horns were bright: but one was bigger then the other, and the bigger came up last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing westward, and northward, and southward: so that no beasts might stand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand, but he did according to his will, and became great.

5 And as I was considering, behold, an he-goat came from the west on the face of the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes.

6 And he came to the ramme that had two horns, which I had seen standing before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power.

7 And I saw him come close unto the ramme, and he smote him with choles against him, and smote the ramme, and brake his two horns, and there was no power in the ramme to stand before him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped upon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his hand.

8 Therefore the he-goat waxed very great, and when he was strong, the great horn was broken: and for it came up four notable horns, towarde the four windes of breath.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land.

10 And it waxed great, even to the host of heaven, and it cast down some of the host, and against the stars to the ground; and it changed them.

11 ¶ Then he magnified himself even to the prince of the host, and by him the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down.

12 And his host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it was cast down the truth to the ground, and it was covered.

13 ¶ When I heard one saint speaking, and another saint answered him, saying, What meaneth this vision? how long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desecration, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?

14 And he said unto me, Unto two thousand, three hundred dayes; then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.

15 ¶ And it came to pass, when I even, I saw Daniel had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, then behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a voice which said, Greetings be unto thee, Daniel: make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came near where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O sons of man; for at the time of the end shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking unto me, I was in a deep sleep, and fell toward the ground: but he touched me, and set me up again.

19 And he said, Beware, I will make thee know what shall be in the last end of the indignation: for at the time appointed the end shall be.

20 ¶ The ramme which thou sawest having two horns, are the kings of Media and Persia.

21 And the rough goat is the king of Syria; and the great horn that is between his eyes, is the first king.

up to it, foure kingdomes shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.

23 And in the latter time of their kingdome, when the transgressours are come to the full; a king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.

24 And his power shall be mighty, but not by his own power: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his policie also he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall magnifie himself in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand up against the prince of princes, but he shall be broken without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning which was told, is true: wherefore thou up to the vision, for it shall be for many dayes.

27 And I Daniel fainted and was sick certain dayes; afterward I rose up, and did the kings business, and I was astonied at the vision, but none understood it.

CHAP. IX.

I Daniel considering the time of the captivity, maketh confession of sinnes, 16 and prayeth for the restauration of Jerusalem. 20 Gabriel informeth him of the seventie weeks.

In the first year of Darius the sonne of Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king over the realm of the Caldeans.

2 In the first year of his reigne, I Daniel understood by books the number of the yeeres, whereof the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem.

3 And I set my face unto the Lord God, to seek by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth, and ashes.

4 And I prayed unto the Lord my God, and made my confession, and said, O Lord, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant, and mercie to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments:

5 We have sinned, and have committed iniquitie, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even by departing from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 Neither have we hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousness belongeth unto thee, but unto us confusion of faces, as at this day: to the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and unto all Israel that are neare, and that are farre off, through all the countreys, whether thou hast driven them, because of their trespasses that they have trespassed against thee.

8 O Lord, to us belongeth confusion of face to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.

9 To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him.

10 Neither have we obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his lawes which he set before us, by his servants the prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel have transgressed thy lawes, even by departing that they might not obey thy voice; therefore the curse is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the law of Moses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words which he spake against us, and against our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evill; for under the whole heaven hath not been done, as hath been done upon Jerusalem.

13 As it is written in the law of Moses, all this evill is come upon us: yet I made thee not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord our God watched upon the evill, and brought it upon us: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth: for we obeyed not his voice.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people forth out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renown as at this day: we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy fury be turned away from thy cite Jerusalem, thy holy mountain: because for our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people are become a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine ear and heare; open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the cite, which is called by thy name: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our righteousnesses, but for thy great mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord hearken and do, deferre not, for thine own sake, O my God: for thy cite, and thy people are called by thy name.

20 And whiles I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy mountain of my God:

21 Yea, whiles I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to rise swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me; and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee skill and understanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee; for thou art greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seventie weeks are determined upon thy people, and upon thy holy cite, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sinnes, and to make reconciliation for iniquitie, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophesie, and to anoint the most holy.

25 Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem, unto the Anointed the prince, shall be seven weeks; and threescore and two weeks the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times.

26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Jerusalem be cut off: but not for himselfe: ane the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the cite, and the sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the warre desolations are determined.

CHAP. X.

1 Daniel having humbled himself, seeth a vision.
 10 Being troubled with fear, he is comforted by the angel.

In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel, (whose name was called Belshazzar) and the thing was true, but the time appointed was long, and he understood the thing, & had understanding of the vision.

2 In those days I Daniel was mourning three full weeks.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 And in the fourth and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, which is * Euphrates:

5 When I lift up mine eyes and looked, and behold, I a certain man clothed in linen, whose loins were * girded with fine gold of Ephraim:

6 His body also was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in colour to polished brass, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision, for the men that were with me saw not the vision: but a great quaking fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my * comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep sleep on my face, and my face toward the ground.

10 ¶ And behold, an hand touched me, which set me upon my knees, and upon the palms of my hands.

11 And he said unto me, O Daniel, I a man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak unto thee, & stand upright: for unto thee am I now sent; and when he had spoken this word unto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he unto me, Fear not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand, and to chasten thyself before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twenty days: but lo, Michael came, and he said unto me, Stand up, for thou art now sent.

14 Now I am come to make thee understand what shall befall thy people, in the latter days: for yet the vision is for many days.

15 And when he had spoken such words unto me, I set my face toward the ground, and I became dumb.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him that stood before me, O my lord, by the vision my sorrows are turned upon me, and I have retained no strength.

17 For how can I the servant of this my lord, I shall talk with this my lord? for as for me, straightway I am van of strength remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came again and touched me one like the appearance of a man, & he strengthened me.

19 And said, O man greatly beloved, fear not, peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong: and when he had spoken unto me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my lord speak; for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I come unto thee? and now will I return to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will show thee that which is noted in the scripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

1 The overthrow of Persia by the king of Grecia, 5 Leagues and conflicts between the kings of the south and of the north. 30 The invasion and tyranny of the Romans.

¶ Now I, in the first year of Darius the Mede, even I stood to confirm and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the truth, Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength through his riches he shall stirre up all against the realm of Grecia.

3 And a mighty king shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will.

4 And when he shall stand up, his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four windes of heaven; and not to his posteritie, no; according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others besides those.

5 ¶ And the king of the south shall be strong, and one of his princes, and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeares they shall join themselves together: for the kings daughter of the south shall come to the king of the north to make selfes, & an agreement: but she shall not retain the power of the arm, neither shall he stand, nor his arm, but she shall be given up, and they that brought her, and he that begat her, and he that strengthened her in these times.

7 But out of a branch of her roots shall one stand up in his estate, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortress of the king of the north, and shall deal against them, and shall prevail:

8 And shall also carrie captives into Egypt, their gods with their princes, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and he shall continue mee yeares then the king of the north.

9 So the king of the south shall come into his kingdom, and shall return into his own land.

10 But his sonnes I shall be stirred up, and shall assemble a multitude of great forces: and one shall certainly come and overflow, and pass through: then shall he return, and be stirred up even to his fortress.

11 And the king of the south shall be moved with choler, and shall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north; and he shall set forth a great multitude, but the multitude shall be given into his hand.

12 And when he hath taken away the multitude, his heart shall be lifted up, and he shall cast down many ten thousands; but he shall not be strengthened by it.

13 For the king of the north shall return, and shall set forth a multitude greater then the former, and shall certainly come († after certain years) with a great army, and with much riches.

14 And in those times there shall many stand up against the king of the south: also † the robbers of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the north shall come, and cast up a mount, and take† the most fenced cities, and the arms of the south shall not withstand, neither: his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that cometh against him, shall do according to his own will, and none shall stand before him: and he shall stand in the † glorious land which by his hands shall be consumed.

17 He shall also set his face to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and will fight on with him: thus shall he do, and he shall give him shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turn his face into the isles, and shall take many: but a prince † for his own bet all shall cause † the reproach offered by him, to cease; without his own reproach he shall cause it to turn upon him.

19 Then he shall turn his face towards the fort of his own land: but he shall stumble and fall, and not be found.

20 Then shall stand up in his estate a raifer of taxes in the glory of the kingdom: but within few days he shall be destroyed, neither in † anger, nor in battell.

21 And in his estate shall stand up a vile person, to whom they shall not give the honour of the kingdom: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtain the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And with the arms of a flood shall they be overflown from before him, and shall be broken:
yea also the pynce of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall work deceitfully: for he shall come up, and shall become strong with a small people.

24 He shall enter peaceably even upon the fa-test places of the province, and he shall do that which his fathers have not done; nor his fathers fathers, he shall scatter among them the prey and spoil, and riches: yea, and he shall † forefront his devices against the strong holds, even for a time.

25 And he shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the south with a great armie, and the king of the south shall be stirred up to battell with a very great and mighty army; but he shall not stand: for they shall forefront devices against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat, shall destroy him, and his army shall overflow: and many shall fall down slain.

27 And both these kings† hearts shall be to be mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table; but it shall not prosper: for yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he return into his land with great riches, and his heart shall be against the holy covenant: and he shall do exploits, and return to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he shall return, and come towards the south, but it shall not be as before: or as the latter.

30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be grieved and return, and have indignation against the holy covenant: so shall he do, he shall even return, and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And arms shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall place the abomination that maketh desolate.

32 And such as do wickedly against the covenant, shall be corrupt by flatteries: but the people that do know their God, shall be strong, and do exploits.

33 And they that understand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by the sword, and by flame, by captivity and by spoil many days.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little help: but many shall cleave to them with flatteries.

35 And some of them of understanding shall fall to trytthem, and to purge, and to make them white, even to the time of the end: because it is yet for a time appointed.

36 And the king shall do according to his will,
and he shall exalt himself, and magnifie himself above every god, and shall speak marvellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the indignation be accomplished: for that that is determined, shall be done.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnifie himself above all.

38 But in his estate shall he honour the God of † forces: and a god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with gold and silver, and with precious stones, and † pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he do in the most strong holds with a strange god, whom he shall acknowledge and increase with glory: and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for † gain.

40 And at the time of the end shall the king of the south push at him, and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwinde with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into the countrey, and shall overthrow and passe over.

41 He shall enter also into the † glorious land, and many countreys shall be overthrowen, but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom, and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall † stretch forth his hand also upon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans, and the Chibthians shall be at his steps.

44 But tidings out of the east, and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the † glorious holy mountain, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

CHAP. V.

1 Gods judgements against the priests, the people, and the princes of Israel for their manifold finnes, 15 until they repent.

Hear ye this, O priests, and hearken, ye house of Israel, and give ye care, O house of the king: for judgement is toward you, because ye have been a snare on Ephraim, and a net spread upon Tabat.

10, and 80.
Hos. a correction.

2 And the rebels are prepared to make slaughter, though I have been a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou committest iniquities, and Israel is defiled.

10, they will not give 10, their doings will not gather them.

4 They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for the spirit of iniquities is in the midst of them, and they have not known the LORD.

5 And the prince of Israel doth testify to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Judah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall go with their flocks, and with their herds to seek the LORD: but they shall not find him; he hath withdrawn himself from them.

7 They have dealt treacherously against the LORD: for they have begotten strange children, now shall a month devour them with their positions.

8 Blow ye the cornet in Ephraim, and the trumpet in Ramah: cry aloud at Beth-aven; aster there, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel have I made known that which shall surely be.

10 The princes of Judah were like them that remove the bound: therefore I will pour out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in judgment: because he willingly walked after the coun-selment.

10, worm.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a worm, and to the house of Judah as a rottenness.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah saw his wound, then went Ephraim to the Assyrian, and sent it to king Jereb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound.

10, to the king of Jareb: or to the king that should plead.

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Judah: I, even I will tear and go away: I will take away, and none shall rescue him.

10, will they be guided.

15 I will go and return to my place, yet till they acknowledge their offences, and seek my face: in their affliction they will seek me early.

CHAP. VI.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 A complaint of their unrepentance and iniquity.

Come and let us return unto the LORD:
for he hath torn, and he will heal us: he hath smitten, and he will bind us again.

1. Cor. 5. 1

2 After two days will he revive us, in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.

3 When shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I do unto thee? for thy goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away.

10, mercy kindness.

5 Therefore have I hated them by the prophets: I have slain them by the words of my mouth, I and the judgements are as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercy, and not sacrifices, and the knowledge of God, more than burnt offerings.

7 But they have like men have transgressed the covenant: they have their deal treacherously against me.

8 Ephraim is a circle of them that work iniquity, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as troops of robbers wait for a man, so the companies of priests murder in the way by consent, for they commit iniquities.

10 I have seen an horrible thing in the house of Israel: there is the whorehouse of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

face, and they do not return to the LORD: their God, nor seek him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a silly dove without heart: they call to Egypt, yet they go to Assyria.

12 When they shall go, I will spread my net upon them, I will bring them down as the fowls of the heaven, I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 I will send them: for they have sinned from the day of destruction unto them, because they have transgressed against me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have broken the covenant against me.

9 O Israel, thou hast destroyed thy self, but in me is thine help.

10 I will be thy king: where is any other that may save thee in all thy cities? and thy judges of whom thou saidst, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and took him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorowes of a travailling woman shall come upon him, he is an unbelieve sonne, for he should not stay long in the place of the breaking forth of children.

14 I will ransom them from the power of the grave: I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plague; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.

15 E though he be fruitfull among his brethren, an east winde shall come, the winde of the Lord, and he shall come up from the wilderness, and his spring shall become dyle, and his fountain shall be dried up: he shall spoile the treasure of all that pleasest vessels.

16 Samaria shall become desolate, for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword; their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripe up.

CHAP. XIII.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 A promise of Gods blessing.

O Israel return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

2 Take with you words, and turn to the Lord, say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and I receive us graciously: so will we render thee calves of our lips.

3 Thou shalt not save us, we will not ride upon horses, neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercy.

4 I will heal their back-sliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

5 I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall grow as the lily, and shall cast forth his roots as Lebanon.

6 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, & his smell as Lebanon.

7 They that dwell under his shadow shall return, they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

8 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him, and observed him: I am like a green firre-tree, from me is the fruit found.

9 Who is wise, and he shall understand these things: prudent, and he shall know them: for the wayes of the Lord are right: and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressours shall fall therein.

JOEL.

CHAP. I.

1 Joel declaring sundry judgements of God, exhorteth to observe them, 8 and to mourn. 14 He prescribeth a fast for complaint.

The word of the Lord, which came to Joel the sonne of Bethuel.

2 Hearc this, ye old men, and give eare, all ye inhabitants of the land: hath this been in your dayes, or even in the dayes of your fathers?

3 Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation.

4 That which the palmer-worm hath left, hath the locust eaten; and that which the locust hath left, hath the canker-worm eaten; and that which the canker-worm hath left, hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards, and weep, and howl all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine, for it is cut off from your mouth.

6 For a nation is come up upon my land, strong, and without number, whose teeth are the teeth of a lion, and he hath the cheek-teeth of a great lion.

7 Thee hath laid my vine wast, and I have made my fig-tree bare: he hath made it clean bare, and cast it away, the branches thereof are mad; while,

8 I lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meat-offering and the drink-offering is cut off from the house of the Lord, and the priests the Lord's ministers mourn.

10 The field is wasted, the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted: the new wine is spoiled up, the oil languisheth.

11 Be ye ashamed, O ye husbandmen: howl, O ye vine-dressers, for the wheat and for the barley; because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree languisheth, the pomegranate-tree, the palm-tree also, and the apple-tree, even all the trees of the field are withered, because joy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Gird you selves, and lament, ye priests: howl, ye ministers of the altar: come, lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meat-offering and the drink-offering is withholden from the house of your God.

14 Call a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord, and cry unto the Lord, your God, and cry unto the Lord.

15 Alas for the day: for the day of the Lord is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also unto thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II.

1 He sheweth unto Zion the terriblest of Gods judgement. 12 He exhorteth to repentance, 15 prescribeth a fast, 18 promiseth a blessing thereon. 21 He comforteth Zion with present, 28 and future blessings.

1 Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come, for it is nigh at hand;

2 A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: a great people and a strong, there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, even to the years of many generations.

3 A fire devoureth before them, and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as the garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness, yea, and nothing shall escape them.

4 The appearance of them is as the appearance of hoies, and as hoiesmen, so shall they run.

5 Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, as a strong people set in battell array.

6 Before their face the people shall be much pained: all faces shall gather blackness.

7 They shall run like mighty men, they shall climb the wall like men of warre, and they shall march every one on his wayes, and they shall not break their ranks.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, they shall walk every one in his path: and when they fall upon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the citie: they shall run upon the wall, they shall climb up upon the houses: they shall enter in at the windowes like a thief.

10 The earth shall quake before them, the heavens shall tremble, the sunne and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall withhold their shining,

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his army: for his camp is very great: for he is strong that executeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now, saith the Lord, Turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And rent your heart & not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil.

14 Who knoweth if he will return and repent, and leave a blessing behind him, even a meat-offering and a drink-offering unto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemn assembly.

16 Gather the people, sanctifie the congregation: assemble the elders: gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her cloire.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage to reproach: that the heathen should rule over them: wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 When shall the Lord be jealous for his land, and visit his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say unto his people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oyl, and ye shall be satisfied thereof: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

20 But I will remove farre off from you the northern armie, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the east sea, and his hinder part toward the utmost sea; and his ship shall come up, and his ill favour shall come up, because he hath done great things.

21 Fear not, O land, be glad and rejoice: for the Lord is with you, he shall do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig-tree and the vine do yield their strength.

23 Be glad then ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first moneth:

24 And the floores shall be full of wheat, and the fats shall overflow with wine and oyl.

25 And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten, the canker-worm, and the caterpillar, and the palmer-worm, my great armie which I sent among you.

26 And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed.

27 And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed.

28 And it shall come to passe afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh, and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesse, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions:

29 And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those dayes, will I pour out my spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heavens, and in the earth, blood and fire and pillars of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord shall come.

32 And it shall come to passe that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call.

1 Gods judgements against the enemies of his people.
9 God will be known in his judgement. 18 His blessing upon the church.

For behold, in those days and in that time when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat: and will plead with them there for my people, and for my heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they have cast lots for my people, and have given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they might drink.

4 Yea, and what have ye to do with me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Palestine: will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompence me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompence upon your own head.

5 Because ye have taken my silver, and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly & pleasant things.

6 The children also of Judah, & the children of Jerusalem have ye sold unto the Grecians, that ye might remove them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place whither ye have sold them, and will return your recompence upon your own head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off; for the Lord so hath spoken it.

9 I will proclaim ye this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of warre draw neare; let them come up.

10 Beat your ploughshares into swords, and your pruning-hooks into spears; let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selves, and come all ye heathen, and gather your selves together round about: whether I cause the mighty ones to come down, O Lord so.

12 Let the heathen be weakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge all the heathen round about.

13 But ye in the field, for the harvest is ripe; come, get you down, for the press is full, the fats overflow, for their wickedness is great.

14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision for the day of the Lord so is near in the valley of decision.

15 The sunne and the moon shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

16 The Lord also shall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem, and the heavens and the earth shall shake; but the Lord so will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord so in your God dwelling in Zion my holy mountain: then shall Jerusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers passe through her any more.

18 And it shall come to passe in that day, that the mountains shall drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall flow with waters, and a fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord so, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the violence against the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah shall dwell for ever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood that I have not cleansed; for the Lord so dwelleth in Zion.

A M O S.

CHAP. I.

1 Amos sheweth Gods judgement upon Syria, 6 upon the Philistines, 9 upon Tyrus, 11 upon Edom, 13 upon Ammon.

The words of Amos, who was among the herdsmen of Tekoa, which he saw concerning Israel in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the sonne of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord so will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem: and the habitations of the shepherds shall mourn, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord so, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have threshed Shebam with threshing instruments of iron.

4 But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael, which shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will break also the barre of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant from the plain of Aven: and him that holdeth the sceptre from the house of Ben, and the people of Syria shall go into captivity unto Assur, saith the Lord so.

6 Thus saith the Lord so, For three transgressions of Gaza, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have carried away captive the whole captivity, to deliver them up to Edom.

7 But I will send a fire on the wall of Gaza, which shall devour the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the sceptre from Ashkelon, and I will turn mine hand against Ekron; and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord so.

9 Thus saith the Lord so, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and remembered not the brotherly covenant.

10 But I will send a fire on the wall of Tyrus, which shall devour the palaces thereof.

11 Thus saith the Lord so, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast of all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and kept his wrath for ever.

12 But I will send a fire upon Teman, which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus saith the Lord so, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure

14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwinds.

15 And their king shall go into captivity, he, and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

1 Gods wrath against Moab, upon Judah, & upon Israel. 2 God complaineth of their unthankfulness.

Thus saith the Lord. For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof, because he hath burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 But I will send a fire upon Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Kirioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the judge from the midst thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 Thus saith the Lord. For three transgressions of Judah, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have despised the law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to erre, after the which their fathers have walked.

5 But I will send a fire upon Judah, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

6 Thus saith the Lord. For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poore for a paire of shoes.

7 That pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poore, and turn aside the way of the meek: and a man and his father will go in unto the same I said, to profane my holy name.

8 And they lay themselves down upon clothes laid to pledge, by every altar, and they drink the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Des destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks, yet I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath.

10 Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeares through the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised up of your sonnes for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord.

12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drink, and commanded the prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed under you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the slight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty deliver himself.

15 Neither shall he stand that hanoleth the bow, and he that is swift of foot shall not deliver himself, neither shall he that steer the horse deliver himself.

16 And he that is courageous among the mighty, shall slee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 The necessity of Gods judgement against Israel. 2 The publication of it, with the cause thereof.

Hear this word that the Lord hath spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole familie which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walk together, except they be agreed?

4 Will a lion roar in the forest, when he hath no prey? will a young lion cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare upon the earth, where no gin is for him? shall one take up a snare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

6 Shall a trumpet be blown in the cite, and the people I not be afraid? shall there be evil in a cite, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.

8 The lion hath roared, who will not fear? the Lord God hath spoken, who can but prophesie?

9 Publish in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selves upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold the great tumules in the midst thereof, and I oppressed in the midst thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, saith the Lord, who stoppeth up violence, and robberie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An adberlarie there shall be even round about the lands, and he shall bring down thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lord. As the shepherds take out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear; so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria, in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus in a couch.

13 I have ye, and will live in the house of Jacob, saith the Lord God, the god of hosts.

14 That in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel upon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el, and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter-house with the summer-house, and the houses of ivory shall perish, and the great houses shall have an end, saith the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Metaphor of Israel for oppression, 4 for idolatrie, 6 and for their incorrigible sinne.

Hear this word ye king of Samaria, that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, which crush the necke, which say to their masters, Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord God hath sworn by his holiness, that lo the dayes shall come upon you, that he will take you away with hooks, and your posteritie with fish-hooks.

3 And ye shall go out at the bushenes, every cow at that which is before her, and ye shall cast them into the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el and transgresse, at Beth-el multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices every morning, and your tithes after three yeares.

5 And I offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, and proclaim and publish the free offerings: for I this lieth you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

7 And also I have withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest, and I caused it to rain upon one city, and caused it not to rain upon another city: one year was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred unto one city, to drink water; but they were not satisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

9 I have smitten you with blasting and mildew, when your gardens and your vineyards, and your fig-trees, and your olive-trees increased: the palmer-worm devoured them: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

10 I have sent among you the pestilence, I after the manner of Egypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, and I have taken away your holies, and I have made the stink of your camps to come up unto your nostrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

11 I have overthrowen some of you, as God overthroweth Sodom and Gomorrah, and ye were as a firebrand, plucked out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Israel: and because I will do this unto thee, prepare to meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo, he that smothered the mountains, and created the wind, and declared unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, the Lord, the God of hosts is his name.

CHAP. V.

1 A lamentation for Israel. 4 An exhortation to repentance. 21 God rejecteth their hypocritical service.

1 Care ye this word which I take up against you, even a lamentation, O house of Israel.

2 The virgin of Israel is fallen, she shall no more rise: she is forsaken upon her land, there is none to raise her up.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city that went out by a thousand, shall leave an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leave ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord God unto the house of Israel, Seek ye me, and ye shall live.

5 But seek not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and pass not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall surely go into captivity, & Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seek the Lord, and ye shall live, lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph, and devour it: & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 Ye who turn judgement to woomwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth.

8 Seek him that maketh the seven stars, and Orion, and turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night: that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth, the Lord is his name.

9 That strengtheneth the spoiled against the strong: so that the spoiled shall come against the fortress.

10 They have him that rebuketh in the gate, and they abhorre him that speaketh uprightly.

11 Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of words, ye have built houses of broken stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, they take a bribe, and they turn aside the poor in the gate from their right.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in the time, for it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil, that ye may live: and to the Lord is the God of hosts shall be with you, as ye have spoken.

15 Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord is the God of hosts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore the Lord is the God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Wailing shall be in all streets, and they shall say in all the high ways, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to mourning, and such as are skilful of lamentation, to wailing.

17 And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for I will pass through them, saith the Lord.

18 What unto you that desire the day of the Lord: to what end is it for you? the day of the Lord is darkness, and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him, or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkness, and not light? even deep dark, and no brightness in it?

21 I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt-offerings, and your meat-offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace-offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs, for I will not hear: the melody of thy viols.

24 But let judgement run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

25 Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

26 But ye have born the tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chim your images, the stars of your god, which ye made to your selves.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose name is the God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

1 The wantonness of Israel 7 shall be plagued with desolation, 12 and their incorrigibleness.

1 Warned to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which are named the chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel came.

2 Pass ye unto Calneh, and see: and from thence go ye to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border?

3 Ye that put farre away the evil day, and cause the least of violence to come near.

4 That lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall.

5 That chant to the sound of the viol, and in turn to themselves instruments of music, like David.

saith the Lord God of hosts, I abhorre the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces:
therefore will I deliver up the city, with all that is therein.

9 And it shall come to passe, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die.

10 And a mans uncle shall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee?
and he shall say, No: then shall he say, * Hold thy tongue; for we may not make mention of the name of the Lord God.

11 For behold, the Lord God commandeth, and he will smite the great house with dyarches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall holies run upon the rock? will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into hemlock.

13 Ye which rejoyce in a thing of nought, which say, We have not taken to us horns by our own strength:

14 But behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hosts, and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of the wilderness.

CHAP. VII.

1 The judgements of the grasshoppers, 4 and of the fire, are directed by the prayer of Amos. 7 By the wall of a plumb line is signified the rejection of Israel. 10 Amos complaineth of Amos.
24 Amos sheweth his calling, 16 and Amos his judgement.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, he foumed i grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth, and lo, it was the latter growth after the kings mowings.

2 And it came to passe, that when they had made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord God, forgive, I beseech thee:
By whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small.

3 The Lord God repented for this: It shall not be, saith the Lord God.

4 Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to contend by fire, and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God cease, I beseech thee; By whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small.

6 The Lord God repented for this: This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 Thus he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood upon a wall made by a plumb-line, with a plumb-line in his hand.

8 And the Lord God said unto me, Amos, what seest thou? and I said, A plumb-line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a plumb-line in the midst of my people Israel, I will not again passe by them any more.

9 And the high places of Isaac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

10 Then Amaziah the priest of Beth-el sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Israel: the land is not able to bear all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive, out of their own land.

12 Also Amaziah said unto Amos, O thou seer, go, stand away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie not again any more at Bethel: for it is the king's chappel, and it is the king's court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of hycomore fruit.

15 And the Lord God took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord God said unto me, O, prophesie unto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore hear thou the word of the Lord God withon sayest, Prophesie not against Israel, and drop not thy word against the house of Isaac.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the city, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and the land shall be divided by lines: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

By a basket of summer-fruit, is shewed the pro-pinquity of Israels end. 4 Oppression is reprov'd.
11 A famine of the word shew'd.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me,
and behold, a basket of summer-fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? and I said, A basket of summer-fruit. Then said the Lord God unto me, The end is come upon my people of Israel: I will not again passe by them any more.

3 And the songs of the temple shall be howl-ings in that day, saith the Lord God: there shall be many dead bodies in every place, they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 I here this, O ye that swallow up the needie, even to make the poore of the land to fail.

5 Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for silver, and the needie for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

7 The Lord God hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and there-y one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood; and it shall be cast out and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord God, that I will cause the sunne to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation, and I will bring up sackcloth upon all loyns, and baldnesse upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

God, that I will send a famine in the land, not 12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall runne to and fro to seek the word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the name of Samaria, and say, The Lord, O Dan, liberty, and the manner of Bersebaa liberty; even they shall fall, and never rise up again.

CHAP. IX.

I The certainty of the desolation. II The restoring of the tabernacle of David.

I Saw the Lord standing upon the altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the door, that the posts may shake; and I cut them in the head all of them; and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that sleeth of them, shall not flee away; and he that escapeth of them, shall not be delivered.

2 Though they dig into hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence; and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the hyson, and it shall say them; and I will let mine eyes upon them for evil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts is he that touched the land, and it shall melt; and all that dwell therein shall mourn: and it shall rise up wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

6 It is he that buildeth his nest in the heaven, and hath founded his trouph in the earth, he that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: the Lord is his name.

7 Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lord? have not I brought up Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Assyrians from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from off the face of the earth; saying that I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob, saith the Lord.

9 For so, I will command, and I will lift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corn is lifted in a sieve, yet shall not the least grain fall upon the earth.

10 All the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The evil shall not overtake us, saith the Lord.

11 In that day will I raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and I will close up the breaches thereof, and I will build it as in the days of old: and I will build it as in the days of old.

12 That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen: I which are called by my name, saith the Lord God that doth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes, him that soweth seed, and the mountains shall drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt.

14 And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Israel, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and winke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

15 And I will plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of the land which I have given them, saith the Lord God.

OBADIAH.

CHAP. I.

I The destruction of Edom, 3 for their pride, 10 and for their wrong unto Jacob: 17 The salvation and victory of Jacob.

1 I saw the vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God, concerning Edom, whose habitation is high, that said in his heart, I will build my nest upon the rock, and I will dwell for ever: I will be as a eagle, and will dwell upon the rock, and I will be as a eagle, and will dwell upon the rock, and I will be as a eagle, and will dwell upon the rock.

2 Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art greatly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high, that said in his heart, I will not be brought down to the ground.

4 Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord.

5 If thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off!) would they not have slain in all thy had enough? if the grave-gatherers came to thee, would they not have said, Some grapes? 6 How are the things of Edom searched out! how art his hid things found out!

7 All the men of thy confederacie have brought thee even to the border: the men that were at peace with thee have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee: they that eat thy bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall I not in that day, saith the Lord, even destroy the wisdom out of Edom, and understanding out of the mount of Seir?

9 And thy mighty men, O Teman, shall be dismayed, to the end that every one of the mount of Seir may be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy violence against thy brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 In the day that thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not have looked on the day of thy brother, in the day that he became a stranger; neither shouldest thou have rejoiced over the children of Judah in the day of their destruction: neither shouldest thou have spoken proudly in the day of distress.

13 Thou shouldest not have entered into the gates of Jerusalem, when they were laid waste, when they were laid waste, when they were laid waste.

JONAH.

CHAP. I.

1 Jonah sent to Nineveh, fleeth to Tarshish. 4 He is vented by a tempest, 11 thrown into the sea, 17 and swallowed by a fish.

ON the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, go to Nineveh that great city, and cry against it: for their wickedness is come up before me.

3 But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa: & he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it to go with them unto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great windye into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and cast forth the wares that were in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Jonah was gone down into the sides of the ship, and he lay, and was fast asleep.

6 So the ship-master came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou? Sleepest thou? call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not.

7 And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then said they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us: what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he said unto them, I am an Hebrew, and I fear the Lord, the God of heaven, which hath made the sea and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be calm unto us: (for the sea lay very much to the tempestuous)

12 And he said unto them, Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that thou art a man that tellest lies.

13 Nevertheless the men rowed hard to bring it to the land, but they could not; for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, let us not perish for this mans life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they took up Jonah, and cast him forth into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah, and the fish was in the belly of the fish three dayes & three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 The prayer of Jonah. 10 He is delivered from the fish.

THEN Jonah prayed unto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cried by reason of mine affliction unto the Lord, & he heard me; out of the belly of shell cried I, & thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the deep, in the midst of the seas, and the floods compassed me about: all the billowes & the waves passed over me.

4 Then I said, I am cast out of thy sight: yet I will look again toward thy holy temple.

5 The waters compassed me about even to the soul: the depth closed me round about, the weeds were wrapt about my head.

6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains: the earth with her darters was about me: for ever: yet hast thou brought up my life from corruption, O Lord my God.

7 When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the Lord, and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.

8 They that observe lying vanities, forsake their own mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving: I will pay that that I have vowed: & salvation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah sent again preached to the Ninevites, 5 Upon their repentance, 10 God repents.

AND the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nineveh that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the Lord. Now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days journey.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a days journey, and he cried and said, Yet forty days and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

6 For Jonah came unto the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he caused it to be proclaimed, and published through Nineveh (by the decree of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water.

8 But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands.

9 And who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not.

10 And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil that he had said that he would do unto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. II.

1 Jonah repenting as God merrily, 4 is reprieved by the type of a gourd.

BUT it happened that Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he stepped into the garden, and said, I pray thee, Lord, am I not right? I was right, when I was yet in my country: therefore I fled before unto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God and merciful, slow to anger and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil.

3 Therefore now, Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live.

4 And God said the Lord unto him, Dost thou well to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow, still he might see what would become of the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shadow over his head, to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And it came to pass when the sunne did arise, that God prepared a vehement east wind; and the sunne beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in himself to die, and said, It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God said to Jonah, Dost thou well to be angry for the gourd? and he said, I do well to be angry even unto death.

10 Then said the Lord unto him, Thou hast had pity on the gourd, for the which thou hast not laboured, neither made it grow: why should I have pity on him? and perished in a night.

11 And should not I spare Nineveh that great city, wherein are more than sixscore thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattle?

MICAH.

CHAP. I.

1 Micah sheweth the wrath of God against Jacob, for idolatry: 10 He exhorteth to mourning.

AND the word of the Lord came unto Micah the Bersean, in the days of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 I hear all ye people, hearken ye people all that are round about, and let the Lord God be witness against you, the Lord God from his holy temple.

3 For ye have said, The Lord will come forth out of his place, and will come down and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountains shall be molten under him, and the valleys shall be cleft: as wax before the fire, and as the tresses that are poured down.

5 For the transgression of Jacob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob? is it not Samaria?

And what are the high places of Samaria? are they not Jerusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, & as plantings of a vineyard: and I will pour down the stones thereof into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall be beaten to pieces, and all the hires thereof shall be burnt with the fire, & all the tools thereof shall I lay desolate: for the garden of the king of Assyria shall they shall return to the den of an eagle.

8 Therefore I will wall and build, I will go straight and naked: I will make a mourning like the dragons, and mourning as the fowls.

9 For her wound is incurable, for it is come unto Judah: he is come unto the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at Gath, weep ye in the house of Ashdod: roll ye in the dust.

11 For ye say, I thou inhabitant of Samaria, saying the name makes: the inhabitant of Samaria came not forth in the mourning of Beth-say, he shall receive of you his mourning.

12 For the inhabitant of Samaria waited for the day of wrath, and he shall be as the day of wrath.

For, upright

8 Even I of late my people is risen up as an enemy: ye pull off the robe I with the garment, from them that pass by securely, as men abscise from warre.

For, over a

9 The women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses, from their children have ye taken away my glory forever.

For, wives.

10 Alike ye and depart, for this is not your rest, because it is polluted, it shall destroy you even with a toy destruction.

For, walk with and the fall.

11 If a man walketh in the spirit e fallow, he is saying, I will prophetic unto thee of wine and of strong drink: he shall even be the prophet of this people.

12 And I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel, I will cut them together as the sheep of Bozrah, as the flock in the midst of their fold: they shall make great noise by reason of the multitude of men.

13 The breaker is come up before them: they have broken up, and have passed through the gate, and are gone out by it, and their king shall pass before them, and the L. o m w on the head of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The cruelty of the prince. 4 The fallow of the people. 8 The fountain of the well.

AND I said, Woe, I may you, O house of Jacob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: is it not for you to know judgement?

2 Who hate the good, and love the evil, who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones:

3 Who also eat the flesh of my people, and slay their skin from off them, and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the cauldron.

4 Then shall they cry unto the L. o m w, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have despised themselves in their doings.

5 Thus saith the L. o m w concerning the prophets that make my people erre, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Woe: and be that putter not into their mouths, they even prepare warre against him.

Chap. 11.

6 Therefore night shall be unto you, that ye shall not have a vision, and it shall be dark unto you: that ye shall not divine, and the flame shall go down over the prophets, & the day shall be dark over them.

For, from a vision.

7 Then shall the stars be ashamed, and the diviners confounded: yea, they shall all cover their lips, for there is no answer of God.

For, from divining.

8 But truly I am full of power by the spirit of the L. o m w, and of judgement and of might, to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

For, up.

9 Woe, I may you, ye heads of the house of Jacob, and princes of the house of Israel, that abhorre judgement, and pervert all equity.

10 They build up Zion with blood, and Jerusalem with iniquity.

Ezek. 22. 17

11 The heads thereof judge for reward, and the pillars thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof define for money: yet will they lean upon the L. o m w, and say, Is not the L. o m w among us? none evil can come upon us.

For, saying.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house, as the high places of the forest.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The glory, 3 peace, 8 kingdom, 11 and vision of the church.

BUT in the last dayes it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the L. o m w shall be established in the top of the mountains, & it shall be exalted above the hills, and people shall flow unto it.

Isa. 2. 2, 3

2 And many nations shall come, & say, Come and let us go up to the mountain of the L. o m w, and to the house of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his wayes, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the L. o m w from Jerusalem.

3 And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afarre off, and they shall beat their breasts into a plowshare, and their spears into a pruning-hook: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn warre any more.

Isa. 2. 4
Joel 3. 10
For, such.

4 But they shall sit every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the L. o m w of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walk every one in the name name of his god, and we will walk in the name of the L. o. m. o. our God for ever and ever.

6 In that day, ſaith the L. o. m. o., will I aſſemble her that hath ſcattered, and I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted.

7 And I will make her that I have ſcattered, a remnant; and her that was caſt farre off, a ſtrong nation; and the L. o. m. o. ſhall reign over them in mount Zion, from henceforth even for ever.

8 And thou, O tower of the ſtock, the ſtrong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee ſhall it come, even the ſirſt dominion, the kingdome ſhall come to the daughter of Jeerusalem.

9 How wilt thou crye out aloud: is there no king in thee? is thy counſeller periſhed? for pangs have taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Be in pain, and labour to bring forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail: for now ſhalt thou go forth out of the citie, and thou ſhalt dwell in the field, and thou ſhalt go even to Babylon: there ſhalt thou be delivered: there the L. o. m. o. ſhall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 ¶ How alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, that ſay, Let her be deſtroyed, and let our eye look upon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the L. o. m. o., neither underſtand they his counſels: ſo ſhall he gather them as the ſheaves into the ſloeve.

13 And ſaith the L. o. m. o., daughter of Jeerusalem: I will make thee down iron, and I will make thy poſts braſſe, and thou ſhalt beat in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their gain unto thee, and their ſubſtance unto the L. o. m. o., and their idols ſhall be their idols.

CHAP. V.

1 The birth of Chriſt, 4 His kingdome. 8 His coming.

NOW gather the ſelf in troups, O daughter of troups: he hath laid ſiege againſt us, they ſhall ſmite the judges of Iſrael with a rod upon the cheek.

2 But thou O Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thouſands of Judah, yet out of thee ſhall he come forth unto us, that is to be ruler in Iſrael: whoſe goings forth have been from of old, from ſeternall.

3 Therefore will he give them up, untill the time that he ſhall ſend forth his ſervants: then the remnant of his brethren ſhall return unto the children of Iſrael.

4 And he ſhall ſtand and ſee in the ſtrength of the L. o. m. o., in the maſſe of the name of the L. o. m. o. his God, and they ſhall ſhake: for now ſhall he be great unto the endes of the earth.

5 And this man ſhall be the peace when the Aſſyrian ſhall come into our land: and when he ſhall tread in our palaces, then ſhall we ſaie againſt him ſeven ſhepherds, and eight principal men.

6 And they ſhall ſtroke the land of Aſſyria with the ſword, and the land of Aſſyria in the ſtrength thereof: thus ſhall he beſtroye us from the Aſſyrian when he cometh into our land, and when he be treaden within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be in the midſt of many people, as a den from the L. o. m. o.: as the ſhewes upon the graſſe, that carrieth not ſeed, nor ſoweth for the ſowing of men.

8 And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be among the Gentiles in the midſt of many people, as a lion among the beaſts of the foreſt, as a young lion among the ſtock of Iſrael: who if he go though, doth treadeth down, and treadeth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lift up upon thine adverſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the L. o. m. o., that I will cut off thy hautes out of the midſt of thee, and I will deſtroy thy chariots.

11 And I will cut off the cities of the land, and I will bring down all thy ſtrong holds.

12 And I will cut off witchcrafters out of thee, and thou ſhalt have no more ſooth ſayers.

13 Thy graven images alſo will I cut off, and thy ſtanding images out of the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the work of thine hands.

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midſt of thee: to will I deſtroy thy cities.

15 And I will create ſengments in anger, and fury upon the heathen, ſuch as they have not heard.

CHAP. VI.

1 Gods controverſie for unkindenes, 6 for ignorances, 10 for injuſtice, 16 and for idollary.

WILL ye not ſay unto the L. o. m. o. ſaith, Ariſe, I contend thou ſbefore the mountains, and let the hills heare thy voice.

2 Heare ye, O mountains, the L. o. m. o. controverſie, and ye ſtrong foundations of the earth: for the L. o. m. o. hath a controverſie with his people, and he will plead with Iſrael.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee, and wherein have I wearied thee? ſetle thee againſt me.

4 For I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſervants, and I ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak King of Moab conſidered, and what Balaam ſonne of Beor answered him from Moab unto Ogil: that ye may know the righteouſneſſe of the L. o. m. o.

6 ¶ Wherefore ſhall I come before thee, L. o. m. o. and how my ſelf before the high God? ſhall I come before him with burnt-offerings, with calves of a year old?

7 Will the L. o. m. o. be pleaſed with thouſands of rammes, or with ten thouſands of ſheepes of byre? ſhall I give my calf-bugs for my tranſgation, the fruit of my body for the ſinne of my ſoul?

8 He hath ſpoiled thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the L. o. m. o. requite of thee, but to do juſtly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?

9 The L. o. m. o. voice crieth unto the city, and ſaith the man of wiſedome ſhall ſee the name: heare ye the royn, and who hath appointed it?

10 ¶ Are there yet the traitours of wickedneſſe in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſtammerer that is abominable?

11 ¶ Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of unrighteous weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſick in ſmiting thee, in making thee deſolate becauſe of thy finnes.

14 Thou ſaiteſt, but not be ſcattered, and thy falling down ſhall be in the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt take hold, but ſhalt not be ſaved: and that which thou deſireſt, will I give up to thee.

The miserable ruine of Nineveh.

W O to the city, it is full of lies and robbery, the way prepared not. The noise of a whip, and the noise of the rattling of the wheels, and of the panning of sieves, and of the jumping chariots.

The horseman lifted up both the bright sword, and the glittering spear, and there is a multitude of slain, and a great number of carcases; and there is none end of their corpses: they stumble upon their corpses.

Because of the multitude of the iniquities of the well-favoured harlot, the mistress of witchcrafts, that seduced nations through her whoredoms, and families through her witchcrafts.

Behold, I am against thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will discover thy skirts upon thy face, and I will shew the nations thy nakedness, and the kingdoms thy shame.

And I will cast abominable filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a going-stone.

And it shall come to pass, that all they that look upon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is laid waste: who will dwell there? whence shall I seek comforters for thee?

Art thou better than the populous sea, that was situate among the rivers, that had the waters round about it, whose rampart was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and it was infinite, but Lubim were thy helpers. Yet was she carried away, they went into captivity: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the top of all the streets: and they cast lots for her honourable men, and all her great men were bound in chains.

Thou also shalt be drunken, thou shalt be his, thou also shalt seek strength because of the enemy.

All thy strong holds shall be like fig-trees with the first ripe figs: if they be shaken they shall even fall into the mouth of the eater.

Behold, the people in the midst of thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be left open unto thine enemies, the fire shall devour thy barriers.

Do to thee waters for the siege, fortify thy strong holds: go into clay and tread the mortar, make strong the brick-kiln.

There shall the fire devour thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eat thee up like the cankerworm: make thyself many as the cankerworm, make thyself many as the locusts.

Thou hast multiplied thy merchants above the stars of heaven: the cankerworm shall spoil thee, and the locust shall devour thee.

Thy crowned are as the locusts, and thy captains as the great grasshoppers which camp in the hedges in the cold day: but when the sunn ariseth they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

Thy shepherds slumber, O king of Assyria: thy nobles shall dwell in the dust: thy people is scattered upon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

There is no healing of thy bruise: thy wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of thee shall clap the hands over thee: for upon whom hath not thy wickedness passed continually?

CHAP. II.

The fearful and victorious armies of God against Nineveh.

H E that dasheth in pieces is come up before thy face: keep the munition, watch the way, make thy loyns strong, fortifie thy power mightily.

For the Lord hath turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Israel: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine-branches.

The shield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in scarlet: the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fire-trees shall be terribly shaken.

The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall justle one against another in the broad wayes: they shall run like torches, they shall runne like the lightnings.

Ye shall recount his worthies: they shall stumble in their walk: they shall make halt to the wall thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

The gates of the rivers shall be opened, and the palace shall be dissolved.

And Huzzab shall beset away captive: she shall be brought up, and her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves, tabying upon their breasts.

But Nineveh is of old like a pool of water: yet they shall flee away, stand, stand, shall they cry; but none shall look back.

Take ye the spoil of silver, take the spoil of gold: for there is none end of the store, and glory out of all the pleasant furniture.

She is empty, and void, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and much pain is in all loyns, and the faces of them all gather blackness.

Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the feeding place of the young lions: where the lion, even the old lion walked, and the lions whelp, and none made them afraid.

The lion did rear in pieces enough for his whelps, and strangled for his lionesses, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with ravine.

Behold, I am against thee, saith the Lord of hosts, I will burn her chariots in the smok, and the sword shall devour the young lions, and I will cut off thy prey from the earth, and the voice of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

CHAP. I.

1 Unto Habakkuk complaining of the iniquity of the land: 14 is shewed the fearful vengeance by the Caldeans. 12 He complaineth that vengeance should be executed by them who are farre worse.

THE burden which Habakkuk the prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare! even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not save!

3 For by dost thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance: for spoiling and violence are before me: and there art thou that raisest up strife and contention.

4 Therefore the law is slacke, and judgement doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compass about the righteous: therefore shalpe judgement proceede.

5 Behold ye among the heathen, and regard and wonder marvellously: for I will work a work in your eyes, which ye will not believe, though it be told you.

6 For lo, I raise up the Caldeans, that bitter and haughty nation, which shall march through the breadth of the land, to possess the dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and dreadful: their judgement and their dignitie shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the evening wolves: and their horsemen shall spread themselves, and their bowmen shall come from farre, they shall sit as the eagle that hasteth to eat.

9 They shall come all for violence: their faces shall stir up as the east wind, and they shall gather the captivity as the land.

10 And they shall scoff at the kings, and the princes shall be a scorn unto them: they shall deride every strong hold, for they shall heap dust and take it.

11 Then shall his minde change, and he shall passe over, and offend, imputing this his power unto his god.

12 Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for judgement, and O mighty God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of purer eyes then to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity: therefore lookest thou upon them that deal treacherously, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous then he.

14 And maketh men as the fishes of the sea, and creepeth things that have no ruler over them.

15 They take up all of them with the angle: they catch them in their net, and gather them in their dagge; therefore they rejoyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice unto their net, and burn incense unto their dagge: because by them their portion is fat, and their meat is plentiful.

17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not care continually to slay the nations?

CHAP. II.

1 Unto Habakkuk waiting for an answer, is shewed that he must wait by faith. 5 The judgement upon the Caldeans for uncharitableness, 9 for covetousnesse, 12 for cruelty, 15 for drunkennesse, 18 and for idolatry.

I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what he will say I unto me, and what I shall answer him when I am reproved.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it, because it will surely come, it will not tarry.

4 Behold, his soul which is lifted up, is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith.

5 Alas, because he is transgressed by wine, he is a proud man, neither keepeth at home, whose enlarged his desire as hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and draweth unto him all people:

6 Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, He is a man to whom we have increased that which is not his: how long, and to him that loveth himself with thick clay.

7 Shall they not rise up suddenly that shall bite thee, and awake that shall vex thee, and thou shalt be for booties unto them?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil thee: because of mens blood, and for the violence of the land, of the citie, and of all that dwell therein.

9 And to him that he coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may let his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil.

10 Thou hast despised shame to thy house, by cutting off many people, and hast thinned against thy soul.

11 For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber shall answer it.

12 And thou shalt build a city by iniquity, a blood, and shalt establish a city by iniquity.

13 Behold, is it not of the Lord? of holiness, that the people shall labour in the very fire, and the people shall weary themselves for very vanity.

14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

15 And thou shalt say unto him that dwelleth in his house, that thou shalt say to him, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest look on their nakedness.

16 Thou art filled with shame for glory: think thou also, and let thy foolishness be uncovered: the cup of the Lord is in his right hand, and shall be turned unto thee, and shall make thee drunk.

17 For the violence of Lebanon shall cover thee: and the spoil of beasts which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the violence of the land, and of all that dwell therein.

18 And thou shalt profane the graven image, that the maker thereof hath graven in the molten image, and a teacher of lies, that the maker of

1 Habakkuk in his prayer trembleth at Gods majesty. 17 The confidence of his faith.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the prophet upon Sion.

2 O Lord, I have heard thy speech, and was afraid: O Lord, I tremble thy work in the midst of the years, in the midst of the years make known; in wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise.

4 And his brightness was as the light, he had arms coming out of his hand, and there was the shadow of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coals went forth at his feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth: he beheld, and drove under the nations, & the everlasting mountains were scattered, the perpetual hills did dissolve, his wayes are everlasting.

7 I saw the tents of Cushan in affliction: and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord displeased against the rivers? was thine anger against the rivers? was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didst ride upon thine horses, and thy chariots of salvation?

9 Thy bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even thy bow. Selah.

1 Thou didst cleave the earth with rivers.

2 The mountains saw thee, and they trembled: the overflowing of the water passed by:
the deep uttered his voice, and lift up his hands on high.

3 The sunne and moon stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the shining of thy glittering spear.

4 Thou didst march through the land in indignation, thou didst thresh the heathen in anger.

5 Thou wentest forth for the salvation of the people, even for salvation with thine anointed, thou mountest the head out of the house of the wicked, by discovering the foundation unto the neck. Selah.

6 Thou didst strike through with his staves the head of his villages: they came out as a flood, and thou didst scatter them: their rejoycing was as to remove the poor secretly.

7 Thou didst walk through the sea with thine horses, through the heap of great waters.

8 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips quivered at the voice: rottenness entered into my bones, and I trembled in my self, that I might rest in the day of trouble: when he cometh up unto the people, he will invade them with his troups.

9 Although the fig-tree shall not blosom, neither shall fruit be in the vines, the labour of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat, the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stall:

10 Yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation.

will make my feet like hinds feet, and he will make me to walk upon mine high places. To the

CHAP. I.

Gods severe judgements against Judah for divers sins.

The word of the Lord which came unto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Ged-aliah, the sonne of Amariah, in the dayes of Josiah, the sonne of Amos king of Judah.

2 I will utterly consume all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will consume man and beast: I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith
the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hands upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the chemarims with the priests:

5 And them that worship the host of heaven upon the house-tops, and them that worship, and that swear by the Lord, and that swear by Be-lshazzar:

6 And them that are turned back from the Lord, and those that have not sought the Lord, nor enquired for him.

7 Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand:
for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath bid his guests.

8 And it shall come to pass in the day of the Lord, that I will punish the princes, and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, who fill their masters houses with violence and deceit.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord, that there shall be the noise of a crie from the fish-gate, and an howling from the second, and a great crashing from the hills.

11 Howel ye inhabitants of Sparth: for all the merchant people are cut down: all they that bear silver are cut off.

12 And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with candles, and punish the men that are idle in their hearts: they say in their heart, the Lord will not do good, neither will he do evil.

13 Therefore their goods shall become a bottle, and their houses a desolation: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.

is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of Gods judgement against Judah, Zephaniah. the Philistines, Moab, &c.

580 the day of the L o a m : the mighty man shall die there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of * wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarm against the fenced cities and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the L o a m, and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the L o a m : s wrath, but the whole land shall be * devoured by the fire of his jealousy : for he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

1 An exhortation to repentance. 4 The judgement of the Philistines, 8 of Moab and Ammon, 12 of Ethiopia and Assyria.

Gather your selves together, yea, gather together, O nation : not desired.

2 Before the decree bring forth, before the day pass as the chaff, before the fierce anger of the L o a m come upon you, before the day of the L o a m s anger come upon you.

3 Seek ye the L o a m, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgement : seek righteousness, seek meekness : it may be, ye shall be hid in the day of the L o a m s anger.

4 For Gaza shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon a desolation : they shall dwel out Ashdod at the noon day, and Ekron shall be rooted up.

5 Who unto the inhabitants of the sea-coast, the nation of the Cherethites : the word of the Lord is against you : O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will even destroy thee, that there shall be no inhabitant.

6 And the sea-coast shall be dwellings and cottages, for shepherds, and folds for flocks.

7 And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Judah, they shall feed thereupon, in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lie down in the evening : for the L o a m their God shall visit them, and turn away their captivity.

8 I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my people, and magnified themselves against my border.

9 Therefore as I live, saith the L o a m of hosts the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and sal-pits, and a perpetual desolation, the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

10 Thus shall they have for thy pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the L o a m of hosts.

11 The L o a m will be terrible unto them :
for he will * famish all the gods of the earth, and men shall worship him, every one from his place even all the isles of the heathen.

12 O Ye Ethiopians also, ye shall be slain by my sword.

13 And he will stretch out his hand against the north, and destroy Assyria, and will make Nineveh a desolation, and will like a wilderness.

14 And flocks shall lie down in the midst of her, all the beasts of the nations : both the * cormorant and the bittern shall lodge in the upper lindels of it : their voice shall sing in the windows, desolation shall be in the char-holds : for he shall uncover the cedar work.

15 This is the rejoicing city that dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, * I am, and there verelis none beside me : how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in ! every one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wagge his hand.

CHAP. III.

1 A sharp reproof of Jerusalem for divers sinnes.
8 An exhortation to wait for the restoration of Israel, 14 and to rejoyce for their salvation by God.

W D to ! her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city.

2 She obeyed not the voice : she received not reproction : she trusted not in the L o a m : she said, I will not need to fear God.

3 Her princes within her are roaring lions ; her judges are evening wolves, they gnaw out the bones till the morning.

4 Her * prophets are light and treacherous :
persons : her priests have polluted the sanctuary,
they have done * violence to the law.

5 The just L o a m is in the midst thereof : he will not do iniquity : * every morning doth he bring his judgement to light, he saileth not, but the unjust knoweth no shame.

6 I have cut off the nations : their * towers are desolate, I made their streets waste, that none passeth by : their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt fear me : thou wilt receive instruction, so that thy dwelling should not be cut off, howsoever I punished them : but they rose early, and corrupted all their doings.

8 Therefore wait ye upon me, saith the L o a m, until the day that I rise up to the prey :
for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger : for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my * jealousy.

9 For then will I turn to the people a pure
* language, that they may all call upon the name of the L o a m, to serve him with one * consent.

10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, my suppliants, even the daughter of my dispersed shall bring mine offering.

11 In that day shall thou not be ashamed for all thy doings, wherein thou hast transgressed against me : for then I will take away out of the midst of thee them that rejoyce in thy pride, and thou shalt no more be haughtie : because of my holy mountain.

12 I will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the L o a m.

13 The remnant of Israel shall not do iniquity, nor speak lies : neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth : for they shall feed and lie down, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Sing, O * daughter of Zion, shout O
Israel, be glad and rejoyce with all the heart,
O daughter of Jerusalem.

15 The L o a m hath taken away thy judgements, he hath cast out thine enemy : the king of Israel, even the L o a m is in the midst of thee :
thou shalt not be still any more.

Haggai encourageth the people Chap. i.ii. to the building of the temple.

16 In that day it shall be said to Jerusalem, Fear thou not, and to Zion, Let not thine hands be slack.

17 The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty: he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy: he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing.

18 I will gather them that are sorrowfull for the solemn assembly, who are of thee, to whom the reproach of it was a burden.

19 I will shake at that time I will shake all that stand there, and I will shake the earth, and I will gather her that was driven out, and I will get them praise and fame in every land, where they have been put to shame.

20 At that time will I bring you again, even in the time that I gather you: for I will make you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turn back your captivity before your eyes, saith the Lord.

181 Micah. 4. 4. I will let them for a praise. 182 of their shame.

CHAP. I.

1 Haggai reprooveth the people for neglecting the building of the house. 7 He inciteth them to the building. 12 He promisseth Gods assistance to them being forward.

1 In the second yeare of Darius the king, in the sixth moneth, in the first day of the moneth came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet unto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the sonne of Josedech the high priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not come, the time that the Lord's house should be built.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet, saying,

4 Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cieled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your waies.

6 Ye have sown much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye have not enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled with drinke: ye clothe you, but there is none warme: and ye that earneith wages, earneith wages to put it into a bag with holes.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your waies.

8 Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house: and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow upon it: why saith the Lord of hosts? because of mine house that is waste, and ye run every man unto his own house.

10 Therefore saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, the earth is layed from her fruit.

11 And I called for a yongue upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the coyn, and upon the new wine, and upon the oyl, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth, and upon men, and upon cattell, and upon all the labour of the hands.

12 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Joshua the sonne of Josedech the high priest, with all the remnant of the people obeyed the voice of the Lord their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, (as the Lord their God had sent him) and the people did fear before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lord's messenger in the Lord's message unto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the sonne of Jo-sedech the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came and did work in the house of the Lord of hosts their God.

15 In the four and twentieth day of the fifth moneth, in the second yeare of Darius the king.

CHAP. II.

1 He encourageth the people to the work, by promise of greater glory to the second temple, then was in the first. 10 In the type of holy things and vessels, he sheweth their sinnes hindered the work. 20 Gods promise to Zerubbabel.

1 In the seventh moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the prophet Haggai, saying,

2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and to Joshua the sonne of Josedech the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

3 Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do ye see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it, as nothing?

4 Yet now be strong, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be strong, O Joshua, sonne of Josedech the high priest, and be strong all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and work: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hosts;

5 According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt: so my spirit remaineth among you: fear ye not.

6 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, God of Israel, once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land.

7 And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hosts.

8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts.

9 The glory of this latter house shall be greater then of the former, saith the Lord of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of hosts.

10 In the four and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeare of Darius came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet, saying,

11 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying,

12 If one bear holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt he touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oyl, or any meat, shall it be holy? and the priests answered and said, No.

13 Then said Haggai, If one that is unclean by a dead body touch any of these, shall it be unclean? and the priests answered and said, It shall be unclean.

15 And now, I say you, consider from this day and upward, from before a stone was laid upon a stone in the temple of the Lord.
16 Which those dayes were, when one came to an heap of thorny measures, these were hurt ten: when one came to the thresh-sat for to mow out fifty vessels out of the thresh, there were but thirtiety.
17 I smote you with blessing, and with increase, and with hail, in all the labours of your hands: yet ye turned not to me, saith the Lord.
18 Consider now from this day, and upward from the four, and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lord's temple was laid, consider it.
19 Is the seed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the wine and the fig-tree, and the vine-grape, and the olive-tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

20 ¶ And again the word of the Lord came unto Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, saying,
21 ¶ Speak to Zerubbabel governor of Judah, saying, I will shake the heavens and the earth, 22 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them, and the horses and their riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother.
23 In that day, saith the Lord of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my servant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord of hosts.

CHAP. I.

¶ Zechariah exhorteth to repentance. 7 The vision of the horses. 12 At the prayer of the angel comfortable promises are made to Jerusalem. 18 The vision of the four horns, and the four carpenters.

In the eighth moneth, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah, the sonne of Barachiah, the seer, saying,
¶ And the prophet, saying,

1 The Lord hath been kind unto you, and hath been kind unto your fathers.

2 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Turn ye unto me, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the Lord of hosts.

3 ¶ And ye were as your fathers, unto whom the former prophets have cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Turn ye now from your evil doings, and from your evil thoughts: but they did not heare, nor hearken unto me, saith the Lord.
4 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever?

5 ¶ But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not make hold of your fathers? and they returned and said, Like as the Lord of hosts thought to do unto us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so hath he dealt with us.

6 ¶ Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Sebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah, the sonne of Barachiah, the sonne of Iddo the prophet, saying,

7 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom, and behind him were there red horses, I speckled and white.

8 ¶ Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me, said unto me, I will shew thee what these be.

9 And the man that stood among the myrtle-trees answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to walk to and fro through the earth.

10 And they answered the angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrtle-trees, and said, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and behold, all the earth is desolate, and is at rest.

11 ¶ Then the angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Jerusalem, and on the cities of Judah, against which thou hast indignation these threescore and ten years?

12 ¶ And the Lord answered the angel that talked with me, with good words, and comfortable words.

13 ¶ So the angel that commanded with me, said unto me, Cry thou, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am jealous for Jerusalem, and for the cities of Judah, with a great jealousy.

14 ¶ And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease: for I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction.

15 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am returned to Jerusalem with mercies: my house shall be built in it, saith the Lord of hosts, and a line shall be stretched forth upon Jerusalem.

16 ¶ Cry yet, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, My cities through prosperity shall yet be spread abroad, and the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose Jerusalem.

17 ¶ Then lift I up mine eyes, and said, and behold four horns.

18 ¶ And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these? and he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.

19 ¶ And the Lord shewed me four carpenters.

20 ¶ Then said I, What come these to do? and he spake, saying, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, so that no man did lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which lift up their horn over the land of Judah to scatter it.

Or, every one of this people that healeth, holdeth himself guiltless as it doth.

3 When said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth once the face of the labourer each day: for every one that healeth, shall he cut off as on this line, according to it: and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off as on that flint, according to it.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord, of doles, and it shall enter into the house of the chief, and into the house of him that sweareth falsely by my name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and the stones thereof.

5 When the angel that talked with me, went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? and he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth.

Or, weighty piece.

7 And behold, there was lift up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah.

8 And he said, This is wickedness; and he cast it into the midst of the ephah, and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings, (for they had wings like the wings of a flock,) and they lift up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?

11 And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established, and set there upon her own base.

CHAP. VI.

1 The vision of the four chariots. 9 By the crowns of Joshua, is shewed the temple and kingdom of Christ the Branch.

And I turned, and lift up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of brass.

2 In the first chariot were red horses, and in the second chariot black horses.

3 And in the third chariot white horses, and in the fourth chariot gristled, and I say horses.

Or, strong.

4 Then I answered, and said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these, my lord?

Or, winds.

5 And the angel answered and said unto me, These are the four spirits of the heavens, which go forth from standing before the Lord of all the earth.

6 The black horses which are therein, go forth into the north country, and the white go forth after them, and the gristled go forth toward the south country.

7 And the bay went forth, and sought to go, that they might walk to and fro through the earth; and he said, Get ye hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth.

8 Then cried he upon me, and spake unto me, saying, Behold, these that go toward the north country have quieted my spirit in the north country.

9 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Babel, of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, which are come from Babylon, and come thou the same day, and go into the house of Josiah the son of Jephaniah.

11 Then take silver and gold, and make crowns, and set them upon the head of Joshua, the son of Jathub, the high priest.

12 And speak unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall grow up out of his place, and he shall build the temple of the Lord.

Chap. 3. 8. Or, branch up from under him.

13 When he shall build the temple of the Lord, and he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne, and he shall be a priest upon his throne, and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.

14 And the crowns shall be to Jehoiakim, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to them the sons of Jephaniah, to a memorial in the temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are far off shall come and build in the temple of the Lord, and ye shall know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me unto you. And this shall come to pass, if ye will diligently obey the voice of the Lord your God.

CHAP. VII.

1 The captives enquire of fasting. 4 Zechariah reproves their fasting. 8 Sinne the cause of their captivity.

And it came to pass in the fourth year of the king Darius, that the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chisleu.

5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the priests, saying, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fifth and seventh month, even these seventy years, did ye at all fast unto me, even to me?

CHAP. VIII.

1 The restoration of Jerusalem. 9 They are encouraged to the building by Gods favour to them. 16 Good works are required of them. 18 Joy and enlargement are promised.

Again the word of the Lord of hosts came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, * I was jealous for Zion, with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am returned unto Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and Jerusalem shall be called a city of truth, and the mountain of the Lord of hosts, the holy mountain.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Jerusalem, and every man with his staff in his hand: for they shall be full of days.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of hopes and girls playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, should it also be marvellous in mine eyes? saith the Lord of hosts.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will save my people from the east-country, and from the west-country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Let your hands be strong, ye that bear in these days their burden by the mouth of the prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was laid: that the temple might be built.

10 For before these days I there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in, because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not be unto the remnant of this people, as in the former days, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous, the vine shall give her fruit, and the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel; so will I save you, and ye shall be a blessing: fear not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, saith the Lord of hosts; and I repented not:

15 So again have I thought in these days, as to well unto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah: fear ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do, * Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour: + create the judgement of truth and peace in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbour, and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, saith the Lord of hosts.

18 And the word of the Lord of hosts came unto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth shall be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and cheerful full + feasts, therefore love the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, It shall yet come to passe, that there shall come people, and the inhabitants of many cities.

21 And the inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, Let us go! + specially to pray before the Lord of hosts, and to seek the Lord of hosts: I will go also.

22 For many people and strong nations shall come to seek the Lord of hosts in Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord of hosts.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those days it shall come to passe, that ten men shall take hold out of all languages of the nations, even shall take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, We will go with you: for we have heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 God defendeth his church. 9 Zion is exhorted to rejoice for the coming of Christ, and his peaceable kingdom. 12 Gods promises of victory and defence.

The burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hamath, and Damascus shall be the rest thereof: when the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord of hosts.

2 And Hamath also shall hold thereby; Tyrus and Sidon, though it be very wise.

3 And Tyrus also shall build her self a strong hold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and fine gold as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will cast her out, and he will smite her power in the sea, and she shall be devoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and fear; Gaza also shall see it, and be very sorrowful, and Ekron: for her expectation shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And a banner shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remained, when he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebusite.

8 And I will encamp about mine house because of the army, because of him that passeth by, and because of him that returneth; and no oppressor shall pass through them any more: for now have I seen with mine eyes.

9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; + mount, O daughter of Jerusalem: behold, thy king cometh unto thee: he is just, and saving; salvation, to thy, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt, the foal of an ass.

10 And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem, and the battle

11 As for thee also, by the blood of the covenant, I have sent forth thy * prisoners out of the pit, wherein is no water.

12 ¶ Then ye to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope, even to day do I declare, that I will render double unto thee.

13 ¶ When I have bent Judah for me, filled the bow with Ephraim, and raised up the sonnes of Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grece; and made thee as the sword of a mighty man:

14 And the Lord shall be seen over them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: the Lord shall blow the trumpet, and shall go forth with whirlwinds of the south.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall devour, and flabrous with sling-stones, and they shall drink, and make a noise as though wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the corners of the altar.

16 And the Lord shall God shall have them in that day as the flock of his people, for they shall be as the stones of a crown, lifted up as an ensigne upon his land.

17 For how great is his goodesse, and how great is his beautie: can shall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids.

CHAP. X.

1 God is to be fought unto, and not idols. 2 As he visited his flock for some, so he will save and restore them.

Aske ye of the Lord rain in the time of the latter rain, so the Lord shall make bright clouds, and give them showers of rain, to every one grass in the field.

2 For the * idols have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie, and have told false dreams, they comfort in vain: therefore they went their way as a flock, they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

3 Mine anger was kindled against the shepherds, and I punished the goats: for the Lord of hosts hath visited his flock the house of Judah, and hath made them as his goodly house in the battell.

4 Out of him came forth the corner, out of him the staff, out of him the battell-hou, out of him every opposer: together.

5 ¶ And they shall be as mighty men, which tread down their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again to place them: for I have mercy upon them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will beare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man, and their heart shall rejoyce, as though wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be gladd, their heart shall rejoyce in the Lord.

8 I will hiss for them, and gather them; for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase as they have increased.

9 And I will sow them among the people: and they shall remember me in farre countries, and they shall live with their children, and turn again, so I will bring them again: also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria, and I will bring them into the land of Soudan and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall passe through the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the deepe of the river shall drie up: and the pride of Assyria shall be brought down, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walk up and down in his name, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of Jerusalem. 3 The elect being cared for, the rest are rejected. 10 The slaves of Babel, and Bands, broken by the rejection of Christ. 15 The type and cause of a foolish shepherd.

Open thy doores, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour thy cedars.

2 Howl firre-tree, for the cedar is fallen; because all the mighty are spoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Bashan, for the forest of the vintage is come down.

3 ¶ There is a voice of the howling of the shepherds; for their glory is spoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jordan is spoiled.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, feed the flock of the slaughter.

5 Why should possessors slay them, and hold themselves not guilty: and they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord, for I am rich: and their own shepherds pity them not.

6 For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord: but lo, I will deliver the men every one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king, and they shall smite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.

7 And I will feed the flock of slaughter, even you, O poor of the flock: and I took unto me two slaves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the flock.

8 These shepherds also I cut off in one month, and my soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let the rest eat every one the flesh of another.

10 ¶ And I took my staff, even Beauty, and cut it asunder: that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poor of the flock that waited upon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said unto them, If ye think good, give me my price; and if not, forbear: so they weighed for my price thirty pieces of silver.

13 And the Lord said unto me, Cast it unto the potter: a goodly price that I was valued at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 ¶ Then I cut asunder mine other staff, even Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 ¶ And the Lord said unto me, Take unto thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jerusalem a cup of trembling to her self, 3 and a burdensome stone to her adversaries, 6 The victorious restoring of Judah, 9 The repentance of Jerusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord for Israel, said the Lord, which stretched forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the spirit of man within him.

1 And I will make Jerusalem a cup of trembling unto all the people round about, when they shall be in the rage both against Judah, and against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all people: all that burden themselves with it, shall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, said the Lord, I will smite every house with astonishment, and his rider with madness, and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Judah, and will smite every house of the people with blindness.

5 And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, The inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the governors of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf, and they shall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left: and Jerusalem shall be inhabited again, in her own place, even in Jerusalem.

7 The Lord also shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David, and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, do not magnify themselves against Judah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and he that is feeble among them at that day shall be as David; and the house of David shall be as God, as the angel of the Lord before them.

9 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace, and of supplications, and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only sonne, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his first-born.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the mourning of Adammah, in the valley of Begedon.

12 And the land shall mourn, every family apart: the family of the house of David apart, and their wives apart; the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart;

13 The family of the house of Levi apart, and their wives apart; the family of Shimei apart, and their wives apart.

14 All the families that remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The fountain of purification for Jerusalem, 2 from idolatry, and false prophesie, 7 The death of Christ, and the trial of a third part.

In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sinne, and for uncleanness.

2 And it shall come to pass in that day, said the Lord, I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they shall no more be remembered: and also I will cause the prophets, and the unclean spirit to passe out of the land.

3 And it shall come to pass, that when any shall yet prophesie, then his father and his mother, that begat him, shall say unto him, Thou shalt not live; for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother, that begat him, shall thrust him through when he prophesieth.

4 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the prophets shall be ashamed every one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they wear a rough garment to deceive.

5 But he shall say, I am no prophet, I am an husbandman: for man taught me to keep cattell from my youth.

6 And one shall say unto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Awake, O wood, against my shepherds, and against the man that is my fellow, said the Lord, O wood of hosts: smite the shepherds, and the sheep shall be scattered: and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones.

8 And it shall come to pass, that in all the land, said the Lord, two parts therein shall be cut off, and die, but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people: and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destroyers of Jerusalem, destroyed, 4 The coming of Christ, and the graves of his kingdom, 12 The plague of Jerusalem's enemies, 16 The remnant shall swim to the Lord, 20, and their spoils shall be holy.

Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, and the spoil shall be divided in the midst of you.

For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battell, and the city shall be taken, and the houses rifled, and the women ravished, and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

3 Then shall the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day upon the the mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east, and the mount of Olives shall cleave in the midst thereof toward the east, and toward the west, and there shall be a very great valley, and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.

5 And ye shall flee to the valley of the mountains: for the valley of the mountains shall reach unto Jerusalem: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from before the earthquake in the days of Ahas king of Judah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

6 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the light shall not be clear, nor dark.

7 But it shall be one day which shall be known to the Lord as morning, not day nor night: but it shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light.

8 And it shall be in that day, that living waters shall go out from Jerusalem: half of them toward the former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea: in summer and in winter shall it be.

9 And the Lord shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his name one.

10 All the land shall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up and inhabited in her place: from Benjamin gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Benjamin unto the kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more utter destruction, but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the people, that have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.

13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that a great tumult from the Lord shall be among them, and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Judah also shall fight at Jerusalem, and the wealth of all the heathen round about shall be gathered together, gold, and silver, and apparel in great abundance.

15 And so shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the ass, and of all the beasts that shall be in their tents, as this plague.

16 And it shall come to pass that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem, shall even go up from year to year to worship the king, the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles.

17 And it shall be, that whoso will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem, to worship the king the Lord of hosts, even upon them shall be no rain.

18 And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come not, that have no rain: there shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite the heathen that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all nations that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses, HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD: and the pots in the Lord's house shall be like the bells before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah shall be holiness unto the Lord of hosts: and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and feed therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hosts.

MALACHI.

CHAP. I.

1 Malachi complaineth of Israel's unkindness, 6 Of their irreligiousness, 12 and profaneness.

1 WHAT is the burden of the word of the Lord to Israel? by Malachi.

2 I have loved you, saith the Lord, yet ye say, Wherein hath thou loved us? was not Chanaan Jacob's brother? saith the Lord.

3 And I loved Jacob, yet I hated Esau, and said his mountains, and his heritage waste, for the dragons of the wilderness.

4 Whereas Edom saith, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places: thus saith the Lord of hosts, They shall build, but I will throw down, and they shall call them, The border of wilderness, and the people against whom the Lord hath indignation for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified from the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a servant his master: if then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my fear? saith the Lord of hosts unto you, O priests that despise my name: and ye say, Wherein have we despised thy name?

7 Ye offer polluted bread upon mine altar, and ye say, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is contemptible.

8 And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now unto the governor, will he be pleased with thee, or accept the person? saith the Lord of hosts.

9 And now I pray you, direct to God that he will be gracious unto us: this hath been by your means: will he regard your persons? saith the Lord of hosts.

10 Who is there even among you that would shut the doores for naught: neither do ye kindle fire on mine altar for naught. I have no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hands.

11 For from the rising of the sunne even unto the going down of the same, my name shall be great among the Gentiles, and in every place there cense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering: for my name shall be great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 ¶ But ye have profaned it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord of hosts is polluted, and the fruit thereof, even his meat is contemptible.

13 ¶ He said also, Behold, what a weariness it is, and ye have made it so, saith the Lord of hosts, and ye brought that which was torn, and the same, and the sick: thus ye brought an offering: should I accept this of your hands? saith the Lord of hosts.

14 But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a male, and boweth and sacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, saith the Lord of hosts, and my name is spread full among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

1 He sharply reproveth the priests for neglecting their covenant, 11 and the people for idolatrie, 14 for adulterie, 17 and for infidelitie.

And now, O ye priests, this commandment is for you.

2 ¶ If ye will not heare, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, saith the Lord of hosts, I will even send a curse upon you, and I will curse your blessings: yea, I have cursed them already, because ye do not lay it to heart.

3 Behold, I will increase your seed, & I spread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts, and some shall take you away thence.

4 And ye shall know that I have sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Levi, saith the Lord of hosts.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gave them to him, for the fear wherewith he feared me, and was afraid before my name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turn many away from iniquitie.

7 For the priests lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hosts.

8 But ye are departed out of the way: ye have caused many to stumble at the law: ye have corrupted the covenant of Levi, saith the Lord of hosts.

9 Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as ye have not kept my wayes, but I have been partial in the law.

10 ¶ Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?

11 ¶ Judah hath dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Israel, and in Jerusalem: for Judah hath profaned the holiness of the Lord which he loved, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: the master and the scholar out of the tabernacles of Jacob, and him that offereth an offering unto the Lord of hosts.

13 And this have ye done again, covering the altar of the Lord with tears, with weeping, and with crying out, insomuch that he regardeth not the offering any more, or receiveth it with good will at your hand.

14 ¶ Yet ye say, Wherefore? Because the Lord of hosts hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast dealt treacherously: yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not be make one? yet had he the residue of the spirit: and therefore one that he might seek a goodly tree: and therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal treacherously against the wife of his youth.

16 For the Lord of hosts the God of Israel saith, I that he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the Lord of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that you deal not treacherously.

17 ¶ Ye have despised the Lord of hosts with your words: yet ye say, Wherein have we despised him? when ye say, Every one that doeth evil, is good in the sight of the Lord of hosts, and he delighteth in them, or where is the God of judgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger, majestie, and grace of Christ, 7 Of the rebellion, 8 sacrifice, 13 and infidelitie of the people, 16 The promise of blessing to them that fear God.

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord of hosts whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple: even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye desire: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hosts.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiners fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purifie the sonnes of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord of hosts an offering in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant unto the Lord of hosts, as in the days of old, and as in former years.

5 And I will come near to you to judge, and I will be a swift witness against the sojourners, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord of hosts, I change not: therefore ye sonnes of Jacob are not consumed.

7 ¶ When from the days of your fathers ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them: return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the Lord of hosts: but ye said, Wherein shall we return?

8 ¶ Will a man rob God? yet ye have robbed me: but ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

1 Josias his charge to the priests and Levites. 7 A great passover is kept. 32 His death is much lamented. 34 His successors. 53 The temple, cities, and people are destroyed. 56 The rest are carried into Babylon.

AND Josias held the feast of the passover in Jerusalem unto his Lord, and offered the passover the fourteenth day of the first month,

2 Having set the priests according to their daily courses, being arrayed in long garments in the temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake unto the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should hallow themselves unto the Lord, to set the holy ark of the Lord in the house that king Solomon the sonne of David had built:

4 And said, Ye shall now bear the ark upon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, and minister unto his people Israel, and prepare you after your families and kindreds,

5 According as David the king of Israel prescribed, and according to the magnificence of Solomon his sonne and standing in the temple according to the severall dignity of the families of you the Levites, who minister in the presence of your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer the passover in order, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keep the passover according to the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto Moses.

7 And unto the people that was found there, Josias gave thirty thousand lambs, and kids, and three thousand calves: these things were given of the kings allowance, according as he promised to the people, to the priests, and to the Levites.

8 And Helkias, Zacharias, and I Schias, the governors of the temple, gave to the priests for the passover, two thousand and six hundred sheep, and three hundred calves.

9 And Iechonias, and Samaias and Nathanael his brother, and Athabias, and Obiel, and Joram, captaines over thousands, gave to the Levites for the passover, five thousand sheep and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the priests and Levites having the unleavened bread, stood in very comely order according to the kindreds.

11 And according to the severall dignities of the fathers before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses: and thus did they in the morning.

12 And they roasted the passover with fire, as appertaineth: as for the sacrifices, they sod them in brasse pots, and pans, with a good labour.

13 And set them before all the people, and afterwards they prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the priests offered the fat until night: and the Levites prepared for themselves, and the priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 The holy fingers also the sonnes of Asaph, were in their order, according to the appointment of David, to wit, Asaph, Zacharias, and Jeduthun, who was of the kings retinue.

16 Moreover the porters were at every gate, it was not lawful for any to go from his ordinary service: for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

17 Thus were the things that belonged to the sacrifices of the Lord accomplished in that day, that they might hold the passover.

18 And offer sacrifices upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias.

19 So the children of Israel which were present, held the passover at that time, and the feast of seven bread seven days.

20 And such a passover was not kept in Israel since the time of the prophet Samuel.

21 Yea, all the kings of Israel held not such a passover as Josias, and the priests and the Levites, and the Jews held with all Israel that were found dwelling at Jerusalem.

22 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias was this passover kept.

23 And the works of Josias were upright before his Lord, with an heart full of godliness.

24 As for the things that came to passe in his time, they were written in former times, concerning those that sinned, and did wickedly against the Lord above all people and kingdoms, and how they grieved him exceedingly, so that the words of the Lord rose up against Israel.

25 Now after all these acts of Josias, it came to passe that Pharaoh the king of Egypt came to raise warre at Carchanis upon Cappadates, and Josias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, O king of Judah?

27 I am not sent out from the Lord God against thee: for my warre is upon Cappadates, and now the Lord is with me, yea, the Lord is with me, having me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 Howbeit Josias did not turn back his chariot from him, but undertook to fight with him, not regarding the words of the prophet Jeremiah, spoken by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he was battell with him in the plain of Megiddo, the princes came against king Josias.

30 Then said the king unto his servants, Carry with good speed, or willingly.

2. Chr. 35. 19.

Carrie me away out of the battell; for I am very weak: and immediately his servants took him away out of the battell.

31 Then gat he up upon his second chariot, and being brought back to Ierusalem, died, and was buried in his fathers sepulchre.

32 And in all Iury they mourned for Iosias, yea, Jeremie the prophet lamented for Iosias, & the chief men with the women made lamentation for him unto this day: and this was given out for an ordinance to be done continually in all the nation of Israel.

33 These things are written in the book of the stories of the kings of Iudah, & every one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his understanding in the law of the Lord, and the things that he had done before, and the things now recited, are recorded in the book of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 And the people took Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of Iosias his father, when he was twenty and three yeares old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: and then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 And he set a tax upon the land of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold.

37 The king of Egypt also made king Joacin his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Joacin and the nobles: but Saraces his brother he apprehended, and brought him out of Egypt.

39 Five and twenty yeares old was Joacin when he was made king in the land of Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did evil before the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him Nabuchodonosor, the king of Babylon came up, and bound him with a chain of brasse, and carried him unto Babylon.

41 Nabuchodonosor also took of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, and set them in his own temple at Babylon.

42 But those things that are recorded of him, and of his uncleanness and impiety, are written in the chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacin his sonne reigned in his stead: he was made king being eighteen yeares old;

44 And reigned but three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem: and did evil before the Lord.

45 So after a yeare Nabuchodonosor sent and caused him to be brought into Babylon, with the holy vessels of the Lord, 46 And made Zedekias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twenty yeares old, and he reigned eleven yeares.

47 And he did evil also in the sight of the Lord, and cared not for the words that were spoken unto him by the prophet Jeremie from the mouth of the Lord.

48 And after that king Nabuchodonosor had made him to sweare by the name of the Lord, he forswore himself and rebelled, and hardening his neck, and his heart, he transgressed the laws of the Lord God of Israel.

49 The governors also of the people & of the priests did many things against the laws, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and defiled the temple of the Lord which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Wherefore the Lord God of their fathers sent by his messenger to call them back, because he spared them and his tabernacle also.

51 But they had his messengers in derision, and look when the Lord spake unto them, they made a sport of his prophesies:

52 So saith forth, that he being wroth with his people for their great ungodliness, commanded the kings of the Caldees to come up against them;

53 Who slew their young men with the sword, yea even within the compass of their holy temple, and spared neither young man nor maid, old man nor child among them, for he delivered all into their hands.

54 And they took all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the ark of God, and the kings treasures, and carried them away into Babylon.

55 As for the house of the Lord, they burnt it, brake down the walls of Ierusalem, let fire upon her towers.

56 And as for her glorious things, they never ceased till they had consumed and brought them all to nought: and the people that were not slain with the sword, he carried unto Babylon.

57 Who became servants to him and his children, till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Jeremie:

58 Untill the land had enjoyed her sabbaths, the whole time of her desolation shall she rest untill the full term of seventy yeares.

CHAP. II.

I Cyrus is moved by God to build the temple, & giveth leave to the Jews to return and contribute to it. 11 He delivereth again the vessels which had been taken thence. 25 Answeres forbidde the Jews to build any more.

1 The first yeare of Cyrus king of the Persians, that the word of the Lord might be accomplished that he had promised by the mouth of Jeremie;

2 The Lord raised up the spirit of Cyrus the king of the Persians, and he made proclamation through all his kingdom, and also by writing,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel the most high Lord hath made me king of the whole world,

4 And commanded me to build him an house at Ierusalem in Iury.

5 If therefore there be any of you that are of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him go up to Ierusalem that is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: for he is the Lord that dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 Whosoever then dwell in the places about, let them help him (those I say that are his neighbours) with gold and with silver,

7 With gifts, with horses, and with cattell, and other things which have been set forth by vow, for the temple of the Lord at Ierusalem.

8 Then the chief of the families of Iudea and of the tribes of Benjamin stood up: the priests also and the Levites, and all they whose minde the Lord hath moved to go up, and to build an house for the Lord at Ierusalem,

9 And they that dwell round about them, and helped them in all things with silver and gold, with horses and cattell, and with very many free gifts of a great number whose minde were stirred up thereto.

10 King Cyrus also brought forth the holy vessels which Nabuchodonosor had carried away from Ierusalem, and had set up in his temple of idols.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them forth, he delivered them to Spithdates his treasurer:

12 And he him they were delivered to Samabassar the governor of Judea.

13 And this was the number of them, 4 thousand golden cups, and a thousand of silver, 7 censures of silver twenty nine, vials of gold thirty, and of silver 7 two thousand four hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and of silver, which were carried away, were 7 five thousand four hundred threescore and nine.

15 These were brought back by Samabassar, together with them of the captivity, from Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belenus, and Spithdates, and Cabellus, and 7 Rasthunis, Beelsethunis, and 7 Semellius the secretary, with others that were in commission with them, dwelling in Samaria and other places, wrote unto him against them this word in Judea and Jerusalem, their letters following:

17 O king Artaxerxes our lord, thy servants Rasthunis the scribe-writer, and Semellius the scribe, and the rest of their council, and the judges that are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 We it now knowen to the lord the king, that the Jews that are come up from you to us, being come into Jerusalem (that rebellious and wicked city) do build the market places, and repair the walls of it, and do lay the foundation of the temple.

19 Now if this city, and the walls thereof be made up again, they will not only refuse to give tribute, but also rebel against kings.

20 And so much as the things pertaining to the temple are now in hand, we think it meet not to neglect such a matter.

21 But to speak unto our lord the king, to the intent, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the books of thy fathers:

22 And thou shalt finde in the chronicles what is written concerning these things, and shalt understand that that city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities:

23 And that the Jews were rebellious, and raised alwayes warres therein; for the which cause then this city was made desolate.

24 Wherefore now we do declare unto thee, (O lord the king) that if this city be built again, and the walls thereof set up anew, thou shalt from henceforth have no passage into Coelosyria and Phenice.

25 When the king wrote back again to Rasthunis the scribe-writer, to Beelsethunis, to Semellius the scribe, and to the rest that were in commission, and dwellers in Samaria and Syria, and Phenice, after this manner:

26 I have read the epistle which ye have sent unto me: therefore I commanded to make diligent search, and it hath been found, that that city was from the beginning, practising against kings.

27 And the men therein were given to rebellion, and warre, and that mighty kings and herce were in Jerusalem, who reigned and exacted tributes in Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I have commanded to hinder those men from building the city, and heed to be taken that there be no more done in it:

29 And that those wicked workers proceed no further to the annoyance of kings.

30 When king Artaxerxes his letters, being read, Rasthunis, and Semellius the scribe, and the rest that were in commission with them, removing in haste towards Jerusalem with a troupe of horsemen, and 7 a multitude of people in battle array, began to hinder the builders; and the building of the temple in Jerusalem ceased until the second year of the reign of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

4 Three strive to excell each other in wise speachen. 9 They reserve themselves to the judgement of the king. 18 He first declareth the strength of wine.

NOW when Darius reigned, he made a great feast unto all his subjects, and unto all his household, and unto all the princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the governors and captains, and lieutenants that were under him, from India unto Ethiopia, of an hundred twenty and seven provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunken, and being satiated were gone home, then Darius the king went into his bed-chamber, and slept, and soon after awaked.

4 Then three young men that were of the guard, that kept the kings body, spake one to another.

5 Let every one of us speak a sentence: he that shall overcome, and whose sentence shall seem wiser then the others, unto him shall the king Darius give great gifts, and great things in token of victory:

6 As to be clothed in purple: to drink in gold, and to sleep upon gold, and a chariot with hidles of gold, and an head-piece of fine linen, and a chain about his neck:

7 And he shall sit next to Darius, because of his wisdom, and shall be called Darius his cousin.

8 And then every one wrote his sentence, sealed it, and laid it under king Darius his pillow.

9 And said, that when the king is risen, some will give him the writings, and of whose side the king and the three princes of Persia shall judge, that his sentence is the wisest, to him shall the victory be given, as was appointed.

10 The first wrote, Wine is the strongest.

11 The second wrote, The king is the strongest.

12 The third wrote, Women are strongest, but above all things, Truth beareth away the victory.

13 Now when the king was risen up, they took their writings and delivered them unto him, and to be read them.

14 And sending forth, he called all the princes of Persia and Media, and the governors, and the captains, and the lieutenants, and the chief officers,

15 And sat him down in the royal seat of judgement, and the writings were read before them:

16 And he said, Call the young men, and they shall declare their own sentences. So they were called, and came in.

17 And he said unto them, Declare unto us your minde concerning the writings. Then began the first, who had spoken of the strength of wine.

18 And he said thus, O ye men, how exceeding strong is wine; it cansteth all men to see that drink it.

[Cr, a great number of fouldiers.

[Or, counsel.

19 It maketh the minde of the king, and of the fatherless child, to be all one: of the bond-man and of the freeman, of the poore man and of the rich:

20 It turneth also every thought into folly and mischief, so that a man remembereth neither sorrow nor deede:

21 And it maketh every heart rich, so that a man remembereth neither king nor government; and it maketh to speak all things by talents:

22 And when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after drinke out swoons:

23 But when they are from the wine, they remember not what they have done.

24 O ye men, is not wine the strongest, that enforceeth to do thus? And when he had so spoken, he held his peace.

CHAP. III.

1 The second declareth the power of a king. 14 the third the force of women, 33 and of truth. 41 The third is judged to be wisest, 47 and obtaineth letters of the king to build Jerusalem. 58 He praiseth God, and sheweth his brethren what he had done.

Then the second that had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men, do not men excell in strength, that a bear rule over sea and land, and all things in them?

3 But yet the king is more mighty: for he is lord of all these things, and hath dominion over them, and whatsoever he commandeth them, they do.

4 If he bid them make warre the one against the other, they do it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go, and break down mountains, walls, and towers.

5 They slay and are slain, and vanquish not the kings commandment: if they get the victory, they bring all to the king, as well the spoil, as all things else.

6 Likewise for those that are no soldiers, and have not to do with warres, but use husbandry, when they have reaped again that which they had sown, they bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute unto the king.

7 And yet he is but one man: if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to spare, they spare:

8 If he command to smite, they smite; if he command to make desolate, they make desolate; if he command to build, they build:

9 If he command to cut down, they cut down; if he command to plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and his armies obey him: furthermore he lieth down, he eateth and drinketh, and taketh his rest.

11 And these keep (watch) round about him, neither may any one depart, and do his own business, neither disobey they him in any thing.

12 O ye men, how should not the king be mightiest, when in such sort he is obeyed? And he held his tongue.

13 When the third, who had spoken of women, and of the truth (this was Jorababel) began to speak

14 O ye men, it is not the great king, nor the multitude of men, neither is it wine that I exalt; who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordship over them? are they not women?

15 Women have bound the king and all the people, that bear rule by sea and land.

16 Even of them came they: and they nourished them up that planted the vineyards from whence the wine cometh.

17 These also make garments for men, these bring glory unto men; and without women cannot men be.

18 Sea, and if men have gathered together gold and silver, or any other goodly thing, do they not lose a woman, which is comely in favour and beauty?

19 And setting all those things go, do they not gape, and even with open mouth fix their eyes fall on her; and have not all men more desire unto her, then unto silver or gold, or any goodly thing whatsoever?

20 A man leaveth his own father that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife.

21 He sticks not to spend his life with his wife, and remembereth neither father nor mother, nor country.

22 By this also you must know, that women have dominion over you: do ye not labour and toil, and give and bring all to the woman?

23 Per a man taketh his sword, and goeth his way to rob, and to steal, to sail upon the sea, and upon rivers;

24 And looketh upon a lion, and goeth in the darkness; and when he hath stolen, spoiled and robbed, he bringeth it to his love.

25 And therefore a man loveth his wife better then father or mother.

26 Per many there be that have I run out of their wits for women, and become servants for their sakes.

27 Many also have perished, have erred, and sinned for women.

28 And now do ye not believe me? Is not the king great in his power? do not all regions fear to touch him?

29 Per did I see him and spare the kings concubine, the daughter of the admirable Bacchus, sitting at the right hand of the king, 30 And taking the crown from the kings head, and setting it upon her own head, she also stroke the king with her left hand.

31 And yet I for all this, the king gaped and gazed upon her with open mouth: if she laughed upon him, he laughed also: but if she took any displeasure at him, the king was fain to flatter, that she might be reconciled to him again.

32 O ye men, how can it be but women should be strong, seeing they do thus?

33 When the king and the princes looked one upon another: so he began to speak of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women strong? great is the earth, high is the heaven, swift is the sunne in his course, for he compasseth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his course again to his own place in one day.

35 Is he not great that maketh these things? therefore great is the truth, and stronger then all things.

36 All the earth I caller upon the truth, and the heaven blest it, all works shake and tremble at it, and with it is no unrighteous thing.

37 Wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, all the children of men are wicked, and such are all they wicked things, and there is no truth in them; in their unrighteousness also they shall perish.

38 As for the truth it endureth, and is alwayes strong, it liveth and conquereth for evermore.

39 And yet there is no accepting of persons, or rewards, but the doth the things that are just, and refrained from all unjust and wicked things, and all men do well like of her works.

40 Neither in her judgement is any unrighteousness, and he is the strength, kingdom, power, and majesty of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth.

41 And with that he held his peace: and all the people then shouted, and said, Great is truth, and mighty above all things.

42 Then said the king unto him, Ask what thou wilt more than is appointed in the writing, and we will give it thee, because thou art found wisest, and thou shalt sit next me, and shalt be called my counsellor.

43 Then said he unto the king, Remember thy word which thou hast vowed to build Jerusalem in the day when thou camest to the kingdom.

44 And to send away all the vessels that were taken away out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart, when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and to send them again thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build up the temple which the God our Lord burnt when Judah was made desolate by the Chaldees.

46 And now, O king the king, this is that which I require, and which I desire of thee, and this is the princely liberality, proceeding from thyself: I desire therefore that thou make good the vow, the performance wherof which thou owest mouth thou hast vowed to the king of heaven.

47 Then Darius the king stood up and kissed him, and wrote letters for him unto all the treasurers and lieutenants, and captains and governors, that they should safely convey on their way both him, and all those that go up with him to build Jerusalem.

48 He wrote letters also unto the lieutenants that were in Coelophia and Phenice, and unto them in Libanus, that they should bring cedarwood from Libanus unto Jerusalem, and that they should build the city with him.

49 Moreover he wrote for all the Jews that went out of his realm up into Jery, concerning their freedom, that no officer, no ruler, no lieutenant, nor treasurer, should forcibly enter into their houses.

50 And that all the country which they hold, should be free without tribute, and that the God our Lord should give over the villages of the Jews which then they held.

51 And that there should be yearly given twenty talents to the building of the temple until the time that it were built.

52 And other ten talents yearly, to maintain the burnt-offerings upon the altar every day, (as they had a commandment to offer seven-teen)

53 And that all they that went from Babylon to build the city, should have free liberty as well they as their posterity, and all the priests that went away.

54 He wrote also concerning the charges, and the priests' vestments wherein they minister.

55 And likewise for the charges of the Levites, to be given them, until the day that the house were finished, and Jerusalem builded up.

56 And he commanded to give to all that kept the city, pensions and wages.

57 He sent away also all the vessels from Babylon that Cyrus had set apart, and all that Cyrus had given in commandment, the same charged he also to be done, and sent unto Jerusalem.

58 And when this young man was gone forth, he lifted up his face to heaven, toward Jerusalem, and praised the king of heaven.

59 And said, From thee cometh victory, from thee cometh holiness, and thine is the glory, and I am thy servant.

60 Blessed art thou who hast given me wisdom: for to thee I give thanks, O Lord of our fathers.

61 And so he took the letters, and went out, and came unto Babylon, and told it all his brethren.

62 And they praised the God of their fathers; because he had given them freedom and liberality.

63 So go up, and to build Jerusalem, and the temple which is called by his name: and they feasted with instruments of music and gladness seven days.

35 All the ministers of the temple, and the sonnes of the servants of Solomon, were three hundred twenty and two.

36 These came up from Bhermelech, a Bher-levias, Bherachabaz leading them, and Balar.

37 Neither could they shew their families, nor their lock, how they were of Israel: the sonnes of e Laban, the sonnes of f Ban, the sonnes of g Bledan, five hundred fifty and two.

38 And of the priests that usurped the office of the priesthood, and were not found the sonnes of h Bithi, the sonnes of i Acres, the sonnes of k Badas, who married Bania: one of the daughters of Bherias, and was named after his name.

39 And when the description of the kindred of these men was sought in the registres, and was not found, they were removed from writing the office of the priesthood.

40 For since then said i Bhermias, a Bharias, that they should not be partakers of the holy things, till they arose up an high priest, clothed with doctrine and truth.

41 So of Israel from them of twelve years old and upwards, they were all in number four-ty thousand, besides handmaids and women servants, two thousand three hundred and thirty.

42 These men servants and handmaids were seven thousand three hundred forty and seven; the singing men and singing women, two hundred forty and five.

43 Four hundred thirty and five camels, seven thousand thirty and six oxen, two hundred forty and five mules, five thousand five hundred twenty and five beasts used to the yoke.

44 And certain of the chief of their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Jerusalem, vowed to set up the house again in his own place, according to their ability.

45 And to give into the holy treasury of the works, a thousand pounds of gold, five thousand of silver, an hundred priestly vestments.

46 And so dwelt the priests, and the Levites, and the people in Jerusalem, and in the country:
the singers also and the porters, and all Israel in their villages.

47 But when the seventh month was at hand, and when the children of Israel were every man in his own place, they came all together with one consent into the open place of the first gate which is towards the east.

48 Then stood up Jeshu the sonne of Josedec, and his brethren the priests, and Jozababel the sonne of Salathiel, and his brethren, and made ready the altar of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt sacrifices upon it, according as it is expressly commanded in the book of Moses the man of God.

50 And there were gathered unto them out of the other nations of the land, and they erected the altar upon his own place, because all the nations of the land were at enmity with them, and oppressed them, and they offered sacrifices

according to the time, and burnt-offerings to the Lord both morning and evening.

51 Also they held the feast of tabernacles, as it is commanded in the law, and offered sacrifices daily, as was meet:

52 And after that, the continual oblations, and the sacrifice of the sabbaths, and of the new moons, and of all holy feasts.

53 And all they that had made any vows to God, began to offer sacrifices to God from the first day of the seventh month, although the temple of the Lord was not yet built.

54 And they gave unto the masons and carpenters, money, meat and drink with cheerfulness.

55 Unto them of Sidon also and Tyre, they gave carres that they should bring cedar-trees from Libanus, which should be brought by flocks to the haven of Joppa, according as it was commanded them by Cyrus king of the Persians.

56 And in the second year and second month, after his coming to the temple of God at Jerusalem, began Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedei, and their brethren, and the priests, and the Levites, and all they that were come unto Jerusalem out of the captivity:

57 And they laid the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second month, in the second year after they were come to Jery and Jerusalem.

58 And they appointed the Levites from twenty years old, over the works of the Lord. Then stood up Jesus and his sonnes and brethren, and Cadmiel his brother, and the sonnes of Sabadabur, with the sonnes of Joda the sonne of Eliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, all Levites, with one accord letters forward of the business, labouring to advance the works in the house of God. So the workmen built the temple of the Lord.

59 And the priests stood arrayed in their vestments with musical instruments, and trumpets, and the Levites the sonnes of Asaph had cymbals, 60 Singing songs of thanksgiving, and praising the Lord, according as David the king of Israel had ordained.

61 And they sung with loud voices songs to the praise of the Lord: because his mercy and glory is for ever in all Israel.

62 And all the people sounded trumpets, and shouted with a loud voice, singing songs of thanksgiving unto the Lord, for the raising up of the house of the Lord.

63 Also of the priests and Levites, and of the chief of their families, the ancients who had seen the former house, came to the building of this with weeping and great crying.

64 But many with trumpets and joy shouted with loud voice,

65 Inasmuch that the trumpets might not be heard for the weeping of the people: yet the multitude sounded marvellously, so that it was heard a farre off.

66 Wherefore when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what that noise of trumpets should mean.

67 And they perceived that they that were of the captivity did build the temple unto the Lord God of Israel.

68 So they went to Zorobabel and Jesus, and to the chief of the families, and said unto them, We will build together with you.

69 For we likewise, as you, do obey your Lord, and do sacrifice unto him from the dayes of Iddo: hazareth the king of the Assyrians, who brought us thither.

70 Then Zorobabel and Jesus, and the chief of the families of Israel said unto them, It is not for us and you to build together a house unto the Lord our God.

71 We our selves alone will build unto the Lord of Israel, according as Cyrus the king of the Persians hath commanded us.

72 But the heathen of the land lying heavy upon the inhabitants of Judea, and holding them strait, bindeth their building:

73 And by their secret plots, and popular pretensions and commotions, they hinder the finishing of the building, all the time that king Cyrus lived: so they were hindered from building for the space of two yeares, I untill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 The prophet stirre up the people to build the temple.

8 Darius is solicited to hinder it. 27 But he doth further it by all means, 32 and threatneth those that shall hinder it.

Now in the second yeare of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus, and Zacharias the sonne of Iddo the prophets prophesied unto the Jews, in Jery and Jerusalem in the name of the Lord God of Israel, I which was upon them.

2 Then stood up Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedei, and began to build the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, the prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 At the same time came unto them, Sisinne the governour of Syria and Phenice, with Sathiabuzanes and his companions, and said unto them,

4 By whose appointment do you build this house and this roof, and perform all the other things? and who are the workmen that perform these things?

5 Nevertheless the elders of the Jews obtained labour: because the Lord had visited the captivitie.

6 And they were not hindered from building untill such time as signification was given unto Darius concerning them, and an answer received.

7 The copy of the letters which Sisinne governour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathiabuzanes, with their companions, rulers in Syria and Phenice, wrote and sent unto Darius: To king Darius, greeting.

8 Let all things be known unto our lord the king, that being come into the countrey of Judea, and entered into the city of Jerusalem, we found in the city of Jerusalem the ancients of the Jews that were of the captivitie, 9 Building an house unto the Lord, great and new, of hewn and costly stones, and the timber already laid upon the walls.

10 And those works are done with great speed, and the work goeth on prosperously in their hands, and with allglay and diligence is it made.

11 Then asked we these elders, saying, By whose commandment build ye this house, and lay the foundations of these works?

12 Wherefore to the intent that we might give knowledge unto thee by writing, we demanded of them who were the chief doers, and we required of them the names in writing of their principall men.

13 So they gave us this answer, We are the servants of the Lord which made heaven and earth.

14 And as for this house, it was builded many years ago by a king of Israel, great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers provoked God unto wrath, and sinned against the Lord of Israel which is in heaven, he gave them over into the power of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, of the Caldees.

16 He pulled down the house, and burnt it, and carried away the people captives unto Babylon.

17 But in the first yeare that king Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, Cyrus the king wrote to build up this house.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, that Nabuchodonosor had carried away out of the house at Jerusalem, and had set them in his own temple, those Cyrus the king brought forth again out of the temple at Babylon, and they were delivered to Jozobabel and to Sanabassar the ruler, 19 With commandment that he should carry away the same vessels, and put them in the temple at Jerusalem, and that the temple of the Lord should be built in his place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and from that time to this, being still a building, it is not yet fully ended.

21 Now therefore, if it seem good unto the king, let search be made among the records of king Cyrus.

22 And if it be found, that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath been done with the content of king Cyrus, and if our lord the king be so minded, let him signifie unto us thereto.

23 Then commanded king Darius to seek among the records at Babylon: and so at Ecbatana the palace which is in the country of Media, there was found a roll wherein these things were recorded.

24 In the first yeare of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded that the house of the Lord at Jerusalem should be built again where they do sacrifice with continuall fire.

25 The height shall be sixty cubits, and the breadth sixty cubits, with three rows of hewn stones, and one row of new wood of that country, and the expences thereof to be given out of the house of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord both of gold and silver that Nabuchodonosor took out of the house at Jerusalem, & brought to Babylon, should be restored to the house at Jerusalem, and be set in the place where they were before.

27 And also he commanded that Sissines the governour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabuzanes, and their companions, and those which were appointed rulers in Syria and Phenice, should be careful not to meddle with the place, but suffer Jozobabel the servant of the Lord, and governours of Judea, and the elders of the Jews, to build the house of the Lord in that place.

28 I have commanded also to have it built up whole again, and that they look diligently to help those that be of the captivity of the Jews, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And out of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice, a portion carefully to be given them for the sacrifices of the Lord, that is, to Jozobabel the governour, for bullocks, and rammes, and lambs:

30 And also corn, salt, wine and oyl, and that continually every yeare without further question, according as the priests that be in Jerusalem shall signifie to be daily spent:

31 That offerings may be made to the most high God, for the king, and for his children, and that they may pray for their lives.

32 And he commanded, that whosoever should transgress, yea, or make light of any thing aforesaid spoken or written, out of his own house should a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods seized for the king.

33 The Lord therefore whose name is there called upon, utterly destroy every king and nation, that stretch out his hand to hinder or en-damage that house of the Lord in Jerusalem.

34 I Darius the king have ordained, that according unto these things it be done with diligence.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sissines and others help forward the building. 5 The temple is finished, and dedicated. 10 The possessors is kept.

Then Sissines the governour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathabuzanes, with their companions, following the commandments of king Darius,

2 Did very carefully oversee the holy works, assisting the ancients of the Jews, and governours of the temple.

3 And so the holy works prospered, when Aggeus and Zacharias the prophets prophesied.

4 And they finished these things, by the commandment of the Lord God of Israel, and with the content of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, kings of Persia.

5 And thus was the holy house finished in the thirte and twentieth day of the month Abat, in the sixth yeare of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites, and other that were of the captivity, that were added unto them, did according to the things written in the book of Moses.

7 And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord, they offered an hundred bullocks, two hundred rammes, four hundred lambs;

8 And twelve goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Israel.

9 The priests also and the Levites stood arrayed in their vestments according to their kindred, in the services of the Lord God of Israel, according to the book of Moses: and the porters at every gate.

10 And the children of Israel that were of the captivity, held the passover the fourteenth day of the first month, after that the priests and the Levites were sanctified.

11 They that were of the captivity, were not all sanctified together: but the Levites were all sanctified together.

12 And so they offered the passover for all them of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves.

13 And the children of Israel that came out of the captivity did eat, when all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

6 In the seventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth moneth (this was the kings seventh year) for they went from Babylon in the first day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the prosperous journey which the Lord gave them.

16, minde.

7 For Esdras had very great skill, so that he omitted nothing of the law and commandments of the Lord, but taught all Israel the ordinances and judgements.

16, minde.

8 Now the copie of the commission which was written from Artaxerxes the king, and came to Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, is this that followeth;

16, minde.

9 King Artaxerxes unto Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, sendeth greetings.

16, minde.

10 Having determined to deal graciously, I have given order, that such of the nation of the Jews, and of the priests, and Levites being within our realm, as are willing and desirous, should go with thee unto Jerusalem.

16, minde.

11 As many therefore as have a minde thereunto, let them depart with thee, as it hath seemed good both to me, and my seven friends the counsellors;

16, minde.

12 That they may look unto the affairs of Judea and Jerusalem, agreeably to that which is in the law of the Lord.

16, minde.

13 And carry the gifts unto the Lord of Israel to Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed, and all the gold and silver that in the country of Babylon can be found, to the Lord in Jerusalem.

16, minde.

14 Which that also which is given of the people, for the temple of the Lord their God at Jerusalem: and that silver and gold may be collected for bullocks, rammes, and lambs, and things thereunto appertaining.

16, minde.

15 To the end that they may offer sacrifices unto the Lord, upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

16 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will do with the silver and gold, that do, according to the will of thy God.

17 And the holy vessels of the Lord which are given thee for the use of the temple of thy God which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before the God in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoever thing else thou shalt remember for the use of the temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the kings treasure.

19 And I king Artaxerxes have also commanded the keepers of the treasures in Syria and Iphenice, that whatsoever Esdras the priest and the reader of the law of the most high God shall send for, they should give it him with speed.

20 To the summe of an hundred talents of silver, likewise also of wheat even to an hundred cors, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

21 Let all things be performed after the law of God diligently unto the most high God, that wrath come not upon the kingdom of the king and his sounes.

22 I command you also, that ye require no tax, nor any other imposition of any of the priests or Levites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the temple, or of any that have doings in this temple, and that no man have authority to impose any thing upon them.

23 And thou Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, ordain judges and justices, that they may judge in all Syria and Iphenice, all those that know the law of thy God; and those that know it not, thou shalt teach.

24 And whosoever shall transgress the law of thy God, and of the king, shall be punished diligently, whether it be by death or other punishment, by penalty of money, or by imprisonment.

25 Then said Esdras the scribe, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, who hath put these things into the heart of the king, to glorifie his house that is in Jerusalem.

26 And hath honoured me in the sight of the king and his counsellors, and all his friends and nobles.

27 Therefore was I encouraged by the help of the Lord my God, and gathered together men of Israel to go up with me:

28 And these are the chief according to their families and severall dignities, that went up with me from Babylon in the reign of king Artaxerxes.

Settled unto us from thee, O Lord, that there should be left us a root, and a name in the place of thy Sanctuary.

79 And to discover unto us a light in the house of the Lord our God, and to give us a food in the time of our servitude.

80 Pea, when we were in bondage we were not forsaken of our Lord; but he made us gracious before the kings of Persia, so that they gave us food;

81 Pea, and honoured the temple of our Lord, and raised up the desolate Sion, that they have given us a sure abiding in Jury and Jerusalem.

82 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, having these things? for we have transgressed thy commandments which thou gavest by the hand of thy servants the prophets, saying,

83 That the land which ye enter into to possess as an heritage, is a land polluted with the pollutions of the strangers of the land, and they have filled it with their uncleanness.

84 Therefore now shall ye not join your daughters unto their sons, neither shall ye take their daughters unto your sons.

85 Moreover, you shall never seek to have peace with them, that ye may be strong, and eat the good things of the land, and that ye may leave the inheritance of the land unto your children for evermore.

86 And all that is befallen, is done unto us for our wicked works, and great sinnes; for thou, O Lord, dost make our sinnes light.

87 And dost give unto us such a root: but we have turned back again to transgress thy law, and to mingle our selves with the uncleanness of the nations of the land.

88 Alighted not thou be angry with us to destroy us, till thou hadst left us neither root, seed, nor name?

89 O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for we are left a root this day.

90 Behold, now are we before thee in our iniquities, for we cannot stand any longer by reason of these things before thee.

91 And as Ecdias in his prayer made his confession, weeping, and lying flat upon the ground before the temple, there gathered unto him from Jerusalem a very great multitude of men, and women, and children: for there was great weeping among the multitude.

92 Then Jechemias the sonne of Jeelus, one of the sonnes of Israel called out & said, O Ecdias, we have sinned against the Lord God, we have married strange women of the nations of the land, and now is all Israel as a loaf.

93 Let us make an oath to the Lord, that we will put away all our wives, which we have taken of the heathen, with their children.

94 Like as thou hast decreed, and as many as do obey the law of the Lord.

95 Arise, and put in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertain, and we will be with thee: do valiantly.

96 So Ecdias arose, and took an oath of the chief of the priests and Levites of all Israel, to do after these things; and so they swore.

CHAP. IX.

1 Ecdias assembl'd all the people. 10 They promise to put away the strange wives. 20 The names and number of them that did so. 40 The law of Moses is read and declared before all the people. 49 They pray, and are put in mind of the feast day.

Then Ecdias rising from the court of the temple, went to the chamber of Joanan the sonne of Elisib,

2 And remained there, and did eat no meat nor drink water, mourning for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Jury and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captivity, that they should be gathered together at Jerusalem:

4 And that whosoever met not there within two or three dayes, according as the elders that bare rule appointed, their cattell should be seized to the use of the temple, and himselfe sent out from them that were of the captivity.

5 And in three dayes were all they of the tribe of Juda and Benjamin gathered together at Jerusalem the twentieth day of the ninth month.

6 And all the multitude sat trembling in the broad court of the temple, because of the present foule weather.

7 So Ecdias arose up and said unto them, Ye have transgressed the law in marrying strange wives, thereby to increase the sinnes of Israel.

8 And now by confession give glory unto the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And do his will, and separate your selves from the heathen of the land, and from the strange women.

10 Then cried the whole multitude and said with a loud voice, Like as thou hast spoken, so will we do.

11 But so much as the people are many, and it is foule weather, so that we cannot stand without, and this is not a work of a day or two, seeing our sinne in these things is spread farre:

12 Therefore let the rulers of the multitude say, and let all them of our habitations that have strange wives, come at the time appointed.

13 And with them the rulers and judges of every place, till we turn away the wrath of the Lord from us for this matter.

14 Then Jonathan the sonne of Azael, and Ezechias the sonne of Theocanus, accordingly took this matter upon them; and Abolollam, and Lebia, and Sabbatrus helped them.

15 And they that were of the captivity, did according to all these things.

16 And Ecdias the priest chose unto him the principall men of their families, all by name: and in the first day of the tenth month, they sat together to examine the matter.

17 So their cause that held strange wives was brought to an end, in the first day of the first month.

18 And of the priests that were come together, and had strange wives, there were found:

19 Of the sonnes of Jeelus the sonne of Josedec, and his brethren; 1 Barthelias, and Cleazar, and 1 Joibus, and 1 Jodanus.

20 And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer 7 rammes, to make reconciliation for their 7 errors.

21 And of the sonnes of Temmer; Ananias and Jabbens, and a Canes, and b Samuels, and c Hierrel, and d Azarias.

22 And of the sonnes of e Phasur; Elionas, Abatias, Jnrael, and Nabbanai, and f Dideus, and g Talas.

23 And of the Levites, Jozabad, and Semis, and h Celius, who was called i Calitas, and k Bathens, and Judas, and Jonas.

they put them away with their children.

37 And the priests and Levites, and they that were of Israel dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, in the first day of the seventh month:
so the children of Israel were in their habitations.

38 * And the whole multitude came together with one accord, into the broad place of the holy poth toward the east.

39 And they take unto Eljas the priest and reader, that he would bring the law of Moses that was given of the Lord God of Israel.

40 So Eljas the chief priest brought the law unto the whole multitude from man to woman, and to all the priests, to hear the law in the first day of the seventh month.

41 And he read in the broad court before the holy poth from morning unto mid-day, before both men and women; and all the multitude gave heed unto the law.

42 And Eljas the priest, and reader of the law stood up upon a pulpit of wood which was made for that purpose.

43 And there stood up by him Patthias, all straight up. So Eljas blessed the Lord God most high, the God of hosts Almighty.

47 And all the people answered, Amen; and lifting up their hands they fell to the ground, and worshipped the Lord.

48 Also Jelus, Anus, Sarabias, Adinus, Zataught the multitude, even to all, saying,

all wept when they heard the law.

51 So then and eat the fat, & drink the sweet, and send part to them that have nothing;

52 For this day is holy unto the Lord; and he not forgetful; for the Lord will bring you to honour.

53 So the Levites published all things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord; he not forgetful.

54 Then went they their way, every one to eat and drink, and make merry, and to give part to them that had nothing, & to make great cheer.

saying.

5 Go thy way, and * shew my people their sin-full deeds, and their children their wickedness which they have done against me; that they may tell their childrens children.

* Isa. 58, 1.

6 Because the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them: for they have forgotten me, and have offered unto strange gods.

7 Am not I even he that brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage?
but they have provoked me unto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Wilt thou off then the hair of thy head, and cut all evil upon them, for they have not been obedient unto my law, but it is a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them unto whom I have done so much good?

* Num. 21. 24 11 * All the nations have I destroyed before them, and in the east I have scattered the people of two provinces, even of Cyrus and Sion, and have slain all their enemies.

12 Speak thou therefore unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord,

* Exod. 14. 29 13 * I led you through the sea, and in the beginning gave you a large and late passage. * I gave you Moses for a leader, and Aaron for a priest.

* Exod. 13. 21 14 * I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you, yet have you forgotten me, saith the Lord.

* Exod. 16. 13 15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quails were as a token for you, I gave you tents for your safeguard, nevertheless you murmured there, 16 And triumphed not in my name for the destruction of your enemies, but ever to this day do ye yet murmur.

* Num. 14. 3 17 Where are the benefits that I have done for you? when you were hungry and thirsty in the wilderness, * did you not cry unto me, 18 Saying, Why hast thou brought us into this wilderness to kill us? it had been better for us to have served the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

19 Then had I pitie upon your mournings, and gave you manna to eat, * so ye did eat angels bread.

* Num. 20. 11 20 * When ye were thirsty, did I not cleave the rock, and waters flowed out to your fill for the heat. I covered you with the leaves of the trees.

21 I divided among you a fruitful land, I cast out the Canaanites, the Hittites, and the Philistines before you: * what shall I yet do more for you? saith the Lord.

22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, When you were in the wilderness (in the river of the Amorites, being arid, and blaspheming my name, 23 I gave you not fire for your blasphemies, but cast a tree in the water, and made the river sweet.

* Exod. 32. 8 24 What shall I do unto thee, O Jacob? thou * Juda wouldst not obey me: I will turn me to other nations, and unto those will I give my name, that they may keep my statutes.

25 Seeing ye have forsaken me, I will forsake you also; when ye desire me to be gracious unto you, I shall have no mercy upon you.

* Ma. 1. 15 26 * Whensoever you shall call upon me, I will not heare you: for ye have defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit man-slaughter.

27 Ye have not as it were forsaken me, but your own selves, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Have I not prayed you as a father his sonnes, as a mother her daughters, and a nurse her young babes;

29 That ye would be my people, and I should be your God, that ye would be my children, and I should be your father?

* Marc. 23. 37 30 * I gathered you together, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings: but now, what shall I do unto you? I will cast you out from my face.

* Ma. 1. 13 31 * When you offer unto me, I will turn my face from you: for your solemn feast days, your new moons, and your circumcisions have I forsaken.

32 I sent unto you my servants the prophets, whom ye have taken and slain, and slain their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will require of your hands, saith the Lord.

* 33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house is desolate, I will cast you out as the wind doth stubble.

34 And your children shall not be fruitful, for they have despised my commandment, and done the thing that is evil before me.

35 Your houses will I give to a people that shall come, which not having heard of me, yet shall beleve me: to whom I have shewed no signes, yet they shall do that I have commanded them.

36 They have seen no prophets, yet they shall call their sinnes to remembrance, and acknowledge them.

37 I take to witness the grace of the people to come, whose little ones rejoyce in gladness: and though they have not seen me with bodily eyes, yet in spirit they beleve the thing that I say.

38 And now brother, behold what glory: and see the people that cometh from the east.

39 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Elias, Amos, and Hiccheas, Joel, Abdias, and Jonas, 40 Nabum, and Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharie, and Malachie: which is called also an angel of the Lord.

1 God complaineth of his people: 10 Tet Esau as it will to comfort them. 34 Because they refused, the Gentiles are called. 43 Esau seeth the forme of God, and those that are crowned by him.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, and I gave them my commandments by my servants the prophets whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith unto them, Go your way ye children, for I am a widow, and forsaken.

3 I brought you up with gladness, but woe is now and heaviness have I lost you: for ye have sinned before the Lord your God, and done that thing that is evil before him.

4 But what shall I now do unto you? I am a widow and forsaken: go your way, O my children, and ask mercy of the Lord.

5 As for me, O father, I call upon thee for a witness over the mother of these children, which would not keep my covenant.

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoil, that there may be no offspring of them.

7 Let them be scattered abroad among the heathen, let their names be put out of the earth: for they have despised my covenant.

11 Their glory also will I take unto me, and give this the everlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for them.

12 They shall have the tree of life for an ornament of sweet labour, they shall neither labour, nor be weary.

13 O, and ye shall receive pay for few days unto you, that they may be shortened: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch.

16 And those that be dead will I raise up again from their places, and bring them out of the graves: for I have known my name in Israel.

17 Fear not thou mother of the children: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 For thy help will I send my servants Elijah and Jeremias, after whose counsel I have sanctified and prepared for thee, twelve trees laden with divers fruits, 19 And as many fountains flowing with milk and honey, and seven mighty mountains, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy.

25 Nurture thy children, O thou good nurse, stablish their feet.

26 As for the servants whom I have given thee, there shall not one of them perish; for I will require them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary; for when the day of trouble and heaviness cometh, others shall weep and be sorrowful, but thou shalt be merry, and have abundance.

28 The heathen shall envy thee, but they shall be able to do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Thy hands shall cover thee: so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be joyful, O thou mother, with thy children; for I will deliver thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleep, for I shall bring them out of the sides of the earth, and they shall meet thee: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty.

¶ Or, preach.

32 Embrace thy children until I come, and I shall give mercy unto thee; for my wells run over, and my grace shall not fail.

33 I Ezechias received a charge of the Lord upon the mount Sion, that I should go unto Israel; but when I came unto them they let me at nought, and despised the commandment of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say unto you, O ye hearers, that hear and understand, look for your shepherds, he shall give you everlasting rest; for he is nigh at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom, for the everlasting light shall shine upon you for evermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world, receive the joyfulness of your glory: I resist my Saviour openly.

37 I receive the gift that is given you; and be glad, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdom.

38 Arise up and stand, behold the number of those that be sealed in the feast of the Lord.

¶ Or, for.

39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and have received glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and I that up I let. con. cude. have fulfilled the law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: blessed the power of the Lord, that thy people which have been called from the beginning, may be hallowed.

42 I Ezechias saw upon the mount Sion a great people, whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs. * Revel. 7. 4.

43 And in the midst of them there was a young man of a high stature, taller than all the rest, and upon every one of their heads he set crowns, and was more exalted; which I marvelled at greatly.

44 So I asked the angel, and said, I Sir, what are these? ¶ Or, Lord.

45 He answered and said unto me, These be they that have put off the mortal clothing, and put on the immortal, and have confessed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receive palms.

46 Then said I unto the angel, What young person is it that crowneth them, and giveth them palms in their hands?

47 So he answered and said unto me, It is the Son of God, whom they have confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that stood so fitly for the name of the Lord.

48 Then the angel said unto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and how great wonders of the Lord thy God thou hast seen.

CHAP. III.

1 Esdras is troubled, 13 and acknowledgeth the sin of the people: 28 yet complaineth that the heathen were lords over them, being more wicked than they.

1 In the thirtieth year after the ruin of the city, I was in Babylon and lay troubled upon my bed, and my thoughts came up over my heart.

2 For I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwell at Babylon.

3 And my spirit was sore moved, so that I began to speak words full of fear to the most high, and said,

4 O Lord, who bearest rule, thou spakest at the beginning, when thou didst plant the earth, (and that thy self alone) and commandedst the people,

5 And gavest a body unto Adam without soul, which was the workmanship of thine hands, and didst breathe into him the breath of life, and he was made living before thee. * Gen. 2. 7.

6 And thou didst bring him into paradise, which thy right hand had planted, before ever the earth came forthward.

7 And unto him thou gavest commandment to love thy way: which he transgressed, and immediately thou appointedst death in him, and in his generations, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number.

8 And every people walked after their own will, and did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commandments. * Gen. 6. 11.

9 And again in process of time thou broughtest * Gen. 7. 10.

broughtest the flood upon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyed them.

10 And it came to pass, in every of them, that as Noah was to Noah, so was the flood to them.

11 Nevertheless, one of them thou wast, namely, * Adam with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And it happened, that when they that dwelt upon the earth began to multiply, and had gotten them many children, and were a great people, they began again to be more wickedly than the first.

13 Then when they liked to wickedly before thee, * thou didst choose thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

14 On whom lovedst, and unto him only thou shewedst the will:

15 And madest an everlasting covenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest never forsake his seed.

16 And unto him thou gavest Isaac, and * unto Isaac thou gavest Jacob a Blessing. As for Jacob, thou * didst choose him to thee, and put thy Blessing: and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And it came to pass, that when thou testifiest him out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them up to the mount Sinai.

18 And bowing the heavens, thou didst let fall the earth, movedst the whole world, and madest the depths to tremble, and troubledst the men of that age.

19 And the glory went through four gates, of fire, and of earth quake, and of winds, and of cold: that thou mightest give the law unto the seed of Jacob, * and diligence unto the generation of Israel.

20 And yet tookest thou not away from them a wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For the first Adam bearing a wicked heart, transgressed, and was overcome; and so be all they that are born of him.

22 Thus infirmity was made permanent, and the law (also) in the heart of the people with the malignity of the root, so that the good departed away, and the evil abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the years were brought to an end: * then didst thou raise thee up a servant, called David:

24 * And thou commandedst to build a city unto thy name, and to offer incense and oblations unto thee therein.

25 And when this was done many years, then they that inhabited the city forsook thee.

26 And in all things did even as Adam, and all his generations had done, for they also had a wicked heart.

27 And so thou gavest thy city over into the hands of thine enemies.

28 Are their deeds then any better that inhabit Babylon, that they should therefore have the dominion over Zion?

29 For when I came thither, and had seen impieties without number, then my soul saw many evil deeds in this thirtieth year, so that my heart failed me.

30 For I have seen how thou sufferest them flouting, and hast spared wicked doers: and hast destroyed the people, and hast preserved thine enemies, and hast not signified it.

31 * I do not remember how this way may be left: Are they then of Babylon better than they of Zion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so defected thy commandments as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone here and there, through the barbarity, and I see that they * know in reality, and think not upon thy commandments.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickedness now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world; and so shall the name no where be found, but in Israel.

35 Or when was it that they which dwell upon the earth have not sinned in thy sight: or what people hath so kept thy commandments?

36 Thou shalt finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts: but not the heathen.

CHAP. III.

1 The angel declareth the ignorance of Esdras in Gods Judgement, 23 and adviceth him not to meddle with things above his reach. 23 Nevertheless Esdras asketh divers questions, and receiveth answers to them.

And the angel that was sent unto me, whose name was Uriel, gave me an answer.

2 And said, Why heart hath gone too farre in this world, and thinketh thou to comprehend the way of the most High?

3 Then said I, Ven, my lord: and he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth their similitudes before thee:

4 And hereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desiredst to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on my lord. Then said he unto me, So the way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winds, or call me again the day that is past.

6 Then answered I and said, What man is able to do that, that thou shouldst ask such things of me?

7 And he said unto me, If I should ask thee how great dwellings are in the midst of the sea, or how many springs are in the beginning of the deep, or how many springs are above the firmament, or which are the outgoings of paradise:

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say unto me, I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell, neither did I ever climb up into heaven.

9 Nevertheless, now have I asked thee but only of the fire, and winds, & of the day where-through thou hast passed, and of things from which thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou give me no answer of them.

10 He said moreover unto me, Behold other things, and such as are grown up with thee, canst thou not know?

11 How should thy vessel then be able to comprehend the way of the Highest, and the world being now outwardly corrupted, to understand the corruption that is evident in my sight?

12 Then said I unto him, It were better that we were not at all, than that we should be still in wickedness, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 He answered me, and said, I went into a forest into a plain, and the * trees took counsel, 14 And said, Come, let us go and make warre against the sea, that it may depart away before us, and that we may make us more woods.

15 The floods of the sea also in like manner took counsel, and said, Come, let us go up and subdue subdue the woods of the plain, that there also we may make us another country.

16 The thought of the wood was in vain, for the fire came and consumed it.

17 The thought of the fountains of the sea came likewise to nought, for the land stood up and stopped them.

18 If thou werc judge now betwixt these two, whom wouldst thou begin to justify: or whom wouldst thou condemn?

1. Cor. 2. 14.

19 I answered and said, Rightly it is a foolish thought that they have both devised, for the ground is given unto the wood, and the sea also hath his place to bear his fountains.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast given a right judgement, but why judgest thou not thy self also?

21 For like as the ground is given unto the wood, and the sea to his fountains: even so they that dwell upon the earth may understand nothing, but that which is upon the earth: and he that dwelleth above the heavens, may only understand the things that are above the height of the heavens.

22 Then answered I and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let me have understanding.

23 For it was not my mind to be curious of the big things, but of such as pass by us daily, namely, wherefore Israel is given up as a reproach to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loved, is given over unto ungodly nations, and why the law of our forefathers is brought to nought, and the written covenants come to none effect.

¶ Or, no where.

24 And me past away out of the world as grasshoppers, and our life is astonishment and fear, and we are not worthy to obtain mercy.

25 What will be then do unto his name, whereby we are called: of these things have I asked.

26 Then answered he me, and said, The more thou searchest the more thou shalt marvel, for the world hasteth fast to pass away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of unrighteousness and infirmities.

28 But as concerning the things whereof thou askest me, I will tell thee; for the evil is sown, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If therefore that which is sown be not turned upside down, and if the place where the evil is sown pass not away, then cannot it come that is sown with good.

30 For the grain of evil seed hath been sown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much ungodliness hath it brought up unto this time: and how much shall it yet bring forth until the time of the day of wrath.

¶ Or, floors.

31 Ponder now by thy self, how great fruit of wickedness the grain of evil seed hath brought forth.

32 And when the ears shall be cut down, which are without number, how great a flood shall they fill?

33 Then I answered and said, How, and when shall these things come to pass: wherefore art our years few and evil?

34 And he answered me, saying, Do not thou hasten above the most High: for thy haste is in vain to be above him, for thou hast much expected.

35 Did not the souls also of the righteous ask question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I hope on this fashion? when cometh the fruit of the sowing of our reward?

36 And unto these things, Ariel the archangel gave them answer, and said, When shall the number of seeds be filled in you: for ye have weighed the world in the balance.

37 By measure hath he measured the times, and by number hath he numbered the times; and he hath not made any secret them, until the said measure be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, that bearest rule, even we all are full of impurity.

39 And for our sakes peradventure it is that the floors of the righteous are not filled, because of the sinners of them that dwell upon the earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, So thy way to a woman with child, and ask of her when she hath fulfilled her nine months, if her wounds may keep the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, that can be not. And he said unto me, In the grave, the chambers of souls are like the wombs of a woman.

42 For like as a woman that travaileth, maketh haste to escape the misery of the travail: even so do these places haste to deliver those things that are committed unto them.

43 From the beginning look hath thou desired to see, it shall be speedily done.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore, 45 Show me then whether there be more to come than is past, or more past than is to come.

46 What is past I know, but what is to come I know not.

47 And he said unto me, Stand up upon the right side, and I shall expound the similitude unto you.

48 So I stood and saw, and beheld an hot burning oven passed by before me: it happened that when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke remained still.

49 After this there passed by before me a watery cloud, and sent down much rain with a storm, and when the storm rain was past, the dregs remained still.

50 Then said he unto me, Consider with thy self: as the rain is more than the dregs, and as the fire is greater than the smoke; but the dregs and the smoke remain behind: so the quantity which is past did more exceed.

¶ Or, measure.

51 Then I played, and said, Say I live, thinkst thou, until that time? or what shall happen in those days?

¶ Or, who shall be?

¶ Manuscript.

52 He answered me, and said, As for the tokens whereof thou askest me, I may tell thee of them in part; but as touching thy life, I am not sent to shew thee, for I do not know it.

CHAP. V.

I The signs of the times to come. 23 He asketh why God shooseth but one people, did call them off. 30 He is taught, that God's judgements are unsearchable, 46 and that God doth not all at once.

Now therefore, as concerning the tokens, behold, the days shall come, that they which dwell upon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren of faith.

¶ Or, shall be found with great wealth.

¶ Matt. 24.

¶ Or, that thou wendeest upon and seek.

2 But iniquity shall be increased above that which now thou seest, or that thou hast heard long ago.

3 And the land that thou seest now to have root, shall thou see wasted suddenly.

4 But

4 But if the most high grant that to thee thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine again in the night, and the moon shine in the day.

5 And blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall give his voice, and the people shall be troubled.

6 And even he shall call whom they look not for that dwell upon the earth, and the fowls shall take their flight away together.

7 And the Sodomites sea shall cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many have not known: but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

Or, flake.

8 There shall be a confusion also in many places, and the fire shall be set: I sent you again, and the wilde beasts shall change their places, and meniscuous women shall bring forth monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall destroy one another; then shall we hide it self, and understanding withdraw it self into his secret chamber.

10 And shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall marriage and consistency be multiplied upon earth.

11 One land also shall ask another, and say, Is righteousness that maketh a man righteous gone through thee? And it shall say, No.

Or, be directed.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but nothing obtaine: they shall labour, but their wages shall not prosper.

13 To these things which I have leave, and if thou wilt say again, and weep as now, & fast seven dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things.

14 Then I awaked, and an extreme fearfulness went through all my body, and my minde was troubled, so that it fastened.

15 So the angel that was come to talk with me, held me, comforted me, and set me up upon my feet.

16 And in the second night it came to passe that Salathiel the captain of the people came unto me, saying, Where hast thou been, and why is thy countenance so heavy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed unto thee, in the land of their captivity?

18 Thy then, and eat bread, and forsake us not, as the shepherd that leaveth his flock in the hands of cruel wolves.

19 Then said I unto him, So thy wages from me, and come not night me. And he heard what I said, and went from me.

20 And so I fasted seven dayes mourning and weeping, like as Uriel the angel commanded me.

21 And after seven dayes, so it was that the thoughts of my heart were very grievous unto me again.

22 And my soul recovered the spirit of understanding, and I began to talk with the most high again.

23 And said, O Lord that bearest rule, of every wood of the earth, and of all the trees thereof, thou hast chosen thee one only vine:

24 And of all lands of the whole world thou hast chosen thee one pit: and of all the flowers thereof, one lily:

25 And of all the depths of the sea, thou hast chosen thee one river, and of all builded cities thou hast chosen thee one unto thy self:

26 And of all the fowls that are created, thou hast named thee one dove: and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast promised thee one sheep:

27 And among all the multitude of peoples, thou hast gotten thee one people: and unto this people whom thou lovest, thou hast given a law that is approved of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou given this one people over unto many? and upon the one root hast thou prepared others, and why hast thou scattered the only one people among many?

Or, over.

29 And they which did gainst thy promises, and beleevd not thy covenants, have trodden them down.

30 If thou didst so much hate the people, yet shouldst thou punish them with thine own hands.

31 Now when I had spoken these words, the angel that came to me the night afore, was sent unto me, 32 And said unto me, Heare me, and I will instruct thee; hearken to the thing that I say, and I shall tell thee more.

33 And I said, Speak on my Lord: then said he unto me, Thou art now troubled in minde for Israel's sake: lovest thou that people better than he that made them?

34 And I said, No Lord, but of very grief have I spoken so: my reins pain me every houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most high, & to seek out part of his judgement.

35 And he said unto me, Thou canst not: and I said, Wherefore Lord? whereunto was I born then? or why was not my mothers womb thine my grave, that I might not have seen the travail of Jacob, and the wearisome toil of the flock of Israel?

36 And he said unto me, Remember me the things that are not yet come, gather me together the drops that are scattered abroad, make me the flowers green again that are withered, 37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the wonders that in them are shut up, shew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the thing that thou labourst to know.

38 And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, who may know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 As for me, I am unworthy how may I then speak of these things wherof thou askest me?

40 Then said he unto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I have spoken of, even so canst thou not finde out my judgement, or in the end the love that I have promised unto my people.

41 And I said, Behold, O Lord, yet art thou nigh unto them that be reserved till the end: and what shall they do that have been before me, or me (that be now) or they that shall come after us?

42 And he said unto me, I will liken my judgement unto a ring: like as there is no slackness of the last, even so there is no slackness of the first.

43 So I answered and said, Canst thou not make those that have been made, and be now, and that are for to come, at once: that thou mightest shew thy judgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, and said, The creature may not haste above the maker: neither may the world hold them at once that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast said unto thy servant, that thou which givest life to all, hast given life at once to the creature that thou hast created, and the creature bare it: thus so it might now also bear them that now be passing at once.

46 And

146 And he said unto me, And the wombe of a woman, and lay unto her, If thou bringest forth children, why dost thou it not together, but one after another? pray her therefore to bring forth ten children at once.

47 And I said, She cannot; but must do it by distance of time.

48 Then said he unto me, Then so have I given the wombe of the earth to those that be sown in it, in their times.

49 For like as a young childe may not bring forth the things that belong to the aged, even so have I disposed the world which I created.

50 And I asked, and said, Seeing thou hast now given me the way, I will proceed to speak before thee: for our mother of whom thou hast told me that she is young, dwelleth now nigh unto age.

51 He answered me, and said, Ask a woman that beareth children, and she shall tell thee.

52 Say unto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, They that be born in the strength of youth, are of one fashion, and they that are born in the time of age (when the wombe faileth) are otherwile.

54 Consider thou therefore also, how that ye are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you lesse then ye, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and have passed over the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I have found favour in the sight, shew thy servant by whom thou wiltest thy creature.

CHAP. VI.

I Gods purpose is eternal. The next world shall follow this immediately. 13 What shall fall out at the last. 31 He is promised more knowledge, 38 and reckoneth up the wo k of the creation, 57 and complaineth that they have no part in the world for whom it was made.

¶ Or, circle of the earth.

And he said unto me, In the beginning, when the earth was made, before the borders of the world stood, or ever the winnes blew,

2 Before it thundered and lightened, or ever the foundations of paradise were laid,

3 Before the fair flowers were seen, or ever the moveable powers were established, before the innumerable multitude of angels were gathered together,

4 Or ever the brights of the aire were lifted up, before the measures of the firmament were named, or ever the chimneys in Sion were hot,

5 And ere the prudent peaces were sought out, and or ever the inventions of them that now sinne, were turned, before they were sealed that have gathered faith for a creature:

6 Then did I consider these things, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the parting asunder of the times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of the that followeth?

8 And he said unto me, From Abraham unto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were born of him, Jacobs hand held the heel of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of the world, and Jacob is the beginning of that that followeth.

10 The hand of man is between the heel and the hand of other question, Esau ask that not.

11 I answered then, and said, O Lord that bearest rule, if I have found favour in the sight, 12 I beseech thee, shew thy servant the end of thy tokens, whereof thou hastest not part the last night.

13 So he answered, and said unto me, Stand upon thy feet, and heare a mighty sounding voice.

14 And it shall be as it were a great motion, but the place where thou standest shall not be moved.

15 And therefore when it speaketh, be not afraid: for the word is of the end, and the foundation of the earth is understood.

16 And when because the speech of these things trembleth, and is moved: say it knoweth that the end of these things must be changed.

17 And it happened that when I had heard it, I stood up upon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters.

18 And it said, Behold, the dayes come, that I will begin to destroy them, and to visit them that dwell upon the earth.

19 And will begin to make inquisition of them, what they be that have hurt unjustly with their unrighteousnesse, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled.

20 And when the world that shall begin to vanish away, shall be finished, then will I shew these tokens: the books shall be opened before the firmament, and they shall see all together.

21 And the children of a years old shall speak with their voices, the women with childe shall bring forth untimely children, of three or foure moneths old, and they shall live & be reared up.

22 And suddenly shall the lofty places appear unlovely, the tall steep-houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall give a sound which when every man heareth, they shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight one against another like enemies, and the earth shall stand in fear with those that dwell therein, the fountains of the mountains shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not run.

25 And holover remained from all these that I have told thee, shall escape, and see my salvation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are received shall see it, who have not tasted death from their birth: and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned into another meaning.

27 For evil shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 As for faith it shall flourish, corruption shall be overcome, and the truth which hath been so long without fruit, shall be declared.

29 And when he talked with me, behold, I looked by little and little upon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said he unto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt stay yet more, and fast seven dayes again, I shall tell thee greater things: by day, then I have heard.

32 For thy voice is heard before the most High: for the Mighty hath seen the righteous dealing, he hath seen also thy chastity, which thou hast had ever since thy youth.

33 And therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say unto thee, Be of good comfort, and fear not.

* Gen. 25. 16
¶ Or, from the beginning.

¶ See Chap. 3. verse 32.

34 And hasten not with the times that are past, to think vain things, that thou mayest not hasten from the latter times.

35 And it came to pass after this, that I wept again, and fasted seven dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the thre weekes which he told me.

36 And in the eighth night was my heart bereft within me again, and I began to speak before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soul was in distress.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou speakest from the beginning of the creation, even the first day, and saidst thus, * Let heaven and earth be made, and the world was a perfect work.

39 And then was the spirit, and darknesse and silence were on every side; the sound of mans voice was not yet formed.

40 Then commandedst thou a fair light to come forth of the treasures, that the work might appeare.

41 Upon the second day thou madest the spirit of the firmament, and commandedst it to part asunder, and to make a division betwixt the waters, that the one part might go up, and the other remain beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou didst command that the waters should be gathered in the seventh part of the earth: fir parts hast thou dried up and kept them, to the intent that of these some being planted of God and tilled, might serve thee.

43 For as soon as thy world went forth, the work was made.

44 For immediately there was great and innumerable fruit, and many and divers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of unchangeable colour, and odours of wonderfull smell: and this was done the third day.

45 * Upon the fourth day thou commandedst that the sunne should shine, and the moon give her light, and the starres should be in order:

46 And gavest them a charge to do * service unto man, that was to be made.

47 Upon the fifth day thou saidst unto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth living creatures, fowles and fishes: and so it came to passe.

48 For the dumbe water, and without life, brought forth living things at the commandment of God, that all people might praise thy wondrous works.

49 Then didst thou ordain two living creatures, the one thou calledst I Enoch, and the other Leviathan;

50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seventh part (namely where the water was gathered together) might not hold them both.

51 Unto Enoch thou gavest one part which was dried up the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hills.

52 But unto Leviathan thou gavest the seventh part, namely the moor, and hast kept him to be devoured of whom thou wilt, and when.

53 Upon the sixth day thou gavest commandment unto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, carrell and creeping things:

54 And after these, Adam also whom thou madest lord of all thy creatures: of him come we all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this have I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou madest the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people which also come of Adam, thou hast said that they are nothing, but be like unto spirits, and hast likened the abundance of them unto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now O Lord, behold, these heathen, which have ever been reputed as nothing, have begun to be lords over us, and to devoure us:

58 But we thy people (whom thou hast called thy first-born, thy only begotten, and thy truest lover) are given into their hands.

59 If the world now be made for our sakes, why do we not possesse an inheritance with the world? how long shall this endure?

CHAP. VII.

4 The way is narrow, 12 When it was made narrow, 28 All shall die, and rise again. 33 Christ shall sit in judgement. 46 God hath not made paradise in vain: 62 and is mercifull.

AND when I had made an end of speaking these words, there was sent unto me the angel which had been sent unto me the night afore.

2 And he said unto me, Thy Ekron, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speak on, my God. Then said he unto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deep and great.

4 But the cale the entrance were narrow, and like a river,

5 And he then could go into the sea to look upon it, and to rule it: if he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: A city is builded, and set upon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and is set in a dangerous place to fall, like as if there were a fire on the right hand, and on the left a place deep water:

8 And one onely path between them both, even betwixen the fire and the water, so small that there could but one man go there at once.

9 If this city now were given unto a man for an inheritance, if he never shall passe the danger set before it, how shall he receive this inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he unto me, Even so also is Israels portion:

11 Because for their sakes I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then was decreed that now is done.

12 Then were the entrances of this world made narrow, full of sorrow and travail: they are but few and evil, full of perils, and very painful.

13 For the entrances of the 1 elder world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit. || Or, Greater.

14 If then they that live, labour not to enter these strait and vain things, they can never receive those that are laid up for them.

15 Now therefore why disquietest thou thy self, seeing thou art but a corruptible man? and why art thou moved, whereas thou art but mortal?

16 Why hast thou not considered in thy minde this thing that is to come, rather then that which is present?

17 Then answered I, and said, O Lord that hearest rule, thou hast ordained in thy law, that the righteous should inherit these things, but that the ungodly should perish:

18 Nevertheless, the righteous shall suffer strait frank things, and hope for mine : for they that have bene wickedly, have suffered the frak things, and yet shall not see the light.

19 And he said unto me, There is no judge above God, and none that hath understanding above the highest.

20 For there be many that perish in this life, because they despise the law of God that is set before them.

21 For God hath given frak commandment to such as came, what they should do to live, even as they came, and what they should observe to avoid punishment.

22 Nevertheless, they were not obedient unto him; but spake against him, and imagined vain things :

23 And deceived themselves by their wicked deeds, and said of the most High, that he is not, and knew not his ways.

24 But his law have they despised, and denied his covenants; in his statutes have they not been faithful, and have not performed his works.

25 And therefore Whims, for the empty are empty things, and for the full are the full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I have told thee shall come to passe, and the hide shall appear, and the coming forth shall be seen, that now is withdrawn from the earth.

27 And whosoever is delivered from the false-said evils, shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Jesus shall be created with those that be with him, and they that remain shall receive within four hundred years.

29 After these years shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that have life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence seven dayes, like as in the former judgement : so that no man shall remain.

31 And after seven dayes, the world that yet abideth not, shall be raised up, and that shall be the corrupt.

32 And the earth shall restore those that are sleeping her, and so shall the dust those that dwell in silence, and the secret places shall deliver those souls that were committed unto them.

33 And the most High shall appear upon the seat of judgement, and misery shall passe away, and the long-suffering shall have an end.

34 But judgement only shall remain, truth shall stand, and faith shall war strong :

35 And the work shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed, and the good deeds shall be of force, and wicked deeds shall bear no rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Godolites, and * Moses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness :

37 And Jesus after him for Israel in the time of I Adam :

38 And Samuel, and * David for the destruction : and * Solomon for them that should come to the sanctuary :

39 And * Elias for those that received rain, and for the dead, that he might live.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib : and many for many.

41 Even to now, seeing corruption is grown up, and wickedness increased, and the righteous have prayed for the ungodly : therefore shall it not be so now also ?

42 He answered me and said, This present life is not the end where much glory doth abide; therefore have they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of doom shall be the end of this time, and the beginning of the unmocality for to come, wherein corruption is past, and righteousness is at an end, iniquity is cut off, righteousness is grown, and truth is sprung up.

44 Then shall no man be able to save him that is destroyed, nor to oppress him that hath gotten the victory.

45 I answered then and said, This is my first and last saying, that it has been better not to have given the earth unto Adam : or else when it was given him, to have restrained him from sinning.

47 For what profit is it for men now in this present time to live in heaviness, and after death to look for punishment ?

48 O thou Adam, what hast thou done? for though it was * thou that sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but we all that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it unto us, if there be promised us an immortal time, whereas we have done the works that bring death?

50 And that there is promised us an everlasting hope, whereas our selves being most wicked are made vain?

51 And that there are laid up for us dwellings of health and safety, whereas we have lived wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High is kept to defend them which have led a weary life, whereas we have walked in the most wicked ways of all ?

53 And that there should be shewed a paradise, whose fruit endureth for ever, wherein is * security and medicine, such we shall not enter in to it ?

54 (For we have walked in unpleasant places) And that the faces of them which have used abstinence, shall shine above the stars, whereas our faces shall be blacker then darkness?

56 For while we lived, and committed iniquity, we considered not that we should begin to suffer for it after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the condition of the battle, which man that is born upon the earth shall fight.

58 That if he be overcome, he shall suffer as thou hast said; but if he get the victory, he shall receive the thing that I say.

59 For this is the life wherof Moses spake unto the people while he lived, saying, * Choose the life that thou mayest live.

60 Nevertheless, they selected not him, nor yet the prophets after him; no man which have spoken unto them, 61 That there should not be such heaviness in their destruction, as shall be joy over them that are perished to salvation.

62 I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy upon them which are not yet come in to the world.

63 And upon those also that turn to his law;

64 And that * he is patient, and long-suffering those that have sinned, as his creatures;

65 And that he is boundfull, for he is ready to give where it needeth;

66 And that he is of great mercy, for he multiplies more and more mercies to them that are present, and that are past, and also to them which are to come.

67 For if he shall not multiply his mercies, the world would not continue with them that inherit therein.

68 And he pardoned; for if he did not so to his goodness, that they which have committed iniquities, might be saved of them; the truth-

CHAP. VIII.

1 Many created, but few saved. 6 He asketh why God destroyed his own work, 26 and prayeth God to look upon the people which anely serve him.

41 God answereth, that all seed cometh nax to good, 52 and that glory is prepared for him and such like.

AND he answered me, saying, The most high hath made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, Elias, As when thou askest the earth, it shall say unto thee, that it giveth much mold wherof earthen vessels are made, but little dust that gold cometh of: even so is the course of this present world.

3 There be many created, but few shall be saved.

4 So answered I, and said, Swallow them down, O my soul, understanding, and devour wisdom.

5 For thou hast agreed to give rare, and art willing to prophesie: for thou hast no longer space then only to live.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy servant that we may pray before thee, and || thou give us life into our heart, and culture to our understanding, that there may come fruit of it: how shall each man live that is corrupt, who beareth the place of a man?

7 For thou art alone, and for all one workmanship of thine hands, like as thou hast said.

8 For || when the body is fashioned now in the mothers womb, and thou givest it members, the creature is preferred in fire and water, and nine months doth the workmanship endure the creature which is created in her.

9 But that which keepeth, and is kept, shall both be preferred: and when the time cometh, the womb preferred delivereth up the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded out of the parts of the body, that is to say, out of the breasts milk to be given, which is the fruit of the breasts.

11 That the thing which is fashioned, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it up with thy righteousness, and nurtured it in the law, and reformed it with thy judgement.

13 And thou shalt moult it as thy creature, and quicken it as thy work.

14 If therefore thou shalt destroy him which with to great labour was fashioned, it is an idle thing to be obtained by the commandment, that the thing which was made might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, Lord, I will speak (touching man in general, thou knowest best) but touching the people, for whose sake I am say:

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourn; and for Israel, for whom I am heavy; and for Jacob, for whose sake I am troubled.

17 Therefore will I begin to pray before thee, for my self and for them: for I (as the falls of us) that dwell in the land.

18 But I have heard the faintest of the judge which is to come.

19 Therefore hear my words, and understand my words, and I shall speak before thee: this is the beginning of the words of Elias, before he was taken up: and I say,

20 O Lord, thou that dwellest in everlastingness, which beholdest from above, things in the heaven, and in the air,

21 Whose throne is inaccessible, whose glory may not be comprehended, before whom the hosts of angels stand with trembling,

22 (Whose service is conflagration in fire and fire) whose word is true, and sayings constant, whose commandment is strong, and ordinance steadfast,

23 Whose look direct up to the depths, and indignation maketh the mountains to melt away, which the truth beareth:

24 O hear the prayer of thy servant, and give care to the petition of the creature.

25 For while I live, I shall speak, and so long as I have understanding, I will answer.

26 O look not upon the sinnes of thy people: but on them which lie before thee in truth.

27 Regard not the wicked inventions of the heathen, but the desire of those that keep thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Think not upon those that have walked frigidly before thee: but remember them, which according to thy will have known thy fear.

29 Let it not be thy will to destroy them, which have lived like beasts: but to look upon them that have clearly taught thy law.

30 Take thou no indignation at them which are deemed worse then beasts: but love them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For we and our fathers || no length of such disaster: but because of us thou shalt be called merciful.

32 For if thou || hast a desire to have mercy upon us, thou shalt be called merciful, in all more.

33 For the just which have many good works laid up with thee, shall out of their own goodness receive reward.

34 For what is man that thou shouldst take displeasure at him? or what is a corruptible generation, that thou shouldst be so bitter against it?

35 For in truth there is no man among them that be born, but he hath dealt wickedly, and among the faithful there is none which hath not done amiss.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness, and thy goodness shall be declared, if thou be merciful unto them which have not the || confidence of good works.

37 Then answered he me, and said, Whose things hast thou spoken aright, and according unto thy words it shall be.

38 For indeed I will not think on the disposition of them which have sinned before me: before judgement, before destruction.

39 But I will rejoice over the disposition of the righteous, and I will remember all their pilgrimage, and the salvation, and the reward that they shall have.

40 Like as I have spoken now, so shall it come to pass.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet the thing that is sown good in his sower cometh not up, neither doth all that is planted in the seed: even so is it of them that are sown in the world.

world, they shall not all be saved.

42 I answered then, and said, If I have found grace, let me speak.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perissheth, if it come not up, and receive not thy rain in due season, or if they come too much rain, and corrupt it:

44 When to perissheth man also, which is sown with thy hands, and is called thine own image, because thou art like unto him, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him unto the husbandmans seed.

45 Be not wroth with us, but spare thy people, and have mercy upon thine own inheritance: for thou art mercifull unto thy creature.

46 When answered he me, and said, Things present are for the present, and things to come, for such as be to come.

47 For thou canst farre short, that thou shouldest be able to love my creature more then I: but I have oft times dathan nigh unto thee, and unto it, but never to the unrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marvellous before the most High:

49 In that thou hast humbled thy self as it becometh thee, and hast not judged the self worthy to be much glorified among the righteous.

50 For many great miseries shall be done to them, that in the latter time shall dwell in the world, because they have walked in great pride.

51 But understand thou for thy self, and seek out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For unto you is paradise opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plentiful life is made ready, a city is builded, and rest is allowed, yea perfect goodnesse and wisdom.

53 The root of evil is sealed up from you, drunkennesse, and the moor is hid from you, and corruption is fled into hell to be forgotten.

54 Sorrows are passed, and in the end is shewed the creature of immortality.

55 And therefore ask thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had taken liberty, they despised the most High, thought scorn of his law, and forsook his wayes.

57 Therefore, they have troden down his righteous,

58 And ⁷ said in their heart, that there is no God, yea, and that knowing they must die.

59 For as the things aforesaid shall receive you, sorrow and pain are prepared for them: for it was not his will that men should come to nought.

60 But they which be created, have despised the name of him that made them, and were unthankfull unto him which prepared life for them.

61 And therefore is my judgement now at hand.

62 These things have I not shewed unto all men, but unto thee, and a few like thee. When answered I, and said, 63 Behold, O Lord, now hast thou shewed me the multitude of the wonders which thou wast begun to do in the last times: but at what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

7 Who shall be saved, and who not. 19 All the world is now corrupted: 22 yet God doth save a few.

33 He complaineth that those perish which keep Gods law: 38 and seeth a woman lamenting in a field.

H answered me then, and said, Therefore thou the time diligently in it self: and when thou test part of the signes past, which I have told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou understand, that it is the very same thing, wherein the Highest will begin to visit the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seen* earth quakes and uprores of the people in the world: Matt. 24. 7

4 Then shalt thou well understand, that the most High spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, even from the beginning.

5 For like as all that is made in the world hath a beginning, and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 Even so the times also of the Highest, have plain beginnings in wonders and powerfull works, and endings in effects and signes.

7 And every one that shall be saved, and shall be able to escape by his works, and by faith, whereby ye have believed,

8 Shall be preserved from the said perils, and shall see my salvation, in my land, and within my borders: for I have sanctified them for me from the beginning.

9 When shall they be in pitifull case which now have abused my wayes: and they that have cast them away despitfully, shall dwell in torment.

10 For such as in their life have received benefits, and have not known me:

11 And they that have loved my law, while they had yet liberty; and when as yet place of repentance was open unto them, understood not, but despised it:

12 The same must know it after death by pain.

13 And therefore be thou not curious, how the ungodly shall be punished, and when: but enquire how the righteous shall be saved, whose the world is, and for whom the world is created.

14 When answered I, and said,

15 I have said before, and now do speak, and will speak it also hereafter: that there be many more of them which perish, then of them which shall be saved.

16 Like as a waite is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, Like as the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, such are the colours also: such as the workman is, such also is the work: and as the husbandman is himself, so is his husbandry also: for it was the time of the world.

18 And now when I prepared the world which was not yet made, even for them to dwell in that now live, no man spake against me.

19 For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them which are created in this world that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual seed; and by a law which is unsearchable, rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and beheld there was perill, because of the devices that were come into it.

21 And I saw and spured it greatly, and have kept me a // grape of the cluster, and a plant of a great people.

22 Let the multitude perish then, which was born in vain, and let my // grape be kept, and my plants for with great labour have I made it perfect.

23 Nevertheless, if thou wilt cease yet seven dayes more (but thou shalt not fail in them).

24 But go into a field of flowers, where no house is builded, and eat onely the flowers of the field: taste no flesh, drink no wine, but eat flowers onely.

25 And pray unto the Highest continually, when will I come and talk with thee.

26 So I went my way into the field which is called Achor, like as he commanded me, and there I sat amongst the flowers, and did eat of the fruits of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 After seven dayes I sat upon the grass, and my heart was wept within me, like as before.

28 And I opened my mouth, and began to talk before the most high, and said, 29 O Lord, thou that shewest thy self unto us, thou wast shewed unto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man treadeth, in a barren place when they came out of Egypt.

30 And thou spakest, saying, Hear me, O Israel, and mark my words, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I saw my law in you, and it shall bring fruit in you, and ye shall be honoured in it for ever.

32 But our fathers which received the law, kept it not, and observed not thy ordinances: and though the fruit of the law did not perish, neither could it, for it was thine:

33 Per they that received it, perished, because they kept not the thing that was given in them.

34 And so, it is a custom when the ground hath received seed, of the sea a ship, or any vessel meat or drink, that, that being perished wherein it was sown, is cast into,

35 That thing also which was sown of cast therein, or received, both perish, and remaineth not with us: but such as it hath not happened so.

36 For we that have received the law perish by him, and our heart also which received it.

37 Notwithstanding the law perisheth not, but remaineth in his love.

38 And when I spake these things in my heart, I looked back with mine eyes, and upon the right side I saw a woman, and behold, she mourned and wept with a loud voice, and was much grieved in heart, and her clothes were rent, and she had ashes upon her head.

39 Then let I my thoughts go that I was in, and turned me unto her.

40 And said unto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so grieved in the mind?

41 And she said unto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewail my self, and addre unto my sorrow, for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very low.

42 And I said unto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 She said unto me, I thy servant have been barren, and had no child, though I had an husband thirty yeares.

44 And those thirty yeares I did nothing else day and night, and every hour, but make my prayer to the highest.

45 After thirty yeares God heard me thine handmaid, looked upon my misery, considered my trouble, and gave me a sonner: and I was very glad of him, so was my husband also, and all my neighbours, and we gave great banquet unto the multitude.

46 And I sorrowed him with great travail.

47 So when he grew up, and came to the time that he should have a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

1 He comforteth the woman in the field. 2 She bewailth away, and a city appeareth in her place.

3 The angel declareth these visions in the field.

4 And it came to passe, that when my sonne was entered into his wedding chamber, he fell down and died.

5 When he all overthrew the light, and all my neighbours rose up to comfort me, I was very red unto the thirtieth day as night.

6 And it came to passe when they were all left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quicker then rose I up by night and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou seest.

7 And I do now purpose not to return into the city, but here to stay, and neither to eat nor drink, but continually to mourn, and to fast until I die.

8 Then left I the words which I wrote in the book, and spake to her in anger, saying,

9 Thou foolish woman above all other, tell thou not our mourning, and what happeneth unto us?

10 How that Zion our mother is full of all heaviness, and much humbled, mourning very sore?

11 And now seeing we all mourn and are sad, for we are all in heaviness, art thou grieved for our sorrow?

12 For ask the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is she which ought to mourn for the fall of so many that grow upon her.

13 For out of her came all at the first, and out of her shall all others come, and behold, they walk almost all into destruction, and a multitude of them is utterly rooted out.

14 And so then should make more mourning, then she that hath lost so great a multitude, and not thou which art lost but for one?

15 But if thou lapest unto me, thy lamentation is not like the earths, because I have lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with sorrows.

16 But the earth not so: for the multitude present in it, according to the count of the earth, is gone, as it came.

17 Then say I unto thee, like as thou hast brought forth with labour: even so the earth also hath given her fruit, namely man, ever since the beginning unto him that make her.

18 Show therefore keep thy sorrow to thy self, and bear with a good courage that which hath befallen thee.

19 For if thou shalt acknowledge the determination of God to be just, thou shalt both receive thy sorrow in time, and shall be commended amongst women.

20 So she lay then into the city, to thine husband.

21 And she said unto me, What wilt I not do? I will not go into the city, but here will I die.

22 So I proceeded to speak further unto her, and said,

23 Do not so, but be comforted by me: for how many are the adversaries of Zion? be comforted in regard of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

24 For thou seest that our sanctuary is laid waste, our altar broken down, our temple destroyed.

25 Our plenary is laid on the ground, our song is put to silence, our rejoicing is at an end, the light of our candlestick is put out, the ark of our covenant is spoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us, is almost profaned: our children are put to shame, our pillars are burnt, our pillars are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our women are defiled, our righteous men carried away, our men are destroyed, our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak.

26 And which is the greatest of all, the hall of Zion hath now lost her honour: for she is perished into the hands of them that hate her.

For countrymen. 12, 13, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Cr, abolished

But the earth after the manner of the earth, whereto the present multitude is gone again as it came once.

24 And therefore shall all thy great beauty, and yet among the multitude of thousands, that the angels may be manifold unto thee again, and the angels shall give thee rest, and ease from thy labour.

25 And it came to pass while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a sudden shined exceedingly, and her countenance glistered, so that I was afraid of her, and waked what it might be.

26 And behold, suddenly she made a great cry very fearful: so that the earth shook at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city built, and a large place between it self from the foundations: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and said, 28 Where is Christ the angel, who came unto me at the first? for he hath called me to fall into many trances, and mine end is turned into confusion, and my power to trouble.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came unto me, and looked upon me.

30 And he, I say as one that had been dead, and mine understanding was taken from me, and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and let me rest upon my feet, and said unto me, 31 What hast thou said? and why art thou so distressed? and why is thine understanding troubled, and the thoughts of thine heart?

32 And he said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and yet I did according to thy words, and I went into the field, and to I have seen, and yet see that I am not able to express.

33 And he said unto me, Stand up manfully, and I will make thee.

34 Then said I, Speak on my lord, in mine own tongue, and I will praise thee of my hope.

35 And he said, I have seen that I know not, and know that I do not know.

36 And he said, I do not know of my soul in a dream.

37 Then therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt show the servant of this vision.

38 And he answered me, and said, Hear me, and I will show thee, and tell thee therefore what thou shalt see: for the highest will reveal many secret things unto thee.

39 And he said unto me, I say in thy sight: for that thou livest continually for the people, and wastest great labour for them.

40 And therefore is the meaning of the vision which thou hast seen:

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganst to comfort her:

42 But now see, thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city built.

43 And whereas he told thee of the death of her son, this is the solution.

44 And whereas he told thee that thou sawest a woman, and thou sawest her (then the woman thou sawest as a city built).

45 And whereas he said unto thee, that the city had been thirty years barren: those are the thirty years wherein there was no offering made for her.

46 And after thirty years, Jerusalem built the city, and offered offerings: and then have the barren a son.

47 And whereas he told thee that the mourning, and her much labour: that was the dwelling in Jerusalem.

48 But whereas he said unto thee, that my son coming into Jerusalem, happened to have a fall and died, this was the vision that came to Jerusalem.

49 And behold, thou sawest her likeness, and because she mourned for her son, thou beganst to comfort her, and of these things which have happened, these are to be seen unto thee.

50 For now the most high hath that thou art grown understanding, and hast seen from thy whole heart for her, to that he showed thee the brightness of her glory, and the comeliness of her beauty:

51 And therefore I had thee remain in the field, where no house was built.

52 For I know that the highest will do this unto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation of any building was.

54 For in the place wherein the highest beginneth to show his glory, there can no mans building be able to stand.

55 And therefore fear not, let not thine heart be frightened, but go thy way in, and see the beauty and greatness of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to see.

56 And then shalt thou have as much as thine eyes may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed above many other, and I have called with the highest, and so art thou.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remain here.

59 And so shall the highest show thee visions of the highest things, which the most high will do unto them that dwell upon earth in the last days. So I sleep that night and another, like as he commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 He seeth in his dream an eagle coming out of the face of the sun, and a lion out of a wood talking to the eagle.

2 Then into I a dream, and behold, there came up from the sea an eagle, which had twelve feathered wings, and three heads.

3 And I saw, and behold, she spread her wings over all the earth, and all the winds of the air blew on her, and were gathered together.

4 And I beheld, and out of her feathers there grew other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

5 And her head was as wax: the head in the midst was greater than the other, yet rested it with the other.

6 And whereas I beheld, and lo, the eagle flew with her feathers, and reigned upon earth, and was as a lion upon earth.

7 And I saw, that all things under heaven were subject unto her, and men that she against her, and not one creature upon earth.

8 And I beheld, and in the eagle sat upon her tail, and she spoke to her feathers, saying,

9 Come, and sit with me: and every one in his own place, and with his power.

10 But let the heads be pierced for the last.

11 And I beheld, and lo, the eagle went not out of her head, but from the midst of her body.

12 And I beheld, and behold, on the right side there arose one feather, and reigned over all the earth.

13 And so it was, that when it reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more: so the next following stood up, and reigned, and had a great time.

14 And

Or, we led to be with, etc.

Or, I saw things.

Let. No.

15 And it happened, that when it reigned, the end of it came also, like as the first, so that it appeared no more.

16 When came there a voice unto it, and said, 16 Hear thou that hast been rule over the earth so long: this I say unto thee, before thou beginnest to appear no more.

17 There shall none after thee attain unto thy time, neither unto the half thereof.

18 When arose the third, and reigned as the other before, and appeared no more also.

19 So went it with all the residue one after another, as that every one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 When I beheld, and lo, in process of time, the feathers, that followed, stood up upon the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them came, but within a while they appeared no more:

21 For some of them were let up, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelve feathers appeared no more, nor the two little feathers.

23 And there was no more upon the eagles body, but their heads that rested, and so it was.

24 When saw I also, that two little feathers divided themselves from the six, and remained under the head that was upon the right side: for the four continued in their place.

25 And I beheld, and lo, the feathers that were under the wing, thought to creep themselves, and to have the rule.

26 And I beheld, and lo, there was one let up, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second was shorter, abate then the first.

28 And I beheld, and lo, the two that remained thought also in themselves to reign:

29 And when they lo thought, behold, there awoke one of the heads that were at rest, namely, that was in the midst, for that was greater than the two other heads.

30 And then I saw that the two other heads were joined with it.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat up the two feathers under the wing, that would have reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in fear, and bare rule in it over all those that dwelt upon the earth, with much oppression, and it had the governance of the world more than all the things that had been.

33 And after this I beheld, and lo, the head that was in the midst, suddenly appeared no more, like as the wings.

34 But there remained the two heads, which also in like sort ruled upon the earth, and over those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and lo, the head upon the right side, bestowed it that was upon the left side.

36 When I heard a voice which said unto me, Look before thee; and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 And I beheld, and lo, as it were a roaring lion came out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a mans voice unto the eagle, and said, 38 Where thou, I will talk with thee, and the Highest shall say unto thee.

39 But not then it that remained of the four heads, when I came to reign in my world, that the end of these times might come through them:

40 And the fourth came, and overcame all the heads that were past, and had power over the world with great preeminence, and over the whole compass of the earth, with much tribulation and oppression, and so long time stood he upon the earth with deceit.

41 For the earth hath thou not judged with truth.

42 For thou hast afflicted the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, thou hast loved liars, and destroyed the blessings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast down the walls of him as did thee no harm.

43 Therefore is thy wrathful dwelling come up unto the Highest, and thy pride unto the mighty.

44 The Highest also hath looked upon the proud things, and behold, they are empty, and his abominations are fulfilled.

45 And therefore appears no more the eagle, nor the horrible things, nor the wicked feathers, nor thy malicious deeds, nor thy heartful things, nor all thy vain doings.

46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and may return, being delivered from thy violence, and that the may hope for the judgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XIII

3 The eagle which he saw, is destroyed, for the vision is interpreted. 37 He is bid to write his visions, 39 and so left what he may see more. 46 He doth comfort those that were grieved for his absence.

And it came to pass, to wit, to the four heads, that they were unto the eagle, I said,

2 And behold, the head that remained, and the four things appeared no more, and the eagle went unto it, and set themselves up to reign, and their kingdom was small and full of sorrow.

3 And I said, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great fear: then abate I one of the four heads and turned of my wrath, and from great fear, and said unto my spirit.

4 Lo, this hath thou done unto me, in that thou searchest out the images of the Highest.

5 So yet am I weary in my nature, and very weak in my spirit; and these things it is there in me, in the great fear whereby I was afflicted this night.

6 Therefore will I now ascend the Highest, that he will comfort me unto the end.

7 And I said, Lord, that bearest rule, if I have found grace before thy sight, and if I am justified with thee, before many others, and if my prayer indeed be come up before thy face.

8 Comfort me then, and let me see thy face, for interpretation, and plain difference of this fearful vision, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soul.

9 For thou hast judged me worthy to show me the last times.

10 And he said unto me, This is the interpretation of the vision.

11 The eagle whom thou sawest come up from the sea, is the kingdom which was seen in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expedient unto thee, therefore now I declare it unto thee.

13 Behold, the times shall come, that there shall rise up a kingdom upon earth, and it shall be feared above all the kingdoms that were before it.

14 In the same shall twelve kings reign, one after another:

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reign, and shall have more time then any of the twelve.

16 And this do the twelve wings signify which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice which thou heardest speak, and that thou sawest not to go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation:

18 That after the time of that kingdom, there shall arise great strivings, and it shall stand in peril of falling; nevertheless it shall not then fall, but shall be restored again to his beginning.

19 And whereas thou sawest the eight small under-feathers sticking to her wings, this is the interpretation:

20 That in him there shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their years swift.

21 And two of them shall perish: the middle time approaching, some shall be kept until their end begin to approach: but two shall be kept unto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads rising, this is the interpretation:

23 In his last days, he shall raise up three kingdoms, and renew many things therein, and they shall have the dominion of the earth.

24 And of those that dwell therein with much oppression, above all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle.

25 For that are they that shall accomplish his wickedness, and that shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifies that one of them shall die upon his bed, and yet with pain.

27 For the two that remain, shall be slain with the sword.

28 For the sword of the one shall devour the other: but at the last shall be slain through the sword himself.

29 And whereas thou sawest two feathers under the wings passing over the head that is on the right side:

30 It signifies that these are they whom the Highest hath kept unto their end: this is the small kingdom and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the lion whom thou sawest rising up out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking to the eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteousness, with all the words which thou hast heard.

32 This is the anointed which the Highest hath kept for them, and for their wickedness unto the end: he shall rebuke them, and shall upbraid them with their cruelty.

33 For he shall set them before him alive in judgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For the rest of my people shall be delivered with mercy, those that have been preserved upon my helpers, and he shall make them joyful until the coming of the day of judgement, whereof I have spoken unto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dream that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou only hast been meet to know this secret of the Highest.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seen in a book, and hide them.

38 And teach them to the wile of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend, and keep their secrets.

39 But wait thou here thy self yet seven days more, that it may be shewed thee whatsoever it pleased the Highest to declare unto thee. And with that he went his way.

40 And it came to pass, when all the people saw that the seven days were past, and I not come again into the city, they gathered them all together, from the least unto the greatest, and came unto me, and said.

41 What have we offended thee? and what evil have we done against thee, that thou forsakest us, and sittest here in this place?

42 For of all the prophets thou only art left ^{Or, people,} us, as a cluster of the vintage, and as a candle in a dark place, and as a haven of shipwrecked from the tempest.

43 Art not the evils which are come to us sufficient?

44 If thou hast forsaken us, how much better had it been for us, if we also had been burnt in the midst of Sion?

45 For we are not better then they that died there. And they wept with a loud voice. Then answered I them, and said.

46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heavy, thou house of Jacob:

47 For the Highest hath you in remembrance, and the angels hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me, I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you: but am come into this place, to pay for the desolation of Sion, and that I might seek mercy for the low estate of your sanctuary.

49 And now go your way home every man, and after these days will I come unto you.

50 So the people went their way into the city, like as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the field seven days, as the angel commanded me, and did eat only in those days of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbs.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He seeth in his dream a man coming out of the sea.

2 The declaration of his dream. 34 He is praised, and promised to see more.

And it came to pass after seven days, I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And lo, there arose ^{|| A certain man as the} a wind from the sea, ^{wind,} that it moved all the waves thereof. ^{|| Forth,}

3 And I beheld, and lo, that man waxed strong with the thousands of heaven: ^{|| clouds.} when he turned his countenance to look, all the things trembled that were seen under him.

4 And wherefore the voice went out of his mouth, all they burst that heard his voice, like as the earth shaketh when it feeleth the fire.

5 And after this I beheld, and lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men, out of number, from the four winds of the heaven, to subdue the man that came out of the sea.

6 But I beheld, and lo, he had graven himself a great mountain, and flew up upon it.

7 But I would have seen the region of place whereout the hill was graven, and I could not.

8 And after this I beheld, and lo, all they which were gathered together to subdue him, were sore afraid, and yet durst fight.

9 And lo, as he saw the violence of the multitude that came, he neither lift up his hand, nor held sword, nor any instrument of war.

10 But only I saw that he sent out of his mouth, as it had been a blast of fire, and out of his lips a flaming torch, and out of his tongue he cast out sparks and tempests.

11 And they were all hurt together: the blast.

of fire, the flaming breath, and the great wrath, and fell with violence upon the multitude. He was prepared to fight, and when they saw him, so that upon a sudden, of an instant, he understood nothing was to be perceived, but only dust and smell of smoke: when I saw this I was afraid.

12 Afterward I saw the hunt man come down from the mountain, and call unto him another wretched multitude.

James, of the things that were offered.

13 And there came much people unto him; whereof some were glad, some were sore, some of them were bound, and other some brought of them that were offered: then was I sick through great fear, and I awoke and said.

14 Thou hast shewed the servant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy that thou shouldst receive my prayer:

15 Shew me now yet the interpretation of this dream.

16 For as I conceive in mine understanding, two unto them that shall be left in those days; and much more two unto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left were in diabolical.

18 Now understand I the things that are laid up in the latter days, which shall happen unto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many necessities, like as these dreams declare.

Or, this day.

20 Yet is it easier for them that is in danger, to come into these things, then to pass away as a cloud out of the world, and not to see the things that happen in the last days. And he answered unto me, and said, 21 The interpretation of the vision shall I shew thee, and I will open unto thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 And whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation:

23 He that shall endure the peril in that time, hath kept himself: they that be fallen into danger are such as have works, and faith towards the Almighty.

24 Know this therefore, that they which be left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 This is the meaning of the vision, whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the midst of the sea:

26 The same is he whom God the Highest hath kept a great season, which by his own self shall deliver his creature: and he shall order them that are left behind.

27 And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast of winds, and fire and storm,

28 And that he held neither sword, nor any instrument of warre, but that the rushing in of him destroyed the whole multitude that came to subdue him, this is the interpretation:

29 Behold, the dayes come, when the most High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth.

30 And he shall come as the astonishment of them that dwell on the earth.

Mar. 24.7.

31 And one shall undertake to fight against another, one city against another, one place against another, one people against another, and one realm against another.

32 And the time shall be when these things shall come to passe, and the signes shall happen which I shewed thee before, and then shall me must be understood, which thou sawest with your eyes.

33 And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast of winds, and fire and storm, which they saw one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered together, as thou sawest them willing to come, and to overcome him by fighting.

35 But he shall stand upon the top of the mountain.

36 And when he shall come, and shall be shewed to all men, being prepared and adorned like as thou sawest the hill graven without hands.

37 And this my tongue shall rebuke the wicked inventions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the lump.

38 And shall lay before them their evil thoughts, and the sentences whereby they shall begin to be tormented, which are like unto a flame; and he shall destroy them without labour, by the law which is like unto fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peacable multitude unto him, 40 That are the tribes which were carried away prisoners out of their own land, in the time of Darius the king, whom Salimadar the king of Assyria led away captive, and he carried them over the waters, and so came they into another land.

* King. 17. 37

41 But they took this counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankinde dwelt.

42 That they might there keep their statutes, which they never kept in their own land.

43 And they entered into Taphars by the narrow passages of the river.

44 For the most High then shewed signs for them, and held still the flood, till they were passed over.

* Exod. 14. 27
Joh. 3. 15, 16.

45 For through that country there was a great way to go, namely, of a year and a half: and the same region is called Ararath.

|| Or, Ararath.

46 Then dwelt they there until the latter time, and now when they shall begin to come,

47 The Highest shall say the sayings of the stream again, that they may go through: therefore shall thou see multitudes with peace.

48 But those that be left behind of the people, are they that are found within my borders.

49 Now when he shall destroy the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend his people that remain.

50 And then shall he shew them great wonders.

51 Then said I, O Lord that bearest rule, shew me this: therefore have I seen the man coming up from the midst of the sea:

52 And he said unto me, Like as thou canst neither seek out, nor know the things that are in the deep of the sea: even so can no man upon the earth see my tohne, or those that be with him, but in the day time.

53 This is the interpretation of the dream which thou sawest, and whereby thou only art here lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine own way, and applied the diligence unto my law, and sought it.

55 Thy life hath thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called understanding the mother.

56 And therefore have I shewed thee the treasures of the Highest: after other three dayes I will speak other things unto thee, and declare unto thee mighty and wondrous things.

22 And thou shalt see the signs, giving voice and thanks greatly unto the most high, because of the wonders which he doeth daily.
 23 And thou shalt be astonished at the same, and such things as fall in thine eyes: and there I shew thee signs.

CHAPTER XIII.

1 A voice out of a high castle I heard, saying, Woe and woe him that the world waxeth old, 22 He defineth because the law was burnt, to write all again, 24 and is able to get faith written, 26 He said they are filled with understanding, 45 But he is charged not to publish all that is written.

And it came to pass upon the third day, I saw him in me, and beholds, there came a voice out of a high castle against me, and said, Woe him, Enoch.

2 And I said, where am I, Lord; and I stood up upon my feet.

Exod. 3. 2, 3.

3 When I saw him, he said unto me, 4 In the bush I did manifest myself unto the self-same Moses, and talked with him, when my people stood in Egypt.

4 And I said unto him, and how my people out of Egypt, and brought him to the mount of Si- nai, where I told him of my long passion.

5 And told him many wonderful things, and shewed him the secrets of the times, and the end:
 and he understood them perfectly.

6 These words shall thou hide, and thou shalt keep them.

7 And now I say unto thee,
 8 What thou lay up in thy heart the figures that I have shewed, and the visions that thou hast seen, and the interpretations which thou hast heard:

9 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and from henceforth thou shalt dwell with my people, and with such as be like thee until the times be ended.

10 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to wax old.

11 For the world is divided into twelve parts, and the ten parts of it are gone already, and half of a tenth part.

12 And there remaineth that which is after the half of the tenth part.

13 Now therefore let these hours in order, and remember my people, counting such of them as be in trouble, and now remove captivity.

14 Let go from thee mental thoughts, cast away the burdens of men, put off now the weak nature.

15 And let alive the thoughts that are most heavy unto thee, and baste thee to flee from these times.

Mat. 24. 7.

16 For, yea, greater evils than these which thou hast seen happen, shall be done hereafter.

17 For look how much the world shall be weakened through age, so much the more shall evils increase upon them the more they live.

18 For the truth is fled farce away, and seeking is hard at hand: for now basted the vision to come which thou hast seen.

19 When answered I before thee, and said, 20 Beholds, Lord, I will go as thou hast commanded me, and rejoyce the people which are present; but they that shall be born afterward, who shall admonish them that the world is set in darkness, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For the law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall begin.

22 That I have found grace before thee, send the holy spirit into me, and I shall write all that thou hast said unto me in the book since the beginning, which were written in thy law, that men may find thy path, and that they which will live in the latter ages, may live.

23 And he answered me, saying, Go thy way, gather the people together, and say unto them, that they do these and say these things.

24 But look thou prepare thee many books, and take with thee Enoch, Daniel, Sel- man, Demas, and Abel, that they live which are ready to write swiftly.

Or, box tables to write on. See ver-44.
 Cr, Barus.

25 And come before me, and I shall light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 Now when thou hast done, these things shall thou publish, and some things shall thou shew secretly to the wise: to know how this hour shall thou begin to write.

27 When thou I said as he commanded, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Hear these words, O Israel.

29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were delivered:

Gen. 47. 4.

30 And therein the law of life, which they kept not, which ye also have transgressed after them.

AA, 7. 53.

31 When was the land, then the land of Chor- an parted among you by lot, but your fathers, and ye your fathers have done unrighteously, and have not kept the law: which the highest commanded you.

32 And as much as he is a righteous judge, he took from you in time the thing that he saw given you.

33 And now are you here, and your brethren amongst you.

34 Therefore if so be that you will subvert your own understanding, and reform your hearts, ye shall be kept alive, and after death ye shall obtain mercy.

35 For after death shall the judgment come, when we shall live again: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest: and the works of the ungodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come unto me now, nor seek after me these fourth days.

37 So I took the women as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 And the next day, beholds, a voice called me, saying, Enoch, open thy mouth and drink that I give thee to drink.

Ezek. 3. 2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholds, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I took it and drank, and when I had drunk of it, my heart entered understanding, and wisdom grew in my brain, for my spirit strengthened my memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The highest gave understanding unto the women, and they wrote the wonderful visions of the night that were told, which they knew now and they lay forty days; and they wrote in the day, and at night they are dead.

43 And so, me, I came in the day, and I held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty days they wrote I also hundred || Or, 904, and four books.

45 And it came to pass when the fourth day was over

Or, destroy.
 24 And they shall come to her, and besiege her, the stars and all they shall lay siege out upon her, then shall she and all that are in her be taken, and all that are in her shall be taken, and all that are in her shall be taken.
 25 And they that remain under her shall be taken into them that have put her in fear.
 26 And thou also, that art a partaker of the hope of Babylon, and art the glory of her person, shall be as a wrecker, thou wast, because thou hast made the left like unto her, and hast deckt thy garments in purple, that they might praise and glory in the latter, which have always been to consume without rest.
 27 Thou shalt follow her that is hated in all her works and inventions, therefore hath God, 28 I will send plagues upon thee, widowhood, poverty, famine, sword, and pestilence, to make thy bones and destruction and death.
 29 And the glory of thy power shall be taken up as a flower, when the heat shall arise that is sent over thee.
 30 Thou shalt be weakened as a poor woman with stripes, and as one chastised with wounds, so that the richer and looser shall not be able to recover thee.
 31 Whom I with jealousy have so persecuted against thee, said the Lord.
 32 Yet thou wast not always slain my chosen, trailing the stroke of thine hands, and laying over thee a sea, when thou wast drunken.
 33 Get forth the beauty of the countenance?
 34 The rulers of thy wisdom shall be in the house, therefore shall thou receive recompense.
 35 Like as thou hast done unto my chosen, said the Lord, even so will God do unto thee, and shall deliver thee into mischief.
 36 The children shall be of danger, and thou shalt fall through the sword, the cities shall be taken down, and all that shall perish with the sword in the field.
 37 They that be in the mountains shall die of hunger, and eat their own flesh, and drink their own blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirst of water.
 38 Thou as unhappy shalt come through the sea, and receive plagues again.
 39 And in the midst they shall rush on the pole city, and shall destroy some portion of the land, and consume part of thy glory, and shall return to Babylon that was destroyed.
 40 And thou shalt be as a sea, by then, as a bubble, and they shall be unto thee as fire.
 41 And shall consume thee and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountains, all thy woods and thy fruitful trees shall they burn up with fire.
 42 The children shall they carry away captive, and look upon thee that hast, they shall spoil it, and mar the beauty of the face.
 Or, death.
 Or, like unto Babylon.

Or, he that takes a lady clothes of sack and sack, and shall be for thy destruction.
 2 A sword is sent upon you, and who may turn back?
 3 A fire is sent among you, and who may quench it?
 4 Plagues are sent unto you, and what is he that may drive them away?
 5 May any man drive away a hungry lion in the wood? or may any one quench the fire in stubble, when it hath begun to burn?
 6 May one turn again the arrow that is shot of a strong archer?
 7 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who is he that can drive them away?
 8 A fire shall go forth from his wrath, and who is he that may quench it?
 9 He shall call his windings, and who shall not fear? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?
 10 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not be utterly beaten to powder at his presence?
 11 The earth quaketh, and the foundations thereof, the sea ariseth up with waves from the deep, and the waves of it are troubled, and the fishes thereof also before the Lord, and before the glory of his power.
 12 For strong is his right hand that bendeth the bow, his arrows that he shooteth are fiery, and shall not misse when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.
 13 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not return again, until they come upon the earth.
 14 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundation of the earth.
 15 Like as an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer, returned not backward: even so the plagues that shall be sent upon earth shall not return again.
 16 Who is he, who is he, who will deliver me in those days?
 17 The beginning of sorrows and great mountings, the beginning of famine, and great dearth, the beginning of warres, and the powers shall stand in fear, the beginning of evils, what shall I do when these evils shall come?
 18 Behold, famine and plague, tribulation and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.
 19 Because all their things they shall not turn from their wickedness, nor be always mindful of the scourges.
 20 Behold, victuals shall be so good cheap upon earth, that they shall think themselves to be in good case; and then shall famine grow upon earth, thirst, famine, and great confusion.
 21 For many of them that dwell upon earth, shall perish of famine, and the other that escape the hunger, shall the sword destroy.
 22 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them, for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast down.
 23 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sow it.
 24 The trees shall give fruit, and who shall gather them?
 25 The grapes shall ripe, and who shall tread them for ale, place shall be desolate of wine.
 26 The vine and man shall be desolate for another, and to bear his voice.
 27 For as a tree shall be left, and the top of the field which shall bite themselves in the thick groves, and in the crevices of the rocks.
 28 As in an orchard of olives, upon every tree there

Or, plagues.

CHAP. XVI.

Babylon and other places are threatened with plagues that cannot be avoided, 23 and with desolation, 40 The servants of the Lord must look for troubles: 51 and not hide their faces, 74 but leave them, and they shall be delivered.

VV D be unto thee, Babylon and Asia, two be unto thee, Egypt and Syria, there are left three or four olives:

20 Or when as a vineyard is gathered, there are left some clusters of them that diligently seek through the vineyard:

21 Even so in those dayes there shall be three or four left by them that search their houses with the sword.

22 And the earth shall be laid waste, and the fields thereof shall wasten, and her wayes and all her paths shall grow full of thorns, because no man shall travell therethrough.

23 The virgins shall mourn, having no husbands, the women shall mourn, having no husbands, their daughters shall mourn, having no helpers.

24 In the warre shall their husbands be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish of famine.

25 Here now these things, and understand them, ye servants of the Lord.

26 Behold the word of the Lord, receive it, believe not the gods of whom the Lord spake.

27 Behold, the plagues draw nigh, and are not slack.

28 As when a woman with childe, in the ninth month bringeth forth her forme, within two or three houres of her birth great paines compass her wombe, which paines, when the childe cometh forth, they slack not a moment:

29 Even so shall not the plagues be slack to come upon the earth, and the world shall mourn, and sorrows shall come upon it on every side.

30 O my people, heare my word, make you ready to the battell, and in those evils, be even as pillars upon the earth.

31 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth away: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

32 He that occupieth merchandise, as he that had no profit by it: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein.

33 He that soweth, as if he should not reap: so also be that planteth a vineyard, as he that shall not gather the grapes.

34 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, as the widowers.

35 And therefore they that labour, labour in vain.

36 For strangers shall reap their fruits, and spoil their goods, overthrow their houses, and take their children captives: for in captivity and famine shall they get children.

37 And they that occupie their merchandise with robbery, the more they deck their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their own persons:

38 The more will I be angry with them for their sinne, saith the Lord.

39 Like as an whore enbrieth a right honest and vertuous woman:

40 So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh her self, and shall accuse her to her face, when she cometh that shall defend him: when she diligently searcheth out every sinne upon earth.

41 And therefore be ye not like therunto, no, to the works thereof.

42 For yet a little, and iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reign among you.

43 Let not the sinner say that he hath not sinned: for God shall burn coals of fire upon his head, which shall burn the Lord God and his glory, I have not sinned.

44 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

45 Which spake but the word, Let the earth be made, and it was made: let the heaven be made, and it was created.

46 In his word were the starres made, and he knoweth the number of them.

47 He searched the deep, and the treasures thereof, he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

48 He hath shut the sea in the midst of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth upon the waters.

49 He spreadeth out the heavens like a vauit, upon the waters hath he founded it.

50 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pools upon the tops of the mountains, that the floods might pour down from the high rocks, to water the earth.

51 He made man, and put his heart in the midst of the body, and gave him breath, life and understanding.

52 He, and the spirit of Almighty God which made all things, and searcheth out all hidden things in the secrets of the earth.

53 Surely he knoweth your inventions, and what you think in your hearts, even them that sinne, and would hide their sinne.

54 Therefore hath the Lord exactly searched out all your works, and he will put you all to shame.

55 And when your sinnes are brought forth, ye shall be ashamed before men, and your own sinnes shall be your accusers in that day.

56 But hat wilt ye not or how will you hide your sinnes before God and his angels?

57 Behold, God himself is the judge, stand: leave off from your sinnes and forget your iniquities, to mendle no more with them: for every to shall God lead you forth, and deliver you from all trouble.

58 Behold, the burning wrath of a great multitude is kindled over you, and they shall take away certain of you, and feed you like idle with things offered unto idols.

59 And they that content unto them shall be had in derision, and in reproach, and troden under foot.

60 For there shall be in every place, and in the next cities a great insurrection upon those that fear the Lord.

61 They shall be like mad men, sparing none, but still spoiling and destroying those that fear the Lord.

62 For they shall waste and take away their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

63 Then shall they be known who are my chosen, and they shall be tried as the gold in the fire.

64 Heare, O ye my beloved, saith the Lord: behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliver you from the same.

65 Be ye not afraid, neither doubt: for God is your guide.

66 And the guide of them who keep my commandments, and precepts, saith the Lord God: let not your sinnes weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themselves.

67 Also be unto them that are bound with their sinnes, and covered with their iniquities: like as a field is covered over with bushes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travell through.

68 It is I left unspotted, and is cast into the fire to be consumed therewith.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobit his flock and devotion in his youth. 9 His marriage, 10 and captivity. 13 His preferment; 16 almes, and charity in burying the dead: 19 for which he is accused and death, 22 and after re- turneth to Nineveh.

1 Or, 22.

The book of the words of Tobit, sonne of Tobit, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gabael, of the tribe of Manasse, of the tribe of Naphtali.

2 Kin. 17. 3.
1 Or, Kedes, of Nephthali in Galile.
Judg. 4. 6.

2 Who in the time of Sennacherib king of the Assyrians, was led captive out of Galilee, which is at the right hand of that city, which is called properly Naphtali in Galilee above all.

3 I Tobit have walked all the dayes of my life in the way of truth and justice, and I did many almes-deeds to my brethren, and my nation, who came with me to Nineveh, into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine own country, in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Naphtali my father, fell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the temple of the habitation of the most High was consecrated and built for all ages.

5 Now all the tribes which together rebelled, and the house of my father Naphtali sacrificed unto the "beifer Baal.

1 Or, to the power of Baal, or the god Baal.

2 Kin. 18. 30.
Exod. 32. 29.
Deut. 32. 6.

6 But I alone went often to Jerusalem at the feasts, as it was ordained unto all the people of Israel by an everlasting decree, "having the gifts, and tithes of increase, with that which was first born; and them gave I at the altar, to the priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part of all increase I gave to the houses of I Aaron, who ministered at Jerusalem; another tenth part I sold always, and went, and spent it every yeare at Jerusalem.

8 And the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Deborah my fathers mother had commanded me, because I was left an orphan by my father.

9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine own kindred, and of her I begat Tobias.

10 And when we were carried away captives to Nineveh, all my brethren, and those that were of my kindred, did eat of the "head of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept I my self from eating, because I remembered God with all my heart.

12 And the most High gave me grace & labour before Sennacherib, so that I was chief purveyor.

13 And I went into Media, and left in trust with Gabael, the brother of Gabins sat Rages a city of Media, ten talents of silver.

14 Now when Sennacherib was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead; I whose estate was troubled, that I could not go into Media.

15 And in the time of Sennacherib, I gave many almes to my brethren, and gave my bread to the hungry,

16 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my nation dead, or cast I about the walls of Nineveh, I buried him.

17 And if the king Sennacherib had slain any, when he was come, "I saw from Judea, I buried them publicly, (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found, when they were sought for of the king.

18 And when one of the Ministers went and complained of me to the king, that I buried them, and hid my self understanding that I was sought for to be put to death, I withdrew to my self for fear.

19 Then all my goods were forcibly taken away, neither was there any thing left me, besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

20 And there passed not five and sixtie dayes before two of his Ministers killed him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararat, and Sardanapalus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed over his fathers accounts, and over all his affairs, Achacharus my brother Ananis haddon.

21 And Achacharus intreating for me, I returned to Nineveh: now Achacharus was cup-bearer, and keeper of the signet, and steward, and overseer of the accounts; and Sardanapalus appointed him next unto him: and he was my brother haddon.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobit leaveth his meat to bury the dead, 10 and becometh blind, 11 His wife taketh in work to get her living, 14 Her husband and she fall out about a kid.

Now when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was restored unto me, with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared me, in the which I sat down to eat.

2 And when I saw abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Go, and bring what people man so ever thou shalt finde out of our brethren, who is mindfull of the Lord; and so, I carry for thee.

3 But he came again, and said, Father one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market-place.

4 Then before I had tasted of any meat, I start up, and took him up into a room, untill the going down of the sunne.

5 Then I returned, and washed my self, and ate my meat in heaviness.

6 Remembering that prophesie of "Amos, as he said, Your feasts shall be turned into mourning, and all your mirth into lamentation.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going down of the sunne, I went and made a grave, and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and said, This man is not yet afraid to be put to death for this matter: who fled away, and yet so, he buried the dead again.

9 The same night also I returned from the burial, and slept by the wall of my court-yard, being polluted, and my face was uncovered.

10 And I knew not that there were sparrows in the wall, and mine eyes being open, the sparrows went down into mine eyes, and so whiteness came in mine eyes, and I went to the physicians, but they helped me not: moreover, Achacharus did nourish me, untill I went into Cilnais,

11 And

He was hired to spin in the women rooms.
[Or, her work.

11 And my wife Anna I did take women to do.

12 And when she had sent them down to the owners, they paid her wages, and gave her all her work.

Deut. 22.1.

13 And when it was in my house, and began to cry, I said unto her, From whence is this hide is it not stolen? render it to the owners, for it is not lawful to eat any thing that is stolen.

Job 2.9.

14 But she replied upon me, It was given for a gift more then the wages: howbeit I did not deceive her, but had her render it to the owners: and I was ashamed at her. But she replied upon me, Where are thine almes, and thy righteous deeds? behold, thou and all thy works are known.

[Or, lo, all things are known to thee.

CHAP. III.

I Tobit grieved with his wives tamm, prayer, II Sara reproached by her fathers maid, prayer also. 17 An angel is sent to help them both.

Then I being grieved did weep, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art just, and all thy works, and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgest truly and justly for ever.

3 Remember me, and look on me, punish me not for my sinnes and ignorances, and the sinnes of my fathers, who have sinned before thee:

4 For they obeyed not thy commandments; wherefore thou hast delivered us for a spoil, and unto captivity, and unto death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are dispersed.

5 And now thy judgements are many and true: deal with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers: because we have not kept thy commandments, neither have walked in truth before thee.

6 And therefore deal with me as seemeth best unto thee, and command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolved, and become earth: for it is profitable for me to die rather then to live, because I have heard false reproaches, and have much sorrow: command therefore that I may now be delivered out of this distress, and go into the everlasting place: turn not thy face away from me.

7 It came to passe the same day, that in Echa-tane a cite of Media, Sara the daughter of Ra-guel was also reproached by her fathers maids:

8 Because that she had been married to seven husbands, whom Almodesus the evil spirit had killed, before they had lien with her. Doct thou not know, said they, that thou hadst strangled thine husbands? thou hast had already seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore dost thou beat us for them? If they be dead, go thy ways after them: let us never see of thee either some of daughter.

10 When she heard their things, she was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to have strangled her self, and she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this it shall be a reproach unto him, and I shall bring his old age with sorrow unto the grave.

11 When she prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious name is blessed and honourable for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may have no more the reproach.

14 When Almodesus said that I am pure from all sinne that man.

15 And that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my fathers:
neither had he any child to be his heir, neither any near kinsman, nor any sonne of his alive, to whom I may keep my self for a wife:
my seven husbands are already dead, and I have should I live? but if it please not thee that I should die, command some regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, that I have no more reproach.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard:
before the majesty of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heal them both, that is, to scale away the whiteness of Tobits eyes, and to give Sara the daughter of Raguel, for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to drive Almodesus the evil spirit, because he belonged to Tobias by right of inheritance. The first same time came Tobit home, and entered into his house, and Sara the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

CHAP. IIIII.

3 Tobit giveth instructions to his sonne Tobias, 20 and

That day Tobit remembered the money which he had committed to Gabael in Media of Media.

2 And said to himself, I have wished for death, wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may signifie to him of the money before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, when I am dead, bury me, and honour not thy mother, but honour her all the dayes of thy life, and do that which shall please her, and grieve her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, that he saw many dangers for thee, when thou wast in her womb, and when she is dead, bury her by me in this grave.

5 My sonne, be mindfull of the Law of God all thy dayes, and let not the law be in thy sinne, or to transgresse his commandments: remember all thy life long, and follow the ways of unrighteousness.

6 For if thou deal cruelly, thy doings shall not prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them that thou lovest.

7 Give a me of thy substance, and when thou givest almes, let not thine eye be envied: neither turn thy face from any poor, and the face of God shall not be turned away from thee.

8 If thou hast abundance, give almes continually: if thou have but a little, be not afraid to give according to that little.

9 For thou layest up a good treasure for thy self against the day of necessity.

10 Because that almes do deliver from death, and suffereth not to come into darkness.

11 For almes is a good gift: more all that give it, in the sight of the most High.

12 Beware of all whoredoms, my sonne, and chaste take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strangers woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers seed: for we are the children of the prophets, Isaac, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: remember, my sonne, that our fathers from the beginning, even that they all married wives of their own kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, love thy brethren, and despise not in thy heart thy brethren, thy sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a taste of them for in judgement destruction and much trouble, and in lewdness is decay and great want: for lewdness is the mother of famine.

* Levit. 19. 13. 14 Let not the wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarry with thee, but give him it out of hand: for if thou serve God, he will also repay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things thou doest, and be wise in all thy conversation.

* Mat. 6. 1. 17 Pour out thy head on the buriall of the just, but give nothing to the wicked.

18 Ask counsel of all that are wise, and despise not any counsel that is profitable.

19 Bless the Lord thy God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be directed, and that all thy paths and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsel, but the Lord himself gathereth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will, now therefore my sonne, remember my commandments, neither let them be put out of thy minde.

20 And now I signify this to thee, that I committed ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias in Medias.

21 And fear not, my sonne, that we are made poorer; thou hast much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all sinne, and do that which is pleasing in his sight.

CHAP. V

4 Young Tobias seeketh a guide into Media, 6 The angel will go with him, 12 and saith he is his kinsman, 16 Tobias and the angel depart together, 17 But his mother is grieved for her sonnes departing.

Tobias then answered and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receive the money, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gave him the hand-writing, and said unto him, Seek thee a man which may go with thee whyles I yet live, and I will give him wages: and go and receive the money.

4 Therefore when he went to seek a man, he found Raphael that was an angel.

5 But he knew not; and he said unto him, Wilt thou go with me to Ragas? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the angel said, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: for I have lodged with our father Gabael.

7 Then Tobias laid unto him, Tarry for me till I tell my father.

8 Then he said unto him, Go, and tarry not: so he went in and said to his father, Behold, I have found one which will go with me. Then he said, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a trustie man to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said unto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Dost thou seek for a tribe or family, or an hired man to go with the sonne? Then Tobit said unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and name.

12 Then he said, I am Ararias, the sonne of Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome, brother, be not now angry with me, because I have enquired to know the tribe, and thy family, for thou art my brother, of an honest and good stock: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: as we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first-fruit, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not seduced with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a good stock.

14 But tell me, what wages shall I give thee? wilt thou a drachme a day, and things necessary, as to mine own sonne?

15 Yea, moreover, if ye return safe, I will add something to thy wages.

16 So they were well pleased. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thyself for the journey, and God send you a good journey. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the journey, his father said, Go thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heaven, prosper your journey, and the angel of God keep you company. So they went forth both, and the young mans dog with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand, in going in and out before us?

18 Be not greedy (to add) money to money: but let it be as a reule in respect of our childre.

19 For that which the Lord hath given us to live with, both suffice us.

20 Then said Tobit to her, Take no care, my sister, he shall return in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good angel will keep him company, and his journey shall be prosperous, and he shall return safe.

22 Then he made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

4 The angel biddeth Tobias to take the liver, heart, and gall out of a fish, 10 and to marry Sara the daughter of Raguel: 16 and teacheth how to drive the wicked spirit away.

And as they went on their journey, they came in the evening to the river Tigres, and they lodged there.

2 And when the young man went down to wash himself, a fish leaped out of the river, and would have devoured him.

3 Then the angel said unto him, Take the fish: and the young man laid hold of the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the angel said, Open the fish, and take the heart, and the liver, and the gall, and put them up safely.

5 So the young man did as the angel commanded him, and when they had rested the fish, they did eat it: then they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatane.

6 Then the young man said to the angel, Brother Ararias, to what use is the heart, and the liver, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, if a devil, or an evil spirit trouble any, we must make a smoke thereof before the man

Let not money be added, but by the offering of our sonne, Or, so long as God hath granted us to live, this is sufficient.

Or, cast it up on the land.

man of the woman, and the party shall be no more.

8 As for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 And when they were come neare to Rages, the angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin; he also hath one onely daughter, named Sara, I will speak for her, that she may be given thee for a wife.

10 The angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin; he also hath one onely daughter, named Sara, I will speak for her, that she may be given thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her appertain, seeing thou dost art of her kindred.

12 And the maid is fair and wise; now therefore heare me, and I will speak to her father, and when we return from Rages, we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the law of Moses, but he shall be guilty of death, because the right of inheritance must rather appertain to thee, then to any other.

13 Then the young man answered the angel, I have heard, brother Arias, that this maid hath been given to seven men, who all died in the marriage-chamber.

14 And now I am the onely sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest if I go in unto her, I die, as the other before: for a wicked spirit loveth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come unto her; wherefore I also fear lest I die, and bury my fathers and my mothers life (because of me) to the grave with sorrow: for they have no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the angel said unto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gave thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine own kindred? wherefore heare me, O my brother, for the shall be given thee to wife; and make thou no reckoning of the evil spirit; for this same night shall she be given thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt come into the marriage-chamber, thou shalt take the ashes of perfume, and shalt lay upon them, some of the heart and liver of the fowls, and shalt make a smoke with it:

17 And the devil shall smell it, and flee away, and never come again any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise up both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will have pity on you, and save you: fear not, for she is appointed unto thee from the beginning; and thou shalt preserve her, and she shall go with thee: moreover, I suppose that she shall bear thee children. And when Tobias had heard these things, he loved her, and his heart was effectually joyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

11 Raguel telleth Tobias what had happened to his daughter: 12 and giveth her in marriage unto him. 17 She is conveyed to her chamber, and weepeth. 18 Her mother comforteth her.

And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sara met them: and after they had kissed one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Anna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked them, From whence are you, brethren? To whom they said, We are of the sonnes of Joseph, which are captives in Babel.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinsman? and they said, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped up, and kissed him, and wept.

7 And blessed him, and said unto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was sorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Anna his wife, and Sara his daughter wept. Whereupon, they entertained them cheerfully, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flock, they set those of meat on the table. Then said Tobias to Raguel, Brother Arias, speak of those things of which thou dost talk in the way, and let this business be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry:

10 For it is meet that thou shouldst marry my daughter: nevertheless, I will declare unto thee the truth.

11 I have given my daughter in marriage to seven men, who died that night they came in unto her: nevertheless, for the present be merry: but Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, till we agree, and swear one to another.

12 Raguel said, Then take her from hence forth according to the manner, for thou art her cousin, and she is thine, and the mercifull God give you good successe in all things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sara, and she came to her father, and he took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the law of Moses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

14 And called Anna his wife, and took paper, and did write an instrument of covenants, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eat.

16 After Raguel called his wife Anna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done as he had commanded her, she brought her thither, and the bride and the groom received the tears of her daughter, and said unto her,

18 Be of good comfort, my daughter, the Lord of heaven and earth give thee joy for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

3 Tobias driveth the wicked spirit away, as he was taught. 4 He and his wife rise up to pray, so Raguel thought he was dead: 15 But finding him alive, praiseth God, 19 and maketh a wedding feast.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went he remembered the words of Raphael, and took the ashes of the perfume, and put the heart, and the liver of the fowls upon, and made a smoke therewith.

3 The which smell when the evil spirit had smelled, he fled into the utmost parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him.

4 And after that they were both shut in together, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let us pray, that God would have pity on us.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious name for ever, let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creature.

22. 6 Then madest thou, and gabest him Eve his wife for an helper and say: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good that man should be alone; let us make unto him an aid like unto himself.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for lust, but uprightly: therefore mercifully ordain, that we may become aged together.

8 And he said unto him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night. And Raguel awoke, and went and made a grave.

10 Saying, I fear lest he also be dead.

11 But when Raguel was come into his house.

12 He said unto his wife Anna, Send one of the maids, and let her see whether he be alive: if he be not, that we may bury him, and no man know it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleep.

14 And came forth and told them that he was alive.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise; therefore let thy saints praise thee with all thy creatures; and let all thine angels and thine elect praise thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be praised, for thou hast made me joyful; and that it is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with us according to thy great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the only begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health, with joy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bad his servants to fill the grave.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourteen days.

20 For before the dayes of the marriage were finished, Raguel had said unto him by an oath, that he should not depart till the fourteen dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then he should take the half of his goods, and go in safety to his father, and should have the rest when I and my wife be dead.

CHAP. IX.

1 Tobias sendeth the angel unto Gabael for the money. 6 The angel bringeth it and Gabael to the wedding.

2 Then Tobias called Raphael, and said unto him,

3 Brother, take with thee a servant, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media, to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

4 For Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart.

5 But my father counteth the dayes, and if I tarry long, he will be very loy.

6 So Raphael went out, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the hand-writing; who brought forth bags which were sealed up, and gave them to him.

7 And early in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, and Tobias blessed his wife.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife long for their sonne. 7 She will not be comforted by her husband. 10 Raguel sendeth Tobias and his wife away with half their goods. 22 and bleisseth them.

NOW Tobit his father counted every day, and when the dayes of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Then Tobit said, Are they detained? or is Gabael dead? and there is no man to give him the money?

3 Therefore he was very loy.

4 Then his wife said unto him, My sonne is dead, seeing he stayed long; and she began to bewail him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace, take no care, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceave me not, my sonne is dead: and he went out every day into he way which they went, and did eat no meat on the day time, and cried out whole nights to bewail her sonne Tobias, untill the fourteen dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn that he should open there: then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me go, for my father and my mother look now to me.

8 But his father in law said unto him, Carry with me and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare unto him how things go with thee.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gave him Sara his wife, and half his goods, servants, and cattell, and money:

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven give you a prosperous journey, my children.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may hear good report of thee: and he kissed her. Anna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven rethuse thee, my dear daughter, and grant that I may see the children of my daughter Sara before I die, that I may rejoice before the Lord: behold, I commit my daughter unto thee: of spiritual truth, wherefore do not entreat her evil.

CHAP. XI.

6 Tobias' mother spieth her sonne coming, to his father meeteth him at the doore, and recovereth his fight. 14 He praiseth God, and welcometh his daughter in law.

AFTER these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had given him a prosperous journey, and blessed Raguel, and Anna his wife, and went on his way till they were come unto Nineve.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou didst leave thy father.

3 Let us haste before thy wife, and prepare the house:

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog went after them.

5 Now Anna sat looking about towards the way for her sonne.

6 And when she espied him coming, she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne cometh, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes.

8 Therefore amount thou his eyes with the gill, and being picked therewith, he shall rub, and the whereunto shall fall away, and he shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ran forth, and fell upon the neck of her sonne, and said unto him, Seeing I have seen thee my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, for they were dead.

10 Tobit

Tobit and his wife long for their sonne.

Or, to be Lifely kept.

10 Tobit also went forth towards the doore, and humbled : but his sonne ran unto him.

11 And took hold of his father, and he brake of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to smart, he rubbed them ;

13 And the whitenesse pished away from the corners of his eyes : and when he saw his sonne, he fell upon his neck.

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou O God, and blessed is thy name for ever, and blessed are all thyne holy angels :

15 For thou hast scourged and hast taken pity on me : for behold, I see my sonne Tobias. And his sonne went in rejoycing, and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, at the gate of Nineveh, rejoycing and praising God : and they which saw him go, marvelled, because he had recovered his sight.

17 But Tobit gave thanks before them, because God had mercy on him. And when he came neare to Sara his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter : God be blessed, which hath brought thee unto us, and blessed be thy father and thy mother. And there was joy amongst all his kithen which were at Nineveh.

18 And Achtabarnas, I and Masbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias wedding was kept seven dayes with great joy.

CHAP. XII.

5 Tobit offereth half to the angel for his paine. 6 Bus he calleth them both aside, and exhorteth them, 15 and calleth them that he was an angel, 21 and was seen no more.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said unto him, My sonne, see that the man have his wages which went with thee, and thou shalt give him more.

2 And Tobias said unto him, O father, it is no harme to me to give him half of those things which I have brought.

3 For he hath brought me again to thee in safety, and made whole my wife, and brought me the money, and likewise healed thee.

4 Then the old man said, It is due unto him.

5 So he called the angel, and he said unto him, Take half of all that ye have brought, and go away in safety.

6 Then he took them both apart, and said unto them, Bless God, praise him, and magnifie him, and praise him for the things which he hath done unto you in the sight of all that live. It is good unto you to praise God, and exalt his name, and honourably to shew forth the works of God ; therefore he not slack to praise him.

7 It is good to keep close the secrets of a king, but it is honourable to reveal the works of God : do that which is good, and no evil shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good, with fasting, and almes, and righteousness : a little with righteousnesse scattereth much, with unrighteousnesse : it is better to give almes then to lay up gold :

9 For almes hath deliver from death, and shall purge away all sinne. Those that exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their own life.

11 Surely, I will keep close nothing from you. For I said, Ye were good to keep close the secrets of a king, but that it was honourable to reveal the works of God.

12 Now therefore when thou shalt pray, and Sara thy daughter in law, I will bring the remembrance of your prayers before the holy One, and when thou shalt bury the dead, I will with thee likewise.

13 And when thou shalt not delay to rise up, and leave thy dinner, to go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me : but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heal thee, and Sara thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels, which present the prayers of the saints, and which go in and out before the glory of the holy One.

16 When they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces : for they feared.

17 But he said unto them, Fear not, for it shall go well with you ; praise God therefore.

18 For not of any favours of mine, but by the will of our God I came ; wherefore praise him for ever.

19 All these dayes I did appear unto you, but I did neither eat nor drink, but you did see a vision.

20 Now therefore give God thanks : for I go up to him that sent me, but write all things which are done in a book.

21 And when they rose, they said him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderful works of God, and both the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

CHAP. XIII.

The thanksgiving unto God, which Tobit wrote.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of rejoycing, and said, Blessed be God that liveth for ever, and blessed be his kingdom.

2 For he hath scourged, and hath mercy : he leaveth down to hell, and bringeth up again : not ther is there any that can avoid his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel : for he hath scattered us among them.

4 There declare his greatness, and praise him before all the living : for he is our Lord, and he is the God our father for ever.

5 And he will scourge us for our iniquities, and will have mercy again, and will gather us out of all nations, among whom he hath scattered us.

6 If you turn to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minds, and deal uprightly before him, then will he turn unto you, and will not hide his face from you. Therefore see what he hath done to you, and confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of might, and extoll the exalting King. In the land of my captivity do I praise him, and declare his might and majesty to a sinful nation : O ye sinners, turn and do justice before him : who can tell if he will accept you, and have mercy on you ?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soul shall praise the King of heaven, and shall rejoyce in his greatness.

8 Let all men speak, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

9 O Jerusalem the holy city, if he will scourge thee for thy childrens iniquities, and will have mercy again on the sonnes of the righteous.

14 O blessed are they which love thee, for they shall rejoyce in thy peace: blessed are they which have been sorrowfull for all thy scourges; for they shall rejoyce for thee, when they have seen all thy glory, and shall be glad for ever.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Tobit giveth instructions to his sonne, 8 specially to leave Nineve, 11 He and his wife die, and are buried, 12 Tobit removeth to Ecbatane, 14 and there died, after he had heard of the destruction of Nineve.

S Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And he was eight and fifty yeares old when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeares: and he gave almes, and he increased in the fear of the Lord God, and praised him.

¶ Or, did more and more fear

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and the six sonnes of his sonne, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children; for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.

4 Go into Media, my sonne, for I surely believe those things which Jonas the prophet spake of Nineve; that it shall be overthrowen, and that for a time peace shall rather be in Media; and that our brethren shall lie scattered in the earth from that good land; and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 And that again God will have mercy on them, and bring them again into the land, where they shall build a temple, but not like to the first, until the time of that age be fulfilled, and afterward they shall return from all places of their captivity, and build up Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it: for ever, with a glorious building, as the prophets have spoken thereof.

¶ For ever, not in the Roman copy.

6 And all nations shall turn, and fear the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idols.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people; and all those which love the Lord God in truth and justice, shall rejoyce, shewing mercy to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Nineve, because that those things which the prophet Jonas spake shall surely come to passe.

9 But keep thou the laws and the commandments, and shew thy self mercifull and just, that it may go well with thee.

10 And bury me decently, and thy mother with me, but carry no longer to Nineve. Remember, my sonne, how Aman dandled Achibarus that brought him up, how out of light he brought him into darkness, & how he rewarded him again: yet Achibarus was saved, but the other had his reward: for he went down into darkness.

¶ Or, preserved from Nitzba. Roman, which he had left.

14 And he lived at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seven and twenty yeares old.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineve, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus: and before his death he rejoyced over Nineve.

JUDETH.

CHAP. I.

2 Arphaxad doth forsake Ecbatane, 5 Nabuchodonosor maketh warre against him, 7 and craveth aide, 12 He threatneth those that would not aide him, 15 and killeth Arphaxad, 16 and returneth to Nineve.

In the twelfth yeare of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineve the great citie, (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned over the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane wall: round about of stones seven cubits broad, and six cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits:

3 And set he towers thereof upon the gates of Ecbatane, hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits.

4 And he made the gates thereof, even gates that were raised to the height of seventy cubits, and he beheaded of them was forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in array of his footmen.

5 When in those dayes king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great plain, which is the plain in the borders of Raguel.

6 And there came unto him all they that dwelt in the hill-country, and all that dwell by the river, and the king of the Chaldeans, and very many nations of the borders of Babylon, assembling themselves to the battell.

7 Then Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, and unto all that dwell in Persia, and to all that dwell toward, and to those that dwell in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Adama, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwell upon the sea coast.

8 And to those amongst the nations that were of Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galle, and the great plain of Babylon.

9 And to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chelins, and Babes, and the river of Egypt, and Capbars, and Hamel, and all the land of Chelins.

10 Untill you come beyond Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, untill you come to the borders of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of the land made light of the commandment of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither went they to him to the battell: for they were not afraid of him: yea, he was before them as one man, and they sent away his ambassadors from them without effect, and with disgrace.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this country, and came by his captains and kingdoms, that he might surely be avenged upon all those coasts of Cilicia, and Damascus, and Syria, and that he might slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Ammon, and the children of Ammon, and all Idume, and all that were in Egypt, till you come to the borders of the two sea.

13 Then he marched in battell-way with his power against king Sardanapalus in the eighteenth year, and he prepared in his battell above three hundred all the power of Sardanapalus, and all his horsemen and all his chariots.

14 And became lord of his cities, and came unto Chetane, and took the citiers, and spoiled the citiers thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He took also Sardanapalus in the mountains of Ragat, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Ninebe, both he and all his company of sundry nations, being a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he took his rest and banqueted, both he and his army, an hundred and twenty dayes.

CHAP. III.

4 Olofernes is appointed general, 11 and charged to spare none that will not yield, 15 His army and provision: 23 the places which he wonne and wasted as he went.

And in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talk in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should as he said, avenge himself on all the earth.

2 So he called unto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsel, and concluded the settling of the whole earth, and in his own mind.

3 Then they desired in necessity all them that did not obey the commandment of his mouth.

4 And when he had chosen his counsel, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, called Olo-fernes the chief captain of his army, and he was named unto him, and then went he forth with his army.

5 Then said the great king to the chief captain, whole earth, Behold, thou shalt see the power of my presence, and take thou with thee all that dwell in their own strength, of footmen as many as twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelve thousand.

6 And thou shalt go against all the world, because they have despised my commandment.

7 And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare for me: search and water for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will give them for a spoil unto them.

8 So that their slain shall fill their valleys and brooks, and the rivers shall be filled with their dead till it overflow.

9 And I will lead them captives to the utmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt go forth and take before-hand for me all their coasts: and if they will yield themselves unto thee, thou shalt release them for me till the day of their punishment.

11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eye spare them, but let them be in the slaughter, and upon them let their iniquities be done.

12 For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, whatsoever I have spoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heed that thou transgress not of the commandments of my law: for accomplishing them fully, as I have commanded thee, and believe not to be them.

14 Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors and captains, and the officers of the army of Ninebe.

15 And he numbered the chosen men by the battell as his lord had commanded him, and he found hundred and twenty thousand, and divided them into armies on footmen.

16 And he ranged them as a great number of ordered for the warre.

17 And he took camels, and asses for their baggage, a very great number; and there were oxen, and goats without number, for their provision.

18 And plenty of victuals for every man of the army, and very much gold and silver out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power to go before king Nabuchodonosor in the baggage, and to cover all the face of the earth with their chariots, and footmen, and horses, and camels.

20 A great multitude and of sundry countries came with them into the land, and did the face of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Ninebe, their way journey toward the plain of Berrith, and pitched from Berrith near the mountain which is at the left hand of the upper Cilicia.

22 Then he took all his army, his footmen, and horsemen, and chariots, and went from thence into the hill-country.

23 And destroyed Samaria and Laid: and spoiled all the children of Israel, and the children of Benjamin, which were within the wilderness at the south of the land of the Chaldeans.

24 Then he went unto Damascus, and burnt through Damascus, and destroyed all the high cities that were upon the river Euphrates, till you come to the sea.

the hill they bound Achior, and cast him down, and set him at the foot of the hill, and returned to their tents.

14 But the Israelites departed from their city, and came unto him, and loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the governors of the city.

15 Which were in those days, Othias the sonne of Achior of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gedoniel, and Charnis the sonne of Gedoniel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the city, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly, and they set Achior in the midst of all their people. Then Othias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared unto them the words of the counsel of Olofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of Assur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell down and worshipped God, and cried unto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heaven, hearken their prayer, and pay the loan which we owe thee, and look upon the face of thy people that are in bondage unto thee this day.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Othias took him out of the assembly unto his house, and made a feast to the elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for help.

CHAPTER VII

2 Olofernes besiegeth Bethulia, 7 and stoppeth the water from them, 22 They faint and murmur against the governors, 29 who promise to yield within five days.

THE next day Olofernes commanded all his army, and all his people which there came to take his part, that they should remove their camp against Bethulia, to take afterward the ancients of the hill-country, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

3 When their strong men removed their camp in that day, and the army of the sons of warre was assembled unto them, thousands of footmen, and thousands of horsemen, before the baggage, and other men that were about amongst them, a very great multitude.

4 And they camped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they spread themselves in breadth, over Bethulia, then to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Gerasaim, which is over against Charnis.

5 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, were greatly troubled, and said they one to his neighbour, How shall these men lick up the face of the earth? for neither the high mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to bear their weight.

6 Then every man took up his weapons of warre, and when they had finished there upon their weapons they remained and watched all that night.

7 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel which were in Bethulia.

8 And he took the passages up to the city, and came to the fountains of their waters, and took them, & the fountains of waters of waters over them, and he himself removed towards his people.

9 Then came unto him all the chief of the children of Gila, and all the governors of the people of Assur, and the captains of the count, and said,

10 Let us have now heard a word, that there be not an overthrow in thine army.

11 For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their spears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come up to the tops of their mountains.

12 I know therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell-array, and there shall not so much as one man of the people perish.

13 Remain in thy camp, and keep all the men of thine army, and let thy servants get into their hands the fountain of water, which issueth forth of the foot of the mountain.

14 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their houses thence: so shall they kill them, and they shall go up their city, and we and our people shall go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will come upon them, so that that none go out of the city.

15 So they and their wives and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall be overcome in the streets where they dwell.

16 Thus shalt thou render them an evil reward: because they rebelled, and met not thy person peaceably.

17 And their words pleased Olofernes, and all his servants, and he appointed to do as they had spoken.

18 So the camp of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and took the waters, and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel.

19 Then the children of Gila went up with the children of Ammon, and camped in the hill-country over against Bethulia: and they first compassed them toward the south, and toward the east, over against Bethulia, which is near unto Gila, that is upon the bank of Bethmaim, and the west of the army of the Assyrians camped in the plain, and covered the face of the whole land, and their tents and carriages were pitched to a very great multitude.

20 When the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God, because their heart failed, for all their enemies had compassed them round about, and there was no way to escape out from amongst them.

21 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots, & horsemen, force and their spears, so that all their vessels of water failed, all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

22 And because the children were thirsty, and they had no water to drink their fill for one day: for they gave them drink by measure.

23 Therefore their young children were out of heart, and their women and young men fainte for thirst, and fell down in the streets of the city, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no longer any strength in them.

24 Then all the people affection to Othias, and to the chief of the city, both young men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and said before all the rivers, 25 God be judge between us and you: for you have done us great wrongs, in that you have not rendered grace to the children of Israel.

26 For now we have no helper: but God hath said us into their hands, that we should be chosen down before them with their great destruction.

liber the tabernacle for a spoil to the people of D. Isterne, and to all his army.

27 For it is better for us to be made a spoil unto them, then to die for: that is for we will be his servants, that our souls may live, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wives nor our children to die.

28 And take to witness against you, the brethren and the earth, and our God, and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth us according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he do not according as we have said this day.

29 Then there was great weeping with one consent in the midst of the assembly, and they cried unto the Lord God with a loud voice.

30 Then said Orian to them, Brethren, be of good courage, let us yet endure these dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turn his mercy towards us; for he will not forsake us utterly.

31 And if these dayes pass, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your word.

32 And he dispersed the people every one to their own charge; and they went unto the walls and towers of their citie, and sent the women and children into their houses, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The state and behaviour of Judith a widow. 12 She blameth the governors for their promise to yield, 17 and adviseth them to trust in God. 28 They excuse their promise. 32 She promiseth to do something for them.

NOW at that time Judith heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Dr. the sonne of Toieph, the sonne of D. ziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Anania, the sonne of Oseodon, the sonne of Kaphaim, the sonne of Aethio, the sonne of Elia, the sonne of Eliah, the sonne of Sathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Samanah, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Orianah was her husband of her tribe and kinred, who died in the barley harvest.

3 For as he stood observing them that bound sheaves in the field, the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his ben, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field between Doebaim and Balamo.

4 So Judith was a widow in her house thre yeares and four moneths.

5 And she made her a tent upon the top of her house, and put on sackcloth upon her loyns, and wore her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, save the eies of the sabbaths, and the sabbaths, and the eies of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feasts, and solemn dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Orianah had left her gold and silver, and men-servants and maid-servants, and cattell, and lands, and he remained upon them.

8 And there was none that gave her an ill word, for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when he heard the evil words of the people against the governor, that they fainten for lack of water (for Judith had heard all the words that Orian had spoken unto them, any that he had spoken to deliver the citie unto the Assyrians after five dayes).

10 Then she sent her waiting-woman that had the government of all things that she had, to call Orian, and Oseodon, and Othaim, the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came unto her, and she said unto them, Hear me now, O ye governors of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that you have spoken before the people this day are not right, touching this word which ye made, and pronounced between God and you, and have promised to deliver the citie to our enemies, unless within these dayes the Lord turn to help you.

12 And now, who are you that have tempted God this day, and stand in stead of God amongst the children of men?

13 And now trie the Lord Almighty, but you shall never know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceive the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Stay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not help us within these five dayes, he hath power to defend us when he will, even every day, or to destroy us before our enemies.

16 Do not I binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he may be threatened, neither is he as the sonne of man that he should be wounding.

17 Therefore let us wait for salvation of him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice if it please him.

18 For these arose none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe nor family, nor people nor citie among us, which worship gods made with hands, as hath been aforetime.

19 For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a spoil, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other god, therefore we trust that he will not despise us, nor any of our nation.

21 For if we be taken so, all Judea shall be waste, and our sanctuary shall be spoiled, and he will require the pollution thereof at our mouth.

22 And if the slaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance, will be turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, whosoever we shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproach to all them that possesse us.

23 For our servitude shall not be directed to favour: but the Lord our God shall turn it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let us shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend upon us, and the sanctuary, and the house, and the altar rest upon us.

25 Moreover, let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us, even as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and what happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheep of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried us in the fire as he did them, for the examination of their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance on us: but the Lord doth scourge them that come near unto him, to admonish them.

28 Then said Orian to her, All that thou hast spoken, hath thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that may gainsay thy words.

testimony is manifested; but from the beginning of the world all the people have known the understanding, because the disposition of their heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirsty, and compelled us to be unto them as we have spoken, and to bring an oath upon our lives, which we will not break.

31 Therefore now pray thou for us, brethren: thou art a goodly woman, and the Lord will send me sign to fill our cisterns, and we shall sing to him.

32 Then said Judeth unto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing which shall go throughout all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 Now shall stand this night in the gate, and I will go forth with my waiting-women: and within the watch that you have promised to deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 Who can resist you of mine act: for I will see justice to unto you, till the things be finished that I do.

35 Then said Orian and the princes unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judeth humbled her self, 2 and purposed God to prosper her purpose against the enemies of his sanctuary.

Then Judeth fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, and uncovered the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed, and about the time that the incense of that evening was offered in Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord, Judeth cried with a loud voice, and said,

2 O Lord God of my father. * Simon, to whom thou gavest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers, who loosened the girdle of a maid to defile her, & discovered the thigh to her shame, and polluted her virginity to her reproach, (for thou saidst, It shall not be so, and yet they did so)

3 And heretics thou gavest their rulers to be slain, so that they shed their blood in blood, being deceived, and trusted the serpents with their words, and the lions upon their thrones.

4 And thou hast given their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their spoils to be divided amongst the heathen children; which were moved with thy zeal, and adorned the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast taught me not to desire those things, but also the things which fell out before, and which ensue after, thou hast thought upon the things which are now, and which are to come.

6 Now, what things thou hast determined were ready at hand, and said, Lo, we are here; for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgements are in thy knowledge.

7 For behold, the Assyrians are multiplied in their power: they are eaten with host and man: they glory in the strength of their footmen: they trust in shield and spear, and bow, and sling, and know not that thou art the Lord that breakest the battle: the Lord is thy name.

8 Wherefore thou hast strengthened thy power, and bring down their faces in thy wrath: for they have purposed to defile thy sanctuary, to pollute the tabernacle, where the glorious name resteth, and to cast down with wooden the beam of thy altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: give into mine hands which are a bulwark, the power that I have conceived.

10 * Whereby the decree of my Lord shall be: want being the prince, and the prince hath the power: break down this Jerusalem by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power flourisheth not in multitude, nor thy might in strong men: for thou art a God of the afflicted, an helper of the oppressed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the fatherless, a deliverer of them that are without hope.

12 I pray thee, I pray thee, O God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of the heavens and earth, Customs of the heavens, King of every creature, heare thou my prayer:

13 And make my sword and darts to be their wound and stripes, make them purposed small things against the covenant, and thy followers hate, and against the top of ivory, and against the house of the position of the children.

14 And make every nation and tribe to acknowledge that thou art the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protected the people of Israel but thou.

CHAP. X.

3 Judeth doth set forth her self, 10 She and her maid set forth into the camp, 17 The watch take and conduct her to Olofernes.

Now after that she had ceased to cry unto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen down, and called her maids, and went down into the house, in the which she abode in the suburbs of the city, and in her front-yard,

3 And pulled off the sackcloth which she had on, and put off the garments of her mourning, and washed her body all over with water, and anointed her self with precious ointment, and bedid the hair of her head, and put on a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gold, wherewith she was clad during the life of Olofernes her husband.

4 And she took sandals upon her feet, and put about her her bracelets and her chains, and her rings, and her earrings, and all her ornaments, and decked her self magnificently, to attract the eyes of all men that should be her.

5 Then she gave her maids a bottle of wine, and a crust of oyl, and filled a bag with parched corn, and turneps of figs, and laid the bread in the bag, and folded all these things together, and laid them upon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing there Orian, and the ancients of the city, Eliphaz, and Gamaliel.

7 And when they saw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondered at her beauty very greatly, and said unto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers give thee favour, and accomplish these enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem: for they trust in thee, O God.

9 And she said unto them, Command the gates of the city to be opened unto me, that I may go forth to accomplish the things to which you have spoken with me: for they commanded the young men to open unto me, as the law is.

10 And when they had seen it, they went out, and she and her maids went in, and the men of the city looked after her, until she was gone down the mountain, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

wrapped, or, packed,

21 There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, both for beauty of face, and abundance of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes said unto her, God hath done well to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction upon them that lightly regard my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: surely it shall be as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Judeth will not eat of Olofernes meat. 7 She fasted three dayes in the camp, and every night went forth to pray. 13 Bagoas moveth her to be merry with Olofernes, 20 who for joy of her company drunk much.

Then he commanded to bring her in, where his plate was set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine.

2 And Judeth said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an offence: but provision shall be made for me of the things that I have brought.

3 Then Olofernes said unto her, If thy provision should fail, how should we give thee the like for there be none with us of thy nation.

4 Then said Judeth unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I have, before the Lord work by mine hand, the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the servants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she arose when it was towards the morning watch.

6 And she came to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord now command, that thine handmaid may go forth unto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his guard, that they should not stay her: then she abode in the camp three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her self in a fountain of water by the camp.

8 And when she came out, she brought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way to the raising up of the children of her people.

9 So she came in clean, and remained in the tent, until she did eat her meat at evening.

10 And in the fourth day Olofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the others to the banquet.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and persuade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us.

12 For lo, it will be a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company: for if we dispatch her not unto us, she will laugh us to scorn.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and he said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and drink wine, and be merry with us, and he made this day as one of the banquets of the Assyrians, which serve in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judeth unto him, Whoso am I now, that I should gain say my lord surely what he hath pleased him, I will do speedily, and it shall be my joy unto the day of my death.

15 So she arose, and decked her self with her apparel, and all her women attend, and her maid went and laid soft cushions on the ground for her, over against Olofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit, and eat upon them.

16 Now when Judeth came in, and sat down, Olofernes his heart was ravished with her, and his mind was moved, and he desired greatly her company: for he desired a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her.

17 Then said Olofernes unto her, Drink now and be merry with us.

18 So Judeth said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day, more then all the dayes since I was born.

19 Then she took and ate and drank before him what her maid had prepared.

20 And Olofernes took great delight in her, and drank much more wine then he had drunk at any time in one day since he was born.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Judeth is left alone with Olofernes in his tent, 4 She prayeth Gods to give her strength, 7 She cuts off his head while he slept, 10 and returned with it to Bethulia, 17 They saw it, and commend her.

Now when the evening was come, his servants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed the waiters from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 Now Judeth had commanded her maid to stand without her bed-chamber, and to wait for her coming forth, as she did daily: for she said, she would go forth to her prayers, and she spoke to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth, and none was left in the bed-chamber, neither little nor great. Then Judeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look at this present upon the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against us.

6 Then she came to the pillar of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and took down his mail from thence,

7 And approached to his bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And she smote twice upon his neck with all her might, and she took away his head from him,

9 And tumbled his body down from the bed, and pulled down the canopy from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gave Olofernes his head to her maid:

10 And she put it in her bag of meat: so they twain went together according to their customs, unto prayer: and when they passed the camp, they compassed the valley, and went up the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then said Judeth aforesaid off to the watchmen at the gate, Open: open now the gate: God, even our God is with us, to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his forces against the enemy, as he hath even done this day.

12 Now when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haste to go down to the gate of of their city, and they called the elders of the city.

13 And then they ran all together hard small and great: for it was strange unto them that he was come: so they opened the gate and received them, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them.

14 Then he said to them with a loud voice, Praise, praise God, praise God, (I say) for he hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So he took the head out of the bag, and shewed it, and said unto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chief captain of the army of Assur, and behold the canopy wherein he did lie in his drunkenness, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Levite which had kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceived him to his destruction, and yet hath he not committed sinne whereby he should be ashamed.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of the people.

18 Then said Orias unto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God, above all the women upon the earth; and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heavens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chief of our enemies.

19 For this thy confidence shall not depart from the heart of men, which remember the power of God for ever.

20 And God turn these things to thee for a perpetual praise, to visit thee in good things, because thou hast not spared thy life for the affliction of our nation, but hast revenged our ruine, walking a straight way before our God: and all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Achior heareth Judith show what she had done, and is circumcised. 11 The head of Olofernes is hanged up. 13 He is found dead, and much lamented.

Mac. 13. 35

Then said Judith unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the highest place of your walls.

2 And so soon as the morning shall appear, and the sunne shall come forth upon the earth, take up every one his weapons, and go forth every valiant man out of the city, and let you a captain over them, as though you would go down into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but go not down.

3 When they shall take their armour, and shall go into their camp, and raise up the captains of the army of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then fear shall fall upon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you, and all that inhabit the coast of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they go.

5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to us as if we were to his death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Orias, and when he was come and saw the head of Olofernes in a mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell down on his face, and his eyes failed.

7 But when they had recovered him, he fell at Judiths feet, and reverence her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the subterfuge of time, and in all nations, which hearing thy name shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell me all the things that thou hast done in these dayes: then Judith declared unto him in the midst of the people, all that she had done from the day that she went forth until that hour she spake unto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people shouted with a loud voice, and made a joyfull noise in their city.

10 And when Achior had seen all that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God greatly, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskinne, and was joynted unto the house of Israel, unto this day.

11 And as soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes upon the wall, and every man took his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the straits of the mountain.

Or, ascended.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their leaders, which came to their captains, and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Taken now our lord: for the slaves have been bold to come down against us to battell, that they may be utterly destroyed.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent, for he thought that he had slept with Judith.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the bed-chamber, and found him cast upon the floor dead, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping, and sighing, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

Then.

17 After he went into the tent where Judith lodged: and when he found her not, he leaped out to the people, and cried.

18 These slaves have dealt treacherously, and a woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame upon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth upon the ground without a head.

19 When the captains of the Assyrians heard these words, they rent their coats, and their mindes were wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry, and a very great noise throughout the camp.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are chased and slain; 8 The high priest cometh to see Judith, 11 The stuff of Olofernes is given to Judith, 13 The women crown her with a garland.

And when they that were in the tents heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And fear and trembling fell upon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour, but rushing one another, they fled into every way of the plain, and of the hill-country.

3 They also that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, fled away. Then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out upon them.

4 Then sent Orias to Bethonababim, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Gola, and to all the coats of Israel, such as should tell the things that were done, and that all should rush forth upon their enemies to destroy them.

5 And.

For, overcame

10 Then when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell upon their faces and wept, and said: then unto God: O God, and they that came down Jerusalem and from all the hill-country (for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies) and they that were in Galilee and in Gabbile, they chased them with a great slaughter; until they were past Danian, and the borders thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the camp of Holofernes, and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter had that which remained; and the bellows, and the chies that were in the mountains and in the plain, got many spoils: for the multitude was very great.

8 Then Joacim the high priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to behold the good things that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came unto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem, thou art the great glory of Israel, thou art the great rejoicing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hands: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the Almighty Lord for evermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the camp, the space of thirty days: and they gave unto Judeth, Olofernes his tent, and all his plate, and beads, and vessels, and all his stuff: and she took it, and laid it on her mule; and made ready her carts, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel ran together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her: and she took branches in her hand, and gave also to the women that were with her.

13 And they put a garland of olive upon her, and her maid that was with her, and she went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour with garlands, and with songs in their mouths.

C H A P. X V I.

1 The song of Judeth. 19 She dedicateth the stuff of Olofernes. 23 She died at Bethulia, a widow of great honour. 24 All Israel did lament her death.

Then Judeth began to sing this thanksgiving in all Israel, and all the people sang after her this song of praise.

1 And Judeth said, Begin unto my God with timbrels, sing unto my Lord with cymbals: tune unto him a new psalm: praise him, and call upon his name.

2 For God breaketh the battels: for amongst the camps in the midst of the people he hath delivered me out of the hands of them that persecuted me.

3 Holofernes came out of the mountains from the north, he came with ten thousands of his army, the multitude thereof stopped the highways, and their horsemen have covered the hills.

4 He thought that he would burn up my boys, and kill my young men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a prey, and my virgins as a spoil.

5 But the Almighty Lord hath disappointed them by the hand of a woman.

6 For the mighty one did not fall by the young men, neither did the forces of the Titans smite him, no high giant is set upon him: but Judeth the daughter of Holofernes weakened him with the beauty of her countenance.

7 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the spallation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound her hair in a tress, and took a linen garment to decide him.

8 Her sandals ravished his eyes, her beauty took his mind prisoner, and the captain passed through his neck.

9 The Persians quaked at her boldness, and the Greeks were daunted at her hardness.

10 When my afflicted shouted for joy, and my weak ones cried aloud, they were astonished: they lifted up their voices, but they were overthrown.

11 The forces of the daimons have pierced them though, it wounded them as fugitives children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

12 I will sing unto the Lord a new song, Lord, thou art great and glorious, wonderful in strength, and invincible.

13 Let all creatures serve thee, for thou spakest, and they were made: thou didst lift up the spirit, and it created them, and there is none that can resist thy voice.

14 For the mountains shall be moved from their foundations with the waters, the rocks shall melt as wax at thy presence: yet thou art merciful to them that fear thee.

15 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet savour unto thee, and all the fat is not sufficient for thy burnt-offering: but he that feareth thee, the Lord is great at all times.

16 As to the nations that rise up against my kindred: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement, in putting fire and worms in their flesh, and they shall feel them, and weep for ever.

17 Now as soon as they entered into Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord: and as soon as the people were purified, they offered their burnt-offerings, and their free-offerings, and their gifts.

18 Judeth also dedicated all the stuff of Olofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy which she had taken out of his bed-chamber, for a gift unto the Lord.

19 So the people continued feasting in Jerusalem before the sanctuary, for the space of three months, and Judeth remained with them.

20 After this time every one returned to his own inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was in her time honourable in all the country.

21 And many desired her, but none knew her all the days of her life, after that Holofernes her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

22 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed old in her husband's house, being an hundred and five years old, and made her maid free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the cave of her husband Holofernes.

23 And the house of Israel lamented her seven days: and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nearest of kindred to Holofernes her husband, and to them that were the nearest of her kindred.

24 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the days of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

5 Mardocheus remembereth and expoundeth his dream of the river and the two dragons.

When Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

6 For I remember a dream which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed.

7 A little fountain became a river, and there was light, and the sunne, and much water: this river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen.

8 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

9 And the nations were those that were assailed to destroy the name of the Jews:

10 And my nation is this Israel, which cried to God and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all those evils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which have not been done among the Gentiles.

11 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

12 And these two lots came at the hours and time, and day of judgement before God amongst all nations.

13 So God remembered his people, and justified his inheritance.

14 Therefore those dayes shall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same month, with an assembly, and joy, and with gladness, before God, according to the generations for ever among his people.

CHAP. XI.

2 The sort and quality of Mardocheus. 6 He dreameth of two dragons coming forth to fight, 10 and of a little fountain which became a great river.

In the fourth yeare of the reigne of Diodorus Iam Cleopatra, Dullcheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Diodorus his sonne brought this epistle of Dhirini, which they said was the same, and that Elymachus the sonne of Diodorus, that was in Jerusalem, had interpreted it.

2 In the second yeare of the reigne of Artaxerxes the great, in the first day of the month Adar, Mardocheus the sonne of Jarius, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Gish of the tribe of Benjamin had a dream.

3 Which was a Jew, and dwelt in the citie of Susa, a great man, being a servitor in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the cavaliers which Darius had sent to the king of Babylon carried from Jerusalem, with Teonias king of Judea; and this was his dream.

5 Behold, a noise of a tumult, with thunder and earthquakes, and uproar in the land.

6 And behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight, and their cry was great.

7 And at their cry all nations were prepared to battell, that they might fight against the righteous people:

8 And lo, a day of darkness and obfuscation, tribulation and anguish, affliction, and great uproar upon the earth.

9 And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing their own evils, and were ready to perish.

10 Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, was made a great flood, even much water.

11 The light and the sunne rose up, and the floods were dried, and devoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus, who had seen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake, he bare this dream in minde, and until night by all means was desirous to know it.

CHAP. XII.

3 The conspiracy of the two eunuchs is discovered by Mardocheus, for which he is rewarded by the king, and rewarded.

And Mardocheus took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Thersa, the two eunuchs of the king, and keepers of the palace.

2 And he heard their words, and searched out their purposes, and learned that they went a hour to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king, and to be crowned the king of egypt.

3 When the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confessed, they were strangled.

4 And the king made a record of these things, and Mardocheus also wrote thereof.

5 So the king commanded Mardocheus to serve in the court, and for this he rewarded him.

6 He dwelt Aman the sonne of Amadath the Agagite, who was in great honour with the king, sought to molest Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the kings letters to destroy the Jews.
2 The prayer of Mardocheus for them.

The copie of the letters was this. The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes, and governors, that are under him from India to Ethiopia, in an hundred and seven, and twenty provinces.

2 After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with presumption of my authority, but carrying my self always with equity and mildness, I purposed to settle my subjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for passage to the utmost coasts, to receive peace which is desired of all men.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors how this might be brought to passe, Aman, that excelled in wisdom among us, and was approved for his constant good will, and steadfast fidelity, and had the honour of the second place in the kingdoms,

4 Declared unto us, that in all nations through

6 Esther cometh into the kings presence. 7 He looketh angrily, and she saith, 8 The king doth take her up and comfort her.

AND upon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she laid away her mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

2 And being gloriously adorned, after she had called upon God, who is the beholder and Saviour of all things, she took two maids with her.

3 And upon the one she leaned, as carrying her self a daughter.

4 And the other followed, bearing up her train.

5 And he was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was cheerefull and very amiable; but her heart was in anguish for fear.

6. Subject

But the world there was certainly a certain indolent people, that had taken contrary to all notions, and continually despised the commandments of kings, so as the uniting of our kingdoms honourably intended by us, cannot go forward.

¶ Seeing then we understand that this people alone is continually in opposition unto all men, differing in the strange manner of their laws, and evil affected to our state, working all the mischief they can, that our kingdome may not be firmly established:

6 Therefore have we commanded that all they that are signified in waiting, unto you by Achan (who is ordained over the affairs, and is next unto us) shall all with their wives and children be utterly destroyed, by the sword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year.

7 That they, who of old, and now also are malicious, may in one day with violence go into the grave, and so ever hereafter cause our affairs to be well seen, and without trouble.

8 Then Harpocheus thought upon all the works of the Lord, and made his prayer unto him.

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if thou hast appointed to save Israel, there is no man that can gain say thee.

10 For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things under the heaven.

II Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

22 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither in contempt nor pride, nor for any desire of glory that I did not hold down to wound Iman.

13 For I could have been content with good will for the salvation of Israel, to kille the soles of his feet.

14 But I did this that I might not preferre the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I boast any but thee, O God, neither will
I do it in vaine.

15 And now, O Lord God, and King, spare the people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought; yea, they desire to destroy the inheritance that hath been thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliberated out of Egypt for thine own self:

17 Feare my prayer, and be mercifull unto this inheritance: turn our sorrow into joy, that we may live, O Lord, and praise the name: and I destroy not the monthes of them that praise thee, O Lord.

18 All Israel in like manner cried most & earnestly unto the Lord, because their death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

I The prayer of queen Esther for her self and her people.

Q Ueen Esther also being in fear of death, resorted unto the Lord:

2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguish and mourning: and in stead of precious ornaments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her head greatly, and all the places of her joy she filled with her torn hair.

3 And she prayed unto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me desolate woman, which have no helper but thee:

4 * For my danger is in mine hands.

5 From my youth up I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel

6 Then having passed through all the doores, she stood before the king, who sat upon his royall throne, and was clothed with all his robes of majesty, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very beautifull.

7 Then lifting up his countenance that shone with maiestie, he looked very fiercely upon her:
and the queen fell down and was pale, and fainted, and bowen her self upon the head of the maid that went before her.

8 Then God changed the spirit of the king into mildness, who in a fear leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till she came to her self again, and comforted her with loving words, and said unto her,

9 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheer.

10 Thou shalt not die, though our commandment be: generall: come heare.

II And so he held up his golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, 12 And embraced her, and said, Speak unto me.

13 Then he said unto him, I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majesty.

14 For wonderfull art thou, lord, and thy counteinance is full of grace.

15 And as she was speaking, she fell down for faintness.

16 Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

11. Had so farth obtained the favour that we shew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next person unto the king.

12 But he not bearing his great dignity, went about to deprive us of our Kingdome and life.

13 Having by manifold and cunning deceits sought of us the destruction as well of Bardecheus, who saved our life, and continually procured our good, as also of blamelesse Cyther, partner of our kingdom. With their infinite malice

14 For by these means he thought, finding us destitute of friends, to have translated the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians.

15 But we finde that the Jews whom this wicked witch hath delivered to utter destruction, are no evil doers, but live by most just laws:

16 And that they be children of the most high and most mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progeni-tours in the most excellent manner.

17 Wherefore ye shall do well not to put in execution the letters sent unto you by Aman the sonne of Amadatha.

18 For he that was the worker of these things, is hanged at the gates of Susa with all his family: God who ruleth all things, speedily sending vengeance to him according to his deserts.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Jews may freely live after their own laws.

20 And ye shall aid them, that even the same day, being the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Ahar, they may be avenged on them, who in the time of their affliction shall set upon them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to joy unto them the day, wherein the chosen people should have perished.

22 You shall therefore among your solemn feasts keep it as high day with all feasting:

23 That both now and hereafter there may be safety to us, and the well affected Persians; but to those which do conspire against us, a memorie of destruction.

24 Therefore every city and country whosoever, which shall not do according to these things, shall be destroyed without mercy, with fire and sword, and shall be made not onely unpassable for men, but also most hateful for wilde beasts and howls for ever.

THE WISDOME OF SOLOMON.

CHAP. I.

2 To whom God sheweth himself, 4 and wisdom her self, 6 An evil speaker cannot lie hid. 12 We procure our own destruction: 13 For God created not death.

* 1. King. 3. 3
11a. 58.

But * righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth: think of the Lord with a good (heart) and in simplicity of heart seek him.

2 For he will be found of them that tempt him not: and sheweth himself unto such as do not * distrust him.

* Deut. 4. 29
2. Chron. 15. 4.

|| Or, maketh manifest.

3 For forward thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, overthroweth the unwise.

* Jer. 4. 22.

|| Or, is rebuked, or sheweth it self.

* Gal. 5. 22.
|| Or, life.

|| Or, upholdeth.

|| Or, reproving.

|| Or, slandereth.

* Deut. 4. 23.

4 For into a malicious soul wisdom shall not enter: nor dwell in the body that is subject unto sinne.

5 * For the holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit, and remove from thoughts that are without understanding, and || will not abide when unrighteousnesse cometh in.

6 For wisdom is a * loving spirit: and will not acquire a blasphemer of his words: for God is witness of his reins, and a true beholder of his heart, and a hearer of his tongue.

7 For the spirit of the Lord filleth the wise: and that which || containeth all things, hath knowledge of the voice.

8 Therefore he that speaketh unrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall vengeance, when it punisheth, passe by him.

9 For inquisition shall be made into the counsels of the ungodly: and the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord for the manifestation of his wicked deeds.

10 For the eare of jealousie heareth all things: and the noise of murmurings is not hid.

11 Therefore bewage of murmuring, which is impossible, & refrain your tongue from backbiting: for there is no word so secret that shall go for nought: and the mouth that || believeth, slandereth the soul.

12 Seek not death in the error of your life: and pull not upon your selves * destruction, with the works of your hands.

13 For God made not death: neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the living.

14 For he created all things, that they might have their being: and the generations of the world were healthfull: and there is no poison of destruction in them: nor the kingdom of death upon the earth.

15 For righteousness is immortal.

16 But ungodly men with their works and words callen it to them: for when they thought to have it their friend, they consumed to nought, and made a covenant with it, because they are worthy to take part with it.

CHAP. II.

1 The wicked think this life short, & of no other after this. 6 Therefore they will take their pleasure in this, & and conspire against the just. 24 What that is which doth blinde them.

For the ungodly said, reasoning with themselves, but not aright, "Our life is short and tedious, * and in the death of a man there is no remedy: neither was there any man known to have returned from the grave."

2 For we are born at all adventures: and we shall be hereafter as though we had never been: for the breath in our nostrils is as smoke, and a little spark in the moving of our heart.

3 Which being extinguished, our body shall be turned into ashes, and our spirit shall vanish as the * soft aile.

|| Or, moist.

4 And our name shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall have our works in remembrance, and our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and shall be dispersed as a mist that is driven away with the beams of the sunne, and || overcome with the heat thereof.

10 Let us oppress the poore righteous man, let us not spare the widow, nor reverence the ancient gray hairs of the aged.

11 Let our strength be the law of justice: for that which is feeble is found to be nothing worth.

12 Therefore let us lie in wait for the righteous: because he is not for our turn, and he is clean contrary to our doings: he upbraideth us with our offending the law, and objecteth to our infamy the transgressings of our education.

CHAP. III.

1 The godly are happy in their death, 4 and in their troubles. 10 The wicked are not near their children. 15 But they that are pure, are happy, though they have no children: 16 For the adulterer and his seed shall perish.

* Deut. 33.3. Bless'd be the souls of the righteous in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them.

* Rom. 8.34. 4 For though they be punished in the sight of men: yet is their hope full of immortality.

5 And having been a little chastised, they shall be greatly rewarded: for God * proved them, and found them * worthy for himself.

6 As gold in the furnace hath he tried them, and received them as a burnt-offering.

7 And in the time of their visitation, * they shall shine, and run to and fro like sparks among the stubble.

8 They * shall judge the nations, and have dominion over the people, and their Lord shall reign for ever.

9 They that put their trust in him shall understand the truth: 11 and such as be faithfull in love shall abide with him: for grace and mercy is to his saints, and he hath care for his elect.

10 But the * ungodly shall be punished according to their own imaginations, which have neglected the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 For whom despiseth wisdom and nurture, he is miserable, and their hope is vain, their labours unfruitfull, and their works unprofitable.

12 Their wives are * foolish, and their children wicked.

13 Their offspring is cursed: wherefore blessed is the barren that is undesired, which hath not known the sinfull bed: she * shall have fruit in the visitation of souls.

14 And blessed is the * eunuch, which to his hands hath wrought no iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for unto him shall be given 11 the special gift of faith, and an inheritance 11 in the temple of the Lord more acceptable to his mind.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours: and the root of wisdom shall never fail away.

16 As for the children of adulterers, they shall not come to their perfection, and the seed of an unrighteous bed shall be rooted out.

17 For though they live long, yet shall they be nothing regarded: and thine last age shall be without honour.

18 Or, if they die quickly, they have no hope, neither comfort in the day of a trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the unrighteous generation.

CHAP. III.

* The chaste man shall be crowned. 3 Bastard slips shall not thrive. 6 They shall witness against their parents. 7 The just die young, and are happy. 19 The miserable end of the wicked.

Better it is to have no children, and to have virtue: for the memorial thereof is immortal: because it is known with God, and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example at it; and when it is gone, they desire it: it weareth a coron, and triumpheth for ever, having gotten the victorie, sitting for unsullied rewards.

3 But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall not thrive, nor take deep rooting from bastard slips, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they flourish in branches for a time: yet standing not fast, they shall be shaken with the winds: and through the force of winds they shall be rooted out.

5 The imperfect branches shall be broken off, their fruit impossible, nor ripe to eat: yea, meet for nothing.

6 For children begotten of unlawful 11 beds, are witnesses of wickedness against their parents in their trial.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death: yet shall he be in rest.

8 For honourable age is not that which standeth in length of time, nor that is measured by number of years.

9 But wisdom is the gray hair unto men, and an unspotted life is old age.

10 He pleased God, and was beloved of him: so that living amongst sinners he was translated.

11 Yes, speedily was he taken away, lest that wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul.

12 For the bewitching of naughtiness, doth obscure things that are honest: 11 the bewitching of conscience, doth 11 undermine the simple mind.

13 He being made 11 perfect in a short time, fulfilled a long time.

14 For his soul pleased the Lord: therefore he took him away from among the wicked.

15 This the people saw, and understood it not, neither said they up this in their minds, That his grace and mercy is with his saints, and that he hath respect unto his chosen.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead shall condemn the ungodly which are living; and youth that is soon perfected, the many years and old age of the unrighteous.

17 For they shall see the end of the wise, and shall not understand what God in his counsel hath decreed of him, and to what end the Lord hath set him in safety.

18 They shall see him, and despise him, but God shall laugh them to scorn: and they shall hereafter be a vile carcase, and a reproach among the dead for evermore.

19 For he shall rend them, and cast them down deadlong, that they shall be speechless: and he shall shake them from the foundation: and they shall be utterly laid waste, and be in sorrow and their memorial shall perish.

20 And 11 when they call up the accounts of their sinnes, they shall come with fear: and their own iniquities shall convince them to their face.

CHAP. V.

1 The wicked shall wonder at the godly, 4 and confesse their error. 5 and the unity of their lives. 15 God will reward the just. 17 and warre against the wicked.

Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness before the face of such as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labours.

2 When they see it they shall be troubled with terrible fear, and shall be amazed at the strangeness of his salvation, to that beyond all that they looked for.

15 But the righteous lay for evermore, their reward also is with the Lord, and the care of them is with the most High.

16 Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautifull crown from the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall he cover them, and with his arm shall he protect them.

1 Kings must give eare. 3 They have their power from God, who will not spare them. 12 Wisdom is soon found. 21 Princes must seek for it: 24 for a wise prince is the stay of his people.

16 For the good about seeking such as are worthy of her, sheweth her self favourably unto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in every thought.

17 For the very true beginning of her, is the desire of discipline; and the care of discipline is love.

1 Or, nurture.

18 And love is the keeping of her laws; and the giving heed unto her laws, is the assurance of incorruption.

19 And incorruption maketh us neare unto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdom bringeth to a kingdom.

21 If your delight be then in thrones and sceptres, O ye kings of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reigne for evermore.

22 As for wisdom, what she is, and how she came up, I will tell you, and will not hide mysteries from you: but will seek her out from the beginning of her nativitee, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not passe over the truth.

23 Neither will I go with consuming envie, for such a man shall have no fellowship with wisdom.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the welfare of the world: and a wise king is the upholding of the people.

25 Receive therefore instruction through my words, and it shall do you good.

C. H. A. P. VII.

1 All men have their beginning and end alike. 2 He preferred wisdom before all things else. 3 God gave him all the knowledge which he had. 4 The praise of wisdom.

I say tell also our mortal man, like to all, and the offspring of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers womb was fashioned to be flesh in the time of ten months, being compacted in blood, of the seed of man, and the pleasure that came with sleep.

3 And when I was born, I weto in the common air, and fell upon the earth which is of like nature, and the first voice which I uttered, was crying, as all others do.

4 I was wrapped in swaddling clothes, and that with care.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out.

7 Therefore I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon God, and the spirits of wisdom came to me.

8 I preferred her before scriptures and thrones, and esteemed riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither compared I unto her any precious stone, because all gold in respect of her is as a little sand, and silver shall be counted as clay before her.

10 I loved her above health and beauty, and chose to have her in stead of light: for the light that cometh from her, never goeth out.

11 All good things together came to me with her, and innumerable riches in her hands.

12 And I rejoiced in them all, because wisdom goeth before them: and I knew not that she was the mother of them.

13 I learned diligently, and do communicate her to liberaler: I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is a treasure unto men that never failth: which they that use, become the friends of God, being commended for the gifts that come from learning.

15 God hath granted me to speak as I would, and to conceive as is meet for the things that are given me: because it is he that leadeth unto wisdom, and directeth the wise.

16 For in his hands are both we and our works: all wisdom also and knowledge of workmanship.

17 For he hath given me certain knowledge of the things that are, namely, to know how the world was made, and the operation of the elements.

18 The beginning, ending, and midst of the times: the alterations of the turning of the sunne, and the change of seasons.

19 The circuits of yeares, and the positions of stars.

20 The nature of living creatures, and the furies of wilde beasts: the violence of winds, and the reasonings of men: the diversities of plants, and the virtues of roots.

21 And all such things as are either secret or manifest, them I know.

22 For wisdom which is the mother of all things taught me: for in her is an understanding quick, holy, one only, manifold, subtil, lively, clear, unfeigned, plain, not subject to hurt, losing the thing that is good, quick, which cannot be letted, ready to do good.

23 Wisdom to men, which is free from care, having all power, discerning all things, and going through all understandings, great, and most subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is more precious then any motion: she passeth and goeth through all things by reason of her pureness.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no blemish thing fall into her.

26 For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the unspotted mirror of the power of God, and the image of his goodness.

27 And being but one, she can do all things: and remaining in her self, she maketh all things alive: and in all ages entering into holy souls, she maketh them friends of God, and prophets.

28 For God loveth none, but him that dwelleth with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautiful then the sunne, and above all the order of starrs: being compared with the light, she is found before it.

30 For after this cometh night: but she shall not prevail against wisdom.

C. H. A. P. VIII.

1 He is in love with wisdom: 2 for he that hath it, hath every good thing. 3 It cannot be had but from God.

Wisdom teacheth from one end to another mightily: and she dwelleth with the father all things.

2 I loved her and sought her out from my youth, I desired to make her my spouse, and I was a lover of her beauty.

3 In that she is conversant with God, she magnified her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things himself loved her.

4 For she is private to the mysteries of the knowledge of God, and a lover of his works.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life: what is richer then wisdom that worketh all things?

6 And if providence work: who of all that are, is a more cunning workman then she?

7 And if a man love righteousness, her labours are virtues: for she teacheth temperance and providence, justice and fortitude, which are such things as men can have nothing more profitable in their life.

8 If a man desire much experience, she knoweth things of old, and conjectureth aright what is to come: she knoweth the labours of speeches, and can expound dark sentences, she findeth signes and wonders, and the verities of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her to me to live with me, knowing that she should be a counsellor of good things, and a comfort in care and grief.

10 For her sake I shall have estimation among the multitude, and honour with the elders, though I be young.

11 I shall be found of a quick counsel in judgement, and shall be admired in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue they shall bite my leather, and when I speak they shall give good ear unto me: if I talk much, they shall lay their hands upon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by the means of her I shall obtain immortality, and leave behind me an ever-lasting memorial to them that come after me.

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are I mille- 10r, fearful, rable, and our desires are but uncertain.

15 For the compassible bodie dwelleth within the soul, and the earthly tabernacle dwelleth within the minde that multieth upon many things.

16 And hardly do we guess aright at things that are upon earth, and with labour do we finde the things that are before us: but the things that are in heaven, who hath searched out?

19 For I was a little child, and had a good spirit.

20 For rather being good, I came into a bodie undefiled.

21 Nevertheless when I perceived that I could not otherwise obtain thee, except God gave thee me, (and that was a point of wisdom also to know whole gift she was) I prayed unto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart, I said,

CHAP. IX.

1 A prayer unto God for his wisdom, & without which the best man is nothing worth, 13 neither can he tell how to please God.

O God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word,

And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made.

And order the world according to equitie and righteousness, and execute judgement with an upright heart:

Give me wisdom, that stretcheth by thy throne, and reject me not from among thy children:

For I thy servant and comrade of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and too young for the understanding of judgement and law.

For though a man be never so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and a judge of thy sonnes and daughters.

Thou hast commanded me to build a temple upon the holy mount, and an altar in the cite wherein thou dwellest, a resemblance of the holy tabernacle which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

And wisdom was with thee: which knoweth thy works, and was present when thou madest the world, and knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

O send her out of thy holy heavens, and from the throne of thy glory, that being present she may labour with me, that I may know what is pleasing unto thee.

For she knoweth and understandeth all things, and she shall lead me liberly in my doings, and preserve me in her power.

So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I judge thy people righteously, and be worthy to sit in my fathers seat.

For what man is he that can know the counsel of God? or who can think what the will of the Lord is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are I mille- 10r, fearful, rable, and our desires are but uncertain.

15 For the compassible bodie dwelleth within the soul, and the earthly tabernacle dwelleth within the minde that multieth upon many things.

16 And hardly do we guess aright at things that are upon earth, and with labour do we finde the things that are before us: but the things that are in heaven, who hath searched out?

17 And thy counsell who hath known, except thou give wisdom, and send the holy Spirit from above?

18 For to the wayes of them which lived on the earth were reformed, and men were taught the things that are pleasing unto thee, and were saved through wisdom.

CHAP. X.

1 What wisdom did for Adam, 4 Noe, 5 Abraham, 6 Lot, and against the five cities, 10 for Jacob, 13 Joseph, 16 Moses, 17 and the Israelites.

She preferred the first formed father of the world, that was created alone, and brought him out of his fall,

And gave him power to rule all things. * Gen. 1. 28.

But when the unrighteous went away from her in his anger, he perished also in the fury wherewith he murdered his brother. * Gen. 4. 8.

For whose cause the earth being drowned with the flood, wisdom again preferred it, and directed the course of the righteous in a piece of wood of small value. * Gen. 7. 11.

Moreover, the nations in their wicked conspirence being confounded, she found out the righteous, and preserved him blameless unto God, and kept him strong against his tender compassion toward his sonne. * Gen. 22. 10.

When the magboly perished, she delivered the righteous man, who fled from the fire which fell down upon the five cities. * Gen. 19. 16.

Of whose wickedness even to this day, the waste land that Sodom is a testimony, and plants bearing fruit that never come to ripeness: and a standing pillar of salt is a monument of an unrepenting soul. * Gen. 19. 26.

For regarding not wisdom, they got not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behind them to the world a memoriall of their foolishness: so that in the things wherein they offended, they could not so much as be hid.

But wisdom delivered from pain those that attended upon her.

When the righteous fled from his brothers wrath, she guided him in right paths, shewed him the kingdom of God, and gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his travels, and multiplied the fruit of his labours.

In the covetousness of such as oppressed him, she stood by him, and made him rich.

She defended him from his enemies, and kept him safe from those that lay in wait, and in a fine conflict she gave him the victory: that he might know that godliness is stronger than all.

When the righteous was sold, the foolish him not, but delivered him from sinne: he went down with him into the pit, * Gen. 37. 25.

And left him not in bonds, till he brought him the scepter of the kingdom, and power against those that oppressed him: so for them that had accused him, she turned them to be liars, and gave him perpetual glory. * Acts 7. 10.

16 He entered into the soul of the serpent of the Lord, and * bewitched dreadful things in wonders and signs, 17 Reminded to the righteous a remembrance of their labours, guided them in a marvellous way, and was unto them for a cover by day, and a light of stars in the night season:

18 * Brought them through the Red Sea, and led them through much water.

19 He delivered their enemies, and cast them up out of the bottom of the deep.

20 Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly, and * praised thy holy name, O Lord, and magnified with one accord thine hand that fought for them.

21 For wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb, and made the tongues of them that cannot speak, eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

5 The Egyptians were punished, and the Israelites referred in the same thing. 15 They were plagued by the same things wherein they sinned, 20 God could have destroyed them otherwise, 23 but he is merciful to all.

He prospered their works in the hand of the holy prophet.

2 * They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched tents in places where there lay no man.

3 * They stood against their enemies, and were avenged of their abominations.

4 When they were thirsty, they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the flinty rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by what things their enemies were punished, by the same they in their need were benefited.

6 For in stead of a fountain of a perpetual running river troubles with foul blood,

7 For a manifest requital of that commandment whereby the infants were slain, thou gavest unto them abundance of water by a means wherby they hoped not for:

8 Declaring by that thirst then, * how thou hast punished their abominations.

9 For when they were cruel, albeit but in mercy chastised; they know how the ungodly were judged in wrath and condemned, dying in another manner than the just.

10 For they thou didst admonish and try as a father; but the other as a severe king thou didst condemn and punish.

11 And because they were absent as justice, they were hated alike.

12 For a terrible grief came upon them, and a groaning for the remembrance of things past.

13 For when they heard by their own punishments the order to be benefited, they had some feeling of the Lord.

14 For when they rejected him (even when he was long before thrown out at the casting forth of the infants, him in the end, when they lay to what came to pass, they admired).

15 But for the foolish devices of their wickedness, whereby they deceived their worshippers serpents both of reason, and wild beasts, thou didst send a multitude of unreasonable beasts upon them for vengeance.

20 What they might know that where-withall a man might, by the same also shall be punished.

17 For the same things that made the souls of ungodly men to be damned, not content to lead among the flames of death, or fierce flames.

18 O ungodly men, being full of rage, being created, breathing out either a fierce vapour, or filthy fumes of lecherous thought, or shooting horrible sparks out of their eyes.

19 And perchance not only the harm might bepatch them at once, but also the terrible sight utterly destroy them.

20 Per and without these might they have fallen down with one blast, being perfumed of vengeance, and scattered abroad through the breath of thy power: but thou hast ordered all things in measure and number and weight.

21 For thou canst shew thy great strength at all times when thou wilt, and who may withstand the power of thine arm?

22 For the whole world before thee is as a little grain of the balance, yea as a drop of the morning dew that falleth down upon the earth.

23 But thou hast mercy upon all: for thou canst do all things, and wastest at the sinners of men because they should amend.

24 For thou lovest all the things that are, and abhorrest making which thou hast made: for never wastest thou have made any thing, if thou hadst hated it.

25 And how could any thing have endured, if it had not been the will of thee preserved, if not called by thee?

26 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, thou lover of souls.

CHAP. XII.

2 God did not destroy those of Canaan all at once, 12 If he had done so, who could control him?

19 But by sparing them he taught us, 27 They were punished with their god.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore chastised them them by little and little, that offend, and warned them by putting them in remembrance, wherein they have sinned; that leaving their wickedness, they may believe on thee, O Lord.

3 For it was thy will to destroy by the hands of our fathers, but thou wilt inhabitants of thy holy land.

4 Wherein thou defendest by doing most odious works of witchcrafts, and wicked sacrifices;

5 And also thou wastest the murderers of children, and devourers of man's flesh, and the souls of blood;

6 With their priests out of the midst of their holiest creed, and the parents that killed with their own hands, souls destitute of help.

7 What the land which thou chosest to dwell above all other, might receive a worthy colony of good children.

8 Whereby, when thou shalt have made us men, and shalt send us thence, for our sins of thine host, to destroy them by little and little.

9 Not that thou wast unable to bring the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle, or to destroy them at once with cruel beasts, or with one rough word:

10 But executing thy judgements upon them by little and little, thou gavest them place of repentance, not being ignorant that they were a naughty generation; and that their maker was burn in them, and that their cognition would never be changed.

* Gen. 9. 25.

* Rom. 9. 20.

13 For neither is there any God but thou, that carest for all, to whom thou mightest shew that thy judgement is not unright.

14 Neither shall king or tyrant be able to set his face against thee, for any whom thou hast punished.

* Job. 10. 2.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy self, thou overest all things righteously: * thinking it not agreeable with thy power to condemn him that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art the Lord of all, it maketh thee to be gracious unto all.

Or, perfect.

17 For when men will not believe that thou art of a full power, thou shewest thy strength; and among them that know it, thou makest their holiness manifest.

18 But thou, uttering thy power, judgest with equity, and overest us with great favour: for thou mayest use power when thou wilt.

19 But by such works hast thou taught thy people, that the just man should be merciful, and hast made the chaffin to be of a good hope, that thou givest repentance for sinners.

20 For if thou dost punish the enemies of thy children, and the condemned to death with such deliberation, giving them time and place, whereby they might be delivered from their malice:

21 Wilt thou how great circumfpection dost thou judge thine own sinners, unto whose fathers thou hast sworn, & made covenant of good promises?

22 Therefore whereas thou dost chasten us, thou scourgest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we judge, we should carefully think of thy goodness, and when we our selves are judged, we should look for mercy.

23 Wherefore, whereas men have lived dishonestly and unrighteously, thou hast tormented them with their own iniquities.

* Rom. 2. 23.

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and held them for gods (which even amongst the beasts of their enemies were neglected) being deceived as children of no understanding.

25 Therefore unto them, as to children without the use of reason, thou dost send a judgement to mock them.

26 But they that would not be reformed by that correction wherein they walked with them; shall feel a judgement worthy of God.

27 For look for what things they grudged when they were punished, (that is) for them whom they thought to be gods; [now] being punished in them, when they saw it, they acknowledged him to be the true God, whom before they denied to know, and therefore came extreme damnation upon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 They were not excused that worshipped any of Gods works. 10 But most wretched are they that worship the works of mens hands.

* Rom. 1. 19. Surely vain are all men by nature, who are ignorant of God, and * could not out of the good things that are seen, know him that is: neither by considering the works, did they acknowledge the work-matter.

2 * But intended either fire, or wind, or the * Deut. 4. 19. soft air, or the circle of the stars, or the and 27. 3. violent water, or the lights of heaven to be the gods which govern the world.

3 Which idols because if they bring delights took them to be gods, let them know how much better the Lord of them is: for the first author of beauty hath created them.

4 But if they were astonished at their power and virtues, let them understand by them, how much mightier he is that made them.

5 For by the greatness and beauty of the creatures, proportionably the maker of them is seen.

6 But yet for this they are the least to be blamed: for they peradventure ever seeking God, and desirous to finde him.

7 For being * contentant in his works, they * Rom. 1. 23. search him diligently, and believe their light: because the things are beautiful that are seen.

8 Nonetheless, neither are they to be pardoned.

9 For if they were able to know so much, that they could aim at the world, how did they not sooner finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and in dead things is their hope, who called them gods which are the works of mens hands, gold and silver to shew art in, and resemblances of beasts, or a stone good for nothing, the work of an ancient hand.

11 * Now a carpenter that felleth timber, after he hath sawen down a tree meet for the purpose, and taken off all the bark skilfully round about, and hath wrought it handsomely, and made a vessel thereof fit for the service of mans life:

12 And after spending the residue of his work to dress his meat, hath filled himself:

13 And taking the very refuse among those which served to no use, (being a crooked piece of wood and full of knots) hath carved it diligently when he had nothing else to do, and fashen it by the skill of his understanding, and fashioned it to the image of a man:

14 * He made it like some vile beast, laying it over with vermilion and with paint, colouring it red, and covering every spot therein.

15 And when he had made a convenient room for it, set it in a wall, and made it fast with iron:

16 For he provided for it that it might not fall, knowing that it was unable to help it self, (for it is an image and hath men of help)

17 Even as he should be prayer for his goods, for his wife and children, and is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life.

18 For heathen, be callery upon that which is weak: for life, prayer to that which is dead: for aid, humbly beseecheth that which hath least means to help: and for a good journey, be askeeth of that which cannot set a foot forward:

19 And for gaining and getting, and for good success of his hands, as heathen do, of him that is most unable to do any thing.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Though men do not pray to their ships, yet are they saved rather by them than by their idols.

8 Idols are accused, and so are the makers of them. 14 The beginning of idolatry. 23 and the effects thereof. 30 God will punish them that swear falsely by their idols.

14 The beginning of idolatry. 23 and the effects thereof. 30 God will punish them that swear falsely by their idols.

A * man, one preparing himself to sail, and about to pass through the raging waves, calleth called upon a piece of wood, more rotten then the

I desire that carried him.

2 For verily desire of gain devised I that, and the workman built it by his skill.

3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it:
for thou hast made a way in the sea, and a safe path in the waves:

4 Shewing that thou canst save from all danger: yea though a man went to sea without art.

5 Nevertheless, thou wouldest not that the works of thy wisdom should be idle, and therefore do men commit their lives to a small piece of wood, and passing the rough sea in a weak vessel, are saved.

6 * For in the old time also, when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world governed by thy hand, escaped in a weak vessel, and left to all ages a seed of generation.

7 For blessed is the wood whereby righteousness cometh.

8 But that which is made with hands is cursed, as well it, as he that made it: he, because he made it; and it, because being corruptible, it was called God.

9 * For the ungodly and his ungodliness are born alike hateful unto God.

10 For that which is made shall be punished together with him that made it.

11 Therefore even upon the idols of the Gentiles shall there be a visitation: because in the creature of God they are become an abomination, and a stumbling block to the souls of men, and a snare to the feet of the unwise.

12 For the devising of idols was the beginning of spirituall fornication, and the invention of them the corruption of life.

13 For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever.

14 For by the vain glory of men they entered into the world, and therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

15 For a father afflicted with untimely mourning, when he hath made an image of his child soon taken away, now honoured him as a god, which was then a dead man, and delivered to those that were under him, ceremonies and sacrifices.

16 * Thus in process of time an ungodly custome grown strong, was kept as a law, and gra-tious images were worshipped by the commandments of kings.

17 And when men could not honour in presence, because they dwelt farre off, they took the counterfeits of his visage from farre, and made an express image of a king whom they honoured, to the end that by this their forwariness, they might flatter him that was absent, as if he were present.

18 Also the singular diligence of the artificer did help to set forward the ignorant to more superstition.

19 For he peradventure willing to please one in authority, forced all his skill to make the resemblance, of the best fashion.

20 And in the multitude assured by the grace of the work, took him note for a god, which a little before was but honoured as a man.

21 And this was an occasion to deceive the world: for men serving either carnally, or tyrannically, did ascribe unto stones and stocks the incomprehensible I name.

22 Answerer, this was not enough for them, that they erred in the knowledge of God, but whereas they lived in the great waste of ignorance, those to great plagues called they gods.

23 For whilst they slew their children in sacrifices, or used secret ceremonies, or made rebellions of strange rites.

24 They kept neither lives nor marriages any longer undefiled: but either one slew another treacherously, or grievously died by adultery.

25 So that there reigned in all men I debility, except blood, man slaughter, theft, and disimulation, corruption, unfaithfulness, cu-sums, perjury.

26 Disquieting of good men, forgetfulness of good turns, besting of souls, changing of kinds, disorder in marriages, adultery, and shameless uncleanness.

27 For the worshipping of idols is not to be named, is the beginning, the cause, and the end of all evil.

28 For either they are mad when they be merry, or prophetic lie, or live unjustly, or else lightly forswear themselves.

29 For inasmuch as their trust is in idols, which have no life: though they swear faithfully, yet they look not to be hurt.

30 Howbeit for both causes shall they be justly punished: both because they thought not well of God, giving heed unto idols, and also unjustly choose in deceit, despising holiness.

31 For it is not the power of them by whom they swear: but it is the just vengeance of sinners, that punisheth alwayes the offence of the ungodly.

CHAP. XV.

1 We do acknowledge the true God. 7 The folly of idol-makers, 14 and of the enemies of Gods people, 15 because besides the idols of the gentiles, 18 they worshipped vile beasts.

But thou, O God, art gracious and true, long-suffering, and in mercie ordering all things.

2 For if we sinne we are thine, knowing thy power: but we will not sinne, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee is perfect righteousness:
yea, to know thy power is the root of immortality.

4 For neither did the malicious intention of men deceive us, nor an image specked with bluers colours, the painters fruitless labour.

5 The sight whereof I censured fools to lust after it, and so they desired the form of a dead image that hath no breath.

6 And they that make them, they that defire them, and they that worship them, are lovers of evil things, and are worthy to have such things to trust upon.

7 For the potter tempering soft earth, fash-ioneth every vessel with much labour for our service: yea of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serve for clean uses, and likewise also all such as serve to the contrary: but what is the use of either sort, the potter himself is the judge.

8 And employing his labours lawfully, he ma-keth a vain god of the same clay, even he which a little before was made of earth himself, and within a little while after: returneth to the same out of the which he was taken, when his life was first in him shall be demanded.

9 For notwithstanding his care is, not that he shall have much labour, nor that his life is short: but chiefly to excell goldsmiths and silversmiths, and endeavoureth to do like the workers in brass, and counteth it his glory to make countersets of them.

14 And all the enemies of the people, that hold them in subjection, are most foolish, and are more miserable than very babes.

15 For they counted all the tools of the hearthen to be gods: which neither have the use of eyes to see, nor noses to smell, neither ears to hear, nor fingers of hands to handle; and as for their feet, they are slow to go.

16 For man made them, and he that boyroved his own spirit fashioned them: but no man can make a god like unto himself.

17 For being mortal, he wrought a dead thing with wicked hands: for he himself is better than the things which he worshippeth: whereas he lived once, but they never.

18 Yea, they worshipped those beasts also that are most hateful: for being compared together, some are worse than others.

19 Neither are they beautiful, so much as to be desired in respect of beasts: but they went with-out the praise of God, and his blessing.

9 For them the bitings of grasshoppers and flies killed, neither was there found any remedy for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But thy domes not the very teeth of venomous dragons overcome: for thy mercy was ever by them, and heales them.

11 For they were punished, that they should remember thy wrath, and more quickly shew, that not falling into deep forgetfulness, they might be continually mindful of the goodness.

12 For it was neither herb, nor mollifying plaster that restored them to health: but thy word, O Lord, which heales all things.

13 For thou hast power of life and death, thou ledest to the gates of hell, and thyngest up again.

14 A man indeed killed through his malice: and the spirit when it is gone forth returneth not; neither the soul received up, cometh again.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 For the ungodly that denied to know thee, were scourged by the strength of thine arm: with strange rains, hails, and snows: where they persecuted, that they could not avoid, and though fire were they consumed.

17 For which is most to be wondered at, the fire had more force in the water that quenched all things: for the world is lighted for the righteous.

18 For sometime the flame was mitigated that it might not burn up the beasts that were sent against the ungodly: but themselves might see and perceive that they were persecuted with the judgement of God.

19 And at another time it burned even in the midst of water, above the power of fire, that it might destroy the fruits of an unjust land.

20 In stead whereof thou feedest thine own people with angels food, and dost send them from heaven bread prepared without their labour, able to content every mans delight, and agreeing to every taste.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetness unto thy children, and shewing to the appetite of the eater, it self to every mans liking.

22 But snow and ice endured the fire and melted not, that they might know that fire burning in the hail, and sparkling in the rain, did destroy the fruits of the enemies.

23 But this again did even forget his own strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that beareth thee who art the Maker, increaseth his strength against the ungracious for their punishment, and abaseth his strength for the benefit of such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore even then was it altered into all fashions, and was obedient to thy grace that nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need.

26 That thy children, O Lord, whom thou lovest, might know that it is not the growing of fruits that nourisheth man: but that it is thy word which preserveth them that put their trust in thee.

27 For that which was not destroyed of the fire, being warmed with a little sunne-beam, soon melted away.

28 That it might be known that we must present the lumne to give thee thanks, and at the day-spring pray unto thee.

29 For the hope of the unthankfull shall melt away as the winters hoar-frost, and shall run away as unprofitable water.

- 1 Why the Egyptians were punished with darkness.
 4 The terrors of that darkness. 12 The terrors of an ill conscience.

ED, great are thy judgements, and cannot be expressed: therefore | unnumbered souls have

2 For when unrighteous men thought to oppress the holy nation, being shut up | in their houses, the prisoners of darkness, and fettered with the bonds of a long night, lay | there | | led from the eternall providence.

3 For while they supposed to lie hid in their secret sinnes, they were scattered | under a dark ball of forgetfulness, being horribly astonished, and troubled with (strange) apparitions.

4 For neither might the counter that bid them, keep them from fear: but noises (as of waters) falling down, sounded about them, and sad visions appeared unto them with terrible countenances.

5 So power of the fire might give them light: neither could the bright flames of the starres endure to lighten that horrible night.

6 While there appeared unto them a fire kindled of its self, very dreadful: for being much terrified, they thought the things which they saw, to be worse then the sight they saw not.

7 As for the illusions of art magicke, they were put down, and their vaunting in wisdom was reproved with disgrace.

8 For they that thought to dye away terrors, and troubles from a sick soul, were sick themselves of fear worthy to be laughed at.

9 For though no terrible thing did fear them: yet being scared with beasts that passed by, and hissing of serpents,

10 They died for fear, denying that they saw the aies, which could do no fies be avowed.

11 For wickedness condemned by her own witness, is very timorous, and being pressed with conscience, alwayes foretels her grievous things.

12 For fear is nothing else, but a denying of the succours which reason offereth.

13 And the expectation from within being less, counteth the ignorance more then the cause which bringeth the torment.

14 But they sleeping the same sleep that night, which was indeed intolerable, and which came upon them out of the bottoms of inevitable hell.

15 Were partly bereft with monstrous apparitions, and partly fainted, their heart failing them: for a sudden fear, and not looked for, came upon them.

16 So then, whosoever there fell down, was straitly kept, shut up in a prison, without iron bars.

17 For whereas they were husbandman or shepherd, or a labourer in the | field, he was overtaken, and endured that necessity which could not be avowed: for they were all bound with one chain of darkness.

18 And herbe it were a whistling winde, or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches, or a pleasing fall of water running violently,

19 Or a | terrible sound of stones cast down, or a running that could not be seen of skipping beasts, or a roaring voice of most savage wilde beasts, or a rebounding echo, from the hollow mountains: these things made them so drowsy for 20 For the whole world filled with clear light, and none were hindered in their labour.

21 Over them onely was spread an heavie night, an image of that darkness which should afterward receive them: but yet were they unto themselves more grievous then the darkness.

CHAP. XVIII.

- 4 Why Egypt was punished with darkness, and with the death of their children. 18 They themselves saw the cause thereof. 20 God also plagued his own people. 22 By what means that plague was stayed.

Nevertheless, thy saints had a very great light, whose voice they hearing, and not seeing their shape, because they also had not suffered the same things, they comforted them happy.

2 But so: they did not hurt them now, of whom they had been wounded before, they thanked them, and besought them pardon, for that they had been enemies.

3 In fear thereof they gabel them a burning pillar of fire, both to be a guide of the unknown journey, and as a harmless sunne to entertain them honourably.

4 For they were worthy to be deprived of light, and imprisoned in darkness, who had kept the lawes that up by whom the | unchangeable light of the law was to be given unto the world.

5 And when they had determined to slay the babes of the saints, one child being cast forth, and saved, to reprove them, thou tookest away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in a mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that assuredly knowing unto what ends they had given credence, they might afterwards be of good cheer.

7 So of thy people was accepted both the salvation of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies.

8 For whereas thou dost punish our adversaries, by the same thou dost glorifie us: whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of good men did sacrifice secretly, and with one consent made | a holy law that the saints should be like makers of the same good and evil, the fathers now singing out the songs of praise.

10 But on the other side there sounded an ill-according ere of the enemies, and a lamentable noise was carried abroad for children that were beheaded.

11 The master and the servant were punished after one manner: and like as the king to suffer the common person.

12 So they all together had innumerable dead with one kinde of death, neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in one moment the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 For whereas they would not believe anything, by reason of the incantments, upon the destruction of the first-born, they acknowledged this people to be the enemies of God.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and that night was in the midst of her sweet course, 15 Eune Almighty word leapt down from heaven, out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre into the midst of a land of restriction.

16 And brought their unassigned commandment as a sharp sword, and standing up filled all things with death, and it touched the heaven, but it stood upon the earth.

troubled them (say, and terrors came upon them

18 And one throned here, another there half dead, shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the means that troubled them did fore-show this, lest they should perish, and not know why they were afflicted.

20 Even the casting of death touched the righteous also, and there was a destruction of the multitude in the wilderness: but the wrath cir-cured not long.

21 For then the blameless man made haste, and stood forth to defend them; and bringing the shield of his proper ministerie, even prayer, and the propitiation of incense, set himself against the wrath, and so brought the calamitie to an end, declaring that he was the servant.

22 So he overcame the destroyer, not with strength of hands, nor force of arms, but with a word shewed he him that punished, alleading the oaths and covenants made with the fathers.

23 For when the dead were now fallen down by heaps one upon another, standing between, he stayed the wrath, and parted the way to the living.

24 For in the long garment was the whole world, and in the four rows of the stones was the glory of the fathers graves, and thy majestie upon the multitude of his head.

25 Unto these the destroyer gave place, and was afraid of them: for it was enough that they sawly tasted of the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Why God shewed no mercie to the Egyptians, 3 and how wonderfully he dealt with his people. 14 The Egyptians were worse then the Sodomites. 18 The wonderfull agreement of the creatures to serve Gods people.

As for the ungodly, wrath came upon them without mercie unto the end: for he knew before what they would do.

2 Now that having given them leave to repent, and sent them hastily away, they would repent and pursue them.

3 For whilst they were yet mourning and making lamentation at the graves of the dead, they added another foolish device, and pursued them as fugitives, whom they had intreated to be gone.

4 For the destiny, wherof they were worthy, drew them unto this end, and made them forget the things that had already happened, that they might fulfill the punishment which was wanting to their torment.

5 And that the people might pass a wonder-full way: but they might finde a strange death.

6 For the whole creature in his proper kinde was fashioned again anew, learning the peculiar commandments that were given unto them, that the children might be kept without hurt.

7 As namely, a cloud shadowing the camp; and where water stood before, dry land appeared; and out of the Red sea, a way without impediment; and out of the violent stream, a green field:

8 Wherethrough all the people went: that were defended with thy hand, seeing thy marvellous strange wonders.

9 For they went at large like hoxen, and leaped like lambs, passing thee, O Lord, who hadst delivered them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of the things that were done while they sojourned in the strange land, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattell, and how the river cast up a multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 But afterwards they saw a new generation of fowls, when being led with their appetite they asked delicate meats.

12 For quails came up unto them from the sea, for their contentment.

13 And punishments came upon the sinners not without former signs by the force of thunders: for they suffered justly, according to their own wickedness, inasmuch as they used a more hard and hateful behaviour towards strangers.

14 For the Sodomites did not receive those whom they knew not when they came: but these brought friends into bondage, that had well behaved of them.

15 And not onely so, but peradventure some respect shall be had of those, becaus they used strangers not friendly.

16 But these very grievously afflicted them whom they had received with feastings, and were already made partakers of the same laws with them.

17 Wherfore even with blindness were these stricken, as those were at the doors of the righteous man: when being compassed about with horrible great darkness, every one sought the passage of his own doores.

18 For the elements were changed in them:
themselves by a kinde of harmonie, like as in a platerie notes change the name of the tune, and yet are alwayes sounds, which may well be perceived by the sight of the things that have been done.

19 For earthly things were turned into water, & the things that befoze down in the water, now went upon the ground.

20 The fire had power in the water, wher-ting his own vertue: and the water forgot his own quenching nature.

21 On the other side, the flames wasted not the flesh of the corruptible living things, though they walked therein: neither melted they the kin-kinde of heavenly meat, that was of nature apt to melt.

22 For in all things, O Lord, thou didst ma-gnifie thy people, and glorifie them, neither didst thou lightly regard them: but didst assist them in every time and place.

THE WISDOME OF

JESUS the sonne of SIRACH,

Or ECCLESIASTICVS.

¶ A prologue made by an uncertain author.

THis Jesus was the sonne of Sirach, and grand-childe to Jesus of the same name with him: this man therefore lived in the latter times, after the people had been led away captive, and called home again, and almost after all the prophets. Now his grandfather Jesus (as he himself witnesseth) was a man of great diligence and wisdom among the Hebrews, who did not onely gather the grave and short sentences of wise men, that had been before him, but himself also uttered some of his own, full of much understanding and wisdom. When as therefore the first Jesus died, leaving this book almost perfected, Sirach his sonne receiving it after him, left it to his own sonne Jesus, who having gotten it into his hands, compiled it all orderly into one volume, and called it Wisdom, intitling it, both by his own name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers, alluring the hearer by the very name of Wisdom, to have a greater love to the studie of this book. It containeth therefore wise sayings, dark sentences, and parables, and certain particular ancient godly stories of men that pleased God. Also his prayer and song. Moreover, what benefits God had vouchsafed his people, and what plagues he had heaped upon their enemies. This Jesus did imitate Solomon, and was no lesse famous for wisdom and learning, both being indeed a man of great learning, and so reputed also.

Some referre this prologue to Athanasius, because it is found in his synopsis.

¶ Or, collected.

The prologue of the Wisdom of Jesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many and great things have been delivered unto us by the law and the prophets, and by others that have followed their steps, for the which things Israel ought to be commended for learning & wisdom; and whereof not onely the readers must needs become skillfull themselves, but also they that desire to learn, be able to profit them which are without, both by speaking and writing: my grandfather Jesus, when he had much given himself to the reading of the law and the prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein good judgement, was drawn on also himself, to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that those which are desirous to learn, and are addicted to these things, might profit much more in living according to the law. Wherefore, let me intreat you to reade it with favour and attention, and to pardon us, wherein we may seem to come short of some words which we have laboured to interpret. For the same things uttered in Hebrew, and translated into another tongue, have not the same force in them: and not onely these things, but the law it self, and the prophets, and the rest of the books, have no small difference, when they are spoken in their own language. For in the eight and thirtieth yeare coming into Egypt, when Euergetes was king, and continuing there some time, I found a book of no small learning: therefore I thought it most necessary for me, to bestow some diligence and travell to interpret it; using great watchfulness, and skill in that space, to bring the book to an end, and set it forth for them also, which in a strange country are willing to learn, being prepared before in manners to live after the law.

- 1 All wisdom is from God. 10 He giveth it to them that love him. 12 The fear of God is full of many blessings. 23 To fear God wisdom is profitable.

King. 3. 9.

1 All wisdom cometh from the Lord, and is with him for ever.
2 And who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of rain, & the dayes of eternitie?
3 Who can finde out the bright of heaven, and the wealth of the earth, and the deep, & wisdom?

4 Wisdom hath been created before all things, and the understanding of prudence from everlasting.

5 The word of God most high is the fountain of wisdom, and her wayes are everlasting commandments.

6 To whom hath the root of wisdom been revealed: or who hath knowen her wise counseils?

7 Unto whom hath the knowledge of wisdom been made manifest: and who hath understood her great experience?

8 There is one wise and greatly to be feared; the Lord sitting upon his throne.

9 He created her, and saw her, and numbered her, and poured her out upon all his works.

10 She is with all flesh according to his gift, and 15 She hath built an everlasting foundation with men, and she shall continue * with their seed.

16 To fear the Lord, is fulness of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruits.

17 She filleth all their house with things desirable, and the garners with her increase.

18 The fear of the Lord, is a crown of wisdom, making peace a perfect health to flourish: both which are the gifts of God: and it enlargeth their rejoicing that love him.

19 Wisdom raineth down skill and knowledge of understanding, and exalteth them to honour that hold her fast.

20 The root of wisdom is to fear the Lord, and the branches thereof are long life.

21 The fear of the Lord hath away sinnes: and where it is present, it turneth away wrath.

|| Or, escape punishment.

22 A furious man cannot || be justified, for the fury of his fury shall be his destruction.

23 A patient man will hear for a time, and afterward joy shall spring up unto him.

24 He will hide his words for a time, and the lips of many shall declare his wisdom.

25 The parables of knowledge are in the treasures of wisdom: but godliness is an abomination to a sinner.

26 If thou desire wisdom, keep the commandments, and the Lord shall give her unto thee.

27 For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction: and faith and meekness are his delight.

|| Or, be not disobedient
10.

28 Distrust not the fear of the Lord when thou art poor: and come not unto him with a double heart.

29 Be not an hypocrite in the sight of men, and take good heed what thou speakest.

30 Treat not thy self, lest thou fall, and bring dishonour upon thy soul, and so God discover thy secrets, & call thee down in the midst of the congregation, because thou camest not in truth to the fear of the Lord, but thy heart is full of deceit.

* Gen. 27.27.

10 Glory not in the dishonour of thy father, for thy fathers dishonour is no glory unto thee.

Deut. 32.1.

11 For the glory of a man, is from the honour of his fathers: and a mother in dishonour, is a reproach unto the children.

12 Thy sonne, help thy father in his age, and relieve him not as long as he liveth.

13 And if his understanding fail, have patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in the full strength.

14 For the relieving of thy father shall not be forgotten: and in stead of sinnes it shall be added to build thee up.

15 In the day of thine affliction it shall be remembered, thy sinnes also shall melt away, as the ice in the salt water in winter.

16 Be that loveth his father, is not a blasphemer, and he that loveth his mother, is not a blasphemer.

17 The Lord is an enemy to the proud, and he that loveth him, shall be beloved of him that is his opposer.

18 The greater thou art, the more humble thyself, and thou shalt finde favour before the Lord.

19 Many are in high place, and of renown: but * mysteries are revealed unto the meek.

20 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

21 * Seek not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things that are above thy strength.

22 But what is commanded thee, think thereupon with reverence, for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are in secret.

23 Be not curious in unnecessary matters: for more things are shewed unto thee, then men understand.

24 For many are deceived by their own vain opinion, and an evil suspicion hath overthroned their judgement.

25 Without eyes thou shalt want light: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

26 A stubborn heart shall fare evil at the last: and he that loveth danger shall perish therein.

27 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrows, and the wicked man shall hear shame upon shame.

28 In the punishment of the proud there is no remedy: for the plant of wickedness hath taken root in him.

29 The heart of the prudent will understand a parable, and an attentive care is the desire of a wise man.

30 * Whatsoever will quench a flaming fire, and almes maketh an atonement for sinnes.

31 And be that requiteth good turns, is mindful of that which may come hereafter: and when he falleth he shall finde a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

1 We may not despise the * poore on fatherlesse, 21 but seek for wisdom, 20 and not be ashamed of some thing, nor gainsay the truth, 30 nor be as lions in our houses.

Momme, defraud not the poore of his living, and make not the needy eyes to wait long.

2 Make not an hungry soul sorrowfull, neither provoke a man in his distresse.

3 Add not more trouble to an heart that is heaved, and deferre not to give to him that is in need.

4 Reject not the supplication of the afflicted, neither turn away thy face from a poore man.

5 Turn not away thine eye from the needy, and give him none occasion to curse thee:

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soul, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Get thy self the love of the congregation, and bow thy head to a great man.

8 Let it not grieve thee to bow down thine ear to the poore, and give him a friendly answer with meekness.

9 Deliver him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and be not faint-hearted when thou standest in judgement.

10 Be as a father unto the fatherlesse, and in stead of an husband unto their mother: so shalt thou be as the house of the most high, and he shall love thee more then thy mother doth.

11 Withdome traineth her children, and teacheth both of them that seek her.

12 He that loveth her, loveth life, and they that seek to her early, shall be filled with joy.

13 He that holdeth her fast, shall inherit glory, and whosoever she entereth, the Lord will bless.

14 They that seek her shall minister to the holy One, and them that love her, the Lord doth love.

15 Whoso giveth ears unto her, shall judge the nations: and he that attendeth unto her, shall dwell securely.

16 If a man commit himself unto her, he shall inherit her: and his generation shall hold her in possession.

17 For at the first she will walk with him by crooked wayes, and bying fear and dread upon him, and torment him with her discipline, until he may trust his soul, and try him by her laws.

18 When will she return the straight way unto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets.

19 But if he go wrong, she will forsake him, and give him over to his own ruin.

20 Discreet is the opportunitie, and beware of evil, and be not ashamed when it concerneth the soul.

21 For there is a shame that bringeth shame, and there is a shame which is glory and grace.

22 Accept no person against thy soul, and let not the reverence of any man cause thee to fall.

23 And refrain not to speak, when there is occasion to do good, and hide not thy wisdoms in thy beauty.

24 For by speech wisdom shall be known, and learning by the word of the tongue.

25 In no wise speak against the truth, but be ashamed of the error of thine ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and force not the course of the river.

27 Make not thy self an underling to a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Strive for the truth unto death, and the Lord shall fight for thee.

29 Be not hasty in thy tongue, and in thy words slack and remiss.

30 Be not as a lion in thy house, nor franticke among thy servants.

31 Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and that when thou thoudest it repay.

CHAP. V.

1 We must not presume of our wealth and strength, 6 nor of the mercy of God to sinne. 9 We must not be double-sunged, 12 nor answer without knowledge.

Set not thy heart upon thy goods, and say not, * I have enough for my life.

2 Follow not thine own minde, & thy stringed to walk in the wayes of thy heart:

3 And say not, Who shall controule me for my works: for the Lord will surely revenge thy sins.

4 Say not, I have sinned, and what harm hath happened unto me for the Lord is long suffering, he will in no wise let thee go.

5 Concerning supplication, * be not without fear to adde sinne unto sinne.

6 And say not, His mercy is great, he will be pacified for the multitude of my sinnes: * for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation resteth upon sinners.

14 * He not called a whisperer, and life not in wait with thy tongue: for a foul shame is upon the chief, and an evil condemnation upon the double tongue.

15 * Be not ignorant of any thing, in a great matter: for a small.

CHAP. VI.

2 Do not extoll thine own wisdom, 7 but make choice of a friend, 18 Seek wisdom betimes: 20 it is grievous to some, 28 yet the fruits thereof are pleasant, 35 Be ready to hear wise men.

I F head of a friend, become not an enemy, for [thereby] thou shalt inherit an ill name, shame and reproach: even so shall a sinner that hath a double tongue.

2 * Extoll not thy self in the counsel of thine own heart: that thy soul be not torn in pieces as a bull [straying alone.]

3 * Thou shalt eat up thy leaves, and lose thy fruit, and leave thy self as a dry tree.

4 A wicked soul shall destroy him that hath it, and shall make him to be laughed to scorn of his enemies.

† Gr. a sweet throat.

5 † Sweet language will multiply friends, and a fair speaking tongue will increase kinde greetings.

6 Be in peace with many, nevertheless have but one counsellor of a thousand.

† Or, get him in the time of trouble.

7 If thou wouldest get a friend, † probe him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his own occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is a friend, who being turned to enemy and strife, will discover thy reproach.

* Chap. 37. 5.

10 * Again some friend is a companion at the table, and will not continue in the day of thy affliction.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thy self, and will be bold over thy servants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himself from thy face.

13 Separate thy self from thine enemies, and take heed of thy friends.

14 A faithful friend is a strong defence: and he that hath found such an one, hath found a treasure.

15 Nothing doth counterball a faithful friend, and his excellency is unvaluable.

16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life, and they that fear the Lord shall find him.

17 * Who feareth the Lord shall direct his friendship aright: for as he is, so shall his neighbour be also.

18 * By sonne, gather instruction from thy youth up: so shall thou hide wisdom till thine old age.

19 Come unto her as one that ploweth and soweth, and wait for her good fruits, for thou shalt not toil much in labouring about her, but thou shalt eat of her fruits right soon.

27 Search, and seek, and she shall be made known unto thee: and when thou hast got hold of her, let her not go.

28 For at the last thou shalt finde her rest, and that shall be turned to thy joy.

29 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, and her chains a robe of glory.

30 For there is a golden ornament upon her, and her hands are purple lace.

37 Let thy mind be upon the ordinances of the Lord, and * meditate continually in his commandments: he shall establish thine heart, and give thee wisdom at thine own desire.

* Psal. 1. 2.

CHAP. VII.

1 We are deborted from sinne, 4 From ambition, 8 presumption, 10 and fainting in prayer: 12 from lying and backbiting, 18 How to esteem a friend: 19 a good wife: 20 a servant: 22 our cattell: 23 our children and parents: 31 the Lord and his priests: 32 the poore and those that mourn.

DO no evil, so shall no harm come unto thee. Depart from the unjust, and iniquity shall turn away from thee.

3 * By sonne, looke not upon the fierceness of unrighteousness, and thou shalt not reap them evilfold.

4 Seek not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the seat of honour.

5 * Justifie not thy self before the Lord, and boast not of thy wisdom before the king.

* Job. 9. 30. Psal. 143. 2. Eccles. 7. 16. Luk. 18. 11.

6 Seek not to be judge, being not able to take away iniquitie, lest at any time thou fear the person of the mighty, and lay a stumbling block in the way of the upright.

7 * Stand not against the multitude of a city, and and then thou shalt not cast the life upon among the people.

8 Smite not one sinne upon another, for in one thou shalt not be unpunished.

9 Say not, God will look upon the multitude of my oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint-hearted when thou makest thy prayer, and neglect not to give thanks.

11 Laugh no man to scorn in the bitterness of his soul: for there is one which humbly and exaltery.

12 Dress not a lie against thy brother: neither do the like to thy friend.

13 Use not to make any manner of lie for the custom thereof is not good.

14 Use not many words in a multitude of elders, and make not much babbling when thou prayest.

15 Hate not laborious work, neither husbandry, which the most high hath ordained.

16 Remember not thyself among the multitude of sinners, but remember that wrath will not last long.

17 Humble thy soul greatly: for the vengeance of the ungodly is fire and weapons.

18 Change not a friend for any good by no means: neither a faithful brother for the gold of Egypt.

19 Forgo not a wife and good woman: for her grace is above gold.

20 Because thy servant wrought truly, entreat him not evil, nor the hireling that bestoweth himself wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soul love a good servant, and be afraid him not of liberty.

22 Hast thou cattell? have an eye to them: and if they be for thy profit, keep them with thee.

23 Hast thou children? instruct them, and bote both their neck from their youth.

24 Hast thou daughters? have a care of their body, and shew not thyself cheerful toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shalt thou have performed a weighty matter: but give her to a man of understanding.

26 Hast thou a wife after thy mind? forsake her not, but give not thyself over to a light woman.

27 Honour thy father with thy whole heart, and forget not the servants of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast begot of them, and how canst thou recompense them the things that they have done for thee?

29 Fear the Lord with all thy soul, and reverence his priests.

30 Love him that made thee with all thy strength, and forsake not his ministers.

31 Fear the Lord, and honour the priest: and give him his portion, as it is commanded thee, the first-fruits, and the trespass-offering, and the gift of the shoulders, and the sacrifice of sanctification, and the first-fruits of the holy things.

32 And stretch thine hand unto the poor, that thy blessing may be perfected.

33 A gift hath grace in the sight of every man living, and for the dead remain it not.

34 Fail not to be with them that weep, and mourn with them that mourn.

35 Be not slow to visit the sick: for that shall make thee to be beloved.

36 Whatsoever thou takest in hand remember the end, and thou shalt never do amiss.

1 Whom we may not strive with: 2 nor despise, 16 me provoke, 15 nor have to do with.

Write not with a mighty man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 Be not at variance with a rich man, lest he overweigh thee for gold: hath destroyed many, and perverted the hearts of kings.

3 Write not with a man that is full of tongue, and heap not wood upon his fire.

4 Write not with a rude man lest thy ancestors be disgraced.

5 Reproach not a man that turned from sinne, but remember that we are all worthy of punishment.

6 Dishonour not a man in his old age: for even some of us are old.

7 Rejoice not over thy greatest enemy being dead, but remember that we die all.

8 Despite not the discourse of the wise, but acquaint thyself with their proverbs, for of them thou shalt learn instruction, and how to serve great men with ease.

9 Write not the discourse of the elders: for they also learned of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learn understanding, and to give answer as need requirer.

10 Smite not the coals of a sinner, lest thou be burnt with the flame of his fire.

11 Rise not up (in anger) at the presence of an injurious person, lest he lie in wait to entrap thee in thy words.

12 Lend not unto him that is mightier than thyself: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not surety above thy power: for if thou be surety, take care to pay it.

14 Go not to law with a judge, for they will judge for him according to his honour.

15 Label not by the way with a bold fellow, lest he become grievous unto thee: for he will do according to his own will, and thou shalt perish with him through his folly.

16 Write not with an angry man, and go not with him into a solitary place: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no help, he will overthrow thee.

17 Consult not with a fool, for he cannot keep counsel.

18 Do no secret thing before a stranger, for then knowest not what he will bring forth.

19 Open not thine heart to every man, lest he requite thee with a speech turn.

1 Keep not company with the proud, or a mightier than thy self. 15 Likewill to like. 21 The difference between the rich and the poor. 25 A mans heart will change his countenance.

Deut. 7. 3.

HW that toucheth rich shall be defiled therewith, and he that hath fellowship with a proud man, shall be like unto him.

2 Burden not thy self above thy power, whilst thou livest, and have not fellowship with one that is mightier and richer than thy self. For how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

For this shall smite against is and be broken.

3 The rich man hath done wrong, and yet he thinketh himself right: the poor is wronged, and he must intercede also.

4 Althou be for his profit, he will use thee: but if thou have nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou have any thing, he will live with thee: yea, he will make thee bare, and will not be loy to it.

6 If he have need of thee, he will deceive thee, and smile upon thee, and put thee in hope, he will speak thee fair, and say, what wantedst thou?

7 And he will shame thee by his means, until he have broken thee by twice or thrice, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorn: afterward when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his hand at thee.

He by thy simplicity.

8 Beware that thou be not deceived, and brought down in thy justice.

9 If thou be invited of a mighty man, withhold thy self, and so much the more will he invite thee.

10 Bless thou not upon him, lest thou be put back, stand not face off, lest thou be forgotten.

For forbear not, but,

11 Affect not to be made equal unto him in talk, I and deceive not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and smiling upon thee will get out the secrets.

12 But cruelly he will lay up thy words, and will not spare to do thee hurt, and to put thee in pain.

13 Observe and take good heed, for thou wastest in peril of thy oversteering: when thou hearest these things, awake in thy sleep.

14 Love the Lord all thy life, and call upon him for thy salvation.

15 Every heart loveth his like, and every man loveth his neighbour.

16 All flesh conducteth according to kinds, and a man will cleave to his like.

17 What fellowship hath the wolf with the lambs? so the sinner with the good.

18 What agreement is there between the hyena and a dove, and what peace between the rich and the poor?

19 As the better ass is the lions prey in the wilderness, so the rich eat up the poor.

20 As the proud bare humility: so doeth the rich abhorre the poor.

21 A rich man beginning to fall, is held up of his friends: but a poor man being down, is thrust also away by his friends.

22 When a rich man is fallen, he hath many helpers: he speaketh things not to be spoken, and yet men justify him: the poor man silep, and yet they rebuke him too: he speaketh wisely, and could have no place.

23 When a rich man speaketh, every man holdeth his tongue, and look what he saith, they err all to the clouds: but if the poor man speak, they say, what fellow is this? and if he stumble, they will help to overthrow him.

24 Riches are good unto him that hath no sinne, and poverty is evil in the mouth of the maggot.

25 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be for good or evil: and a counsellor maketh a cheerful countenance.

26 A cheerful countenance is a token of a heart that is in prosperity, and the finding out of parables is a wearisome labour of the minde.

CHAP. XIV.

1 A good conscience maketh men happy. 5 The niggard doth grieve none. 13 But do thou good, 20 Men are happy, that draw near to wisdom.

Blessed is the man that hath not slept with his mouth, and is not pitched with the flattery of sinners.

* Chap. 19. 16, and 25. 8. James 3. 2. Or, sorrow.

2 Blessed is he whose conscience hath not condemned him, and who is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a mighty man, and what should an envious man do with money?

4 He that gathereth by demanding his neighbour's, gathereth for others that shall spend his goods violently.

5 He that is evil to himself, to whom will he be good? he shall not take pleasure in his goods.

6 There is none worse then he that envieth himself: and this is a recompense of his wickedness.

7 And if he doth good, he doeth it unwillingly, and at the last he will declare his wickedness.

8 The envious man hath a wicked eye, he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A covetous mans eye is not satisfied with his portion, and the iniquity of the wicked dieth up his soul.

* Prov. 17. 20.

10 A wicked eye envieth [his] bread, and he is a niggard at his table.

11 Ify some, according to thy ability do good to thy self, and give the Lord his due offering.

12 Remember that death will not be long in coming, and that the covenant of the grave is not broken unto thee.

13 Do good unto thy friend before thou die, and according to thy ability stretch out thy hand and give to him.

* Tob. 4. 7. Luk. 14. 13.

14 Demand not thy self of the good day, and let not the part of a good desire overpass thee.

109 the feast day.

15 Shalt thou not leave thy travels unto another? and the labours to be divided by lot?

16 Give, and take, and sanctifie thy soul, for there is no seeking of dainties in the grave.

17 All flesh washed oil as a garment: for the covenant from the beginning is, Thou shalt die the death.

* Isa. 40. 4. James 1. 10. 1. Pet. 1. 24.

18 All of the green leaves on a thorn tree, and 23 He that is without understanding, will think upon vain things; and a foolish man erring, imagineth follies.

24 They taught, teachen unto me, and learn knowledge, and mark my words with the heart.

25 I will teach forth doctrine in weight, and declare his knowledge exactly.

26 The words of the Lord are none in judgment from the beginning; and from the time he made them, he disposed the parts thereof.

27 He garnished his words for ever, and in his hand are the riches of them unto all generations: they neither labour nor are weary, nor cease from their words.

28 None of them hindereth another, and they shall never disobey his words.

29 After this the Lord looked upon the earth, and filled it with his blessings.

30 Doing all manner of living things hath he covered the face thereof, and they shall return in to it again.

CHAP. XVII.

1 How God created and furnished man. 14 Avoid all sin: 19 For God seeth all things. 25 Turn to him while thou livest.

The Lord created man of the earth, and turned him into it again.

2 He gave them few days, and a short time, and to use also over the things therein.

3 He endued them with strength by themselves, and made them according to his image.

4 And put the fear of man upon all flesh, and gave him dominion over beasts and fowls.

5 They received the use of the five operations of the Lord, and in the sixth place he imparted them understanding, and in the seventh, speech, an interpreter of the cogitations thereof.

6 Counsel, and a tongue, and eyes, ears, and a heart, gave he them to understand.

7 Therefore, he filled them with the knowledge of understanding, and showed them good and evil.

8 He set his eye upon their hearts, that he might know them the greatness of his works.

9 He gave them to glory in his marvellous acts for ever, that they might declare his works with understanding.

10 And the elect shall praise his holy name.

11 Before this, he gave them understanding, and the law of life for an abiding.

12 He made an everlasting covenant with them, and showed them his judgements.

13 Their eyes saw the majesty of his glory, and their ears heard his glorious voice.

14 And he said unto them, Beware of all unrighteousness, and be ye every man commandment concerning his neighbour.

15 Their ways are clear before him, and shall not be hid from his eyes.

16 Every man from his youth is given to evil, neither could they make so themselves fleshy hearts for stone.

17 For in the division of the nations of the whole earth, he set a ruler over every people, but Israel is the Lord's portion.

18 As soon as his first-born, he nourished with discipline, and giving him the light of his love, doth not forsake him.

19 Therefore all their works are as the sun, before him, and his eyes are continually upon their ways.

20 None of their unrighteous deeds are hid from him, but all their sinners are before the Lord.

21 But the Lord being gracious, and knowing his wickedness, neither left nor forsook them, but spared them.

22 The times of a man is as a signet with him, and he will keep the good deeds of man, as the apple of the eye, and give repentance to his sinners and daughters. * Chap. 29, 12, 13.

23 Afterwards he will rise up and reward them, and render their recompense upon their heads. * Math. 25, 34, 35.

24 But unto them that repent, he granted them return, and comforted those that fasted in patience. * Acts 3, 19.

25 Return unto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes, make thy prayer before his face, and of his mercy shall he be merciful. * Jer. 3, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

26 Turn again to the most High, and turn away from iniquity: for he will leave thee out of darkness into the light of health, and he will show thee abomination vehemently. * Or, illumination.

27 Who shall praise the most High in the grave, in stead of them which live and give thanks? * Psal. 138, 18, 19.

28 Thanksgiving perisheth from the dead, as from one that is not: the living and sound in heart, shall praise the Lord.

29 How great is the loving kindness of the Lord our God, and his compassion unto such as turn unto him in holiness.

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the bones of man is not immortal.

31 What is brighter than the sunne, yet the light thereof fainter: and flesh and blood will become dust.

32 He knoweth the power of the height of heaven, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

4 Gods works are to be wondered at. 9 Mans life is short. 11 God is mercifull. 15 Do not blaspheme thy good deeds with ill words. 22 Deserre not to be justified. 30 Follow me: thy lust.

How that lived for ever created all things in general. * Gen. 1, 1.

2 The Lord onely is righteous, and there is none other but he.

3 Who governed the world with the palm of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he is the king of all, by his power dividing holy things among them from profane. * Lev. 10, 8, 9.

4 As whom hath he given power to declare his works? who shall find out his noble acts? * Psal. 106, 24.

5 Who shall number the strength of his majesty: and who shall ascribe all his mercies?

6 As for the monstrous works of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither may anything be put unto them, neither can the ground of them be found out.

7 When a man hath done, then he beginneth; and when he leaveth off, then he shall be doubtful.

8 What is man, and whereto serveth he? what is his good, and what is his evil?

9 The number of a mans days at the most are as dampned years. * Psal. 90, 10.

10 As a drop of water into the sea, and a gravel stone in comparison of the sand, so art thou land years to the days of eternity. * 2, Pet. 3, 8.

11 Therefore is God patient with them: and poureth forth his mercy upon them.

12 He saw and perceived their end to be evil, therefore he multiplied his compassion.

13 The mercy of man is toward his neighbour, but

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and women seduce wise men. 7 Say not all thou hearest. 17 Reprove thy friend without anger.
24 There is no wisdom in wickedness.

A labouring man that is given to drunkenness shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 Wine and women will make wise of number standing to fall away: and he that cleaveth to barlots will become impudent.

tage, and a bold man shall be taken away.

*Joh. 1. 22

4 * He that is hasty to give credit is light minded, and he that smeth shall offend against his own soul.

5 He that taketh pleasure in his own flesh, shall be condemned: but he that redresseth pleasures, crowneth his life.

6 He that can use his tongue shall live without sin: and he that loveth babbling, shall have little rest.

7 Rehearse not unto another that which is told unto thee, and thou shalt have never the worse.

8 * Whether it be to a friend or foe, talk not fence, reveal them not.

10 If thou hast heard a word, let it be with thee, and be bold; it will not hurt thee.

[Or, reprove.]

15 Admonish a friend: for many times it is a flavour, and beloveth one every rate.

16 There is one that slipeth in his speech, but not from his heart, and who is he that hath not offended with his tongue.

[Or, willingly,
Jam. 3. 2.]

17 If Admonish thy neighbour before thou chasten him, and not being angry, give place to the law of the most high.

[Or, reprove.]

18 The fear of the Lord is the first step to be accepted [of him] and wisdom obtaineth his love.

[Or, of recalling him.]

19 The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord, is the doctrine of life, and they that do things that please him, shall receive the fruit of the tree of immortality.

20 The fear of the Lord is all wisdom, and in all wisdom is the performance of the law, and the knowledge of his omnipotency.

21 If a servant say to his master, I will not do as it pleaseth thee, though afterwards he do it, he angreth him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom, neither at any time the counsel of sinners pudence.

23 There is a wickedness, and the same is an admonition, and there is a fool wanting in wisdom.

24 He that hath small understanding and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom and transgresseth the law of the most high.

25 There is an exquisite subtilty, and the same is unjust, and there is one that wisely advise to make judgement appear: and there is a man that is justified in judgement.

[Or, judgeth.]

26 There is a wicked man that dangereth his neighbour, but inwardly he is full of deceit.

[Or, in black.]

27 Casting down his countenance, and making as if he heard not: where he is not known, he will do thee a mischief before thou be aware.

28 And if thou want of power he will be hindered from sinning, yet when he hath opportunity he will do evil.

29 A man may be known by his look, and one that hath understanding by his countenance, when thou meetest him.

30 A mans anger, and excessive laughter, and gate, shew what he is.

These is a reproof that is not comely: again, if Or, [caution] some man holdest his tongue, and he is wise. ble.

- 2 It is much better to reprove, than to be angry secretly; and he that contriteth his soul, shall be preferred from hurt.
- 3 How good is it when thou art repented, to shew repentance: for so shalt thou escape hellish flame.
- 4 As is the lust of an unchaste to deflower a virgin, so is he that speaketh judgement with violence.
- 5 There is one that keepeth silence, and is found wise: and another by much babbling becometh hateful.
- 6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence, knowing his time.
- 7 A wise man will hold his tongue till he see opportunity: but a babler and a fool will regard no time.
- 8 He that useth many words shall be abhorred; and he that taketh to himself authority therein, shall be hated.
- 9 There is a sinner that hath good success in evil things; and there is a gain that turneth to loss.
- 10 There is a gift that shall not profit thee; and there is a gift whose recompense is double.
- 11 There is an abatement because of glory; and there is that lifteth up his head from a low estate.
- 12 There is that buyeth much for a little, and repayeth it seven fold.
- 13 A wise man by his words maketh himself beloved; but the graces of fools shall be poured out.
- 14 The gift of a fool shall do thee no good when thou hast it; neither yet of the envious for his necessity: for he looketh to receive many things for one.
- 15 He giveth little and upbraideth much, he openeth his mouth like a crane, to pay he leaveth, and tomorrow will he ask it again; such a one is to be hated of God and man.
- 16 The fool saith, I have no friends, I have no thank for all my good deeds, and they that eat my bread speak evil of me.
- 17 How oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorn; for he knoweth not aright what it is to have; and it is all one unto him, as if he had it not.
- 18 To slip upon a pavement, is better then to slip with the tongue; to the fall of the wicked shall come speedily.
- 19 An unreasonable tale will always be in the mouth of the unwise.
- 20 A wise sentence shall be rejected when it cometh out of a fools mouth; for he will not speak it in due season.
- 21 There is that is hindered from sinning through want; and when he taketh rest, he shall not be troubled.
- 22 There is that destroyeth his own soul through dishonesty, and by accepting of persons overthroweth himself.
- 23 There is that for dishonesty is promised to his friend, he maketh him his enemy for nothing.
- 24 A fire is a foul blot in a man, yet it is continually in the mouth of the unchaste.
- 25 A thief is better then a man that is accustomed to lie; but they both shall have destruction to heritage.
- 26 The disposition of a liar is dishonesty; but, and his shame is ever with him.
- 27 A wise man shall promote himself to honour with his words; and he that hath understanding will please great men.

- 1 Flee from sin as from a serpent. 2 Flee from sin as from the face of a serpent: for if thou comest too near to it, it will bite thee; the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, slaying the souls of men.
- 3 All iniquity is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.
- 4 To terrify and do wrong, will waste riches; thus the house of proud men shall be made desolate.
- 5 A prayer out of a pious mans mouth reacheth to the ears of God, and his judgement cometh speedily.
- 6 He that hateth to be reprobed, is in the way of sinners; but he that feareth the Lord, will repent from his heart.
- 7 An eloquent man is known farre and neare, but a man of understanding, knoweth when he slippeth.
- 8 He that buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth himself stones for the tombe of his buriall.
- 9 The congregation of the wicked is like a stone to be broken together; and the end of them is a flame of fire to destroy them.
- 10 The way of sinners is made plain with stones, but at the end thereof is the pit of hell.
- 11 He that keepeth the law of the Lord, getteth the understanding thereof; and the perfection of the fear of the Lord is wisdom.
- 12 He that is not wise, will not be taught; for there is a wisdom which multiplieth his treasure.
- 13 The knowledge of a wise man shall abound like a flood; and his counsel is like a pure fountain of life.
- 14 The inner parts of a fool are like a broken vessel, and he will hold no knowledge as long as he liveth.
- 15 If a skillfull man heare a wise word, he will commend it, and add thereto: but as soon as one of no understanding heareth it, it displeaseth him, and he casteth it behind his back.
- 16 The talking of a fool is like a burden in the way; but grace shall be found in the lips of the wise.
- 17 They enquire at the mouth of the wiseman in the congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.
- 18 As is a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool; and the knowledge of the unwise is as salt without savor.

1 Of the slothfull man, 3 and a foolish daughter. 11 Weep rather for fools, then for the dead. 13 Meddle not with them. 16 The wise mans heart will not shrink. 20 What will lose a friend.

A slothfull man is compared to a filthy stone, and every one will hilt him out to his disgrace.

2 A slothfull man is compared to the stich of a dung-hill: every man that takes it up, will shake his hand.

3 An evil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of his father that beget him: and a foolish daughter is bane to his house.

4 * A wise daughter I shall bring an inheritance to her husband: but the that knoweth dishonestly, is her fathers heaviness.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, but they both shall desire her.

6 A tale out of season (is as) musick in mourning: but stripes and correction of wisdom are never out of time.

7 A fool teacheth a fool, as one that gleweth a porbeard together, and as he that waketh one from a sound sleep.

8 He that telleth a tale to a fool, speaketh to one in a slumber: when he hath told his tale, he will say, What is the matter?

9 If children live honestly, and have I where, will hall, they shall cover the baseness of their parents.

10 But children being haughty through disdain and want of nurture, do stain the nobility of their kindred.

11 * Weep for the dead, for he hath lost the light: and weep for the fool, for he wanteth understanding: make little weeping for the dead: for he is at rest: but the life of the fool is woe to the death.

12 Seven dayes do men mourn for him that is dead: but for a fool and an ungodly man, all the dayes of his life.

13 Talk not much with a fool, and go not to him that hath no understanding, beware of him lest thou have trouble, and thou shalt never be vexed with his fooleries: depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and never be I disquieted with madness.

16 As timber girt and bound together in a building, cannot be loosed with shaking: so the heart that is stablished by advised counsel, shall fear at no time.

17 A heart settled upon a thought of understanding, is as a fair plastering on the wall of a gallery.

18 Dales set on an high place will never stand against the wind: so a fearfull heart in the imagination of a fool, cannot stand against any fear.

19 He that pricketh the eye, will make tears to fall: and he that pricketh the heart, maketh it to shew her knowledge.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, prayeth them away, and he that upbraideth his friends, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou distrust a friend at thy friends yet despair not, for there may be a returning (to favour)

22 If thou hast opened thy mouth against thy friend, fear not, for there may be a reconciliation: except for upbidding, or pride, or puffing of letters, or a treacherous wound; for, for these things every friend will depart.

23 Be faithful to thy neighbour in his poverty, that thou mayest rejoice in his prosperity: abide steadfast unto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be dear with him in his heritage: for a mans estate is not always to be continued, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of a furnace goeth before the fire: so rebelling before bloud.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friends: neither will I hide my self from him.

26 And if any evil happen unto me by him, every one that heareth it will beware of him.

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, and my finnes abound to my destruction, and I fall before mine adversaries, and mine enemy rejoice over me; whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, give me not a proud look, but turn away from thy servants alwayes I a haughty minde.

5 Turn away from me vain hopes, and confidence, and thou shalt hold him up that is desirous alwayes to serve thee.

6 Let not the greediness of the belly: nor lust of the flesh take hold of me, and give not over me the want into an impudent minde.

11 A man that useth much swearing shall be filled with iniquity, and the plague shall never depart from his house: if he shall offend, his sinne shall be upon him: and if he acknowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence; and if he swear in vain, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of calamities.

12 There is a word that is clothed about with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Jacob, for all such things shall be farre from the holy, and they shall not walk in their sinnes.

13 Use not thy mouth to untemperate swearing, for therein is the word of sinne.

14 Remember thy father and thy mother, when thou sittest among great men. Be not forgetfull before them, and so thou by thy custom become a fool, and with that thou hadst not been born, and curse the day of thy nativity.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times higher then the sinne, beholding all the wayes of men, and considering the most secret parts.

30 I also came out as a brook from a river, and as a conduit into a garden.

31 I said, I will water my best garden, and will water abundantly my garden bedians; so my brook became a river, and my river became a sea.

32 I will yet make doctrine to shine as the morning, and will send forth her light afar off.

33 I will yet pour out doctrine as prophetic, and leave it to all ages for ever.

34 Behold that I have not laboured for my self only, but for all them that seek wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 What things are beautiful, and what hateful.
6 What is the crown of age. 7 What things make men happy. 13 Nothing worse than a wicked woman.

12 Three things I was beautified, and stood by beautiful both before God and men: the unity of brethren, the love of neighbours, a man and a wife that agree together.

2 Three sorts of men my soul hated, and I am greatly offended at their life: a poor man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, how canst thou find any thing in thine age?

4 Oh how carefully a thing is judgement for gray hairs, and for ancient men to know counsel!

5 Oh how comely is the wisdom of old men, and understanding and counsel to men of honour!

6 Much experience is the crown of old men, and the fear of God is their glory.

7 Where be nine things which I have judged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth I will utter with my tongue: a man that hath joy of his children, and he that doth to see the fall of his enemy.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of understanding, and that hath not slipped with his tongue, and that hath not served a man more unworthy than himself.

9 Well is him that hath found a prudent, and he that speaketh in the ears of them that will hear.

10 Oh how great is he that findeth wisdom! yet is there none above him that feareth the Lord.

11 But the love of the Lord passeth all things for illumination: he that holdeth it, wherefore shall he be likened?

12 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of his love: and faith is the beginning of cleaving unto him.

13 [Gibe me] any plague but the plague of the heart: and any wickedness, but the wickedness of a woman.

14 And any affliction, but the affliction from them that hate me: and any revenge, but the revenge of enemies.

15 There is no head above the head of a serpent, and there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy.

16 I had rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, then to keep house with a wicked woman.

17 The wickedness of a woman changed her face, and darkened her countenance like sackcloth.

18 Her husband shall sit among his neighbours, and when he heareth it, shall sigh bitterly.

19 All wickedness is but little to the wickedness of a woman: let the portion of a sinner fall upon her.

20 As the climbing of a ladder way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

21 Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for pleasure.

22 A woman if she maintain her husband, is full of anger, impudence, and much reproach.

23 A wicked woman abateh the courage, maketh an humble countenance, & a wounded heart: a woman that will not comfort her husband in distress, maketh weak hands, and feeble knees.

24 Of the woman came the beginning of sin, and through her we all die.

25 Give the water no passage: neither a wicked woman liberties to go abroad.

26 If she go not as thou wouldst have her, cut her off from thy flesh, and give her a bill of divorce, and let her go.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 A good wife, & a good conscience do glad men.
6 A wicked wife is a fearful thing. 13 Of good and bad wives. 28 Of three things that are grievous. 29 Merchants and hucksters are not without sin.

1 Blessed is the man that hath a virtuous wife, for the number of his days shall be double.

2 A virtuous woman rejoiceth her husband, and he shall fulfill the years of his life in peace.

3 A good wife is a good portion, which shall be given in the portion of them that fear the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poor, if he have a good heart toward the Lord, he shall at all times rejoice with a cheerful countenance.

5 There be three things that mine heart feareth, and for the fourth I was sore afraid: the slander of a city, the gathering together of an report, untruly multitude, and a false accusation: all these are worse than death.

6 But a grief of heart and sorrow, is a woman that is jealous over another woman, & a scourge of the tongue which communicateth with all.

7 An evil wife is a yoke spoken to and from: for an evil wife that hath hold of her, is as though he held a oxen.

8 A drunken woman and a gadder abroad, causeth great anger, and she will not cover her own shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be known in her hangible looks, and eye-lids.

10 If thy daughter be honest, keep her in straitly, lest she abuse her self through overmuch liberty.

11 Watch over an impudent eye: and marvel not if she trespass against thee.

12 She will open her mouth as a thirsty traveller, when he hath found a fountain: and drink of every water near her: by every fadge will she sit down, and open her quarter against every arrow.

13 The grace of a wife delighteth her husband, and her discretion will fat his bones.

14 A silent and loving woman is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much to wish, as a mind well instructed.

15 A shameless and faithless woman is a double grace, and her continent mind cannot be valued.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 We must shew mercy, and lend: 4 his the borrower must not defraud the lender. 9 Give almes. 14 A good man will not undo his surety. 18 To be surety, and undertake for others, is dangerous. 23 It is better to live at home, then to sojourn.

He that is mercifull, will lend unto his neighbour, and he that strengtheneth his hand, keepeth the commandments.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due season.

3 Keep thy word, and deal faithfully with him, and thou shalt always finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many, when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and put them to trouble that helped them.

5 Will he hath received, he will kiss a mans hand, & for his neighbours money, he will speak subtilly: but when he should repay, he will prolong the time, and return words of grief, and complain of the time.

6 If he prevail, he shall hardly receive the half: and he will count as if he had found it: if not, he hath depoyed him of his money, and he hath gotten him an enemy without cause: he payeth him with castings and railings: and for honour, he will pay him disgrace.

7 Many therefore have refused to lend, for other mens ill dealing, fearing to be defrauded.

8 Yet have thou patience with a man in poore estate, and delay not to shew him mercy.

9 Help the poore for the commandments sake, and turn him not away because of his poorness.

10 Lose thy money for thy brother and thy friend, and let it not rust under a stone to be lost.

11 * Lay up thy treasure according to the commandments of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 Shut up almes in thy store-houses: and it shall deliver thee from all affliction.

13 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then a mighty shield and strong speare.

14 An honest man is surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent will forsake him.

15 Forget not the friendship of thy surety, for he hath given his life for thee.

16 A sinner will overthrow the good estate of his surety.

17 And he that is of an unthankfull minde, will leave him in [danger] that delivered him.

18 Suretyship hath undone many of good estate, and shaken them as a wave of the sea: mighty men hath it hiden from their houses, so that they wandered among strange nations.

19 A wicked man transgressing the commandments of the Lord, shall fall into [suretyship]: and he that undertaketh and followeth other mens business for gain, shall fall into suits.

20 Help thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy self fall not into the same.

21 The chief thing for life is water and bread and clothing, and an house to cover shame.

22 Better is the life of a poore man in a mean cottage, then delicate fare in another mans house.

23 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that thou heare not the reproach of thy house.

24 For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darst not open thy mouth.

25 Thou shalt entertain, and feast, and have no thanks: moreover thou shalt heare bitter words.

26 Come thou stranger, and furnish a table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

27 Give place thou stranger to an honourable man, my brother cometh to be lodged, and I have need of mine house.

28 These things are grievous to a man of understanding: the upbidding of house room, and reproaching of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 It is good to correct our children, 7 and not to coker them. 14 Health is better then wealth. 21 Health and life are shortened by grief.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall have joy in him, and shall rejoyce of him among his acquaintance.

5 Delusions, and soothsayings, and dreams are vain, and the heart fancieth as a womans heart in travail.

Or, regard them not.

6 If they be not sent from the most high in thy visitation, let not thy heart upon them.

7 For dreams have deceived many, and they have failed that put their trust in them.

8 The law shall be found perfect without lies: and wisdom is perfection to a faithful mouth.

9 A man that hath travelled knoweth many things: and he that hath much experience will declare wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience knoweth little: but he that hath travelled is full of prudence.

3 To depart from wickedness is a thing pleasing to the Lord, and to forsake unrighteousness, is a purification.

4 Thou shalt not appear empty before the Lord.

* Exod. 23. 15.

5 For all these things [are to be done] because of the commandment.

Deut. 16. 16.

6 The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the sweet labour thereof is before the most high.

7 The sacrifice of a just man is acceptable, and the memorial thereof shall never be forgotten.

8 Give the Lord his honour with a good eye, and diminish not the first-fruits of thine hands.

9 In all thy gifts shew a cheerful countenance, and dedicate thy riches with gladness.

* 2 Cor. 9. 7.

10 Give unto the most high according as he hath enriched thee, and as thou hast gotten, give with a cheerful eye.

* 1 Cor. 13. 3.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will give thee seven times as much.

12 Do not think to corrupt with gifts, for such he will not receive: and trust not to unrighteous sacrifices, for the Lord is judge, and with him is no respect of persons.

* Or, diminish nothing of thy offerings.

13 He will not accept any person against a poor man, but will heare the prayer of the oppressed.

* Levit. 19.

14 He will not despise the supplication of the fatherless: nor the widow when she poureth out her complaint.

* Deut. 15. 31.

15 Doth not the tears runne down the widows cheeks: and is not her cry against him that causeth them to fall?

* Deut. 10. 19.

16 He that serveth the Lord, shall be accepted with labour, and his prayer shall reach unto the clouds.

* Chro. 19. 7.

17 The prayer of the humble pierceth the clouds: and till it come nigh, he will not be comforted: and will not depart till the most high shall behold to judge righteously, and execute judgement.

* Job 14. 19.

18 For the Lord will not be slack, neither will the mighty be patient towards them, till he have smitten in sunder the loynes of the unmerciful, and repayed vengeance to the heathen: till he have taken away the multitude of the proud, and broken the scepter of the unrighteous.

* Ad. 13. 34.

19 Till he have rendered to every man according to his deeds, and to the works of men according to their devices: till he have judged the cause of his people, and made them to rejoice in his mercy.

1 A prayer for the church against the enemies thereof. 18 A good heart, and a forward. 21 Of a good wife.

Have mercy upon us, O Lord God of all, and behold us:

2 And send thy fear upon all the nations that seek not after thee.

3 Lift up thy hand against the strange nations, and let them see thy power.

14 As thou wast sanctified in us before them, be thou magnified among them before us.

15 And let them know thee, as we have known thee, that there is no God but only thou, O God.

16 Shew new signes, and make other strange wonders: glorifie thy hand, and thy right arm, that they may let forth thy wondrous works.

17 Raise up indignation, and pour out wrath: take away the adversary, and destroy the enemy.

18 Make the time short, remember the covenant, & let them declare thy wonderful works.

19 Let him that escapeth be consumed by the rage of the fire, and let them perish that oppress the people.

20 Smite in sunder the heads of the rulers of the heathen, that say, There is none other but we.

21 Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, and inherit thou them, as from the beginning.

22 O Lord have mercy upon the people that is called by thy name, and upon Israel, whom thou hast named the first-born.

23 O be merciful unto Jerusalem, thy holy city, the place of thy rest.

24 Fill Zion with thine unspeakable oracles, and thy people with thy glory.

25 Give testimony unto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise up prophets that have been in thy name.

26 Reward them that wait for thee, and let thy prophets be found faithful.

27 O Lord we have the prayer of thy servants, according to the blessing of Aaron over thy people, that all they which dwell upon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord, the eternal God.

28 The belly reboureth all meats, yet is one meat better than another.

29 As the palate tasteth divers kinds of venison: so hath an heart of understanding false speeches.

30 A cowardly heart causeth heaviness: but a man of experience will recompense him.

31 A woman will receive every man, yet is one daughter better than another.

32 The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance, and a man loveth nothing better.

33 If there be kindness, meekness, and comfort in her tongue, then is not her husband like another man.

34 He that getteth a wife, beginneth his possession, a help like unto himself, and a pillar of rest.

35 Where no degree is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, will wander up and down mourning.

36 Who will trust a thief well appointed, that creepeth from city to city: [to whom will deliver] a man that hath no house, and together whereforever the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How to know friends and counsellors. 12 The discretion and wisdom of a godly man blest him. 27 Learn to refrain thine appetite.

Every friend saith, I am his friend also: but there is a friend which is only a friend in name.

2 Is it not a grief unto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?

3 Wicked imagination, whence cometh thou in to cover the earth with deceit?

4 There is a companion which rejoyleth in the prosperity of a friend: but in the time of trouble will be against him.

5 There is a companion which helpeth his friend for the belly, and taketh up the buckler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy misdeeds, and be not ungrateful of him in thy riches.

7 Every counsellor shall counsel: but there is some that counsel for himself.

8 Beware of a counsellor, and know before what need he hath, (for he will counsel for himself) lest he cast thee out upon thee.

9 And say unto thee, thy way is good: and after ward he stand on the other side, to see what shall befall thee.

10 Consult not with one that suspecteth thee: and hide thy counsel from such as love thee.

11 Neither consult with a woman touching her of whom she is jealous; neither with a coward in matters of warre; nor with a merchant, concerning exchange; nor with a buyer, of selling; nor with an envious man, of thankfulness; nor with an unmerciful man, touching kindness; nor with the slothfull, for any work; nor with an hireling for a yeare, of finishing work; nor with an idle servant, of much business: hearken not unto these in any matter of counsel.

12 But be continually with a godly man, whom thou knowest to keep the commandments of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and will say to thee, if thou shalt miscarry.

13 And let the counsel of thine own heart stand: for there is no man more faithful unto thee than it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime wont to tell him more than seven watchmen, that sit above in an high tower.

15 And above all this way to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason go before every enterprise, and counsel before every action.

17 The countenance is a signe of changing of the heart.

18 Four manner of things appeare: good and evil, life and death: but the tongue ruleth over them continually.

19 There is one that is wise and teacheth many, and yet is unsatisfiable to himself.

20 There is one that speaketh wisdom in words: & is hard; he shall be destitute of all wisdom.

21 For game is not given him from the Lord: because he is deprived of all wisdom.

22 Another is wise to himself: and the fruits of understanding are commendable in his mouth.

23 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his understanding fail not.

24 A wise man shall be filled with blessing, and all they that see him shall count him happy.

25 The dayes of the life of man may be numbered: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

26 A wise man shall inherit glory among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

27 By some wove thy soul in thy life, and see what is evil for it, and give not that unto it.

28 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath every soul pleasure in every thing.

29 Be not unfaithful in any dainty thing, nor too greedy upon meats.

30 For excess of meats bringeth sickness, and surfeiting will turn into choler.

31 By surfeiting have many perished, but he that taketh heed, prolongeth his life.

of him: for the Lord hath created him.
 2 For of the most high cometh healing, and he shall receive [a] portion of the living.
 3 The skill of the physician shall lift up his head: and in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.
 4 The Lord hath created medicines out of the earth; and he that is wise will not abhorre them.
 5 As for the water, because [a] wise man knoweth, that the virtue thereof might be known.
 6 And he hath given men skill, that he might be honoured in his marvellous works.
 7 With such doth he heal [men] and taketh away their pains.
 8 Of such doth the apothecary make a confection; and of his works there is no end, and from him is peace over all the earth.
 9 For some, in thy sickness he is not negligent: but [a] man unto the Lord is he, and he will make thee whole.
 10 Leave off from sinne, and order thy hands aright, and cleanse thy heart from all wickedness.
 11 Give a sweet labour, and a memoriall of fine flour: and make a fat offering, [as] not being.
 12 When thou shalt place [a] physician, for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast need of him.
 13 There is a time when in their hands there is good success.
 14 For they shall also pray unto the Lord, that he would prosper that which they give for sale and [a] remedy to prolong life.
 15 We that sinners befoe his maker, let him fall into the hand of the physician.
 16 My sonne, let teares fall downe over the dead, and begin to lament, as if thou hadst suffered great harme thy self: and then cover his body according to the custome: and neglect not his buriall.
 17 Weep bitterly and make great moan: and thine lamentation as it is thyself, and that a day or two, lest thou be evil spoken of: and then comfort the self for thy heaviness.
 18 For of heaviness cometh death, and the heaviness of the heart breaketh strength.
 19 In affliction also [a] soule remaineth: and the life of the poore is the curle of the heart.
 20 Take no heaviness to heart: before it away, and remember the last end.
 21 Forget it not, for there is no turning again: thou shalt not do him good, but hurt thy self.
 22 Remember [a] my judgement: for thine also shall be so; yesterday for me, and to day for thee.
 23 When the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and be comforted for him, when his spirit is prepared from him.
 24 The wisdoms of a learned man cometh by appointment of felices: and he that hath little business shall become wise.
 25 How can he get wisdom that hofeth the plough, and that glorieth in the goad, that danceth oren, and is occupied in their labours, and whole talk is of bullocks?
 26 He giveth his mind to make furrows: and is diligent to give the hinds fodder.
 27 So every sower and worker, that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and grave seals, and are diligent to make great variety, and give themselves to counterfeit images, and watch to finish a work.
 28 The smith also, sitting by the anvil, and considering the iron work, the vapour of the fire wasteth his flesh, and he figheth with the heat of the furnace: the noise of the hammer and the anvil is ever in his eares, and his eyes look still upon the pattern of the thing that he maketh; he setteth his mind to finish his work, and watcheth to finish it perfectly.

 29 So doth the potter sitting at his work, and turning the wheel about with his feet, [a] body is always carefully set at his work: and maketh all his work by number.
 30 He fashioneth the clay with his arm, and sheweth down his strength before his feet, he applies himself to lead it over; and he is diligent to make clean the furnace.
 31 All these trust to their hands: and every one is wise in his work.
 32 Without these cannot a city be inhabited: and they shall not dwell where they will, nor go up and down.
 33 They shall not be sought for in publicke counsel, nor sit high in the congregation: they shall not sit on the judges seat, nor understand the sentence of judgement: they cannot declare justice and judgement, and they shall not be found where parables are spoken.
 34 But they will maintain the state of the world, and [a]ll] their desire is in the work of their craft.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A description of him that is truly wise. 2 An exhortation to praise God for his works, which are good to the good, and evil to them that are evil.

But he that loveth his mind to the last of the most high, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, will seek out the wisdom of all the ancient, and be occupied in prophecies.
 2 He will keep the sayings of the renowned men: and where subtile parables are, he will be there also.
 3 He will seek out the secrets of grave sentences, and be conversant in dark parables.
 4 He shall strive among great men, and shall be before princes: he will travell through strange countries, for he hath tried the good and the evil among men.
 5 He will give his heart to rest early to the Lord, that made him, and will pray before the most high, and will open his mouth in prayer, and make supplication for his sinnes.
 6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the spirit of understanding: he shall pour out wise sentences, and give thanks unto the Lord in his prayer.
 7 He shall direct his counsel and knowledge, and in his secrets shall he meditate.
 8 He shall shew forth that which he hath learned, and shall glorie in the law of the covenant of the Lord.
 9 Many shall commend his understanding, and so long as the world endureth, he shall not be forgotten: his memoriall shall not depart away, and his name shall live from generation to generation.
 10 Nations shall shew forth his wisdom, and the congregation shall declare his praise.
 11 If he die, he shall leave a greater name than a thousand: and if he live he shall increase [a]gain unto [a]gain.
 12 Per have I more to say, which I have thought upon, for I am filled as the moon at the full.
 13 Hearken unto me, ye holy children, and shew forth as a rose growing by the brook of the field.
 14 Now give ye a sweet labour as frankincense, and flourish as a lily, send forth a smell, and sing

Or, temple, with it with his feet.

1 The remembrance of death. 2 Death is not to be feared. 3 The ungodly shall be accused. 11 Of an evil and a good name. 14 Wisdom is to be uttered. 16 Of what things we should be ashamed.

O Death how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that lieth at rest in his possessions, unto the man that hath nothing to vex him, and that hath prosperitie in all things; yea, unto him that is yet able to receive meat!

2 O death, acceptable is thy sentence unto the needie, and unto him whose strength faileth, that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth and hath lost patience.

3 Fear not the sentence of death, remember them that have been before thee, and that come after, for this is the sentence of the Lord over all flesh.

4 And why art thou against the pleasure of the most high: there is no inquisition in the grave whether thou have lived ten, or an hundred, or a thousand yeares.

5 The children of sinners are abominable children: and they that are conuersant in the dwelling of the ungodly.

6 The inheritance of sinners children shall perish, and their posteritie shall have a perpetual reproach.

7 The children will complain of an ungodly father, because they shall be reproached for his sake.

8 Who be unto you ungodly men which have forsaken the law of the most high God: for if you increase, it shall be to your destruction.

9 And if you be born, you shall be born to a curse: and if you die, a curse shall be your portion.

10 * All that are of the earth shall turn to earth again: so the ungodly shall go from a curse to destruction.

11 The mourning of men is about their bodies: but an ill name of sinners shall be blotted out.

12 Have regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousand great treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath but few dayes: but a good name endureth for ever.

14 Thy children, keep discipline in prayer: for wisdom that is his, and a treasure that is not seen, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishness, is better then a man that sheweth his wisdom.

16 Therefore be shamefast according to thy word: for it is not good to retain all shamefastness, neither is it altogether approved in every thing.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, and of a lie before a prince and a mighty man:

18 Of an offence before a judge and ruler, of Iniquitie before a congregation and people, of unjust dealing before thy partner and friend:

19 And of theft in regard of the place where thou sojournest, and in regard of the trust of God and his covenant, and to lean with thine elbow upon the meat, and of seeming to give and take:

20 And of silence before them that salute thee, and to look upon an harlot:

21 And to turn away thy face from thy kinsman, or to take away a portion of a gift, or to gaze upon another mans wife:

22 O: to be over-buried with his maid, and come not near her bed, or of upbidding speeches before friends: and after thou hast given, upbraid not.

23 O: of reviling and speaking again that which thou hast heard, or of revealing of secrets. 24 So shalt thou be cruelly shamefast, and finde favour before all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Whereof we should not be ashamed. 9 Be careful of thy daughter. 12 Beware of a woman. 15 The works and greatness of God.

O F these things be not thou ashamed, and accept no person to sinne thereby.

2 Of the law of the most high, and his covenant, and of judgement to justifie the ungodly:

3 Of reckoning with thy partners and strabblers, or of the gift of the heritage of friends.

4 Of exactness of balance and weights, or of getting much of little:

5 And of merchants sinfull selling, of much correction of children, and to make the side of an evil servant to bleed.

6 Sure keeping is good where an evil will is, and shut up where many hands are.

7 Deliver all things in number and weight, and put all in writing that thou givest out, or receivest in.

8 Be not ashamed to inform the unwise and foolish, and the errour aged: that condescend with those that are young: thus shalt thou be truly learned, and approved of all men living.

9 The father waketh for the daughter when no man knoweth, and the care for her taketh away sleep when she is young, lest she passe away the flower of her age; and being married, lest she should be hated:

10 In her virginity lest she should be defiled, and gotten with child in her fathers house; and having an husband, lest she should misbehave her self; and when she is married, lest she should be barren.

11 Keep a sure watch over a shameless daughter, lest she make thee a laughing stock to thine enemies, and a by-word in the cite, and a reproach among the people, and make thee ashamed before the multitude.

12 Behold not every bodies * brattle, and sit not in the midst of women.

13 For from garments cometh a moth, and from women wickedness.

14 Better is the chastity of a man, then a courteous woman; a woman, I say, which bringeth shame and reproach.

15 I will now remember the works of the Lord, and declare the things that I have seen: In the words of the Lord are his works.

16 The sunne that giveth light, looketh upon all things, and the work thereof is full of the glorie of the Lord.

17 The Lord hath not given power to the saints to declare all his marvellous works; which the Almighty Lord firmly teileth, that whatsoever is, might be established for his glorie.

18 He seeketh out the deep, and the heart, and considereth their craftie devices: for the Lord knoweth all that may be known, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and revealeth the steps of hidden things.

20 So * thought escapeth him, neither any word is hidden from him.

21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisdom, and he is from everlasting to everlasting: unto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished, and he hath no need of any counsellor.

Or, to whom every thing is a trouble some.

24 All things are double one against another: and he hath made nothing imperfect.

25 One thing establisheth the good of another: and who shall be filled with beholding his glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The works of God in heaven, and in earth, and in the sea, are exceeding glorious and wonderful.
29 For God himself in his power and wisdom is above all.

The pride of the height, the clear firmament, the beauty of heaven, with his glorious host;
3 The same when it appeareth, declaring at his rising a marvellous instrument, the work of the most high.

3 At noon it parcheth the country, and who can abide the burning heat thereof?

4 A man blowing a furnace is in works of heat, but the same burneth the mountains three times more, breathing out fiery vapours, and sending forth bright beams, it dimmeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and at his commandment it runneth hastily.

6 He made the moon also to serve in her season, for a declaration of times, and a sign of the world.

7 From the moon is the sign of feasts, a light that decreaseth in her perfection.

8 The month is called after her name, increasing wonderfully in her changing, being an instrument of the armies above, shining in the firmament of heaven.

9 The beauty of heaven, the glory of the stars, an ornament giving light in the highest places of the Lord.

10 At the commandment of the holy One they will stand in their order, and never faint in their watches.

11 Look upon the rainbow, and praise him that made it, very beautifull it is in the brightness thereof.

12 It compasseth the heaven about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most high have bended it.

13 By his commandment he maketh the snow to fall apace, and sendeth swiftly the lightnings of his judgement.

14 Though this the treasures are opened, and clouds flie forth as fowls.

15 By his great power he maketh the clouds firm, and the hail-stones are broken small.

16 At his sight the mountains are shaken, and at his will the south-wind bloweth.

17 The noise of the thunder maketh the earth to tremble: so doth the northern storm and the whirlwind: as birds flying be scattered the snow, and the falling down thereof, is as the lighting of grasshoppers.

18 The eye marvelleth at the beauty of the brightness thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raining of it.

19 The hoar-frost also as salt be poureth on the earth, and being congealed, lieth on the top of sharp stakes.

20 When the cold north-wind bloweth, and the water is congealed into ice, it abideth upon every gathering together of water, and cloberth the water as with a brist-plat.

21 It devourerth the mountains, and burneth the wilderness, and consumeth the grass as fire.

22 A present remedy of all is a mist coming speedily: a dew coming after heat, refresheth.

23 By his counsel be appeareth the deep, and the planteth islands therein.

24 They that fall on the sea, tell of the danger thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marvell thereat.

25 For therein be strange and wondrous works, variety of all kinds of beasts, and whales created.

26 By him the end of them hath prosperous success, and by his word all things consist.

27 We may speak much, and yet come short: wherefore in silence, be it all.

28 Who shall we be able to magnifie him? for he is great above all his works.

29 The Lord is terrible and very great, and marvellous is his power.

30 When you glorifie the Lord, praise him as much as you can: for even yet will be farre exceed, and when you praise him, put forth all your strength, and be not weary: for you can never go farre enough.

31 Can he hath seen him that he might tell us? and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 There are yet hid greater things then these be, for we have seen but a few of his works:

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and to the godly hath be given wisdom.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 The praise of certain holy men: 16 Of Ensch, 17 Noah, 19 Abraham, 21 Isaac, 23 and Jacob.

Let us now praise famous men, and our fathers that begat us.

2 The Lord hath wrought great glory by them, though his great power from the beginning.

3 Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms, men renowned for their power, giving counsel by their understanding, and declaring prophecies:

4 Leaders of the people by their counsels, and by their knowledge of learning meet for the people, wise and eloquent in their instructions.

5 Such as found out musicall tunes, and recited verses in writing.

6 Rich men furnished with ability, living peaceably in their habitations.

7 All these were honoured in their generations, and were the glory of their times.

8 There be of them that have left a name behind them, that their praises might be reported.

9 And some there be which have no memoriall, who are perished as though they had never been, and are become as though they had never been born, and their children after them.

10 But these were mercifull men, whose righteousness hath not been forgotten.

11 With their seed shall continually remain a good inheritance, and their children are within the covenant.

12 Their seed stands fast, and their children for their sakes.

13 Their seed shall remain for ever, and their glory shall not be blotted out.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liveth for evermore.

15 The people will tell of their wisdom, and the congregation will shew forth their praise.

CHAP. XLV.

I The praise of Moses, 6 of Aaron, 23 and of Phinees.

*Exod. 11. 3. 1 And he brought out of him a mercifull man, which found favour in the sight of all flesh, even Moses beloved of God and men, whose memoriall is blessed.

2 He made him like to the glorious saints, and magnified him, so that his enemies stood in fear of him.

*Exod. 7. 8, 9, 10, chap. 3. 2 By his words he caused the wonders to cease, and he made him glorious in the sight of kings, and gave him a commandment for his people, and he gave him part of his glory.

*Num. 12. 3. 4 He sanctified him in his faithfulness, and meekness, and chose him out of all men.

*Exod. 19. 7. 5 He made him to bear his voice, and brought him into the dark cloud, and gave him commandments before his face, even the law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Jacob his covenants, and Israel his judgments.

*Exod. 4. 14. 6 He exalted Aaron an holy man like unto him, even his brother of the tribe of Levi.

*Gr. he blessed. 7 An everlasting covenant he made with him, and gave him the priesthood among the people, and beautified him with comely ornaments, and clothed him with a robe of glory.

*Gr. vessel, or instrument. 8 He put upon him perfect glory and strength, and clothed him with rich garments, with breeches, with a long robe and the ephod.

*Exod. 28. 35. 9 And he compassed him with pomegranates, and with many golden bells round about, that as he went, there might be a sound, and a noise made that might be heard in the temple, for a memoriall to the children of his people.

10 Which an holy garment with gold, and blue silk, and purple, the work of the embroiderer, with a breast-plate of judgement, and with Akin and Chummin.

11 And with twofold scarlet, the work of the cunning workman, with precious stones graven like seals, and set in gold, the work of the jeweller, with a writing engraved for a memoriall, after the number of the tribes of Israel.

12 He set a crown of gold upon the mistre, wherein was engraved Holiness, an ornament of honour, a costly work, the desires of the eyes, gloriously and beautiful.

13 Before him there were none such, neither did ever any stranger put them on, but only his children, and his citizens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices shall be wholly consumed every day twice continually.

15 Moses consecrated him, and anointed him with holy oyl, this was appointed unto him by an everlasting covenant, and to his seed so long as the heaven should remain, that they should minister unto him and execute the office of the priesthood, and bless the people in his name.

16 He chose him out of all men living to offer sacrifices to the Lord, incense & a sweet savour, for a memoriall to make reconciliation for his people.

17 He gave unto him his commandments, and authority in the statutes of judgements, that he should teach Jacob the testimonies, and inform Israel in his laws.

18 Strangers conspired together against him, and maligned him in the wilderness, then the men that were of Nathans, & Abirons side, and the congregation of Cox with fury and wrath.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders upon them to consume them with the fiery flame.

20 But he made Aaron more honourable, and gave him an heritage, and divided unto him the first-fruits of the increase, especially he prepared bread in abundance.

21 For they eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gave unto him and his seed:

22 Howbeit in the land of the people he had no inheritance, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord himself is his portion and inheritance.

23 The third in glory is Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeal in the fear of the Lord, and stood up with good courage of heart, when the people were turned back, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chief of the sanctuary and of his people, and that he and his posterity should have the dignity of the priesthood for ever.

25 According to the covenant made with David sonne of Jesse, of the tribe of Juda, that the inheritance of the king should be to his posterity alone: so the inheritance of Aaron should also be unto his seed.

26 God give you wisdom in your heart to judge his people in righteousness, that their good things be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for ever.

CHAP. XLVI.

I The praise of Joshua, 9 of Caleb, 13 of Samuel,

Jesus the sonne of Nave was valiant in the warres, and was the successor of Moses in prophettes, who according to his name was made great for the saving of the elect of God and taking vengeance of the enemies that rose up against them, that he might set Israel in their inheritance.

2 How great glory gat he when he did lift up his hands, & stretched out his sword against the cities!

3 And he before him so stood to it, for the Lord himself thought his enemies unto him.

4 Did not the sunne go back by his means, and was not one day as long as two?

5 He called upon the most high Lord when the enemies pressed upon him on every side, and the great Lord heard him.

6 And with hailstones of mighty power he gave the battell to fall violently upon the nations.

ons, and in the descent of Bethoron he destroyed them that resisted: that the nations might know all their strength, because he fought in the sight of the Lord, and he followed the mighty One.

7 In the time of Holets also he did a work of mercy, he and Caleb the sonne of Iephumne, in that they withstood the congregation, and withheld the people from sinne, and appealed the wicked murmuring.

*Num. 26. 65
Deut. 32. 35, 36
8 And of six hundred thousand people on foot, they too were preferred to bring them into the heritage, even unto the land that floweth with milk and honey.

9 The Lord gave strength also unto Caleb, which remained with him unto his old age: so that he entered upon the high places of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage.

10 That all the children of Israel might see that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 And concerning the judges, every one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, let their memory be blessed.

*Chap. 49. 10
12 Let their bones flourish out of their place, and let the name of them that were honoured, be continued upon their children.

*1. Sam. 10. 1.
Jud. 16. 13
13 Samuel the prophet of the Lord, beloven of his Lord, established a kingdom, and anointed princes over his people.

14 By the law of the Lord he judged the congregation, and the Lord had respect unto Jacob.

15 By his faithfulness he was found a true prophet, and by his word he was known to be faithful in witness.

*1. Sam. 7. 9
16 He called upon the mighty Lord, when his enemies pressed upon him on every side, when he offered the sucking lamb.

17 And the Lord thundered from heaven, and with a great noise made his voice to be heard.

*1. Sam. 12. 3
18 And he destroyed the rulers of the Tyrans, and all the princes of the Philistines.

19 And before his long sleep he made protestations in the sight of the Lord and his anointed, I have not taken any mans goods, so much as a shoe, and no man did accuse him.

*1. Sam. 28.
16. 19
20 And after his death he prophesied, and shewed the king his end, and lift up his voice from the earth in prophesie, to blot out the wickedness of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The praise of Nathan, 2 of David, 12 of Solomon, his glory, and infirmities, 23 of his end and punishments.

*1. Sam. 12. 1
A And after him rose up Nathan to prophesie in the time of David.

2 As is the fat taken away from the peace-offering, so was David chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 He played with lions as with kids, and with bears, as with lambs.

4 He was not a giant when he was yet but young: he did he not take away reproach from the people, when he lifted up his hand with the stone in the sling, and beat down the boasting of Goliath.

5 For he called upon the most high Lord, & he gave him strength in his right hand to slay that mighty warrior, & set up the horn of his people.

*1. Sam. 18. 7
6 So he the people honoured him with ten thousand, and praised him in the blessings of the Lord, in that he gave him a crown of glory.

*2. Sam. 5. 7.
10. contemned.
7 For he destroyed the enemies on every side, and brought to nought the Philistines his adversaries, and brake their horn in sunder unto this day.

8 In all his works he praised the holy one most high, with words of glory, with his whole heart he sang songs, and loved him that made him.

9 His fingers also before the altar, that by their voices they might make sweet melody, and daily sing praises in their songs.

10 He beautified their feasts, and set in order the solemn times, until the end, that they might praise his holy name, and that the temple might sound from morning.

11 The Lord took away his sinnes, and exalted his horn for ever: he gave him a covenant of kings, and a throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose up a wise sonne, and for his sake he dwelt at large.

13 Solomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was honoured: for God made all quiet round about him, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare his sanctuary for ever.

14 How wise wast thou in thy youth, and as a flood filled with understanding!

15 Thy soul covered the whole earth, and thou fillest it with dark parables.

16 Thy name went farre unto the islands, and for the peace thou wast beloved.

17 The countreys marvelled at thee for thy songs, and proverbs, and parables, and interpretations.

18 By the name of the Lord God, which is called the Lord God of Israel, thou didst gather gold as tinne, and didst multiply silver as lead.

19 Thou didst bowe thy loynes unto women, and by thy body thou wast brought into subjection.

20 Thou didst stain thy honour, and pollute thy seed: so that thou broughtst it wrath upon thy children, and wast grieved for thy self.

21 So the kingdom was divided, and out of Ephraim ruled a rebellious kingdom.

22 But the Lord will never leave off his mercy, neither shall any of his works perish, neither will he abolish the posteritie of his elect, and the seed of him that loveth him he will not take away: therefore he gave a remnant unto Jacob, and out of him a root unto David.

23 Thus rested Solomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him Roboam, even the foolishness of the people, and one that had no understanding, who turned away the people through his counsel. There was also Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, who caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne.

24 And their sinnes were multiplied exceedingly, that they were distant out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickedness, till the vengeance came upon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The praise of Elias, 12 of Elicau, 17 and of Ezechias.

T Then stood up Elias the prophet as fire, and his word burnt like a lamp.

2 He brought a lone famine upon them, and by his zeal he diminished their number.

3 By the word of the Lord he shut up the heaven, and also their times brought down fire.

4 O Elias, how wast thou honoured in thy wondrous deeds! who may glory like unto thee! who didst raise up a dead man from death, and his soul from the place of the dead by the word of the most high.

5 Who broughtest kings to destruction, and honourable men from their bed.

4 All except David and Ezekias, and Josias, were defective: for they looked the law of the most high, (even) the kings of Judah failed.

5 Therefore he gave their powder unto others, and their glory unto a strange nation.

6 They burnt the chosen cite of the sanctuary, and made the streets desolate, according to the prophesie of Jeremias.

7 For they entreated him evil, who nevertheless was a prophet sanctified in his mothers wombe, that he might root out, and afflict, and destroy, and that he might build up also and plant.

8 It was Ezekiel who saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him upon the chariot of the cherubims.

9 For he made mention of the enemies under [the figure of] the rain, and I directed them that went right.

10 And of the twelve prophets let the memoriall be blessed, and let their bones flourish again out of their place: for they comforted Jacob, and belivered them by assured hope.

11 How shall we magnifie Zorobabel? even he was as a signet on the right hand.

12 So was Jesus the sonne of Josedechi, who in their time builded the house, and set up a holy temple to the Lord, which was prepared for everlasting glory.

13 And among the elect was Jeremias, whose renown is great, who called up for us the walls that were fallen, and set up the gates and the barres, and raised up our ruins again.

14 But upon the earth was no man created like Noah; for he was taken from the earth.

15 Neither was there a man born like unto Joseph, a governour of his brethren: a stay of the people, whose bones were regarded of the Lord.

16 Sem and Seth were in great honour among men, and so was Adam above every living thing in the creation.

CHAP. L.

1 Of Simon the sonne of Onias, 22 How the people were taught to praise God, and pray. 27 The conclusion.

Simon the high priest the sonne of Onias, who in his life repaired the house again, and in his dayes fortified the temple.

2 And by him was built from the foundation the double height, the high fortress of the wall about the temple.

3 In his dayes the cistern to receive water, being in compass as the sea, was covered with plates of brass.

4 He took care of the temple that it should not fall, and fortified the city against besieging.

5 How was he honoured in the midst of the people, in his coming out of [the sanctuary]!
6 He was as the morning starre in the midst of a cloud, and as the moon at the full:

7 As the sunne shining upon the temple of the most high, and as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds:

8 And as the flower of roses in the spring of the year, as lilies by the rivers of waters, and as the bianches of the frankincense-tree in the time of summer.

9 As fire and incense in the center, and as a beere of beaten gold set with all manner of precious stones:

was clothed with the perfection of glory, when he went up to the holy altar, he made the garment of holiness bougarable.

12. When he took the portions out of the golden hands, he himself stood by the heart of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as a young cedar in Libanus, and as palm-trees compassed their own round about.

13. So were all the sons of Aaron in their glory, as the oblation of the Lord in their hands, before all the congregation of Israel.

14. And finishing the service at the altar, that he might adorn the offering of the most high Almighty.

15. He stretched out his hand to the cup, and poured of the blood of the grape, he poured out at the foot of the altar, a sweet smelling savour unto the most high King of all.

16. Then shroued the sonnes of Aaron, and sounded the silver trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most high.

17. Then all the people together hasten, and fell down to the earth upon their faces to worship the Lord God Almighty the most high.

18. The singers also sang psalms with their voices, with great variety of sounds was there made sweet melody.

19. And the people besought the Lord the most high by prayer before him that is mercifull, till the solemnitie of the Lord was ended, and they had finished his service.

20. Then he went home, and lifted up his hands over the whole congregation of the children of Israel, to give the blessing of the Lord with his eyes, and to rejoice in his name.

21. And they bowed themselves down to worship the second time, that they might receive a blessing from the most high.

22. From thence forth ye the Son of all, which onely doth wondrous things every where, which createth our dayes from the wombe, and dealeth with us according to his mercy.

23. He grant us forgiveness of heare, and that peace may be in our dayes in Israel for ever.

24. That he would confirm his mercy with us, and deliver us at his time.

25. There be two manner of nations which my heart aduoweth, and the third is no nation.

26. They that sit upon the mountain of Samaria, and they that dwell among the Idollitines, and that foolish people that dwell in Sichem.

27. Jesus the sonne of Simeon of Jerusalem hath written in this booke, the instruction of understanding and knowledge, who out of his heart poured forth wisdom.

28. Blessed is he that shall be exercised in these things, and be that layeth them up in his heart, shall become wise.

29. For if he do them, he shall be strong to all things: for the light of the Lord leadeth him, who giveth wisdom to the godly: blessed be the Lord for ever. Amen, Amen.

CHAP. I. I.

A prayer of Jesus the sonne of Sirach. I will thank thee O Lord and King, and praise thee. O God my Saviour, I do give praise unto thy name.

2. For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that forge lies, and hast been mine helper against mine adversaries.

3. And hast delivered me according to the multitude of thy mercies, and greatness of thy name, from the death of them that were ready to devour me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had.

4. From the choking of fire on every side, and from the mists of the fire which I knowen not.

5. From the depth of the belly of hell, from an unclean tongue, and from lying words.

6. By an accusation to the king thou art righteous tongue, my soul hath neared unto death, my life was neare to the hell death.

7. They compassed me on every side, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the mercie of men, but there was none.

8. Then thought I upon thy mercie, O Lord, and upon thy acts of old: how thou deliverest such as wait for thee, and savest them out of the hands of the enemies.

9. Identified I am by supplication from the earth, and prayed for deliverance from death.

10. I called upon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not frame me in the lap of my trouble, and in the time of the wrath when they would help.

11. I will praise thy name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving, and so my prayer was heard.

12. For thou savest me from destruction, and deliverest me from the evil time: therefore will I give thanks, and praise thee, and bless thy name, O Lord.

13. When I was yet young, on thee I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14. I prayed for her beside the temple, and will seek her out, even to the end.

15. Even from the flower till the grape was ripe, hath my heart delighted in her, my foot went the right way, from my youth up sought I after her.

16. I bowed down mine ear a little, and received her, and gat much learning.

17. I profited therein (therefore) will I ascribe the glory unto him that giveth me wisdom.

18. For I purposed to do after her, and earnestly I followed that which is good, so shall I not be confounded.

19. My soul hath minded both her, in my sayings I was tract, I stretched forth my hands to the heaven, and besought him, my vigiliant of her.

20. I directed my soul unto her, and I found her in pureness, I have had my heart joined with her from the beginning, therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21. My heart was rejoiced in seeing her: for, bowels, therefore have I gotten a good possession.

22. The Lord hath given me a tongue for my reward, and I will praise him therefore.

23. What neede unto me, you unlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24. Wherefore are ye slow, and what say you of these things, seeing your souls are very thirsty?

25. I opened my mouth, and said, Buy her for your selves without money.

26. Put your neck under the yoke, and let your soul receive instruction, for it is hard to find.

27. Behold with your eyes, how that I have had but little labour, and have gotten unto me much rest.

28. Get learning with a great summe of money, and get much gold by her.

29. Let your soul rejoice in his mercy, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30. For your work becometh, and in his time he will give you your reward.

BARUCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a book in Babylon. 5 The Jews there wept at the reading of it. They sent money and the book to the brethren at Jerusalem.

And these are the words of the book, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Serocias, the sonne of Adaias, the sonne of Chebias, wrote in Babylon.

2 In the fifth yeare, and in the seventh day of the month, what time as the Caldeans took Jerusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did read the words of this book, in the hearing of Jeronias the sonne of I Joachim king of Iuda, and in the ears of all the people that came to heare the book.

4 And in the hearing of the nobles, and of the kings sonnes, and in the hearing of the eldres, and of all the people, from the lowest unto the highest, even of all them that dwelt at Babylon, by the river Sid.

5 And hereupon they wept, fasted, and prayed before the Lord.

6 They made also a collection of money, according to every mans power.

7 And they sent it to Jerusalem unto I Joachim the high priest the sonne of Sebias, sonne of Salom, and to the priests, and to all the people which were found with him at Jerusalem.

8 At the same time, when he received the vessels of the house of the Lord that were carried out of the temple, to return them into the land of Iuda the tenth day of the month Sivan, [namely] silver vessels, which Sebias the sonne of Iolias king of Iuda had made.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had carried away Jeronias, and the princes, and the captives, and the mighty men, and the people of the land from Jerusalem, and brought them unto Babylon:

10 And they said, Behold, we have sent you money to buy you burnt-offerings, and sinne-offerings, and incense, and prepare ye \dagger manna, and offer upon the altar of the Lord our God.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Balthasar his sonne, that their dayes may be upon earth as the dayes of heaben.

12 And the Lord will give us strength, and lighten our eyes: and we shall live under the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and under the shadow of Balthasar his sonne, and we shall serve them many dayes, and finde labour in their sight.

13 Stay for us also unto the Lord our God, (for we have sinned against the Lord our God, and unto this day the fury of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from us.)

14 And ye shall reade this book which we have sent unto you, to make confession in the house of the Lord, upon the feasts and Solemn dayes.

15 And ye shall say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but unto us the confusion of faces, as it is come to passe this day, unto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

16 And to our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers.

17 For we have sinned before the Lord, 18 And disobeyed him, and have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in the commandments that he gave us openly: * Dan 9.5.

19 Since the day that the Lord brought our forefathers out of the land of Egypt, unto this present day, we have been disobedient unto the Lord our God, and we have been negligent in not hearing his voice.

20 And therefore the curse cleaveth unto us, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moses his servant, at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that floweth with milk and honey, like as it is to see this day. * Deut. 28.15.

21 Nevertheless we have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, according unto all the words of the prophets, whom he sent unto us:

22 But every man followed the imagination of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods, and to do evil in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

The prayer and confession which the Jews at Babylon made, and sent in that book unto the brethren at Jerusalem.

Therefore the Lord hath made good his word, which he pronounced against us, and against our judges that judged Israel, and against our kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda.

2 To bring upon us great plagues, such as never happened under the whole heaven, as it came to passe in Jerusalem, according to the things that were written in the law of Moses.

3 That a man should eat the flesh of his own sonne, and the flesh of his own daughter. * Deut. 28.53.

4 Moreover, he hath delivered them to be in subjection to all the kingdoms that are found about us, to be as a reproach and desolation among all the people round about, where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus we \dagger were cast down and not exalted, because we have sinned against the Lord our God, and have not been obedient unto his voice. not above.

6 To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousness: but unto us and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day. * Chap. 1.15.

7 For all these plagues are come upon us which the Lord hath pronounced against us.

8 Yet have we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turn every one from the imaginations of his wicked heart.

9 And therefore the Lord hath touched over us for evil, and the Lord hath brought it upon us: for the Lord is righteous in all his works which he hath commanded us.

10 Yet we have not hearkened unto his voice to walk in the commandments of the Lord, that he hath set before us.

11 And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and high arm, and with signs and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy self a name, as appeareth this day: * Dan. 9.5.

12 O Lord our God, we have sinned, we have done ungodly, we have dealt unrighteously in all thine ordinances.

13 And

13 Let thy wrath turn from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered us.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliver us for thine own sake, and give us favour in the sight of them which have led us away:

15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, because Israel and his posterity is called by thy name.

16 O Lord, look down from thy holy house, and consider us: downe downe thine care, O Lord, to heare us.

17 Open thine eyes and behold, for the dead that are in the graves, whole families are taken from their bodies, will give unto the Lord neither praise nor righteousness:

18 But the soul that is greatly vexed, which goeth stomping and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry soul will give thee praise and righteousness, O Lord.

19 Therefore we do not make our humble supplication before thee, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, and of our kings.

20 For thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation upon us, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the prophets, saying,

21 Thus saith the Lord, Botwe downe your shoulders to serve the king of Babylon: so shall ye remain in the land that I gave unto your fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voice of the Lord to serve the king of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease out of the cities of Juda, and from without Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of joy: the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, and the whole land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken unto thy voice, to serve the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou made good the words that thou spakest by thy servants the prophets, namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should be taken out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the frost of the night, and they died in great miseries, by famine, by sword, and by pestilence.

26 And the house which is called by thy name (hast thou said) as it is to be seen this day, for the wickedness of the house of Israel, and the house of Juda.

27 O Lord our God thou hast dealt with us after all thy goodness, and according to all that great mercy of thine.

28 As thou spakest by thy servant Moses in the day when thou didst command him to write the law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 If ye will not heare my voice, surely I shall destroy great multitude shall be turned into a small [number] among the nations, where I will scatter them.

30 For I knew that they would not heare me, because it is a stiff-necked people: but in the land of their captivities, they shall remember themselves.

31 And shall know that I am the Lord their God: for I give them an heart, and eares to heare.

32 And they shall praise me in the land of their captivity, and think upon my name.

33 And return from their stiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them again into the land which I promised with an oath unto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be lords of it, and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them to be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more drive my people of Israel out of the land that I have given them.

CHAP. III.

3 The rest of their prayer and confession contained in that book which Baruch wrote and sent to Jerusalem. 30 Wisdom was shewed first to Jacob, and was seen upon the earth.

O Lord Almighty, God of Israel, the soul in anguish, the troubled spirit crieth unto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and have mercy: for thou art mercifull, and have pity upon us, because we have sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, and we perish utterly.

4 O Lord Almighty, thou God of Israel, heare now the prayers of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which have sinned before thee, and not hearkened unto the voice of thee their God: for the which cause these plagues came unto us.

5 Remember not the iniquities of our forefathers: but think upon thy power, and thy name, now at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause thou hast put thy fear in our hearts, to the intent that we should call upon thy name, and praise thee in our captivity: for we have called to minde all the iniquity of our forefathers that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captivity, where thou hast scattered us, for a reproach and a curse, and to be subject to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which departed from the Lord our God.

9 Heare, Israel, the commandments of life, give care to understand wisdom.

10 How happened it, Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land; that thou art worn old in a strange country, that thou art defiled with the dead, 11 That thou art counted with them that go down into the grave?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountain of life.

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldst have dwelled in peace for ever.

14 Learn where is wisdom, where is strength, where is understanding; that thou mayest know also where is length of days, and life; where is the light of the eyes, and peace.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen become, and such as ruled the beasts upon the earth, 17 They that had their pasture with the fowls of the air, and they that woodded up silver and gold, wherein men trust, and made no end of their getting?

18 For they that dwought in silver, and were so careful, and whose works are unsearchable, 19 They are vanished and gone down to the grave, and others are come up in their steads.

20 Young men have seen light, and dwelt upon the earth: but the way of knowledge have they not known.

25 Great, and hath none end: high, and unmeasurable.

26 There were the giants famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and to expect in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord choose, neither gave he the way of knowledge unto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their own foolishness.

1 The book of commandments, is that wisdom which was commanded in the former chapters. 25 The Jews are moved to patience, and to hope for the deliverance.

This is the book of the commandments of God: and the law that endureth for ever: all they that keep it shall come to life: but such as leave it shall die.

about Sion: God hath brought upon me great mourning.

11 Which joy did I nourish them: but sent them away with weeping and mourning.

25 O ye children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee: but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shall tread upon his neck.

28 For as it was your minde to go astray from God: so being returned, seek him ten times more.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues upon you, shall bring you everlasting joy again with your salvation.

30 Take a good heart, O Jerusalem: for he that gave thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 Miserable are they that afflicted thee, and rejoyced at thy fall.

32 Miserable are the cities which thy children feared: miserable is he that received the finnes.

33 For as he rejoyced at thy ruine, and was glad of thy fall: so shall he be grieved for his own desolation.

34 For I will take away the rejoycing of her great great multitude, and her pride shall be turned into mourning.

35 For she shall come upon her from the East, lasting long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of devils for a great time.

36 O Jerusalem, look about thee towards the east, and behold the joy that cometh unto thee from God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes come whom thou sentest away, they come gathered together from the east to the west, by the word of the Lord, rejoicing in the glory of God.

9 For God shall lead Israel with joy, in the light of his glorie, with the mercie and righteousness that cometh from him.

¶ The epistle of Jeremie.

CHAP. VI.

1 The cause of their captivity in their sinne, 3 The place whereto they were carried in Babylon: the vanitie of wise idols, and idolatrie are set forth at large in this chapter.

A Copie of an epistle which Jeremie sent unto them which were to be led captives into Babylon, by the king of the Babylonians, to certifye them as it was commanded him of God.

2 Because of the finnes which ye have committed before God, ye shall be led away captives into Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor king of the Babylonians.

3 So when ye be come unto Babylon, ye shall remain there many yeeres, and for a long season, namely, seven generations: and after that I will bring you away peaceably from thence.

4 Now shall ye see in Babylon Gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood, whom upon shoulders, which cause the nations to fear.

5 Betwixt therefore that ye in no wise be like to strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them, and beside them, worshipping them.

6 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

7 For mine angel is with you, and I my self caring for your souls.

8 As for their tongue it is polished by the workman, and they themselves are gilded and laid over with gold, yet are they but false, and cannot speak.

9 And taking gold as it were for a virgin that loves to go gay, they make crowns for the heads of their gods.

10 Sometimes also the priests convey from their gods gold and silver, and bestow it upon themselves.

11 Yea, they will give thereof to the common barbers, and deck them as men with garments [being] gods of silver, and gods of gold, and wood.

12 Yet cannot their gods save themselves from rust and moths, though they be covered with purple raiment.

13 They wipe their faces because of the dust of the temple, when there is much upon them.

14 And he that cannot put to death one that offendeth him, holdeth a serpent as though he were a judge of the country.

15 He hath also in his right hand a dagger, and an arrow: but cannot deliver himself from warre and theeves.

16 Whereby they are known not to be gods: therefore feare them not.

17 For like as a vessel that a man useth, is nothing worth when it is broken, even so it is with their gods: when they be set up in the temple, their eyes be full of dust, through the feet of them that come in.

18 And as the doors are made sure on every side, upon him that offendeth the king, as being committed to suffer death: even so the priests make fast their temples, with doors, with locks and barres, lest their gods be spoiled with robbers.

19 They light them candles, yea, move them for themselves, whereof they cannot see one.

20 They are as one of the beams of the temple, yet they say their hearts are gnawed upon by things creeping out of the earth, and when they eat them and their clothes, they feel it not.

21 Their faces are blacked, though the smoke that comes out of the temple.

22 Upon their bodies and heads, sit bats, swallows, and birds, and the cats also.

23 By this you may know that they are no gods: therefore feare them not.

24 Notwithstanding the gold that is about them to make them beautiful, except they wipe off the rust, they will not shine: for neither when they were within did they feel it.

25 The things wherein there is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

26 They are hewn upon shoulders, having no feet, where by they declare unto men that they be nothing worth.

27 They also that serve them, are ashamed for: if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise up again of themselves: neither if one set them upright, can they move of themselves: neither if they be bowed down, can they make themselves straight: but they set gifts before them as unto dead men.

28 As for the things that are sacrificed unto them, their priests sell and abuse: in like manner their wives lay up part thereof in salt: but unto the poor and impotent they give nothing of it.

¶ Or, spendy

29 Whenscrous women, and women in child-bed, eat their sacrifices: by these things ye may know that they are no gods: fear them not.

30 For how can they be called gods? because women set meat before the gods of silver, gold, and wood.

31 And the priests sit in their temples having their clothes rent, and their heads and beards shaven, and weeping upon their heads.

32 They roar and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast when one is dead.

33 The priests also take off their garments, and clothe their wives and children.

34 Whether it be evil that one doth unto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set up a king, nor put him down.

35 In like manner, they can neither give riches nor money: though a man make a vow unto them and keep it, they will not require it.

36 They can save no man from death, neither deliver the weak from the mighty.

37 They cannot restore a blind man to his sight, nor help any man in his distress.

38 They can show no mercie to the widows: nor do good to the fatherless.

39 Their gods of wood, and which are overlaid with gold and silver, are like the stones that be hewn out of the mountain: they that worship them shall be confounded.

40 How should a man then think and say that they are gods, when even the Caldeans themselves dishonour them?

41 What if they shall see one dumb that cannot speak, they bring him and intreat: But that he may speak, as though he were able to understand.

¶ Or, bid him call upon Bel

42 Yet they cannot understand this themselves, and leave them: for they have no knowledge.

¶ Or, sense.

43 The women also with children about them, sitting in the wayes, burn incense for perfume: but if any of them happen by somewhat polluted be, lie with him: he reprehendeth her fellows that she was not thought as unchaste as yet self, nor her choyce broken.

44 Whatsoever is done among them is false: how may it then be thought or said that they are gods?

45 They are made of carpenters, and goldsmiths: they can be nothing else then the workman will have them to be.

46 And they themselves that made them, can never continue long: how should then the things that are made of them be gods?

47 For they left lies and reproaches to them that come after.

48 For when there cometh any warre or plague upon them, the priests consult with themselves, where they may be hidden with them.

49 How then cannot men perceive, that they be no gods, which can neither save themselves from warre nor from plague?

*Psal. 48. 5. 4.

Wild. 13. 10.

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and overlaid with silver and gold: it shall be known hereafter that they are false.

51 And it shall manifestly appeare to all nations and kings, that they are no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no work of God in them.

52 And then may not know that they are no gods:

53 For neither can they set up a king in the land, nor give rain unto men.

54 Neither can they judge their own cause, nor redress a wrong being unable: for they are as crooks between heaven and earth.

55 Whereupon when fire falleth upon the house of gods of wood, or laid over with gold or silver, their priests will flee away, and escape: but they themselves shall be burnt asunder like beams.

56 Moreover they cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?

57 Neither are those gods of wood and laid over with silver or gold, able to escape either from thieves or robbers.

58 Whole gods, and silver, and garments wherewith they are clothed, they that are strong do take, and go away withall: neither are they able to help themselves.

59 Therefore it is better to be a king that beareth his power, or else a profitable vessel in an house, which the owner shall have use of, then such false gods: or to be a house in an house, to keep such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

60 For sunne, moon, and starres, bring bright, and sent to do their offices, are obedient.

61 In like manner the lightning when it breaketh forth is able to be seen, and after the same manner the thicke darkness in every countrey.

62 And when God commandeth the clouds to go over the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

63 And the fire sent from above to consume hills and woods, doth as it is commanded: but these are like unto them neither in deed nor power.

64 Wherefore it is neither to be supposed nor said, that they are gods, seeing they are able neither to judge causes, nor to do good unto men.

65 Knowing therefore that they are no gods, fear them not.

66 For they can neither curse nor bless kings.

67 Neither can they shew signes in the heavens among the heathen: nor shine as the sunne, nor give light as the moon.

68 The beasts are better then they: for they can get under a covert, and help themselves.

69 It is then by no means manifest unto us that they are gods: therefore fear them not.

70 For as a leav-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing: so are their gods of wood, and laid over with silver and gold.

71 And likewise their gods of wood and laid over with silver and gold, are like to a white thorn in an orchard that every bird stretch upout as also to a dead bodie that is cast into the dark.

72 And you shall know them to be no gods, by the shaght purple that rotteth upon them: and they themselves afterward shall be eaten, and shall be a reproof in the countrey.

73 Better therefore is the just man that hath none idols: for he shall be free from reproach.

¶ Or, purple and brightnesse.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, [And they walked in the midst of the fire, praising God, and blessing the Lord] that which followeth is not in the Hebrew, to wit, [Then Azarias stood up unto these words, [And Nabuchodonosor.]

1 Azarias his prayer and confession in the flame, 24 wherewith the Chaldeans about the oven were consumed, but the three children within it were not hurt. 28 The song of the three children in the oven.

After Azarias stood up, and prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the midst of the fire, said,

2 Blessed art thou O Lord God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to be praised, and glorified for evermore.

3 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done to us: for thou art all thy works, thy ways are right: and all thy judgements true.

4 In all the things which thou hast brought upon us, and upon the holy cite of our fathers, even Jerusalem, thou hast executed true judgement: for according to truth and judgement dost thou bring all these things upon us, because of our sinnes.

5 For we have sinned and committed iniquitie, departing from thee.

6 In all things have we trespassed, and not obeyed thy commandments, nor kept them, neither done as thou hast commanded us, that it might go well with us.

7 Therefore, all that thou hast brought upon us, and every thing that thou hast done to us, thou hast done in thy judgement.

8 Now thou hast delivered us into the hands of lawlesse enemies, most hateful faulces [of sinners] to an unjust king, and the most wicked in all the world.

9 Now now we cannot open our mouths, we are become a stone, and a speech to the servants, unto them that worship thee.

10 For neither us nor up wood, for thy names sake, neither shall thou be constant:

11 And cause not thy mercy to depart from us, for thy beloved, Shadrach, Meshack, and Abednego, and for thy holy Israels sake.

12 O thou which thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldst multiply their seed as the stars of heaven, and as the sand that lieth upon the sea shore.

13 For we, O Lord, are become less then one nation, and be here under this day in all the world because of our sinnes.

14 Neither is there at this time peace, or prosperitie, or freedom, or burnt offering, or sacrifice, or oblation, or incense, or place to sacrifice betwixt thee, and to sinners.

15 Wherefore, O Lord, in a contrite heart and humble spirit let us be accepted.

16 Like as in the burnt offerings of rammes and bullocks, and like as in ten thousands of lambs: so let our sacrifices be in thy sight this day, and grant that we may wholly go after thee: for they shall not be consumed that put their trust in thee.

17 And now we follow thee with all our heart, we fear thee, and seek thy face.

18 Praise us not for shame: but deal with us after thy loving kindness, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

19 Deliver us also according to thy marvellous works, and give glory to thy name. O Lord, and let all them that do thy servants hurt, be ashamed.

20 And let them be confounded in all their power and might, & let their strength be broken.

21 Let them know that thou art Lord, the only God, and glorious over the whole world.

22 And the kings servants that put them in, ceased not to make the oven hot with resin, pitch, tow, and small wood:

23 So that the flame streamed forth above the furnace, and was not abated.

24 And it passed through, and burnt those Chaldeans it found about the furnace.

25 But the angel of the Lord came down into the oven, together with Azarias and his fellows, and smote the flame of the fire out of the oven:

26 And made the midst of the furnace: as it had been a moist whistling wind, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither hurt nor troubled them.

27 Then the three, as out of one mouth, praised, glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying, 28 Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers: and to be praised and exalted above all for ever.

29 And blessed is thy glorious and holy name: and to be praised and exalted above all for ever.

30 Blessed art thou in the temple of thine holy glory: and to be praised and glorified above all for ever.

31 Blessed art thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest upon the cherubims: and to be praised and exalted above all for ever.

32 Blessed art thou on the glorious throne of thy kingdoms: and to be praised and glorified above all for ever.

33 Blessed art thou in the firmament of heaven, and above all to be praised and glorified for ever.

34 O all ye powers of the Lord, bless ye the Lord: praise and exalt him above all for ever.

35 O ye heavens, bless ye the Lord: praise and exalt him above all for ever.

¶ The history of Susanna, set apart from the beginning of Daniel, because it is not in Hebrew, as neither the narration of † Bel and the Dragon.

† Gr. B&B Dragon.

38 Two judges hide themselves in the garden of Susanna to have their pleasure of her : 39 which when they could not obtain, they accuse, and cause her to be condemned for adultery : 40 but Daniel examineth the matter again, and smiteth the two judges false.

Were dwelt a man in Babylon, called Joachim.
 2 And he took a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Chelcias, a very fair woman, and one that feared the LORD.
 3 Her parents also were righteous, and taught their daughter according to the law of Moses.
 4 Now Joachim was a great rich man, and had a fair garden adjoining unto his house, and covenanted the Jews: because he was more honourable then all others.

5 The same years were appointed two of the ancients of the people be judges, such as the LORD spake of that wickedness came from W Babylon from ancient judges, whose duty to govern the people.

6 These kept times at Joachim's house: and all that had any suits in law, came unto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noon, Susanna went into her husband's garden to walk.

8 And the two elders saw her going in every day, and watching to that their suit was inflamed toward her.

9 And as they perceived their own minde, and turned away their eyes, that they might not look upon her, yet they remembered just judgements.

10 And when they both were wounded with her love, yet each not knowing the other his grief.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their suit, that they desired to have to do with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let us now go down for to see her.

14 So when they were gone out, they passed the one from the other, and turning back again they came to the same place, and after they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their fault: then appeared they a time both together, whom they might have seen alone.

15 And when they were watched a fit time, as when in the garden, two maids only, and she was desirous to wash her self in the garden: for it was hot.

† Gr. as ye sterday, and the day before.

16 And there was no body there save the two elders that had hid themselves, and watched her.

17 When she saw her shadow, flying over and washing, she said, and shut the garden doors that I may wash me.

18 And there was as she had them, and that the garden doors, and went on themselves at a place by doors to feed the things that the ban commanded them not they saw not the elders, because they were hid.

† Or, side doors.

19 Now when the maids were gone forth, the two elders rose up, and ran unto her, saying,

20 Behold, the garden doors are shut, that no man can see us, and the are in love with thee, therefore consent unto us, and lie with us.

21 If thou wilt not, we will bear witness against thee, that a young man was with thee: and therefore thou shalt send away the maids from thee.

22 Then Susanna heeded, and said, I am straitened on every side: for if I do this thing, it is death unto me: and if I do it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands,
 and

and not to do it, then to flaine in the sight of the Lord.

24 Which that Susanna cried with a loud voice: and the two elders cried out against her.

25 Then ran the one and opened the garden doore.

26 So when the servants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at a private doore: to see what was done within.

27 But when the elders had declared their matter, the servants were greatly ashamed: for there was never such a report made of Susanna.

28 And it came to pass the next day, when the people were assembled to her husband Joacim, the two elders came also full of malicious invention against Susanna to put her to death.

29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna, the daughter of Chelcias Joacims wife: and lo shee sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children, and all her kindred.

31 Now Susanna was a very delicate woman, and handsome to behold.

32 And these wicked men commanded to uncover her face (for she was covered) that they might be filled with her beauty.

33 Therefore her friends, and all that saw her, wept.

34 Then the two elders stood up in the midst of the people, and laid their hands upon her head.

35 And she weeping, looked up towards heaven: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, this woman came in with two maidens, and shut the garden doore, and sent the maids away.

37 When a young man, who there was his, came unto her and lay with her.

38 Then we that stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickedness, ran unto them.

39 And when we saw them together, the man we could not hold: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 But having taken this woman, we asked who the young man was, but he would not tell us these things so we testified.

41 Then the assembly believed them as those that were the elders and judges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, and said, O everlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things before they be:

43 Thou knowest that they have borne false witness against me, and behold I must die, whereas I never did such things as these men have maliciously invented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raised up the holy spirit of a young youth, whose name was Daniel.

46 And he cried with a loud voice, I am clear from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them towards him, and said, What mean these words that thou hast spoken?

48 So he standing in the midst of them, said, Are ye such fools, ye sons of Israel, that without examination or knowledge of the truth, ye have condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Return again to the place of judgement: for they have borne false witness against her.

50 And therefore all the people turned again in haste, and the elders said unto him, Come, sit down among us, and shew it us, seeing God hath given thee the honour of an elder.

51 Then said Daniel unto them, But these two asked out facts from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they had put a slander one from another, he called one of them, and said unto him, O thou that art wiser old in wickedness, now thy times which thou hast committed aforetime, are come [to light].

53 For thou hast pronounced false judgement, and hast condemned an innocent, and hast let the guiltie go free, albeit the Lord saith, "The innocent and righteous shall thou not fear."

54 And he said, I have not seen her, tell me, Under what tree sawest thou them committing together? Witho answered, Under a fig tree.

55 And Daniel said, Very well, thou hast lied against thine own head: for then now the angel of God hath recorded the sentence of God to me in this manner.

56 So he put him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said unto him, O thou seed of Canaan, and not of Juda, beastie hath deceived thee, and thou hast perverted his heart.

57 Thou have ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for fear companion with you: but the daughters of Juda would not abide your wickedness.

58 And therefore tell me, Under what tree didst thou take them committing together? Witho answered, Under a fig tree.

59 Then said Daniel unto him, Well, thou hast also lied against thine own head: for the angel of God watched with the sword to cut thee in two, that he may destroy you.

60 Which that all the assembly cried out with a loud voice, and praised God who saved them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two elders, (for Daniel had convicted them of false witness by their own mouth).

62 And according to the law of Moses, they did unto them in such sort as they maliciously intended to do to their neighbour: and they put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saved the same day.

63 Therefore Chelcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kindred, because there was no dishonour found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

¶ The historie of the destruction of † Bel and the dragon, cut off from the end of Daniel.

19 The fraud of Bel's priests is discovered by Daniel, 27 and the dragon slain, which was worshipped.
33 Daniel is preferred in the lions den. 42 The king doth acknowledge the God of Daniel and cast-eth his enemies into the same den.

¶ Or, lived with the king.

A King Astyages was gathered to his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia received his kingdom.
2 And Daniel I converted with the king, and was honoured above all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an fool called Bel, and there were spent upon him every day twelve great measures of fine flour, and fourtie sheep, and six vessels of wine.

4 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to adore it: but Daniel worshipped his own God.
And the king said unto him, Why dost not thou worship Bel?

5 To who and where and said, Because I may not worship idols made with hands, but the living God, who hath created the heaven and the earth, and hath sovereignty over all flesh.

6 Then said the king unto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a living god? test thou not how much he eateth and drinketh every day?

7 Then Daniel smiled, and said, O king, be not deceivers: for this is but clay within, & husk without, and his never eat or drink any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said unto them, If ye tell me not unto this is that devoureth their expenses, ye shall die.

9 But if ye can certify me that Bel devoureth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemy against Bel. And Daniel said unto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, beside their wives and children) and the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bel's priests said, Lo, we go out: but thou, O king, set on the meat, and make ready the wine, and shut the doore fast, and seal it with thine own signet.

12 And so morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten up all, we will suffer death: or else Daniel that speaketh falsely against us.

13 And they little regarded it: for under the table they had made a privie entrance, whereby they entered in continually, and consumed those things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meats before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his servants to bring ashes, and those they strewn throughout all the temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priests with their wives and children (as they were wont to do) and did eat and drink up all.

16 In the morning betime the king awoke, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, are the seals whole? And he said, Yea, O king, they be whole.

18 And as soon as he had opened the doore, the king looked upon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit at all.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and beld the king that he should not go in, and said, Behold now the pavements, and mark well whose footstaps are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footstaps of men, women, and children: and then the king was angry,

21 And took the priests, with their wives and children, who showed him the privie doores where they came in, and consumed such things as were upon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ And in that same place there was a great dragon, which they of Babylon worshipped.

24 And the king said unto Daniel, Willst thou also say that this is of husk? lo, he liveth, he eateth and drinketh, thou canst not say, that he is no living God: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel unto the king, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the living God.

26 But give me leave, O king, and I shall slay this dragon without sword or staff: the king said, I give thee leave.

27 Then Daniel took pitch, and fat, and hair, and hid these things together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the dragons mouth, and so the dragon burd in funder: and Daniel said, Lo, these are the gods you worship.

28 When they of Babylon heard that, they took great indignation, and conspired against the king, saying, The king is become a Jew, and he hath destroyed Bel, he hath slain the dragon, and put the priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Disturb us Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the king saw that they pressed him sore, being constrained, he delivered Daniel unto them: * Dan. 6. 16.

31 To who cast him into the lions den, where he was six dayes.

32 And in the den there were seven lions, and they had given them every day two carcases, ¶ Or, two and two sheep: which then were not given to them, to the intent they might devour Daniel.

33 Now there was in Babel a prophet called Habbauc, who had made portage, and had broken bread in a bowl: and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the angel of the Lord said unto Hab-bauc, Go carrie the dinner that thou hast into Babylon unto Daniel who is in the lions den.

35 And Habbauc said, Lord, I never fast Babylon: neither do I know where the den is.

36 Then the angel of the Lord took him by the crown, and bare him by the hair of his head, and though the vehemencie of his spirit, set him in Babylon over the den.

37 And Habbauc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner which God hath sent thee.

38 And Daniel said, Thou hast remembered me, O God: neither hast thou forgotten them that seek thee, and love thee.

41 Then cried the king with a loud voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he hath been cast out, and cast thee that were the cause of his destruction into the den: and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

Jer. 37. 17

¶ The prayer of MANASSES king of Juda, when he was holden captive in Babylon.

LORD, Almighty God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and of their righteous seed, who hast made heaven and earth, with all the ornament thereof: who hast bound the sea by the word of thy commandment: who hast shut up the deep, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious name, whom all men fear, and tremble before thy power: for the majestic of thy glory cannot be born, & thine angry threatening towards sinners is importable: but thy mercifull promise is unmeasurable and unsearchable: for thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long-suffering, very mercifull, and repentest of the evils of men. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised repentance, and forgiveness to them that have sinned against thee: and of thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance unto sinners that they may be saved. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the just, hast not appointed repentance to the just, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, which have not sinned against thee; but thou hast appointed repentance unto me that am a sinner: for I have sinned above the number of the sands of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are multiplied, and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of heaven, for the multitude of mine iniquitie. I am bowed down with many iron bands that I cannot lift up mine head, || neither have any release: for I have provoked thy wrath, and done evil before thee, I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandments: I have set up abominations, and have multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace: I have sinned, O Lord, I have sinned, and I acknowledge mine iniquities: wherefore, I humbly beseech thee, forgive me, O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with mine iniquities. Be not angry with me for ever, by reserving evil for me; neither condemn me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt save me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercy. Therefore I will praise thee for ever all the dayes of my life: for all the powers of the heavens do praise thee, and thine is the glory for ever and ever, Amen.

Or, neither take my breath.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

24 Antiochus gave leave to set up the fashions of the Gentiles in Jerusalem, 22 and spoiled it, and the temple in it, 57 and set up therein the abomination of desolation, 63 and slew those that did circumcise their children.

And it happened, after that Alexander sonne of Philip, the Macedonian, who came out of the land of Chetrim, had smitten Darius king of the Persians and

Greece, that he reigned in his stead, the first over Greece,

2 And made many warres, and won many strong holdes, and slew the kings of the earth,

3 And went throught to the ends of the earth, and took spoils of many nations, insomuch that the earth was quiet before him. Whereupon he was exalted, and his heart was lifted up.

4 And he gathered a mighty strong host, and ruled over countreys, and nations, and || kings, who became tributaries unto him.

5 And after these things he fell sick, and perceived that he should die.

Or, his heart was exalted and lifted up.

Or, king-domes which became, &c.

Or, that he died.

6 Wherefore he called his servants, such as were honorable, and had been brought up with him from his youth, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive.

7 And Alexander reigned twelve years, and (then) died.

8 And his servants bare rule every one in his place.

9 And after his death, they all put crowns upon themselves, to do their sonnes after them many yeares, and evils were multiplied in the earth.

10 And there came out of them a wicked root, Antiochus, (surnamed Epiphanes) sonne of Antiochus the king, who had been a hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundred and thirtie and seventh yeare of the kingdom of the Greeks.

11 In those dayes went there out of Israel, wicked men, who persecuted many, saying, Let us go, and make a covenant with the heathen that are round about us: for since we departed from them, we have had much sorrow.

12 So this device pleased them well.

13 Then certain of the people were so forward herein, that they went to the king, who gave them licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen:

14 And hereupon they build a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the customs of the heathen.

15 And made themselves uncircumcised, and forsook the holy covenant, and joyned themselves to the heathen, and were sold to do mischief.

16 Now when the kingdom was established before Antiochus, he thought to reigne over Egypt, that he might have the dominion of two realms.

17 Wherefore he entred into Egypt with a great multitude, with chariots, and elephants, and horsemen, and a great navie.

18 And made warre against Ptoleme king of Egypt, but Ptoleme was afraid of him, and fled: and many were wounded to death.

19 Thus they got the strong cities in the land of Egypt, and he took the spoils thereof.

20 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he returned again in the hundred forty and third yeare, and went up against Israel and Jerusalem with a great multitude.

21 And entred proudly into the sanctuary, and took away the golden altar, and the candlestick of light, and all the vessels thereof.

22 And the table of the shew-bread, and the pouring vessels, and the vials, and the censers of gold, and the bair, and the crowns, and the golden ornaments that were before the temple, all which he pulled off.

23 He took also the silver and the gold, and the precious vessels: also he took the hidden treasures which he found.

24 And when he had taken all away, he went into his own land, having made a great massacre, and spoken very proudly.

25 Therefore there was great mourning in Israel, in every place where they were;

26 So that the princes and elders mourned, the virgins and young men were made feeble, and the beauty of women was changed.

27 Every widow room took up lamentation, and he that sat in the marriage chamber, was in heaviness.

28 The land also was moved for the inhabitants thereof, and all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion.

29 And after three yeares fully expired, the king sent his chief collectors of tribute unto the cities of Juda, who came unto Jerusalem with a great multitude.

30 And spake peaceable words unto them, but [all was] deceit: for when they had given him credence, he fell suddenly upon the city, and smote it very sore, and destroyed much people of Israel.

31 And when he had taken the spoils of the city, he set it on fire, and pulled down the houses and walls thereof on every side.

32 But the women and children took their cattell, and possessed the cattell.

33 Then builded they the city of David with a great and strong wall, [and] with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

34 And they put therein a sinful nation, wicked men, and justified [themselves] therein.

35 They clothed it also with armour and victuals, and when they had gathered together the spoils of Jerusalem, they laid them up there, and so they became a sore snare.

36 For it was a place to lie in wait against the sanctuary, and an evil advertisement to Israel.

37 Thus they shed innocent blood on every side of the sanctuary, and defiled it.

38 Inasmuch that the inhabitants of Jerusalem fled because of them, whereupon [the city] was made an habitation of strangers: and became strange to those that were born in her, and her own children left her.

39 Her sanctuary was laid waste like a wilderness, her feasts were turned into mourning, her sabbaths into reproach, her honour into contempt.

40 As had been her glory, so was her dishonour increased, and her excellency was turned into mourning.

41 Wherefore, king Antiochus wrote to his whole kingdom, that all should be one people.

42 And every one should leave his laws: so all the heathen agreed, according to the commandment of the king.

43 And many also of the Israelites consented to his religion, and sacrificed unto idols, and profaned the sabbath.

44 For the king had sent letters by messengers unto Jerusalem, and the cities of Juda, that they should follow [the strange laws] of the land.

45 And forbid burnt-offerings, and sacrifice, and drink-offerings in the temple: and that they should profane the sabbaths, and feasts all dayes.

46 And pollute the sanctuary and holy people:

47 Set up altars, and groves, and chapels of idols, and sacrifice swines flesh, and unclean beasts:

48 That they should also leave their children uncircumcised, and make their souls abominable with all manner of uncleanness, and profanation:

49 To the end they might forget the law, and change all the ordinances.

50 And whosoever would not do according to the commandment of the king [he said] he should die.

51 In the self same manner wrote he to his whole kingdom, and appointed overseers over all the people, commanding the cities of Juda to sacrifice, city by city.

52 When many of the people were gathered unto them, to wit, every one that forsook the law, and so they committed evils in the land:

13 And those the Jews hid in secret places, even whitherover they could flee for succour.
14 And on the thirtieth day of the month Caddis, in the hundred forty and sixth year, they set up the abomination of idolatry upon the altar, and builded idolatry throughout the cities of Judah on every side.

15 And burnt incense at the doors of their houses, and in the streets.

16 And when they had rent in pieces the books of the law which they found, they burnt them with fire.

17 And wheresoever was found such any of the book of the testament, or if any contained to the law, they put him to death.

18 Thus did they by their authority, unto the thirties every month, so as many as were found in the cities.

19 And on the five and thirtieth day of the month they did sacrifice upon the fool-altar, which was upon the altar of God.

20 At which time according to the commandment, they put to death certain women, that had caused their children to be circumcised.

21 And they hanged the infants about their necks, and cried their deaths, and slew them that had circumcised them.

22 Howbeit, many in Israel were fully resolved, and confirmed in their hearts, not to eat any unclean thing.

23 And therefore they chose rather to die, than they might not be defiled with meats, and that they might not profane the holy covenant: so then they died.

24 And there was very great wrath upon Israel.

CHAP. II.

6 Mattathias lamenteth the case of Jerusalem. 24 He sayeth a Jew that did sacrifice to idols in his presence, and the king's messenger also. 34 He and his are assailed on the sabbath, and make no resistance. 50 He dieth, and instructeth his sonnes: 66 and maketh their brother Judas an accuser generally.

In those dayes I arose Mattathias the sonne of John, the sonne of Simeon, a priest of the sonnes of Boaz, from Jerusalem, and dwelt in Bethan.

2 And he had five sonnes: Joannan I called Caddis;

3 Simon called Thabai;

4 Judas, who was called Maccabeus;

5 Eleazar, called I Abaron; and Jonathan, whose surname was Apolus.

6 And when he saw the blasphemies that were committed in Judah and Jerusalem,

7 He said, Who is me, wherfore was I born to see this misery of my people, and of the holy city, and to dwell there, when it was delivered into the hand of the enemy, and the sanctuary into the hand of strangers?

8 Her temple is become as a man without glory.

9 Her glorious walls are carried away into captivity, her infants are slain in the streets, her young men with the sword of the enemy.

10 What nation hath not had a part in her kingdom, and gotten of her spoils?

11 All her ornaments are taken away, of a free-woman she is become a bond-slave.

12 And behold, our sanctuary, even our beauty and our glory is laid waste, and the Gentiles have profaned it.

13 And when and therefore shall we live any longer?

14 When Mattathias and his sonnes rent their clothes, and put on sackcloth, and mourned very sore.

15 In the mean while the king's officers, such as compelled the people to travail, came into the city, to make them sacrifice.

16 And when many of Israel came unto them, Mattathias also and his sonnes came together.

17 Then and forth the king's officers and said to Mattathias on this wise, Thou art a ruler and an honourable and great man in this city, and having thee with sonnes and brethren:

18 Thou therefore come thou first, and fulfill the king's commandment, like as all the heathens have done, and also the men of Judah also and such as remain at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and the house be in the number of the living nations, and thou and thy children shall be honoured with silver and gold, and many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and saide with a loud voice, Though all the nations that are under the king's dominion obey him, and shall away every one from the religion of their fathers, and give consent to his commandments:

20 Yet will I and my sonnes and my brethren walk in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God forbid that we should forsake the law and the commandments:

22 We will not hearken to the king's words, to go from our religion, either on the right hand, or the left.

23 And when he had left speaking these words, there came one of the Jews in the sight of all, to sacrifice on the altar which was at Bethan, according to the king's commandment.

24 And when Mattathias saw him, he was inflamed with zeal, and his reins trembled, neither could he forbear to move his anger according to judgement: to wit, that he saw, and slew him upon the altar.

25 Also the king's commandment, who compelled men to sacrifice, he killed at that time, and the altar he pulled down.

26 Thus dealt he bravely in the law of God, like as Deborah did unto Samson the son of Salomon.

27 And Mattathias cried throughout the city with a loud voice, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the law, and observeth the covenant, let him follow me.

28 So he and his sonnes fled into the mountains, and left all that they had in the city.

29 Then many that sought after justice and judgement, went down into the wilderness, to dwell there.

30 And they, and their children, and their wives, and their cattell, because of afflictions, created for them.

31 And when it was told the king's servants, and the host that was at Jerusalem, in the city of David, that certain men, who had broken the king's commandment, were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness, 32 They pursued after them a great number, and having overtaken them, they camped against them, and made towers against them on the sabbath-day.

33 And they said unto them, Let that which you have done hitherto suffice, come forth, and be according to the commandment of the king, and you shall live.

34 But they said, We will not come forth.

neither will we do the kings commandment, to profane the sabbath-day.

35 So then they gave them the battell with all their.

36 Holobeth, they answered them not, neither said they a word at them, nor stopped the places where they lay hid.

37 But said, Let us die all for our innocency: heaven and earth shall testify for us, that you put us to death wrongfully.

38 So they rose up against them in battell on the sabbath, and they slew them with their wives and children, and their cattell, to the number of a thousand people.

39 Now when Mattathias and his friends understood thereof, they mourned for them right sore.

40 And one of them said to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not for our lives and laws against the heathen, they will now quickly root us out of the earth.

41 At that time therefore they decreed, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with us on the sabbath-day, we will fight against him, neither will we die all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came there unto him a company of Ashdennas, who were mighty men of Israel, even all such as were voluntarily devoted unto the law.

43 Also all they that fled for persecution, journey themselves unto them, and were a stay unto them.

44 So they joyined their forces, and smote full men in their anger, and wicked men in their wrath: but the rest fled to the heathen for succour.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went round about, and pulled down the altars.

46 And when children where they found with in the coast of Israel uncircumcised, those they circumcised privately.

47 They put down also after the proud men, and the weak professors in their hand.

48 So they recovered the law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, neither suffered they the sinners to triumph.

49 Now when the time drew near, that Mattathias should die, he said unto his sonnes, Now hath your father and rebuked gotten strength, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation: so now therefore my sonnes, be ye zealous for the law, and give your lives for the covenant of your fathers.

50 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time, so shall ye expect great honour, and an everlasting name.

51 As was not Abraham found faithful in temptation, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness?

52 Joseph in the time of his distress, kept the commandment, and was made lord of Egypt.

53 Dathan our father, in being zealous and fervent, obtained the covenant of an everlasting priesthood.

54 Elias for fulfilling the word, was made a judge in Israel.

55 Caleb for bearing witness before the congregation, received the heritage of the land.

56 David for being merciful, possessed the throne of an everlasting kingdom.

57 Elias for being zealous and fervent for the law, was taken up into heaven.

58 Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, by believing were saved out of the flame.

59 Daniel for his innocency was delivered from the mouth of lions.

60 And thus consider ye throughout all ages, that none that put their trust in him, shall be overcome.

61 Fear not then the words of a sinful man: for his glory shall be dung and worms.

62 So say ye shall be liked up, and to mortals he shall not be found, because he is returned into his dust, and his thought is come to nothing.

63 Therefore, ye my sonnes, be valiant, and shew your selves men in the behalf of the law, for by it shall you obtain glory.

64 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsel, give care unto him always: he shall be a father unto you.

65 As for Judas Maccabeus, he hath been mighty and strong, even from his youth up: let him be your captain, and fight the battell of the people.

66 Take also unto you, all those that observe the law; and avenge ye the wrong of your people.

67 Recompense fully the brethren, and take heed to the commandments of the law.

68 So he blessed them, and was gathered to his fathers.

69 And he died in the hundred forty and sixth year, and his sonnes buried him in the sepulchres of his fathers, at Bethan, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 The valour and fame of Judas Maccabeus. 10 He overthroweth the forces of Samaria & Syria. 27 Antiochus sendeth a great power against him. 44 He and his fall to fasting and prayer, 58 and are encouraged.

Then his sonne Judas, called Maccabeus, rose up in his stead.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that were with his father, and they fought with exceedingness the battell of Israel.

3 So he gat his people great honour, and put on a headpiece as a giant, and girt his warlike harness about him, and he made battells, protecting the host with his sword.

4 In his acts he was like a lion, and like a lions whelp rushing for his prey.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt up those that were his people.

6 Therefore the wicked shrank for fear of him, and all the teachers of iniquity were troubled, because salvation proceeded in his hand.

7 He grinded also many kings, and made Jacob glad with his acts, and his memorial is blessed for ever.

8 Therefore he went through the cities of Judea, destroying the ungodly out of them, and turning away much from Israel.

9 So that he was renowned unto the utmost part of the earth, and he received unto him such as were ready to perish.

10 Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together, and a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 At which thing when Judas perceived, he went forth to meet him, and so he smote him, and slew him: many also fell down slain, but the rest fled.

12 And therefore Judas took their spoils, and Apollonius' sword also, and thereupon he sought all his life long.

23 Now

13 How when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard say that Judas had gathered unto him a multitude and company of the faithful to go out with him to warre;

14 He said, I will get me a name and honour in the kingdom, for I will go fight with Judas, and them that are with him, who despise the kings commandment.

15 So he made him ready to go on, and there went with him a mighty host of the ungodly to help him, and to be avengers of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neare to the going up of Bethoron, Judas went forth to meet him with a small company.

17 And so when they saw the host coming to meet them, said unto Judas, How shall we be able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we are ready to fight with fasting all this day?

18 Unto whom Judas answered, "It is no hard matter for many to be shut up in the hands of a few; and with the God of heaven it is all one to deliver with a great multitude, or a small company."

19 For the victory of battell standeth not in the multitude of an host, but strength cometh from heaven.

20 They came against us in much pride and iniquity to destroy us, and our wives and children, and to spoil us:

21 But we fight for our lives, and our fathers. 22 And therefore the Lord himself will overthrow them before our face: and as for you, be ye not afraid of them.

23 How soon as he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly upon them, and so Seron and his host was overthrowen before him.

24 And they pursued them to the going down of Bethoron, unto the plain, where were slain about eight hundred men of them; and the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

25 Then began the fear of Judas and his brethren, and an exceeding great dread to fall upon the nations round about them:

26 Inasmuch as his fame came unto the king, and all nations talked of the battels of Judas.

27 How when king Antiochus heard these things, he was full of indignation: wherefore he sent and gathered together all the forces of his realm; even a very strong army.

28 He opened also his treasure, and gave his soldiers pay for a year, commanding them to be ready whensoever he should need them:

29 Nevertheless, when he saw that the money of his treasure was failed, and that the tributes in the country were small, because of the dissolution, and plague which he had brought upon the land, in taking away the laws which had been of old time;

30 He feared that he should not be able to bear the charges any longer, nor to have such gifts to give so liberally, as he did before: for he had abounded above the kings that were before him.

31 And therefore being greatly perplexed in his minde, he determined to go into Persia, there to take the tributes of the countries, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias, a noble man, and one of the blood royall, to oversee the affairs of the king, from the river Tappates; unto the borders of Egypt:

33 And to bring up his sonne Antiochus, until he came again.

34 How when he bestowed unto him the half of his forces and the elephants, and gave him charge of all things that he would have done, as also concerning them that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem.

35 So that he should send an army against them, to destroy and root out the strength of Israel, and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to take away their memoriall from that place.

36 And that he should place strangers in all their quarters, and before their land by lot.

37 So the king took the half of the forces that remained, and departed from Antioch to his royall city, the hundred fourth and fiftieth yeare, and having passed the river Tappates, he went through the high countries.

38 When Lysias chose Ptolemy the sonne of Dorymenes, and Helicanus, and Gorgias, mighty men of the kings sciences:

39 And with them he sent twenty thousand footmen, and seven thousand horsemen to go into the land of Judea, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by Gushim in the plain country.

41 And the merchants of the country bearing the same of them, took silver and gold very much, with Lysians, and came into the camp to buy the children of Israel for slaves: a powder also of Syria, and of the land of the Philistines, joyned themselves unto them.

42 How when Judas and his brethren saw that mischiefes were multiplied, and that the forces did encamp themselves in their borders, (for they knew how the king had given commandment to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them)

43 They said one to another, Let us reprove the decayed estate of our people, and let us fight for our people, and the sanctuary.

44 Then took the congregation gathered together, that they might be ready for battell, and that they might pray, and ask mercy and compassion.

45 How Jerusalem lay bold as a widow, there was none of the children that were in, or out the sanctuary also was troden down, and aliens kept the strong hold: the heathen had their habitation in that place, and joy was taken from Jacob, and the pipe with the harp ceased.

46 And therefore the multitude assembled themselves together, and came to Bethphage, over against Jerusalem: for in Bethphage was the place where they prayed sometime in Israel.

47 Then they fasted that day, and put on sackcloth, and cast ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes:

48 And laid upon the book of the laws which were in the heathen had sought to paint the likeness of their images.

49 They brought also the priests garments, and the first-fruits, and the tithes: and the Pharisees they stirred up, who had accomplished their dayes.

50 Then cried they with a loud voice toward heaven, saying, What shall we do with thee, and whither shall we carry thee away?

51 For the sanctuary is troden down and profaned, and thy priests are in heaviness, and brought low.

52 And so the heathen are assembled together against us to destroy us: what things they imagine against us, thou knowest.

53 How shall we be able to stand against them, except thou (O God) be our help?

14 But as for such as were building houses, or had betrothed wives, or were planting vineyards, or were reaping, or sowing, or were doing any other thing, they were to leave it, and follow Judas, according to the law.

15 So the camp removed, and pitched upon the north side of Bethanias.

16 And Judas said, Arm your selves, and be valiant men, and let that ye be in readiness against the morning, that ye may fight with these nations that are assembled together against us, to destroy us and our sanctuary.

17 For it is better for us to die in battle, than to behold the calamities of our people; and our sanctuary.

18 Nevertheless, as the will of God is in heaven, so let him do.

CHAP. III.

1 Judas descended the plot, and forced by Gorgias, 23 and spoiled their tents, 24 and overthreweth Lyfai. 25 He pulled down the altar which the heathen had profaned, and set up a new; 26 and maketh a wall about Sion.

1 Then took Gorgias and his commandment men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and removed out of the camp by night.

2 As the end he sought only to upon the camp of the Jews, and smite them suddenly. And the men of the fortress were his guides.

3 So in the night Judas heard thereof, he himself removed, and the valiant men with him, that he might smite the king's army which was at Bethanias.

4 As yet the forces were dispersed from the camp.

5 In the mean season came Gorgias by night into the camp of Judas: and when he found no man there, he sought them in the mountains: for he said he would destroy them from us.

6 But as yet it was day, Judas armed himself in the plain with eight thousand men, who nevertheless had no perfect armour, nor shields, nor spears.

target.

7 And they laid the camp of the heathen, that it was strong, and well fortified, and compassed round about with horsemen, and there were eyes of war.

8 Then said Judas to the men that were with him, Fear ye not their multitude, neither be ye afraid of their assault.

9 Remember how our fathers were distressed in the Kenite, when Harnab purchased them with an ounce.

10 Now therefore let us cry unto heaven, if peradventure the Lord will have mercy upon us, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and bestir this host before our face this day.

11 That so all the heathen may know that there is one, who delivereth and saveth Israel.

12 Then the strangers left up their eyes, and saw them coming over against them.

13 And therefore they went out of the camp to battle, but they that were with Judas sounded their trumpets.

14 So they joined battell, and the heathen being discomfited fled into the plain.

15 Doubtless all the horsemen of them were slain with the sword: for they pursued them unto Bethan: and unto the plains of Judah, and to Sotus, and Jamnia, in that there were slain of them, upon a third thousand men.

16 Thus done, Judas returned again with his host from pursuing them.

17 And said to the people, Be not greedy of the spoils, in so much as there is a battle before us.

18 And Gorgias and his host are here by us in the mountain: but stand ye now against our enemies, and overcome them, and after this ye may boldly take the spoils.

19 As Judas was yet speaking these words, there appeared a part of them looking out of the mountain.

20 And when they perceived that the Jews had the better, they fled, and were burning the tents of the heathen that was their defence: and was done.

21 And after this they perceived their things, they were slain, and were lying about the host of Judas in the plain ready to fight.

22 They flew every one into the land of strange men.

23 Then Judas returned to find the Jews, where they got money, gold, and silver, and blue silk, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 After that they were come, and sung a song of thanksgiving, and praised the Lord in heaven, because it is good, because his mercy endureth for ever.

25 Thus Israel has a great tribulation that day.

26 Now all the strangers that had escaped, came and told Lyfai what had happened.

27 So he when he heard thereof was confounded and discouraged, because neither sword, nor bow, nor shield, nor any other thing, nor any other thing, as the king's commandment, nor force, could be of avail.

28 The next year therefore following, Lyfai gathered together chariots, thousand choice men of foot, and five thousand horsemen, that he might subvert them.

29 So they came into Judah, and pitched their tents at Bethan, and Judas met them with his thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed, and said, Blessed art thou, O Saviour of Israel, who dost guard the violence of the mighty with the hand of thy servant David, and givest the host of strangers into the hands of Jonathan the son of Saul, and his arm-bearer.

31 Set up this army in the hand of the people of Israel, and let them be confounded in their power and horsemen.

32 Make them to be of no courage, and cause the boldness of their strength to fall away, and let them quake at their destruction.

33 Call them down into the flood of their love thee, and let all those that know the name, praise thee with thanksgiving.

34 So they joined battell, and there were slain of the host of Lyfai about five thousand men, even before them were they slain.

35 Now when Lyfai saw his army put to flight, and the multitude of Judas soldiers, and how they were ready either to live or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered together a company of strangers, and having made his army greater than it was, he purposed to come again into Judah.

36 Then said Judas and his brethren, Bethan, our our enemies are distressed: let us go up to cleanse and dedicate the sanctuary.

37 Upon this all the host assembled themselves together, and went up into mount Zion.

38 And when they laid the sanctuary desolate, and the altar profaned, and the gates burnt up, and shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest in one of the mountains, yea and the priests themselves pulled down;

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes upon their heads.

40 And fell down flat to the ground upon their faces, and blew an alarm with the trumpets, and cried towards heaven.

41 Then Judas appointed certain men to fight against those that were in the fortress, until he had cleansed the sanctuary.

42 For he chose priests of blameless conversation, such as had pleasure in the law.

43 And he cleansed the sanctuary, and bare out the filthy stones into an unclean place.

44 And when as they considered what to do with the altar of burnt-offerings, which was profaned;

45 They thought it best to pull it down; lest it should be a reproach to them, because the heathen had defiled it: wherefore they pulled it down.

46 And laid up the stones in the mountain of the temple in a convenient place, until there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 Then they took whole stones * according to the law, and built a new altar, according to the former:

48 And made up the sanctuary, and the things that were within the temple, and hallowed the courts.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and into the temple they brought the candlestick, and the altar of burnt-offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And upon the altar they burnt incense, and the lamps that were upon the candlestick they lighted, that they might give light in the temple.

51 Furthermore, they set the tables upon the table, and spread out the vails, and finished all the works which they had begun to make.

52 Now on the five and twentieth day of the ninth month, which is called the month Casien) in the hundred county, and right yeare they rose up betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the law, upon the new altar of burnt-offerings, which they had made.

54 Look at what time and what day the heathen had profaned it, even in that day it dedicated with songs, and otherms, and harps, and cymbals.

55 Then all the people fell upon their faces, worshipping and praising the God of heaven, who had given them good success.

56 And so they kept the dedication of the altar right dayes, and offered burnt-offerings with gladness, and sacrificed the sacrifice of deliverance and praise.

57 They deckt also the forefront of the temple with crowns of gold, and with shields, and the gates, and the chambers they crunched, and hanged doors upon them.

58 Thus was there very great gladness among the people, for that the reproach of the heathen was put away.

59 Whereupon Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, obtained that the dayes of the dedication of the altar should be kept in their seasons from yeare to yeare, (8) the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the month Casien, with mirth and gladness.

60 At that time also they built up the mount Zion with high walls, and strong towers round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it down, whereby had name to them.

61 And they set there a garrison to keep, and fortified Bethlens to preserve it, that the people might have a defence against them.

CHAP. V.

3 Judas smiteth the children of Dan, Beas, and Ammon, 17 Simon useth his Galilee, 25 The exploit of Judas in Gabaad, 31 He destroyeth Ephraim for denying him to passe through it, 36 Others that in Judas absence would fight with their enemies are slain.

NOW when the nations round about heard that the altar was built, and the sanctuary renewed as before, it displeased them very much. 2 Wherefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and thereupon they began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Chas in Idumea at Arabastine, because they besieged Israel: and he gave them a great overthrow, and abated their courage, and took their spoils.

4 Also he remembred the serpent of the children of Beas, who had been a snare and an offence unto the people, in that they lay in wait for them in the wayes.

5 He shut them up therefore in the towers, and encamped against them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt the towers of that place with fire, and all that were therein.

6 Afterward he passed over to the children of Ammon, where he found a mighty power, and much people, with Manoah their captain.

7 So he fought many battles with them, till at length they were distressed before him; and he smote them.

8 And when he had taken Jazer, with the towns belonging thereto, he returned into Judea.

9 Then the heathen that were at Gabaad assembled themselves together against the Jews: that were in their quarters, to destroy them; but they fled to the fortress of Dothaim.

10 And sent letters unto Judas and his brethren, The heathen that are round about us are assembled together against us to destroy us.

11 And they are preparing to come and take the fortress whereunto we are fled, Timotheus being captain of their host.

12 Come now therefore and deliver us from their hands, for many of us are slain.

13 Now all our brethren that were in the places of Tobie, are put to death: their wives and their children also they have carried away captives, and burn away their land, and they have destroyed there about a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet reading, behold, there came many messengers from Galilee with their clothes rent, who reported on this wise.

15 And said, They of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and Sidon, and all Galilee of the Gentiles are assembled together against us to consume us.

16 Now when Judas and the people heard these their women, there assembled a great congregation together, to consult what they should do for their brethren that were in trouble and assaule of them.

17. When said Judas unto Simon his brother, I would thee one man, and go and deliver thy brethren that are in Galilee, for I and Jonathan my brother will go into the country of Galilee.

18. So he left Joseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias, captains of the people, with the remnant of the host in Judea to keep it.

19. Unto whom he gave commandment, saying, Take ye the charge of this people, and see that you make not warre against the heathen, untill the time that we come again.

20. Now unto Simon were given three thousand men to go into Galilee, and unto Judas eight thousand men for the country of Galilee.

21. Then went Simon into Galilee, where he fought many battles with the heathen, so that the heathen were discomfited by him.

22. And he pursued them unto the gate of Ptolemais; and there were slain of the heathen about three thousand men, whose spoils he took.

23. And those that were in Galilee, and in Archarias, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, took he away [with him] and brought them into Judea with great joy.

24. Judas Maccabaeus also and his brother Jonathan, went over Jordan, and travelled three dayes journey in the wilderness.

25. Where they met with the Nabathites, who came unto them in peaceable manner, and sold them every thing that had happened to their brethren in the land of Galilee.

26. And how that many of them were shut up in Boforra, Bofora, and Bofor, and Alenna, Casphor, Bafad, and Carnaim, (all these cities are strong and great.)

27. And that they were shut up in the rest of the cities of the country of Galilee, and that against to now; so they had appointed to bring their host against the forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28. Whereupon Judas and his host turned suddenly by the way of the wilderness unto Bofora, and when he had won the city, he slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and took all their spoils, and burnt the city with fire.

29. From whence he removed by night, and went till he came to the fortress.

30. And when in the morning they looked up, and beheld, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and other engines of warre to take the fortress: so they assailed them.

31. When Judas therefore saw that the battle was begun, and that the cry of the city went up so heaven, with trumpets, and a great sound.

32. He said unto his host, Fight this day for your brethren.

33. So he went forth behinde them in three companies, who sounded their trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34. When the host of Timotheus, knowing that it was Maccabaeus, fled from him: wherefore he smote them with a great slaughter: so that there were killed of them that day about eight thousand men.

35. This done, Judas turned aside to Bafpha, and after he had assailed it, he took it, and slew all the males therein, and received the spoils thereof, and burnt it with fire.

36. From thence, went he and took Casphon, Bafad, Bofor, and the other cities of the country of Galilee.

37. After these things gathered Timotheus another host, and encamped against Bafphon beyond the brook.

38. So Judas sent [men] to spy the host, who brought him word, saying, All the heathen that be round about us, are assembled unto them, even a very great host.

39. He had also hired the Arabians to help them, and they have pitched their tents beyond the brook, ready to come and fight against thee: upon this Judas went to meet them.

40. Then Timotheus said unto the captains of his host, When Judas and his host come neare the brook, if he passe over first unto us, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will mightily prevail against us.

41. But if he be afraid, and camp beyond the river, we shall go over unto him, and prevail against him.

42. Now when Judas came neare the brook, he caused the scribes of the people to remain by the brook: unto whom he gave commandment, saying, Suffer no man to remain in the camp, but let all come to the battle.

43. So he went first over unto them, and all the people after him: then all the heathen being discomfited before him, cast away their weapons, and fled unto the temple that was at Carnaim.

44. But they took the city, and burnt the temple, with all that were therein. This was Carnaim, whither they could stand any longer before Judas.

45. Then Judas gathered together all the Israelites that were in the country of Galilee, from the least unto the greatest, even their wives, and their children, and their stuff, a very great host, to the end they might come into the land of Judea.

46. Now when they came unto Cyphon (this was a great city in the way as they should go, very well fortified) they could not turn from it, either on the right hand or the left, but must needs pass through the midst of it.

47. When they of the city cast them out, and stopped up the gates with stones.

48. Whereupon Judas cast unto them in peaceable manner, saying, Let us pass through your land to go into our own country, and none shall do you any hurt, we will only pass through on foot: holubet they would not open unto him.

49. Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that every man should pitch his tent in the place where he was.

50. So the soldiers pitched, and assailed the city all that day, and all that night, till at the length the city was delivered into his hands:

51. And he then slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and raised the city, and took the spoils thereof, and passed through the city over them that were slain.

52. After this went they over Jordan, into the great plain before Bethsan.

53. And Judas gathered together those that came behind, and he exhorteth the people all the way through, till they came into the land of Judea.

54. So they went up to mount Sion with joy and gladness, where they offered burnt-offerings, because not one of them were slain untill they had returned in peace.

captains of the garrisons, heard of the valiant acts and warlike deeds which they had done.

57 And therefore they said, Let us also get us a name, and go fight against the heathen that are round about us.

58 So when they had given charge unto the garrison that was with them, they went towards Samaria.

59 Then came Gorgias and his men out of the city to fight against them.

60 And so it was that Joseph and Arias were put to flight, and pursued unto the borders of Judea: and there were slain that day of the people of Israel, about two thousand men.

61 Thus was there a great overthrow among the children of Israel, because they were not obedient unto Judas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant act.

62 Moreover, these men came not of the seed of those, by whose hand deliverance was given unto Israel.

63 Howbeit the man Judas and his brethren, were greatly renowned in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen: wherefore their name was heard of.

64 Informed as the people assembled unto them with joyfull acclamations.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the south, where he smote Hysion, and the towers thereof, and pulled down the fortress of it, and burnt the towers thereof round about.

66 From thence he removed to go into the land of the Philistines, and passed through Samaria.

67 At that time certain priests desirous to shew their valour, were slain in battell, for that they went out to fight unadvisedly.

68 So Judas turned to Apolonia in the land of the Philistines, and when he had pulled down their altars, and burnt their carved images with fire, and spoiled their cities, he returned into the land of Judea.

CHAP. VI.

8 Antiochus dieth, 12 and confesseth that he is plagued for the wrong done to Jerusalem, 20 Judas besiegeth these in the tower at Jerusalem, 28 They procure Antiochus the younger to come into Judea, 51 He besiegeth Zion, 60 and maketh peace with Israel: 62 yet overthroweth the wall of Zion.

ABOUT that time king Antiochus travelling through the high countreys, heard say that Chimais in the countrey of Persia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, silver and gold: 2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, wherein were coverings of gold, and breast-plates, and shields which Alexander some of Philip the Macedonian king, who reigned first among the Grecians, had left there.

3 Wherefore he came and sought to take the city, and to spoil it: but he was not able, because the city having had warning thereof,

4 Rose up against him in battell: so he fled, and departed thence with great heaviness, and returned to Babylon.

5 Moreover there came one who brought him tidings into Persia: that the armies which went against the land of Judea, were put to flight:

6 And that Lysias who went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Jews, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and force of speils, which they had gotten of the armies, whom they had destroyed.

7 Also that they had pulled down the abomination which he had set up upon the altar in Jerusalem, and that they had compassed about the sanctuary with high walls as before, and his city Bethsura.

8 Now when the king heard these tidings, he was astonished, and his women, whereupon he laid him down upon his bed, and fell sick for grief, because it had not befallen him as he looked for.

9 And there he continued many dayes: for his grief was ever more and more, and he made account that he should die.

10 And therefore he called for all his friends, and said unto them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and my heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thought with my self, Into what tribulation am I come, and how great a cloud [of misery] is it wherein now I am: for I was doubtful, and beloved in my power.

12 But now I remember the evils that I did at Jerusalem, and that I took all the vessels of gold and silver that were therein, and did to destroy the inhabitants of Judea without a cause.

13 I perceive therefore that for this cause these troubles are come upon me, and behold I perish through great grief in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler over all his realm, 15 And gave him the crown and his robe, and his signet, to the end he should bring up his sonne Antiochus, and moult him up for the kingdom.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundred fourth and ninth year.

17 Now when Lysias knew that the king was dead, he set up Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought up being young) to reign in his stead, and his name he called Eupator.

18 About this time they that were in the tower, shew up the Israelites round about the sanctuary, and sought alwayes their hurt and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 And therefore Judas purposing to destroy them, called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundred and fiftieth year, and he made mounts for shot against them, and [other] engines.

21 Howbeit certain of them that were besieged got forth, unto whom some ungodly men of Israel joyned themselves.

22 And they went unto the king, and said, How long will it be ere thou execute judgement, and avenge our brethren?

23 We have been willing to serve the father, and to do as he would have us, and to obey his commandments.

24 For which cause they of our nation besiege the tower, and are alienated from us: moreover as many of us as they could light on, they slew, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 Neither have they stretched out their hand against us onely, but also against all their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the tower at Jerusalem, to take it: the sanctuary also, and Bethsura have they fortified.

27 And therefore if thou dost not prevent them quickly, they will do greater things then these, neither shalt thou be able to rule them.

† Gr. to meet them in battell.

† Or, shields. † Or, armour.

† Or he should take his sonne Antiochus to him.

18 Now when the king heard this, he was angry, and gathered together all his friends, and the captains of his army, and those that had charge of the host.

19 There came also unto him from other kingdoms, and from all parts of the sea, bands of hired soldiers.

20 So that the number of his army was an hundred thousand footmen, and thence thousand horsemen, and two and thirty elephants executed in battell.

21 These went through Iudaea, and pitched against Bethsura, which they assailed many dayes, making engines of warre; but they [of Bethsura] came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

22 Upon this Judas removed from the tower and pitched in Bethsacharias, over against the kings camp.

23 When the king rising very early marched secretly with his host toward Bethsacharias, where his armies made them ready to battell, and finished the trumpets.

24 And to the sun they might provoke the elephants to fight, they thrust them the blood of grapes and mulberries.

25 Moreover they divided the beasts among the armies, and for every elephant they appointed a thousand men armed with coats of mail, and with helmets of brass on their heads, and in shoes able, for every beast were appointed five hundred footmen of the best.

26 These were ready at every occasion: wherefore the beast was, and whither soever the beast went, they went also, neither departed they from him.

27 And upon the beasts there were strong towers of wood, which covered every one of them, and were gilt fast unto them with devices: there were also upon every one two and thirty strong men that fought upon them, besides the Arabian that ruled him.

28 As for the remnant of the footmen, they set them on this side, and that side, at the two parts of the host, giving them signes what to do, and being harnessed all over amidst the ranks.

29 Now when the sunne shone upon the shields of gold, and brass, the mountains glittered therewith, and shined like lamps of fire.

30 So part of the kings army being spread upon the high mountains, and part on the valleys below, they marched on safely, and in order.

31 Wherefore that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the racking of the harness, were moved: for the army was very great and mighty.

32 Then Judas and his host drew neare, and entered into battell, and there were slain of the kings army, five hundred men.

33 A Chapter also (summed) Sabarany, telling that one of the beasts, armed with royall harness, was bigger then all the rest, and supposing that the king was upon him.

34 But himself in feare, to the end he might deliver his people, and get him a perpetual name.

35 Wherefore he ran upon him courageously through the midst of the battell, slaying on the right hand, and on the left, so that they were divided from him on both sides.

36 And when done, he crept under the elephant, and thrust him under, and slew him: whereupon the elephant fell down upon him, and there he died.

37 Potolomit [the test of the Jews] being the strength of the king, and the violence of his forces, turned away from them.

38 Then the kings army went up to Jerusalem to meet them, and the king pitched his tents against Judea, and against mount Sion.

39 But with them that were in Bethsura he made peace: for they came out of the city, because they had no victuals there, to endure the siege, it being a year of rest to the land.

40 So the king took Bethsura, and let a garrison there to keep it.

41 As for the sanctuary, he besieged it many dayes: and set there artillery with engines, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts, and slings.

42 And thereupon they also made engines against their engines, and held them battell a long season.

43 But at the last their helms being without victuals, (for that it was the seventh year, and they in Iudaea that were delivered from the Gentiles, had eaten up the residue of the store)

44 There were but a few left in the sanctuary, because the famine did so prevail against them, that they were faine to disperse themselves, every man to his own place.

45 At that time Helias heard say, that Philis [Antiochus] the king, which he lived had appointed to hang up his sonne Antiochus, that he might be king.

46 And as he came out of Persia, and Media, and the kings host also that went with him, and that he thought to take unto him the ending of the affairs.

47 Wherefore he went in all haste, and said to the king, and the captains of the host, and the company, Come hie you daily, and our victuals are but small, and the place we lay siege unto is strong: and the affairs of the kingdom lie upon us.

48 Now therefore let us if we be friends with the men, and make peace with them, and with all their nation;

49 And covenant with them, that they shall live after their law, as they did before: for they are therefore displeased, and have done all these things because we abolished their laws.

50 So the king and the princes were content: wherefore he sent unto them to make peace, and they accepted thereof.

51 Also the king and the princes made an oath unto them: whereupon they went out of the strong hold.

52 Then the king entered into mount Sion, but when he saw the strength of the place, he brake his oath that he had made, and gave commandment to pull down the wall round about.

53 Afterward departed he in all haste, and returned unto Antiochia, where he found Philis to be master of the city. So he fought against him, and took the city by force.

ancestours, so it was, that his forces had taken Antiochus and Lyllas to bring them unto him.

3 And heretofore when he knew this, he said, Let me not see their faces.

4 So his host slew them. Now when Demetrius was set upon the throne of his kingdom.

5 There came unto him all the wicked and ungodly men of Israel, having Alcimus, (who was desirous to be high priest) for their captain.

6 And they accused the people to the king, saying, Judas and his brethren have slain all the friends, and hidden us out of our own land.

7 Now therefore send some man whom thou trustest, and let him go and see what habock he hath made amongst us, and in the kings land, and let him punish them with all them that aid them.

8 When the king chose Bacchides a friend of the king, who ruled beyond the floud, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithfull to the king.

9 And him he sent with that wicked Alcimus, whom he made high priest, and commanded that he should take vengeance of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great power into the land of Judas, where they sent messengers to Judas and his brethren with peaceable words deceitfully.

11 But they gave no heed to their words, for they saw that they were come with a great power.

12 Then did they assemble unto Alcimus, and Bacchides, a company of scribes, to require justice.

13 Now the Asidians were the first among the children of Israel that sought peace of them.

14 For said they, One that is a priest of the seed of Aaron is come with this army, and he will do us no wrong.

15 So he spake unto them peaceably, and swore unto them, saying, We will procure the harm neither of you nor your friends.

16 And heretofore they deceived him: howbeit he took of them thyscore men, and slew them in one day, according to the words which he wrote.

17 The flesh of the saints [have they cast out] and their blood have they shed round about Jerusalem, and there was none to bury them.

18 And heretofore the fear and dread of them fell upon all the people, who said, There is neither truth, nor righteousness in them, for they have broken the covenant and oath that they made.

19 After this removed Bacchides from Jerusalem, and pitched his tents in Bethan, where he sent and took many of the men that had forsaken him, and certain of the people also, and when he had slain them [he cast them] into the great pit.

20 Then committed he the country to Alcimus, and left with him a power to aid him: so Bacchides went to the king.

21 But Alcimus contended for the high priesthood.

22 And unto him resorted all such as troubled the people, who after they had gotten the land of Judas into their power, did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Judas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites, even above the heathen, 24 He went out into all the coasts of Judas round about, and took vengeance of them that had revolted from him, so that they durst no more go forth into the country.

25 On the other side, when Alcimus saw that Judas and his company had gotten the upper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide their force, he went again to the king, and said all the words of them that he could.

26 Then the king sent Alcimus, one of his honourable persons, a man that bare deadly hate unto Israel, with commandment to destroy the people.

27 So Alcimus came to Jerusalem with a great force, and sent unto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there be no battell between me and you, I will come with a few men that I may see you in peace.

29 He came therefore to Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably. Howbeit, the enemies were prepared to take away Judas by violence.

30 Which thing after it was known to Judas (to wit) that he came unto him with deceit, he was sore afraid of him, and would see his face no more.

31 Alcimus also when he saw that his counsel was discovered, went out to fight against Judas besides Japharalaima.

32 Where there were slain of Alcimus five about five thousand men, and [the rest] fled into the city of David.

33 After this went Alcimus up to mount Sion, and there came out of the sanctuary certain of the priests, a certain of the elders of the people to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt-sacrifice that was offered for the king.

34 But he mocked them, and laughed at them, and abused them shamefully, and spake proudly.

35 And stoode in his wrath, saying, Woe be to Judas and his host, he hath delivered into my hands, if ever I come again in safety, I will burn up this house: and wish that he went out in a great rage.

36 Then the priests entered in, and stood before the altar, and the temple, weeping and saying,

37 Thou, O Lord, hast choise this house to be called by thy name, and to be a house of prayer and petition for the people.

38 Be avenged of this man and his host, and let them fall by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue any longer.

39 So Alcimus went out of Jerusalem, and pitched his tents in Bethan, where an host out of Syria met him.

40 But Judas pitched in Adala with three thousand men, and there he stayed, saying,

41 O Lord, when they that were sent from the king of the Asidians blasphemed, thine angel went out and smote an hundred fourscore and five thousand of them:

42 Even so destroy thou this host before us this day, that the rest may know that he hath spoken blasphemously against thy sanctuary, & judge thou him according to his wickedness.

43 So the thirtieth day of the month Adar the hosts joyned battell, but Alcimus host was discovered, and he himself was first slain in the battell.

44 Now when Alcimus host saw that he was slain, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 Then they pursued after them a dayes journey from Adala unto Caltra, founding an alarm after them with their trumpets.

46 Whereupon they came forth out of all the towns of Judas round about, and closed them in, so that they turning back upon them that

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas is informed of the power and policy of the Romanes, 20 and maketh a league with them, 24 The articles of that league.

NOW Judas had heard of the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant men, and such as would lovingly accept all that joyned themselves unto them, and make a league of amity with all that came unto them.

2 And that they were men of great valour: it was told him also of their warres and noble acts which they had done amongst the Galatians, and how they had conquered them, and brought them under tribute.

3 And what they had done in the country of Spain, for the winning of the mines of the silver and gold which is there.

4 And that by their policy and patience they had conquered all the place (though it were very farre from them) and the kings also that came against them from the uttermost part of the earth, till they had discomfited them, and given them a great overthrow, so that the rest did give them tribute every year:

5 Besides this, how they had discomfited in battell Philip, & Hierus king of the Citins, with others that lift up themselves against them, and had overcome them:

6 How also Antiochus the great king of Asia, that came against them in battell, having an hundred and twenty elephants, with horsemen and chariots, & a very great army, was discomfited by them:

7 And how they took him alive, and constrained that he and such as reigned after him should pay a great tribute, and give hostages, and that which was agreed upon,

8 And the country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of the goodliest countries, which they took of him, and gave to king Cumenes:

9 Moreover how the Grecians had determined to come and despoile them:

10 And that they having knowledge thereof, sent against them a certain captain, and fighting with them slew many of them, and carried away captives their wives, and their children, and spoiled their lands, and took possession of their lands, and pulled down their strong holds, and brought them to be their servants unto this day.

11 [It was told him besides] how they destroyed and brought under their dominion all other kingdomes and illes that at any time resisted them:

12 That with their friends, and such as relied upon them, they kept amity: and that they had conquered kingdomes both farre and nigh, insomuch as all that heard of their name were afraid of them.

13 Also, that whom they would help to a kingdom, those reign: & whom again they would, they displace: finally, that they were greatly exalted.

14 Yet for all this, none of them wore a crown, or was clothed in purple to be magnified thereby.

15 Moreover, how they had made for themselves a senate house, wherein three hundred and twenty men sat in counsell daily, consulting always for the people, to the end they might be well ordered.

16 And that they committed their government to one man every yeare, who ruled over all their country, and that all were obedient to that one, and that there was neither envy, nor emulation amongst them.

17 In consideration of these things, Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accos, and Balon the sonne of Cleazar, and sent them to Rome to make a league of amity and confederacie with them.

18 [And to intreat them] that they would take the yoke from them, for they saw that the kingdom of the Grecians did oppress Israel with servitude.

19 They went therefore to Rome (which was a very great journey) and came into the senate, where they spake and said, 20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jews, have sent us unto you, to make a confederacy, and peace with you, and that we might be registered, your confederates and friends.

21 So that matter pleased the Romanes well.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle which (the senate) wrote back again, in tables of brasse, and sent to Jerusalem, that there they might have by them a memoriall of peace and confederacy:

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Jews, by sea and by land forever: the sword also and enemy be farre from them.

24 If there come first any warre upon the Romanes, or any of their confederates throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Jews shall help them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Neither shall they give any thing unto them that make warre upon them, or aid them with victuals, weapons, money, or ships, as it hath seemed good unto the Romanes, but they shall keep their covenant without taking any thing therefore.

27 In the same manner also, if warre come first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romanes shall help them with all their heart, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall victuals be given to them that take part against them, or weapons, or money, or ships, as it hath seemed good to the Romanes; but they shall keep their covenants, and that without deceit.

29 According to these articles did the Romanes make a covenant with the people of the Jews.

30 Wherebeit, if hereafter the one partie or the other, shall think meet to adde or diminish any thing, they may do it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the evils that Demetrius doth to the Jews, we have written unto him, saying, We therefore hast thou made thy yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates the Jews?

32 If therefore they complain any more against thee: we will do them justice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

C H A P. IX.

1 Alcimus and Bacchides come again with new forces into Judea. 7 The armie of Judas flee from him, 17 and he is slain. 30 Jonathan is in his place, 40 and revengeth his brother Johns quarrell. 55 Alcimus is plagued, and dieth. 70 Bacchides maketh peace with Jonathan.

Furthermore, when Demetrius heard that Alcimus and his host were slain in battell, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Judea the second time, and with them the chief strength of his host.

2 And he went forth by the way that leadeth to Gulgala, and pitched their tents before Betheloth, which is in Arbela, and after they had dwome it, they slew much people.

3 Also the first moneth of the hundred fiftie and second year, they encamped before Jerusalem.

4 From whence they removed and went to Beraa, with twentie thousand footmen, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tents at Eleasa, and thre thousand chosen men with him.

6 And he seeing the multitude of the other armie to be so great, were foye afraid, whereupon many conveyed themselves out of the host, inasmuch as there abode of them no more but eight hundred men.

7 When Judas therefore saw that his host slippe away, and that the battell pressed upon him, he was foye troubled in minde, and much distressed, for that he had no time to gather them together.

8 Nevertheless unto them that remained, he said, Let us arise and go up against our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they deboted him, saying, We shall never be able: let us now rather save our lives, and hereafter we will return with our brethren, and fight against them: for we are but few.

10 Then Judas said, Obed ye say that I should do this thing, and flee away from them: if our time be come, let us die manfully for our brethren, and let us not stain our honour.

11 And that the host of Bacchides removed out of their tents, and stood over against them, their horsemen being divided into two croups, and their slingers and archers going before the host, and they that marched in the forefront were all mightie men.

12 As for Bacchides he was in the right wing; to the host drew neare on the two parts, and sounded their trumpets.

13 They also of Judas side, when they sounded their trumpets also, so that the earth shook at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning till night.

14 Now when Judas perceived that Bacchides and the strength of his armie were on the right side, he took with him all the hardie men, and pursued them unto the mount Azotus.

15 And he discomfited the right wing, and pursued them unto the mount Azotus.

16 But when they of the left wing saw that they of the right wing were discomfited, they followed upon Judas and those that were with him, hard at the heels from behind.

17 Whereupon there was a foye battell, inasmuch as many were slain on both parts.

18 Judas also was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 Then Jonathan and Simon took Judas their brother, and buried him in the sepulchre of his fathers in Bethin.

20 Moreover they bewailed him, and all Israel made great lamentation for him, and mourned many dayes, saying, 21 Now is the valiant man fallen, that delivered Israel!

22 As for the other things concerning Judas and his warres, and the noble acts which he did, and his greatnesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 And now after the death of Judas, the wicked began to put forth their heads in all the coasts of Israel, and there rose up all such as wrought iniquitie.

24 In those dayes also was there a verie great famine, by reason whereof the country revolted, and went with them.

25 Then Bacchides chose the wicked men, and made them lords of the country.

26 And they made enquire and search for Judas friends: and brought them unto Bacchides, who took vengeance of them, and put them to death.

27 So was there a great affliction in Israel, the like whereof was not since the time that a prophet was not seen amongst them.

28 For this cause all Judas friends came together, and said unto Jonathan, 29 Since thy brother Judas died, we have no man like him to go forth against our enemies, and Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are adversaries to us.

30 Now therefore we have chosen thee this day to be our prince, and captain in his stead, that thou mayest fight our battels.

31 Upon this, Jonathan took the governance upon him at that time, and rose up in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides gat knowledge thereof, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, and all that were with him, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Cheroe, and pitched their tents by the water of the pool Apphar.

34 And which when Bacchides understood, he came neare to Jordan with all his host upon the sabbath-day.

35 Now Jonathan had sent his brother [John] a captain of the people, to pay his friends the Nababites, that they might leave with them their carriage, which was much.

36 But the children of Jambai came out of Gedada, and took John and all that he had, and went their way with it.

37 After this came word to Jonathan and Simon his brother, that the children of Jambai made a great marriage, and were bringing the bride from Nababaiha with a great train, as being the daughter of one of the great princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went up and hid themselves under the covert of the mountain.

39 Where they lay: up their eyes and looked, and behold, there was much ado and great carriage: and the bridegroom came forth; and his friends & brethren to meet them with dummies and instruments of musick, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathan and they that were with him, rose up against them from the place where they lay in ambush, and made a slaughter of them in such sort, as many fell down dead, and the remnant fled into the mountain, and they took all their spoils.

41 Thus was the marriage turned into mourning, and the noise of their merrorie into lamentation.

42 So when they had changed fully the blood of their brother, they turned again to the marsh of Jordan.

43 Now when Bacchides heard thereof, he came on the sabbath-day unto the banks of Jordan with a great power.

44 When Jonathan said to his company, Let us go up now and fight for our lives, for it standeth not with us to day, as in time past :

45 For behold, the battell is before us and behind us, and the water of Jordan on this side and that side, the marsh likewise and wood, neither is there place for us to turn aside.

46 Wherefore cry ye now unto heaven, that ye may be delivered from the hands of your enemies.

47 Which that they joyned battell, and Jonathan stretched forth his hand to smite Bacchides, but he turned back from him.

48 When Jonathan and they that were with him, leapt into Jordan, and swam over unto the farther bank : howbeit the other passed not over Jordan unto them.

49 So there were slain of Bacchides side that day about f a thousand men.

50 Afterward returned [Bacchides] to Jerusalem, and repaired the strong cities in Judea : the fort in Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethojon, and Bethel, and Channatha, Pharathon, and I Tappon (these did he strengthen with high walls, with gates, and with towers)

51 And in them he set a garrison, that they might work mischief upon Israel.

52 He fortified also f the city Bethsura, and Chazana, and the tower, and put forces in them, and provision of victuals.

53 Besides, he took the chief mens homes in the country for hostages, and put them into the tower at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 Moreover, in the hundred fifty and third year, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary should be pulled down : he pulled down also the books of the prophets.

55 And as he began to pull down, even at that time was Alcimus plagued, and his enterprises hindered : for his mouth was stopped, and he was taken with a palsy, so that he could no more speak any thing, nor give order concerning his house.

56 So Alcimus died at that time with great torment.

57 Now when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he returned to the king, wherupon the land of Judea was in rest two years.

58 Then all the ungodly men held a counsel, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his company are at ease, and dwell without care : now therefore we will bring Bacchides hither, who shall take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Then removed he, and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to his adherents in Judea, that they should take Jonathan and those that were with him : howbeit they could not, because their counsel was known unto them.

61 Wherefore they took of the men of the country that were authors of that mischief, about sixtie persons, and slew them.

62 Afterward Jonathan and Simon, & they that were with him, got them away to Bethbail, which is in the wilderness, and they repaired the decays thereof, and made it strong.

63 Which thing when Bacchides knew, he gathered together all his host, and sent word to them that were of Judea, 64 When went he and laid siege against Bethbail, and they fought against it a long season, and made engines of warre.

65 But Jonathan left his brother Simon in the city, and went forth himself into the country, and with a certain number went he forth.

66 And he smote Demetrius and his brethren, and the children of Phasion in their tent.

67 And when he began to smite them, and came up with his forces, Simon and his company went out of the city, and burnt up the engines of warre.

68 And fought against Bacchides, who was discomfited by them, and they afflicted him sore. For his counsel and travell was in vain.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men that gave him counsel to come into the country, inasmuch as he slew many of them, and purposed to return into his own country.

70 Wherof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours unto him, to the end he should make peace with him, and deliver them the prisoners.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his demands, and swore unto him that he would never do him harm all the dayes of his life.

72 When therefore he had restored unto him the prisoners that he had taken aforesaid out of the land of Judea, he returned and went his way into his own land, neither came he any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel : but Jonathan dwelt at Bethchamas, and began to govern the people, and he destroyed the ungodly men out of Israel.

1 IN the hundred and sixtieth year, Alexander the sonne of Antiochus surnamed Epiphanes, went up and took Ptolemais : for the people had received him, by means wherof he reigned there.

2 Now when king Demetrius heard thereof, he gathered together an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Moreover, Demetrius sent letters unto Jonathan with loving words, so as he magnified him.

4 For, said he, Let us first make peace with him, before he joyn with Alexander against us :

5 Else he will remember all the evils that we have done against him, and against his brethren, and his people.

6 Wherefore he gave him authority to gather together an host, and to provide weapons that he might aid him in battell : he commanded also that the hostages that were in the tower, should be delivered him.

7 Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the tower.

9 And hereupon they of the tower delivered their hostages unto Jonathan, and he delivered them unto their parents.

10 This done, Jonathan settled himself in Jerusalem, and began to build and repair the city.

11 And he commanded the workmen to build the walls, and the mount Zion round about with square stones, for fortification, and they did so.

12 When the strangers that were in the fortresses which Barchides had built, fled away :

13 Inasmuch as every man left his place, and went into his own country.

14 Only at Bethsura certain of those that had forsaken the laws and the commandments, remained still; for it was their place of refuge.

15 Now when king Alexander had heard what promises Demetrius had sent unto Jonathan : when also it was told him of the battles and noble acts which he and his brethren had done, and of the pains that they had endured, 16 He said, Shall we finde such another man ? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it unto him according to these words, saying, 18 King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, sendeth greeting.

19 We have heard of thee, that thou art a man of great power, and meet to be our friend.

20 We therefore now this day we appoint thee to be the high priest of the nation, and to be called the kings friend (and therewithall he sent him a purple robe and a crown of gold) [and require thee] to take our part, and keep friendship with us.

21 So in the seventh moneth of the hundred and sixtieth year, at the feast of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy robe, and gathered together forces, and provided much armour.

22 Whereof when Demetrius heard, he was very joy, and said,

23 What have we done, that Alexander hath preferred us, in making amitie with the Jews to strengthen himself ?

24 I also will write unto them words of encouragement [and promise them] dignities and gifts that I may have their aid.

25 He sent unto them therefore, to this effect : King Demetrius unto the people of the Jews, sendeth greeting.

26 Whereas you have kept covenants with us, and continued in our friendship, not joining your selves with our enemies, we have heard thereof, and are glad :

27 We therefore now continue ye still to be faithful unto us, and we will well recompense you for all things you do in our behalf.

28 And will grant you many immunities, and give you rewards.

29 And now do I free you, and for your sake I release all the Jews from tributes, and from the customes of sale, and from crown-taxes,

30 And from that which appertaineth unto me to receive for the third part of the seed, and the half of the fruit of the trees, I release it from this day forth, so that they shall not be taken of the land of Judea, nor of the three governments which are added therunto out of the country of Samaria, and Galilee, from this day forth forevermore.

31 Let Jerusalem also be holy and free, with the borders thereof, both from tents and tributes.

32 And as for the tower, which is at Jerusalem, I yield up my authority over it, and give it to the high priest, that he may sit in it such men as he shall choose to keep it.

33 Moreover, I freely set at liberty every one of the Jews that were carried captives out of the land of Judea, into any part of my kingdom, and I will that all my officers remit their tributes even of their cattle.

34 Furthermore, I will that all the feasts and sabbaths, and new moons, and solemn days, and the three days before the feast, and the three days after the feast, shall be all days of immunity and freedom for all the Jews in my realm.

35 Also no man shall have authority to meddle with them, or to molest any of them in any matter.

36 [I will further] that there be enrolled amongst the kings forces about thirty thousand men of the Jews, unto whom pay shall be given as belongeth to all the kings forces.

37 And of them some shall be placed in the kings strong holds, of whom also some shall be set over the affairs of the kingdom, which are of trust : and I will that their overseers and governors be of themselves, and that they live after their own laws, even as the king hath commanded in the land of Judea.

38 And concerning the three governments that are added to Judea from the country of Samaria, let them be joyned with Judea, that they may be reckoned to be under one, no bound to obey other authority then the high priests.

39 As for Bodelmais and the land pertaining thereto, I give it as a free gift to the sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expenses of the sanctuary.

[Or, of the] holy things.

40 Moreover, I give every yeare fifteen thousand shekels of silver out of the kings accounts from the places appertaining.

41 And all the overplus which the officers payed not in, as in former time, from henceforth shall be given towards the works of the temple.

42 And besides this, the five thousand shekels of silver, which they took from the uses of the temple out of the accounts yeare by yeare, when those things shall be released, because they appertain to the priests that minister.

43 And whosoever they be that flee unto the temple at Jerusalem, or be within the liberties thereof, being inebred unto the king, or for any other matter, let them be at liberty, and all that they have in my realm.

44 For the building also and repairing of the works of the sanctuary, expenses shall be given of the kings accounts.

45 And, and for the building of the walls of Jerusalem, & the fortifying thereof round about, expenses shall be given out of the kings accounts, as also for the building of the walls in Judea.

46 Now when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gave no credit unto them, nor received them, because they remembered the great evil that he had done in Israel; for he had afflicted them very long.

47 But with Alexander they were well pleased, because he was the first that treated of true peace with them, and they were confederate with him allways.

48 Then gathered king Alexander great forces, and camped over against Demetrius.

49 And after the two kings had joyned battle, Demetrius host fled : but Alexander followed after him, and persecuted against them.

50 And he continued the battle very long.

till the sunne went down, and that day was Demetrius slain.

51 Afterward Alexander sent ambassadours to Ptoleme king of Egypt, with a message to this effect:

52 Forasmuch as I am come again to my realm, & am set in the throne of my progenitors, and have gotten the dominion, and overthrow Demetrius, and recovered our country.

53 (For after I had joyned battell with him, both he and his host was discomfited by us, so that he sit in the throne of his kingdom.)

54 Now therefore let us make a league of amitie together, and give me now thy daughter to wife: and I will be thy sonne in law, and will give both thee and her gifts, according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptoleme the king gave answer, saying, Happy be the day wherein thou shalt return into the land of thy fathers, and latest in the chjone of their kingdom.

56 And now will I do to thee, as thou hast written: meet me therefore at Ptolemais, that we may see one another, for I will marry my daughter to thee according to thy desire.

57 So Ptoleme went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and they came unto Ptolemais in the hundred thirtieth and second year.

58 Where king Alexander meeting him, gave unto him his daughter Cleopatra, and celebrated her marriage at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 Now king Alexander had written unto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 And he thereupon went honourably to Ptolemais, where he met the two kings, and gave them and their friends silver and gold, and many presents, and found favour in their sight.

61 At that time certain perfidious fellows of Israel, men of a wicked life, abused themselves against him, to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 Then now then that the king commanded to take off his garments, and clothe him in purple: and they did so.

63 And he made him sit by himself, and laid unto his piers, So with him into the midst of the city, and make proclamation, that no man complain against him of any unrighteousness, and that no man trouble him for any manner of crime.

64 Now when his accusers saw that he was honoured according to the proclamation, and clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 So the king honoured him, and wrote him amongst his chief friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Afterward Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladness.

67 Furthermore, in the hundred thirtieth and fifth year, came Demetrius sonne of Demetrius, out of Grece into the land of his fathers.

68 Whereupon king Alexander heard tell, he was right wile, and returned into Antioch.

69 Then Demetrius made Apollonius the governor of Coelosyria his general, who gathered together a great host, and camped in Tannia, and sent unto Jonathan the high priest, saying,

70 Thou alonekest up thy self against us, and I am laughed to scorn for thy sake, and reproached, and why dost thou want the power against us in the mountains?

71 Now therefore if thou vailest in thine own strength, come down to us into the plain fields, and there let us try the matter together: for why we is the power of the cities.

72 Ask and learn who I am, and the rest that take our part, and they shall tell thee that thy foot is not able to stand before our face: for the fathers have ben twice put to flight in their own land.

73 Therefore now thou shalt not be able to abate the hostemen, and to great a power in the plain, where is neither stone nor flint, nor place to flee unto.

74 So when Jonathan heard these words of Apollonius, he was moved in his minde, and choosing ten thousand men, he went out of Jerusalem, where Simon his brother met him for to help him.

75 And he pitched his tents against Joppe, but they of Joppe shut him out of the city, because Apollonius had a garrison there.

76 Then Jonathan laid siege unto it: whereupon they of the city let him in for fear: and so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 And hereof when Apollonius heard, he took three thousand hostemen with a great host of footmen, and went to Azotus as one that journeyed, and therewithall he drew him forth into the plain, because he had a great number of hostemen, in whom he put his trust.

78 Then Jonathan followed after him to Azotus, where the armies joyned battell.

79 Now Apollonius had left a thousand hostemen in Azotus.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment betwixt him; for they had compassed in his host, and cast darts at the people, from morning till evening.

81 But the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them: and so the enemies hosts were fiered.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, and let them against the footmen (for the hostemen were spent) who were discomfited by him, and then.

83 The hostemen also being scattered in the fields, fled to Azotus, and went into Bethdagon their idols temple for safety.

84 But Jonathan let fire on Azotus, and the cities round about it, and took their spoils: and the temple of Dagon, which they had there fled into it, he burnt with fire.

85 Thus there were burnt and slain with the sword, well nigh eight thousand men.

86 And from thence Jonathan removed his host, and camped against Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great pomp.

87 After this returned Jonathan and his host unto Jerusalem, having many spoils.

88 Now when king Alexander heard these things, he honoured Jonathan yet more.

89 And sent him a buckle of gold, as the use is to be given to such as are of the kings blood: he gave him also Accaron with the baylers thereof in possession.

CHAP. XL

12 Ptolemus taketh away his daughter from Alexander, and entreats upon his kingdom. 17 Alexander is slain, and Ptolemus dieth within three days. 20 Jonathan besiegeth the tower at Jerusalem. 26 The Jews and he are much honoured by Demetrius. 28 who is rescued by the Jews from his own subjects in Antioch. 37 Antiochus the younger honoureth Jonathan: 61 his exploits in divers places.

And the king of Egypt gathered together a great host, like the sand that lieth upon the sea sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to get Alexanders kingdom, and joye it to his own.

2 Whereupon he took his journey into Syria in peaceable manner, to as they of the cities opened unto him, and met him; for king Alexander had commanded them so to do, because he was his father in law.

3 Now as Ptoleme entered into the cities, he set in every one of them a garrison of soldiers to keepe it.

4 And when he came neare to Aiotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Aiotus and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies that were cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battell, for they had made heaps of them by the way where he should passe.

5 Also they told the king whatforsee Jonathan had done, to the intent he might blame him: but the king held his peace.

6 Then Jonathan met the king with great pomp at Aiotus, where they saluted one another, and lodged.

7 Afterward Jonathan, when he had gone with the king to the river called Cleudrus, returned again to Jerusalem.

8 King Ptoleme therefore having gotten the bounden of the cities by the sea, unto Seleucia upon the sea-coast, imagined wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 Whereupon he sent ambassadours unto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let us make a league betwixt us, and I will give thee my daughter whom Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdom.

10 For I repent that I gave my daughter unto him, for he sought to slay me.

11 Thus did he slander him, because he was desirous of his kingdom.

12 Wherefore he took his daughter from him, and gave her to Demetrius, and so took Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptoleme entered into Antioch, where he set two crowns upon his head, the crown of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the mean season was king Alexander in Cilicia, because those that dwell in those parts had revolted from him.

15 But when Alexander heard of this, he came to warre against him, whereupon king Ptoleme brought forth his host, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 So Alexander fled into Arabia, there to be defended, but king Ptoleme was exalted.

17 For Zabdiel the Arabian took off Alexanders head, and sent it unto Ptoleme.

18 King Ptoleme also died the chiefe day after, and they that were in the strong holds, were slain one of another.

19 By this means Demetrius reigned in the hundred threetye and sevend year.

20 At the same time Jonathan gathered together them that were in Judea, to take the tower that was in Jerusalem: and he made many engines of warre against it.

21 When certain ungodly persons who hated their own people, went unto the king, and told him that Jonathan besieged the tower.

22 Whereof when he heard, he was angry, and immediately removing, he came to Ptoleme, and thence unto Jonathan, that he should not lay siege to the tower, but come and speak with him at Ptolemas in great haste.

23 Nevertheless Jonathan when he heard this, commanded to besiege it [still] and he chose certain of the elders of Israel, and the priests, and put himself in peril.

24 And took silver and gold, and talent, and others presents besides, and went to Ptoleme, unto the king, where he found favour in his sight.

25 And though certain ungodly men of the people had made complaints against him, 26 Yet the king increased him as his benefactors had done before, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends.

27 And confirmed him in the high priesthood, and in all the honours that he had before, and gave him preeminence among his chief friends.

28 Then Jonathan beseeched the king, that he would make Judea free from taxes, as also the three governments with the country of Samaria, and he promised him three hundred talents.

29 So the king consented: where letters unto Jonathan of all these things after this manner.

30 King Demetrius unto his brother Jonathan, and unto the nation of the Jews, sendeth greeting.

31 I do send you here a copy of the letter which we did write unto our cousin Antiochus concerning you, that you might see it.

32 King Demetrius unto his father Antiochus, sendeth greeting.

33 We are determined to do good to the people of the Jews, who are our friends, and keep covenants with us, because of their good will towards us.

34 I therefore we have ratified unto them the borders of Judea, with the three governments of Ephraim, and Simeon, and Ramathem, that are added unto Judea, from the country of Samaria, and all things appertaining unto them, for all such as do service in Jerusalem, in stead of the payments which the king received of them yearly, as yettings out of the fruits of the sabbath, and of trees.

35 And as for other things that belong unto us, of the tithes and customs pertaining unto us, as also the salt-pits, and the crown-taxes, which are due unto us, we discharge them of them all for their relief.

36 And nothing hereof shall be revoked from this time forth for ever.

37 I will therefore see that thou make a copie of these things, and let it be delivered unto Jonathan, and let upon the holy mount in a conspicuous place.

38 After this, when king Demetrius saw that the land was quiet before him, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his forces, every one to his own place, except certain bands of strangers, whom he had gathered from the isles of the heathen: wherefore all the fathers of his fathers hated him.

39 Moreover there was one Tryphon, that had been of Alexanders part afore, who seeing that all the host murmured against Demetrius, went to Sinalus the Arabian, that brought up Antiochus the young sonne of Alexander.

40 And lay siege upon him, to deliver him [this young Antiochus] that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him therefore all that Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre were at enmity with him, and there he remained a long season.

41 In the mean time Jonathan sent unto king Demetrius, that he would call those of the tower out of Jerusalem, and those also in the fortresses, for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent unto Jonathan, saying,

708

I will not only do this for thee and thy people, but I will greatly honour thee and thy nation, if thou wilt serve me.

43 Now therefore thou shalt do well if thou send me men to help me: for all my forces are gone from me.

44 Upon this Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men unto Antioch, and when they came to the king, the king was very glad of their coming.

45 Howbeit, they that were of the city gathered themselves together into the midst of the city, to the number of an hundred and twenty thousand men, and would have slain the king.

46 Wherefore the king fled into the court, but they of the city kept the passages of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Jews for help, who came unto him all at once, and dispersing themselves through the city, slew that day in the city to the number of an hundred thousand.

48 Also they let fire on the city, and gat many spoils that day, and delivered the king.

49 So when they of the city saw that the Jews had got the city as they would, their courage was abated, wherefore they made supplication to the king, and cried, saying,

Or, be friends with us.

50 Grant us peace, and let the Jews cease from assaulting us and the city.

51 With which they cast away their weapons, and made peace, and the Jews were honoured in the sight of the king, and in the sight of all that were in his realm, and they returned to Jerusalem, having great spoils.

52 So king Demetrius sat on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him.

53 Nevertheless, he dissembled in all that ever he spake, and estranged himself from Jonathan, neither rewarded he him according to the benefits which he had received of him, but troubled him very sore.

54 After this returned Tryphon, and with him the young child Antiochus, who reigned and was crowned.

55 Then they gathered unto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had put away, and they fought against Demetrius, who turned his back and fled.

† Or, beasts.

56 Moreover, Tryphon took the † elephants, and dwome Antioch.

57 At that time young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I confirm thee in the high priesthood, and appoint thee ruler over the four governments, and to be one of the kings friends.

† Or, and service.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels † to be served in, and gave him leave to drink in gold, and to be clothed in purple, and to wear a golden buckle.

Or, to remove him from the affairs of the kingdom.

64 He went to meet them, and left Simon his brother in the country.

65 Then Simon encamped against Bethsur, and fought against it a long season, and shut it up:

66 But they desired to have peace with him, which he granted them, and then put them out from thence, and took the city, and set a garrison in it.

67 As for Jonathan and his host, they pitched at the water of Genezar, from whence sometimes in the morning they gat them to the plain of Haisa.

68 And behold, the host of strangers met them in the plain, who having laid men in ambush for him in the mountains, came themselves over against him.

69 So when they that lay in ambush rose out of their places, and joined battell, all that were of Jonathans side fled:

70 Inasmuch as there was not one of them left, except Dattathias the sonne of Absalom, and Judas the sonne of Calphi, the captains of the host.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth upon his head, and prayed.

72 Afterwards turning again to battell, he put them to flight, and so they ran away.

73 Now when his own men that were fled saw this, they turned again unto him, and with him pursued them to Cades, even unto their own tents, and there they camped.

74 So there were slain of the heathen that day, about three thousand men: but Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XII.

I. Jonathan reneweth his league with the Romans and Lacedemonians. 28 The forces of Demetrius thinking to surprize Jonathan, flee away for fear. 35 Jonathan fortifieth the castles in Judea, 48 and is shut up by the fraud of Tryphon in Ptolemai.

Now when Jonathan saw that the time served him, he chose certain men, and sent them to Rome, for to confirm and renew the friendship that they had with them.

2 He sent letters also to the Lacedemonians, and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went unto Rome, and entered into the senate, and said, Jonathan the high priest, and the people of the Jews sent us unto you, to the end you should renew the friendship which you had with them, and league, as in former time.

4 Upon this the Romanes gave them letters unto the governours of every place, that they should bring them into the land of Judea peacefully.

5 And this is the copy of the letters which Jonathan wrote unto the Lacedemonians:

6 Jonathan the high priest, and the elders of the nation, and the priests, and the other people of the Jews, unto the Lacedemonians their brethren and greeting.

7 There were letters sent in times past unto Darius the high priest from Darius, who reigned then among you, to signifye that you are our brethren, as the copy here under-written doth signifye.

9 Therefore we also, albeit we need none of these things, for that we have the holy books of scripture in our hands to comfort us,

10 have neverthelesse attempted to send unto you, for the renewing of brotherhood and friendship, lest we should become strangers unto you altogether: for there is a long time passed since you sent unto us.

11 And therefore at all times without ceasing, both in our feasts, and other convenient dayes, do remember you in the sacrifices which we offer, and in our prayers, as reason is, and as it becometh us to think upon our brethren:

12 And we are right glad of your honour.

13 As for our selves, we have had great troubles and warres on every side, so much as the kings that are round about us, have fought against us.

14 Howbeit we would not be troublesome unto you, nor to others of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we have help from heaven that succoureth us, so as we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are brought under foot.

16 For this cause we chose Ptolemius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Idalon, and sent them unto the Romanes, to renew the amity that we had with them, and the former league.

17 And I commanded them also to go unto you, and to salute you, and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And therefore now ye shall do well to give us an answer thereto.

19 And this is the copy of the letters which Onias sent.

20 Arcus king of the Lacedemonians, to Onias the high priest, greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Lacedemonians and Jews are brethren, and that they are of the stock of Abraham:

1 Gr. peace.

22 Now therefore, since this is come to our knowledge, you shall do well to write unto us of your prosperity.

23 And to write back again to you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours. We do command therefore [our ambassadours] to make report unto you on this wise.

24 Now when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him with a greater host then afore, 25 he removed from Jerusalem, and met them in the land of Amathis: for he gave them no respite to enter his country.

26 He sent spies also unto their tents, who came again, and told him that they were appointed to come upon them in the night season.

27 And therefore so soon as the sunne was down, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in arms, that all the night long they might be ready to fight: also he sent forth sentinels round about the host.

28 But when the adversaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and they kindled fires in their camp.

29 Howbeit Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the lights burning.

30 Then Jonathan pursued after them, but overtook them not: for they were gone over the river Chrysus.

31 And therefore Jonathan turned to the Arabians, who were called Zabadeans, and smote them, and took their spoils.

32 And removing thence he came to Damascus, and so passed through all the country.

33 Simon also went forth, and passed through the country unto Ascalon, and the holds there adjoining, from whence he turned aside to Joppe, and wan it.

34 For he had heard that they would deliver the hold unto them that took Demetrius part, wherefore he set a garrison there to keep it.

35 After this came Jonathan home again, and calling the elders of the people together, he consulted with them about building strong holds in Judea.

36 And making the walls of Jerusalem higher, and raising a great mount between the tower and the city, for to separate it from the city, that so it might be alone, that men might neither sell nor buy in it.

37 Upon this they came together, to build up the city [so much as] part of the wall toward the hook on the east side was fallen down, and they repaired that which was called Caphtatha.

38 Simon also set up Asida, in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 Now Tryphon went about to get the kingdom of Asia, and to kill Antiochus the king, that he might set the crown upon his own head.

40 Howbeit he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, and that he would fight against him: wherefore he sought a way how to take Jonathan, that he might kill him. So he removed, and came to Bethlan.

41 Then Jonathan went out to meet him with fourty thousand men chosen for the battell, and came to Bethlan.

42 Now when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great a force, he durst not stretch his hand against him:

43 But received him honourably, and commended him unto all his friends, and gave him gifts, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient unto him, as to himself.

44 Unto Jonathan also he said, Why hast thou put all this people to so great trouble, seeing there is no warre betwixt us?

45 Therefore send them now home again, and choote a few men to wait on thee, and come thou with me to Idolemais, for I will give it thee, and the rest of the strong holds and forces, and all that have any charge: as for me, I will return and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 So Jonathan beseeching him, did as he had him, and sent away his host, who went into the land of Judea.

47 And with himself he retained but thret thousand men, of whom he sent two thousand into Galilee, and one thousand went with him.

48 Now as soon as Jonathan entered into Idolemais, they of Idolemais shut the gates, and took him, and all them that came with him, they slew with the sword.

49 Then sent Tryphon an host of footmen, and horsemen into Galilee and into the great plain, to destroy all Jonathan's company.

50 But when they knew that Jonathan and they that were with him were taken and slain, they encouraged one another, and went close together prepared to fight.

51 They therefore that followed upon them, perceiving that they were ready to fight for their lives, turned back again.

52 And thereupon they all came into the land of Judea peaceably, and there they dwelt. Jonathan, and them that were with him, and they were for afeard; wherefore all Israel made great lamentation.

53 When all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them: for, said they, they have no captain, nor any to help them: now therefore let us make warre upon them, and take away their memoriall from amongst men.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Simon is made captain in his brother Jonathan's room. 19 Tryphon getteth two of Jonathan's sonnes into his hand, and slayeth their father. 27 The tombe of Jonathan. 36 Simon is favoured by Demetrius, 40 and winneth Gaza, and the tower at Jerusalem.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon had gathered together a great host, to invade the land of Judea and destroy it,

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and fear, he went up to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gave them exhortation, saying, Ye our selves know what great things I and my brethren, and my fathers house have done for the laws and the sanctuary, the battels also and troubles which we have seen,

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slain for Israels sake, and I am left alone:

5 Now therefore be it farre from me, that I should spare mine own life in any kind of trouble: for I am no better then my brethren.

6 Doubtlesse I will avenge my nation and the sanctuary, and our wives and our children: for all the heathen are gathered to destroy us of very malice.

7 Now as soon as the people heard these words, their spirit revived.

8 And they answered with a loud voice, saying, Thou shalt be our leader in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brother.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoever thou commandest us, that will we do.

10 So then he gathered together all the men of warre, and made haste to finish the walls of Jerusalem, and he fortified it round about.

11 Also he sent Jonathan the sonne of Abshalon, and with him a great power to Ptope, who seeking out them that were therein, remained there in it.

12 So Tryphon removed from Ptolemais with a great power to invade the land of Judea, and Jonathan was with him in warre.

13 But Simon pitched his tents at Abida, over against the plain.

14 Now when Tryphon knew that Simon was risen up in stead of his brother Jonathan, and meant to joyn battell with him, he sent messengers unto him, saying,

15 Whereas we have Jonathan thy brother in hold, it is for money that he is owing unto the kings treasure, if concerning the business that was committed unto him.

16 And therefore now send an hundred talents of silver, and two of thy sonnes for hostages, that when he is at liberty he may not revolt from us, and we will let him go.

17 Whereupon Simon, albeit he perceived that they spake deceitfully unto him, yet sent he the money, and the children, lest peradventure he should procure to himselfe great hatred of the people:

18 And so might have said, Because I sent him not the money and the children, therefore is [Jonathan] dead.

19 So he sent them the children and the hundred talents: howbeit Tryphon dissimuled, neither would he let Jonathan go.

20 And after this came Tryphon to invade the land, and destroy it, going round about by the way that leadeth unto Adona, but Simon and his host marched against him in every place whereforever he went.

21 Now they that were in the tower, sent messengers unto Tryphon, to the end that he should hasten his coming unto them by the wilderness, and send them victuals.

22 Wherefore Tryphon made ready all his hostmen to come that night, but there fell a very great snow, by reason whereof he came not. So he departed and came into the countrey of Galad.

23 And when he came neare to Balcama, he slew Jonathan, who was buried there.

24 Afterward Tryphon returned, and went into his own land.

25 Then sent Simon, and took the bones of Jonathan his brother, and buried them in Abidin the cite of his fathers.

26 And all Israel made great lamentation for him, and bewailed him many dayes.

27 Simon also built a monument upon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, and raised it aloft to the sight, with stones behind and before.

28 Moreover, he set up seven pyramides one against another, for his father and his mother, and his seven brethren.

29 And in these he made cunning devices, a house the which he set great pillars, and upon the pillars he made all their armour for a perpetual memory, and by the armour ships carved, that they might be seen of all that sail on the sea.

30 This is the sepulchre which he made at Abidin, and it standeth yet unto this day.

31 Now Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young king Antiochus, and slew him.

32 And he reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe king of Asia, and brought a great calamity upon the land.

33 Then Simon built up the strong holds in Judea, and fenced them about with high towers, and great walls, and gates, and barres, and layed up victuals therein.

34 Moreover, Simon chose men, and sent to king Demetrius, to the end he should give the land an immunity, because that all that Tryphon did was to spoil.

35 Unto whom king Demetrius answered, and wrote after this manner:

36 King Demetrius unto Simon the high priest, and friend of kings, as also unto the elders, and nation of the Jews sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crown and the scarlet robe which ye sent unto us, we have received: and we are ready to make a steadfast peace with you, yea, and to tender unto our officers, to confirm the immunities which we have granted.

38 And whatsoever covenants we have made with you, shall stand; and the strong holds which ye have builded, shall be your own.

39 As for any oversight, or fault committed unto this day, we forgive it, and the crown-tax also which ye owe us: and if there were any other tribute paid in Jerusalem, it shall no more be paid.

40 And look who are meet among you to be † Gr. in the strong hold.

† Gr. all Tryphons doings were robberies.

† Or, for the affairs, or of fees that he had, or the necessary uses which he had.

in our court, let them be enrolled, and let there be peace betwixt us.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken away from Israel, in the hundred and seventeenth year.

42 Then the people of Israel began to write in their instruments and contracts, in the first year of Simon the high priest, the governour and leader of the Jews.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, he made also an engine of warre, and set it by the city, and battered a certain tower, and took it.

44 And they that were in the engine, leapt into the city: whereupon there was a great uproar in the city.

45 Inasmuch as the people of the city rent their clothes, and climbed upon the walls with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Simon to grant them peace.

46 And they said, Deal not with us according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 So Simon was appealed towards them, and fought no more against them, but put them out of the city, and cleaned the houses wherein the idols were: and so entered into it with songs and thanksgiving.

48 Yea, he put all uncleannesse out of it, and placed such men there, as would keep the law, and made it stronger then it was before, and built therein a dwelling place for himself.

49 They also of the tower in Jerusalem were kept so feare, that they could neither come forth, nor go into the countrey, nor buy, nor sell: wherefore they were in great distress for want of victuals, and a great number of them perished through famine.

50 Then cried they to Simon, beseeching him to be at one with them, which thing he granted them, and when he had put them out from thence, he cleaned the tower from pollutions:

51 And entered into it the three and twentieth day of the second month in the hundred seventy and one year, with thanksgiving and branches of palm-trees, and with harps, and cymbals, and with viols, and hymnes, and songs: because there was destroyed a great enemy out of Israel.

52 He ordained also that that day should be kept every year with gladnesse. Moreover, the hill of the temple that was by the tower he made stronger then it was, and there he dwelt himself with his company.

53 And when Simon saw that John his sonne was a valiant man, he made him captain of all the hosts, and dwelt in Gazara.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Demetrius is taken by the king of Persia. 4 The good deeds of Simon to his countrey. 18 The Lacedemonians and Romans renew their league with him. 26 A memoriall of his acts is set up in Sion.

NOW in the hundred threecore and twelfth year king Demetrius gathered his forces together, and went into Arabia, to get him help to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Ariaces the king of Persia and Arabia, heard that Demetrius was entered with-in his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 And he went and smote the host of Demetrius, and took him, and brought him to Ariaces, by whom he was put in ward.

4 As for the lands of Judaea, that was quiet all the dayes of Simon; for he sought the good of his nation in such wise, as that evermore his authority and honour pleased them well.

5 And as he was honourable (in all his acts) so in this, that he took Typpa for an haven, and made an entrance to the foyles of the sea,

6 And enlarged the bounds of his nation, and recovered the countrey,

7 And gathered together a great number of captives, and had the dominion of Gazara, and Bethsura, and the tower out of the which he took all uncleannesse, neither was there any that resisted him.

8 Then did they till their ground in peace, and the earth gave her increase, and the trees of the field their fruit.

9 The ancient men sat all in the streets, communing together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel.

10 He provided victuals for the cities, & set in them all manner of munition, so that his honourable name was renowned unto the end of the world.

11 He made peace in the land, and Israel rejoiced with great joy.

12 For every man sat under his vine, and his fig-tree, and there was none to fray them:

13 Neither was there any left in the land to fight against them: yea, the kings themselves were overthrown in those dayes.

14 Moreover, he strengthened all those of his people that were thought weakest: law he searched out, and every contravener of the law, and wicked person he took away.

15 He beautified the sanctuary, and multiplied the vessels of the temple.

16 Now when it was heard at Rome, and as farre as Sparta, that Jonathan was dead, they were very joy.

17 But when as they heard that his brother Simon was made high priest in his stead, and ruled the countrey, and the cities therein:

18 They wrote unto him in tables of brass, to renew the friendship and league which they had made with Judas & Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem.

20 And this is the copy of the letters that the Lacedemonians sent, The rulers of the Lacedemonians, with the cite, unto Simon the high priest, and the elders and priests, & residue of the people of the Jews, our brethren, send greeting.

21 The ambassadours that were sent unto our people, certified us of your glory and honour, wherefore we are glad of their coming:

22 And do register the things that they spoke in the counsel of the people, in this manner. Flumenius sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater sonne of Jason, the Jews ambassadours, came unto us to renew the friendship they had with us.

23 And it pleased the people to entertain the men honourably, and to put the copy of their ambassage in publick records, to the end the people of the Lacedemonians might have a memoriall thereof: furthermore, we have written a copy thereof unto Simon the high priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Flumenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirm the league with them.

25 Whereof when the people heard, they said, What thanks shall we give to Simon and his sonnes?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father have established Israel, and chased away in fight their enemies from them, and confirmed their liberty.

†6, to give them his right hand.

†6, to make peace with them.

†6, the wealth of the land.

* 1. King. 4. 25.

27 So then they wrote [it] in the tables of brass, which they set upon pillars in mount Sion, and this is the copy of the writing. The eighteenth day of the month Chis, in the hundred threescore and twelfth year, being the third yeare of Simon the high priest,

¶ Or, Ierusalem per adventure by corruption and transposition of letters, or as some think, the common hall where they met to consult of matters of estate.

28 At ¶ Saramel in the great congregation of the priests and people, and rulers of the nation, and elders of the country, were these things notified unto us.

29 Forasmuch as oftentimes there have been warres in the country, wherein for the maintenance of their sanctuary, and the law, Simon the sonne of Mattathias of the posteritie of Iarib, together with his brethren, put themselves in jeopardy, and resisting the enemies of their nation, did their nation great honour.

30 For after that Jonathan having gathered his nation together, and been their high priest, was added to his people;

31 Their enemies purposed to invade their country, that they might destroy it, and lay hands on the sanctuary.

¶ Or, the men of warre,

32 At which time Simon rose up, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his own substance, and armed ¶ the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages,

¶ Or, weapons.

33 And fortified the cities of Judea, together with Bethsura that lieth upon the borders of Judea, where the ¶ armour of the enemies had been before, but he set a garrison of Jews there.

¶ Or, Gaza,

34 Moreover, he fortified Ioppe which lieth upon the sea, and ¶ Asara that lieth upon Acorus, where the enemies had dwelt before; but he placed Jews there, and furnished them with all things convenient for the reparation thereof.

35 The people therefore seeing the acts of Simon, and unto what glory he thought to bring his nation, made him their governour, and chief priest, because he had done all these things, and for the justice and faith which he kept to his nation, and for that he fought by all means to exalt his people.

¶ Or, unto religion.

36 For in his time things prospered in his hands, so that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also that were in the city of David in Ierusalem, who had made themselves a tower, out of which they issued and polluted all about the sanctuary, and did much hurt ¶ in the holy places.

37 But he placed Jews therein, and fortified it for the safety of the country, and the city, and raised up the walls of Ierusalem.

38 King Demetrius also confirmed him in the high priesthood, according to those things, 39 And made him one of his friends, and honoured him with great honour.

40 For he had heard say, that the Romanes had called the Jews their friends & confederates, and brethren; and that they had entertained the ambassadors of Simon honourably.

41 Also that the Jews and priests were well pleased that Simon should be their governour and high priest for ever, untill there should arise a faithful prophet.

42 Moreover, that he should be their captain, and should take charge of the sanctuary, to set them over their works, and over the country, and over the armour, and over the fortresses, that [I say] he should take charge of the sanctuary.

43 Besides this, that he should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and wear gold.

44 Also that it should be lawfull for none of the people of priests, to break any of these things, or to gainsay his words, or to gather an assembly in the country without him, or to be clothed in purple, or wear a buckle of gold.

45 And whosoever should do otherwise, or break any of these things, he should be punished.

46 Thus it liked all the people to deal with Simon, and to do as hath been said.

47 Then Simon accepted hereof, and was well pleased to be high priest, and captain, and governour of the Jews and priests, and to defend them all.

48 So they commanded that this writing should be put in tables of brass, and that they should be set up within the compass of the sanctuary in a conspicuous place.

49 Also that the copies thereof should be laid up in the treasure, to the end that Simon and his sonnes might have them.

CHAP. XV.

4 Antiochus desireth leave to passe through Judea, and granteth great honours to Simon and the Jews. 16 The Romanes write to diverse kings and nations, to favour the Jews. 27 Antiochus quarrelleth with Simon, 38 and sendeth some to annoy Judea.

Moreover, Antiochus sonne of Demetrius the king, sent letters from the isles of the sea, unto Simon the priest, and prince of the Jews, and to all the people.

2 The contents wherof were these: King Antiochus to Simon the high priest, and prince of his nation, and to the people of the Jews, greeting:

3 Forasmuch as certain pestilent men have usurped the kingdome of our fathers, and my purpose is to challenge it again, that I may restore it to the old estate, and to that end have gathered a multitude of forin souldiers together, and prepared ships of warre,

4 I meaning also being to go through the country, that I may be avenged of them that have destroyed it: and made many cities in the kingdome desolate.

5 Now therefore I confirm unto thee all the obligations which the kings before me granted thee, and whatsoever gifts besides they granted.

6 I give thee leave also to coyn money for thy country with thine own stamp.

7 And as concerning Ierusalem, and the sanctuary, let them be free, and all the armour that thou hast made, and fortresses that thou hast built, and keepst in thine hands, let them remain unto thee.

8 And if any thing be, or shall be owing to the king, let it be forgotten thee, from this time forth for evermore.

9 Furthermore, when we have obtained our kingdome, we will honour thee, and thy nation, and the temple with great honour, so that your honour shall be known throughout the world.

10 In the hundred threescore and fourteenth year went Antiochus into the land of his fathers: at which time all the forces came together unto him, so that few were left with Tryphon.

11 Wherefore being pursued by king Antiochus, he fled unto Doya, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles came upon him all at once, and that his forces had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Doya, having with him an hundred and twenty thousand men of warre, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 And when he had compassed the city round about, and joynd ships close to the town on the sea side, he beset the city by land and by sea, neither suffered he any to go out or in.

15 In the mean season came Numenius, and his company from Rome, having letters to the kings and countreys: wherein were written these things:

16 Lucius, Consul of the Romanes, unto king Ptoleme greeting:

17 The Jews ambassadours, our friends and confederates, came unto us to renew the old friendship and league, being sent from Simon the high priest, and from the people of the Jews.

18 And they brought a shield of gold, of a thousand pound.

19 We thought it good therefore to write unto the kings and countreys, that they should do them no harm, nor fight against them, their cities or countreys, nor yet aid their enemies against them.

20 It seemed also good to us to receive the shield of them.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent fellows, that have fled from their country unto you, deliver them unto Simon the high priest: that he may punish them according to their own law.

22 The same things wrote he likewise unto Demetrius the king, and Attalus, to Ariarathes and Ariaces, ¶ Or, Ariathes.

¶ Or, Sampsi-ces.

¶ Or, Basilis.

23 And to all the countreys, and to Sampharims and the Lacedemonians, and to Delus, and Syndus, and Sicyon, and Caria, and Samos, and Samphyla, and Lycia, and Halicarnassus, and Rhodus, and Phaselis, and Cos, and Sider, and Aradus, and Corthyne, and Cnidus, and Cypus, and Syrene.

24 And the copy hereof they wrote to Simon the high priest.

¶ Gr. bringing his forces to it.

25 So Antiochus the king camped against Doza the second day, assaulting it continually, and making engines, by which means he shut up Eryphon, that he could neither go out nor in.

26 At that time Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to aid him: silver also and gold, and much armour.

27 Nevertheless he would not receive them: but brake all the covenants which he had made with him afore, and became strange unto him.

28 Furthermore he sent unto him Athenobius, one of his friends, to commune with him, and say, Thou withhold Joppe and Gazara, with the tower that is in Jerusalem, which are cities of my realm.

29 The borders thereof ye have wasted, and done great hurt in the land, and got the dominion of many places within my kingdom.

30 Now therefore deliver the cities which ye have taken, and the tributes of the places whereof ye have gotten dominion without the borders of Judea.

¶ Or, except the borders, Sec.

31 Else give me for them five hundred talents of silver, and for the harm that you have done, and the tributes of the cities, other five hundred talents: if not, we will come and fight against you.

¶ Or, subdue
you in fight.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jerusalem, and when he saw the glory of Simon, and the cupboard of gold, and silver plate, and his great attendance, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said unto him, We have neither taken other mens land, nor holden that which appertaineth to others, but the inheritance of our fathers, which our enemies had wrongfully in possession a certain time.

34 Wherefore we having opportunity, hold the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou demandest Joppe and Gazara, albeit they did great harm unto the people in our country, yet will we give an hundred talents for them. Athenobius answered him not a word.

36 But returned in a rage to the king, and made report unto him of these speeches, and of the glory of Simon, and of all that he had seen: whereupon the king was exceeding wroth.

37 In the mean time fled Eryphon by ship unto Dithosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captain of the sea coast, and gave him an host of footmen and horsemen.

39 And commanded him to remove his host toward Judea: also he commanded him to build up Cesion, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but as for the king himself, he pursued Eryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came to Jamnia, and began to provoke the people, and to invade Judea, and to take the people prisoners, and slay them.

41 And when he had built up Cesion, he set horsemen there, and an host [of footmen] to the end that issuing out they might make outrides upon the wayes of Judea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

3 Judas and John prevail against the forces sent by Antiochus. 11 The captain of Jericho inviteth Simon and two of his souldiers into his castle, and there treacherously murdereth them. 19 John is sought for, 22 and escaped, and killeth those that sought for him.

Then came up John from Gazara, and told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 Wherefore Simon called his two eldest sonnes, Judas and John, and said unto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, have ever from our youth unto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and things have prospered so well in our hands, that we have delivered Israel oftentimes.

3 But now I am old, and ye [by Gods mercy] are of a sufficient age: be ye in stead of me and my brother, and go and fight for our nation, and the help from heaven be with you.

4 So he chose out of the country twenty thousand men of warre with horsemen, who went out against Cendebeus, and rested that night at Bordin.

5 And when as they rose in the morning, and went into the plain, behold, a mighty great host both of footmen and horsemen, came against them: howbeit, there was a water-brook betwixt them.

6 So he and his people pitched over against them, and when he saw that the people were afraid to go over the water-brook, he went first over himself, and then the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 [That done] he divided his men, and set the horsemen in the midst of the footmen: for the enemies horsemen were very many.

8 Then sounded they with the holy trumpets: whereupon Cendebeus and his host were put to flight, so that many of them were slain, and the remnant gat them to the strong hold.

9 At that time was Judas Johns brother wounded, but John still followed after them, un-will he come to Cyprus, which [Cordobus] had built.

For, which when he had set on fire, they fled unto the towers in the fields of Azorus, and there were slain, &c.

10 [So they fled then unto the towers in the fields of Azorus, whereto he burnt it with fire: so that there were slain of them about two thousand men. Afterward he returned into the land of Judea in peace.

11 Moreover, in the plain of Bertheo was Ptolemaeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of silver and gold.

12 For he was the high priests sonne in law.

13 Wherfore his heart being lifted up, he thought to get the country to himselfe, and thereupon consulted deceitfully against Simon and his sonnes to destroy them.

14 Now Simon was visiting the cities that were in the country, and taking care for the good ordering of them, at which time he came down himselfe to Bertheo with his sonnes, Phatathas and Judas, in the hundredth threescore and seventh year, in the eleventh moneth called Sabaot:

15 Where the sonne of Abubus receiving them deceitfully into a little hold called Docus, which he had built, made therein a great banquet: howbeit he had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had drunk largely, Ptolemaeus and his men rose up and took their weapons, and came upon Simon into the banqueting place, and slew him and his two sonnes, and certain of his servants.

17 In which doing he committed a great treachery, and recompensed evil for good.

18 Then Ptolemaeus wrote these things, and sent to the king, that he should send him an host to aid him, and he would deliver him the country and cities.

19 He sent orders also to Gazara to kill John, and unto the 7 tribunes he sent letters to come unto him, that he might give them silver, and gold, of thousands, and rewards.

20 And others he sent to take Jerusalem, and the mountain of the temple.

21 Now one day runne afore to Gazara, and told John that his father and his brethren were slain, and [quoth he] Ptolemaeus had sent to slay thee also.

22 Whereof when he heard, he was sore astonished: so he laid hands on them that were come to destroy him, and slew them, for he knew that they sought to make him away.

23 As concerning the rest of the acts of John, and his waeres and worthy doings which he did, and the building of the walls which he made, and his doings.

24 Behold, these are written in the Chronicles of his priesthood, from the time he was made high priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

1 A letter of the Jews from Jerusalem to them of Egypt, to thank God for the death of Antiochus.

19 Of the fire that was hidden in the pit. 24

The prayer of Nicanor.

he brethren the Jews that be at Jerusalem, and in the land of Judea, with unto the brethren the Jews that are throughout Egypt, health and peace.

2 God be gracious unto you, and remember his covenant that he made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, his faithful servants.

3 And give you all an heart to serve him, and to do his will with a good courage, and a willing mind.

4 And open your hearts in his law and commandments, and send you peace.

5 And heare your prayers, and be at one with you, and never forsake you in time of trouble.

6 And now we be here praying for you.

7 At that time as Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth threescore and ninth year, we the Jews wrote unto you in the extremity of trouble, that came upon us in those years, from the time that Jason and his company revolted from the holy land and kingdom:

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood. When we prayed unto the Lord, and were heard: the offered also sacrifices, and fire flowers, and lighted the lamps, and set forth the loaves.

9 And now let that ye keep the feast of tabernacles in the month Cassieu.

10 In the hundredth fourscore and eighth year, the people that were at Jerusalem, and in Judea, and the counsel, and Judas, sent greeting and health unto Aristobolus, king Ptolemaeus master, who was of the stock of the anointed priests, and to the Jews that were in Egypt:

11 Inasmuch as God hath delivered us from great perils, we thank him highly, as having been in battell against a king.

12 For he cast them out that sought within the holy city.

13 For when the leader was come into Persia, and the army with him that seemed invincible, they were slain in the temple of Samara, by the device of Samaeas priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though he would marry her, came into the place, and his friends that were with him, to receive money in name of a dowry.

15 Which when the priests of Samaea had set forth, and he was entred with a small company into the compass of the temple, they shut the temple as soon as Antiochus was come in.

16 And opening a pitie doore of the roof, they threw stones like thunderbolts, and strooke down the captaine, hewed them in pieces, smote off their heads, and cast them to those that were without.

17 Blessed be our God in all things, who hath delivered us from the ungodly.

18 Therefore wheras we are now purposed to keep the purification of the temple upon the five and twentieth day of the month Cassieu, we thought it necessary to certify you thereof, that ye also might keep it, as the [feast] of the tabernacles, and of the fire [which was given us] when Nicanor offered sacrifice, after that he had builded the temple, and the altar.

19 For

19 For when our fathers were led into Persia, the priests that were then devout, took the fire of the altar purily, and hid it in a hollow place of a pit without water, where they kept it sure, so that the place was unknown to all men.

20 Now after many yeares, when it pleased God, Neemias being sent from the king of Persia, did send of the posterity of those priests that had hid it, to the fire: but when they told us, they found no fire, but thick water;

21 Then commanded he them to draw it up, and to bring it; and when the sacrifices were laid on, Neemias commanded the priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things laid thereupon, with the water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that every man marvelled.

23 And the priests made a prayer whilst the sacrifice was consuming. I say both the priests, and all the rest, Jonathan beginning, and the rest answering the same, as Neemias did.

24 And the prayer was after this manner, O Lord, Lord God, creator of all things, who art fearful and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious King,

25 The onely giver of all things, the onely just, Almighty and everlasting, thou that deliverest Israel from all trouble, and didst choost the taberna, and sanctifie them

26 Receive the sacrifice for thy whole people Israel, and preserve thine own portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together that are scattered from us, deliver them that serve among the heathen, look upon them that are despised and abhorred, and let the heathen know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppress us, and with pride do us wrong.

29 Bless thy people again in thy holy place, as Moses hath spoken.

30 And the priests sang psalmes of thanksgiving.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the water that was left, to be poured on the great stones.

32 When this was done, there was kindled a flame: but it was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was known, it was told the king of Persia, that in the place where the priests that were led away, had hid the fire, there appeared water, and that Neemias had purified the sacrifices therewith.

34 Then the king inquiring the place, made it holy after he had tried the matter.

35 And the king took many gifts, and bestowed thereof on those whom he would gratifie.

36 And Neemias called this thing Mithribar, which is as much to say, a cleansing: but many men call it Mephi.

CHAP. II.

1 What Jeremiah the prophet did, 5 How he hid the tabernacle, the ark, and the altar, 12 What Neemias and Judas wrote, 20 What Jafon wrote in five books, 25 And how these were abridged by the author of this book.

It is also found in the records, that Jeremiah the prophet commanded them that were carried away, to take of the fire, as it hath been signified.

2 And how that the prophet having given them the law, charged them not to forget the commandments of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they see images of silver, and gold, with their ornaments.

3 And how other such speeches exhorted he them, that the law should not depart from their hearts.

4 It was also contained in the same writing, that the prophet being warned of God, commanded the tabernacle and the ark to go with him, as he went forth into the mountain, where Moses climbed up, and saw the heritage of God.

5 And when Jeremie came thither, he found an hollow cave wherein he laid the tabernacle, and the ark, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And some of those that followed him, came to mark the way, but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremie perceived, he blamed them, saying, As for that place, it shall be unknown until the time that God gather his people again together, and receive them unto mercy.

8 Then shall the Lord shew them these things, and the glory of the Lord shall appear, and the cloud also as it was shewed under Moses, and as when Solomon desired that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 It was also declared that he being wise, offered the sacrifice of dedication, and of the finishing of the temple.

10 And as when Moses prayed unto the Lord, the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the sacrifices: even so prayed Solomon also, and the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the burnt-offerings.

11 And Moses said, Because the time-offering was not to be eaten, it was consumed.

12 So Solomon kept those eight dayes.

13 The same things also were reported in the writings, and commentaries of Neemias, and how he founding a library, gathered together the acts of the kings and the prophets, and of David, and the epistles of the kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 In like manner also Judas gathered together all those things that were lost, by reason of the warre we had, and they remain with us.

15 Wherefore if ye have need thereof, send some to fetch them unto you.

16 Wherewith we then are about to celebrate the purification, we have written unto you, and ye shall do well if ye keep the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God that delivereth all his people, and gave them all an heritage, and the kingdom, and the priesthood, and the sanctuary,

18 As he promised in the law, will shortly have mercy upon us, and gather us together out of every land under heaven, into the holy place: for he hath delivered us out of great troubles, and hath purified the place.

19 Now as concerning Judas Maccabeus, and his brethren, and the purification of the great temple, and the dedication of the altar.

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Capatris his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heaven, unto those that behaved themselves manfully to their honour for Iudas sake: so that being but a few they overcame the whole country, and chosen barbarous multitudes.

22 And recovered again the temple renowned all the world over, and freed the city, and upheld the law, which were going down, the Law de-ing gracious unto them with all labour:

23 All these things (I say) being declared by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we will assaye to abridge in one volume.

24 For considering the infinite number, and the difficulty which they finde that desire to look in to the narrations of the story, for the variety of the matter.

25 We have been carefull, that they that will read, might have delight, and that they that are desirous to commit to memory, might have ease, and that all into whose hands it comes, might have profit.

26 Therefore to us that have taken upon us this painfull labour of abridging, it was not easie, but a matter of sweat and watching.

27 Even as it is no ease unto him that preparerth a banquet, and seeketh the benefit of others, yet for the pleasing of many, we will undertake gladly this great pain:

28 Leaving to the author the exact handling of every particular, and labouring to follow the rules of an abridgement.

29 For as the master-builder of a new house must care for the whole building: but he that undertaketh to set it out, and paint it, must seek out fit things for the adorning thereof: even so I think it is with us.

30 To stand upon every point, and go over things at large, and to be curious in particulars, belongeth to the first author of the story.

31 But to use brevity, and avoid much labouring of the work, is to be granted to him that will make an abridgement.

32 Were then will we begin the story: onely adding thus much to that which hath been said, that it is a foolish thing to make a long prologue, and to be short in the story it self.

CHAP. III.

I Of the honour done to the temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 4 Simon uttereth what treasures are in the temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 24 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

NOW when the holy city was inhabited with all peace, and the laws were kept very well, because of the godliness of Onias the high priest, and his hatred of wickedness.

2 It came to passe that even the kings themselves did honour the place, and magnifie the temple with their best gifts:

3 Inasmuch that Seleucus king of Asia, of his own revenues, bare all the costs belonging to the service of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin, who was made governor of the temple, fell out with the high priest about disorder in the city.

5 And when he could not overcome Onias, he gat him to Apollonius the sonne of Thateas, who then was governor of Coelosyria and Phenice.

6 And told him that the treasure in Jerusalem was full of infinite summes of money, so that the multitude of their riches which did not pertain to the account of the sacrifices was innumerable, and that it was possible to bring all into the kings hand.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money wherof he was told, the king choole out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandment, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 So forthwith Heliodorus took his journey, under a colour of visiting the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but indeed to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 And when he was come to Jerusalem, and had been courteously received of the high priest of the city, he told him what intelligence was given of the money, and declared wherof he came, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then the high priest told him that there was such money laid up for the relief of widows and fatherlesse children:

11 And that some of it belonged to Hircanus, sonne of Tobias, a man of great dignity, and not as that wicked Simon had mis-informed: the summe wherof in all was foure hundred talents of silver, and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it was altogether impossible that such wrongs should be done unto them, that had committed it to the holiness of the place, and to the majestic and inviolable sanctity of the temple, honoured over all the world.

13 But Heliodorus, because of the kings commandment given him, said, That in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasure.

14 So at the day which he appointed, he entered in to order this matter: wherfore there was no small agonie throughout the whole city.

15 But the priests prostrating themselves before the altar in their priests vestments, called unto heaven upon him that made a law concerning things given to be kept, that they should safely be preserved for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then when he had looked the high priest in the face, it would have wounded his heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour, declared the inward agonie of his minde.

17 For the man was so compassed with fear, and horrour of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked upon him, what sorrow he had now in his heart.

18 Others ran flocking out of their houses to the generall supplication, because the place was like to come into contempt.

19 And the women girt with sackcloth under their breasts, abounded in the streets, and the virgins that were kept in ran, some to the gates, and some to the walls, and others looked out of the windows:

20 And all holding their hands towards heaven, made supplication.

21 Then it would have pitted a man to see the falling down of the multitude of all sorts, and the fear of the high priest, being in such an agonie.

22 They then called upon the Almighty Lord, to keep the things committed of trust, safe and sure, for those that had committed them.

23 Nevertheless, Heliodorus executed that which was decreed.

24 Now as he was there present himself with his guard about the treasure, the Lord of spirits, and the prince of all power caused a great apparition, so that all that presumed to come in with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fainted, and were sore afraid.

25 For there appeared unto them an hoste with a terrible rider upon him, and adorned with a very fair covering, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his foefcet, and it seemed that he that sat upon the hoste, had complete harness of gold.

26 Moreover, two other young men appeared before him, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparel, who stood by him on either either live, and scourged him continually, and gave him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly unto the ground, and was compassed with great darkness: but they that were with him, took him up, and put him into a litter.

28 Thus him, that lately came with a great train, and with all his guard into the said treasury, they carried out, being unable to help himself with his weapons: and manifestly they acknowledged the power of God.

29 For he by the hand of God was cast down, and lay speechless without all hope of life.

30 But they praised the Lord that had miraculously honoured his own people: for the temple which a little afore was full of fear and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with joy and gladness.

31 Then straightway certain of Heliodorus' friends, prayed Onias that he would call upon the most high to grant him his life, who lay ready to give up the ghost.

32 So the high priest, suspecting lest the king should misconceive, that some treacherie had been done to Heliodorus by the Jews, offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now as the high priest was making an atonement, the same young men, in the same clothing, appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Give Onias the high priest great thanks, inasmuch as for his sake the Lord hath granted thee life.

34 And seeing that thou hast been scourged from heaven, declare unto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken their words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus, after he had offered sacrifice unto the Lord, and made great vows unto him that had saved his life, and saluted Onias, returned with his host to the king.

36 Then testified he to all men, the works of the great God, which he had seen with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who might be a fit man to be yet sent once again to Jerusalem, he said, 38 If thou hast any enemies or traitors, send him thither, and thou shalt receive him well scourged: if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is an especial power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heaven, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beareth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 And the things concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasury, fell out on this sort.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 Simon slandereth Onias. 7 Jason by corrupting the king, obtaineth the office of the high priest.

24 Menelaus getteth the same from Jason by the like corruption. 24 Andronicus traitorously murdereth Onias. 36 The king being informed thereof, causeth Andronicus to be put to death.

39 The wickedness of Lyfimachus by the instigation of Menelaus.

This Simon now (of whom we spake afore) having been a betrayer of the money, and of his country, slandered Onias, as if he had justified Heliodorus, and been the worker of these evils.

2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitour, that had deserved well of the city, and tended his own nation, and was so zealous of the laws.

3 But when their hatred went so farre, that by one of Simons faction, murders were committed,

4 Onias seeing the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as being the governor of Coclosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increase Simons malice,

5 He went to the king, not to be an accuser of his countrymen, but seeking the good of all both publick and private:

6 For he saw that it was impossible, that the state should continue quiet, and Simon leave his folly, unless the king did look thereunto.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, took the kingdom, Jason the brother of Onias, laboured under-hand to be high priest.

8 Promising unto the king by intercession, three hundred and threescore talents of silver, and of another revenue, eight talents:

9 Beside this, he promised to assigne an hundred and fiftie more, if he might have licence to set him up a place for exercise, and for the training up of youth in the fashions of the heathen, and to write them of Jerusalem (by the name of) Antiochians.

10 Which when the king had granted, and he had gotten into his hand the rule, he forthwith brought his own nation to the Greekish fashion.

11 And the royall priviledges granted of speciall favour to the Jews, by the means of John the father of Eupolemus, who went ambassadour to Rome for amitie and aid, he took away; and putting down the governments which were according to the law, he brought up new customs against the law.

12 For he built gladly a place of exercise under the tower it self, and brought the chief young men under his subjection, and made them wear a hat.

13 Now such was the height of Greek fashions, and increase of heathenish manners, through the exceeding profaneness of Jason that ungodly wretch, and not high priest:

14 That the priests had no courage to serve any more at the altar, but despising the temple, & neglecting the sacrifices, haltered to be partakers of the unlawful allowance in the place of exercise, after the game of Discus called them forth;

15 Not setting by the honours of their fathers, but liking the glory of the Grecians best of all.

16 By reason whereof some calamity came upon them: for they had them to be their enemies and avengers, whose customs they followed so earnestly, and unto whom they desired to be like in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to do wickedly against the laws of God: but the time following shall declare these things.

18 Now when the game that was used every fifth years, was kept at Tirus, the king being present, 19 This ungracious Jason sent speciall messengers from Jerusalem, who were Antiochians, to carry three hundred drachmes of silver to the sacrifice of Hercules, which even the bearers thereof thought fit not to bestow upon the sacrifice, because it was not convenient, but to be reserved for other charges.

20 This money then in regard of the sender, was appointed to Hercules sacrifice, but because of the bearers thereof, it was employed to the making of gallees.

21 Now when Apollonius the sonne of Antiochus was sent unto Egypt, for the coronation of king Ptolemus Idollmetor, Antiochus understanding him not to be well affected to his affairs, provided for his own safety: whereupon he came to Joppe, and from thence to Jerusalem.

22 Where he was honourably received of Jason, and of the city, and was brought in with torch-light, light, and with great shouting; and so afterwards went with his host unto Phenice.

23 Three years afterwards Jason sent Hecelias the steward Simon's brother, to bear the money unto the king, and to put him in minde of certain necessitate matters.

24 But he being brought to the presence of the king, when he had magnified him for the glorious appearance of his power, got the priesthood to himself, offering more then Jason by three hundred talents of silver.

25 So he came with the kings mandate, bringing nothing worthy the high priesthood, but having the fury of a cruel tyrant, and the rage of a savage beast.

26 Then Jason, who had undermined his own brother, being undermined by another, was compelled to flee into the country of the Ammonites.

27 So Hecelias got the principality: but as for the money that he had promised unto the king, he took no good order for it, albeit Sosistratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For unto him appertained the gathering of the customs. Wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Hecelias left his brother Lyfimachus in his head in the priesthood, and Sosistratus left Crates: who was gouvernour of the Cyrenians.

30 While those things were in doing, they of Ephraim and Gallos made insurrection, because they were given to the kings concubine called Antiochia.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appease matters, leaving Andronicus a man in authority, for his deputy.

32 Now Hecelias supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certain vessels of gold out of the temple, and gave some of them to Andronicus, and some he sold into Tyrus, and the cities round about.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproved him, and withdrew himself into a sanctuary at Daphne, that lieth by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Hecelias taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to get Onias into his hands; who being perswaded therunto, and coming to Onias in secret, gave him his right hand with oaths, and though he were suspected (by him) yet perswaded he him to come forth of the sanctuary: whom forthwith he shut up without regard of justice.

35 For the which cause not onely the Jews, but many also of other nations took great indignation, and were much grieved for the unjust manner of the man.

36 And when the king was come again from the places about Cilicia, the Jews that were in the cite, and certain of the Greeks that abhorred the fact also complained because Onias was slain without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was heartily sorry, and moved to pity, and wept, because of the sober and modest behaviour of him that was dead.

38 And being kindled with anger, forthwith he took away Andronicus his purple, and rent off his clothes, and leading him through the whole city unto that very place where he had committed impiety against Onias, there slew he the cruel murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 Now when many sacrifices had been committed in the city by Lyfimachus, with the consent of Hecelias, and the bruit thereof was spread abroad, the multitude gathered themselves together against Lyfimachus; many vessels of gold being already carried away.

40 Whereupon the common people rising, and being filled with rage, Lyfimachus armed about three thousand men, and began first to offer violence; one I Arcamas being the leader, a man farre gone in years, and no lesse in folly. [Or, Tyrant]

41 They then seeing the attempt of Lyfimachus, some of them caught stones, some clubs, others taking handfuls of dust, that was met at hand, cast them altogether upon Lyfimachus, and those that set upon them.

42 Thus many of them they wounded, and some they stroke to the ground, and all [of them] they forced to flee: but as for the church-robber himself, him they killed besides the treasury.

43 Of these matters therefore there was an accusation laid against Hecelias.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men that were sent from the Senate, pleaded the cause before him:

45 But Hecelias being now convicted, promised Hecelias the same of Dorymenes, to give him much money, if he would pacifie the king towards him.

46 Whereupon Hecelias taking the king aside into a certain gallery, as it were to take the aire, brought him to be of another minde.

47 Inasmuch that he discharged Hecelias from the accusations, who notwithstanding was cause of all the mischief: and those poore men, who if they had told their cause, yea, before the Syrians, should have been judged innocent, them he condemned to death.

48 Thus they that followed the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy vessels, did soon suffer unjust punishment.

49 Wherefore when they of Tyrus moved with hatred of that wicked deed, caused them to be honourably buried.

50 And so though the covetousness of them that were of power, Hecelias remained still in authority, increasing in malice, and being a great traitour to the citizens.

ABOUT the same time Antiochus prepared his second voyage into Egypt:

2 And then it happened that though all the city, for the space almost of forty dayes, there were seen hostemen running in the aire, in cloth of gold, and armed with lances, like a band of soldiers,

3 And croups of hostemen in aray, encountering and running one against another, with shaking of shields, and multitude of speakes, and drawing of swords, and casting of darts, and glittering of golden ornaments, and harness of all sorts. [Or, slaves,

4 Wherefore every man prayed that that apparition might turn to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Jason took at the least a thousand men, and suddenly made an assault upon the city, and they that were upon the walls, being put back, and the city at length taken, Hecelias fled into the castle.

6 But Jason slew his own citizens without mercy (not considering that to get the day of them of his own nation, would be a most unhappy day for him: but thinking they had been his enemies, and not his countrymen whom he conquered)

7 Therefore, for all this he obtained not the principallities, but at the last received shame for the reward of his treason, and fled again into the country of the Ammonites.

8 In the end therefore he had an unhappy return, being accused before Artaxas the king of the Arabians, fleeing from city to city, pursued of all men, hated as a forsaker of the law, & being had in abomination, as an open enemy of his country, and countreyman, he was cast out into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had driven many out of their country, perished in a strange land, retreating to the Lacedemonians, and thinking there to finde succour by reason of his kindred.

10 And he that had cast out many unburied, had none to mourn for him, nor any solemn funerals at all, nor sepulchre with his fathers.

11 Now when this that was done came to the kings eare, he thought that Judea had revolted: whereupon removing out of Egypt in a furious minde, he took the city by force of arms.

12 And commanded his men of warre not to spare such as they met, and to slay such as went up upon the houles.

13 Thus there was killing of young and old, making a day of men, women, and children, slaying of virgins and infants.

14 And there were destroyed within the space of three whole dayes, fourscore thousand, whereof forty thousand were slain in the conflict, and no fewer told them slain.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but presumed to go into the most holy temple of all the world: whereupon that traitorous to the laws, and to his own country, being his guide:

16 And taking the holy vessels with polluted hands, and with profane hands, pulling down the things that were dedicated by other kings to the augmentation, and glory, and honour of the place, he gave them away.

17 And so haughtie was Antiochus in minde, that he considered not that the Lord was angry for a while for the finnes of them that dwell in the city, and therefore his eye was not upon the place.

18 For had they not been formerly whipped in many finnes, this man also as he had come, had forthwith been scourged, and put back from his presumption, as Belshazzars was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasure.

19 Therefore also, God did not choose the people for the places sake, but the place for the peoples sake.

20 And therefore the place it self, that was partaken with them of the adversity that happened to the nation, did afterward communicate in the benefits sent from the Lord: and as it was so taken in the wrath of the Almighty, so again the great Lord being reconciled, it was set up with all glory.

21 So when Antiochus had carried out of the temple, a thousand and eight hundred talents, he departed in all haste unto Antiochia, toeing in his pride to make the land navigable, and the sea passable by foot: such was the haughtinesse of his minde.

22 And he left governours to ber the nation: at Jerusalem Philip, for his countrey a Phrygian, and for manners more barbarous then he that set him there.

23 And at Gazzin, Andronicus; and besides Sydenians, who took then all the rest, bare an heauie hand over the citizens, having a malicious minde against his countreyman the Jewes.

24 He sent also that detestable king-leader Apollonius, with an army of two and twenty thousand, commanding him to slay all them that were in their best age, and to sell the women, and the younger sort:

25 And so coming to Jerusalem, and pretending prayce, did forbear till the day one of the sabbath; when taking the Jewes keeping holy day, he commanded his men to assay themselves.

26 And so he slew all them that were good at the celebrating of the sabbath, and examining through the city with weapons, slew great multitudes.

27 But Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, therabouts, withdrew himself into the wilderness, and lived in the mountains after the manner of beasts, with his company, who fed on herbs continually, lest they should be partakers of the pollution.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Jewes are compelled to leave the law of God. 4 The temple is defiled. 8 Cruelty upon the people and the women. 12 An exhortation upon bear affliction, by the example of the wilious courage of Belshazzar cruelly rewarded.

Now long after this, the king sent an old man of the Jews, to compell the Jewes to depart from the laws of their fathers, and not to live after the laws of God:

2 And to pollute also the temple in Jerusalem, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olympianus: and that in Gazzin, of Jupiter the defender of strangers, as they did desire that dwell in the place.

3 The coming in of this mischief was sore and grievous to the people:

4 For the temple was filled with dirt, and revelling by the Gentiles, who dallied with harlots, and had to hand women within the circuit of the holy places, and besides that, brought in things that were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was filled with profane things which the law forbiddeth.

6 Further was it lawfull for a man to keep sabbath dayes, or ancient feasts, or to profit himself at all to be a Jew.

7 And in the day of the kings birth every month they were brought by their countrey out of the sanctuary, and when the feast of Antiochus was kept, the Jewes were compelled to go in procession to Antiochia, carrying dirt.

8 Moreover, there went out a decree to the neighbour cities of the nation, by the suggestion of Ptolemies, against the Jewes, that they should observe the same customs, and be partakers of their sacrifices.

9 And whoso would not conform themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death. Wherein might a man have seen the present misery.

10 For there were two women brought who had circumcised their children, whom when they had openly led round about the city, the ladies hanging at their breasts, they call them dolours headlong from the wall.

11 And others that had run together into caves neare by, to keep the sabbath day secretly, being discovered to Philip, were all burnt together, because they made a conference to help themselves, for the honour of the most sacred day.

12 Now I beseech those that read this book, that they be not discouraged for their calamities, but that they judge these punishments not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness, when wicked doers are not suffered any long time, but forthwith punished.

Gr. Greci-

14 For not as with other nations whom the Lord patiently forbore to punish, till they be come to the fullness of their sinnes, so beatech he with us.

15 Let that being come to the height of sinne, afterwards he should take vengeance of us.

16 And therefore he never witheld his mercy from us: and though he punish with adversity, yet doth he never forsake his people.

17 But let this we have spoken be for a warning unto us: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 Cleazar one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well favoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eat swines flesh.

19 But he choosing rather to die gloriously, then to live stained with such an abomination, spit it forth, and came of his own accord to the torment.

20 As it behoved them to come, that are resolute to stand out against such things as are not lawfull for love of life to be resisted.

21 But they that had the charge of that wicked feast, for the old acquaintance they had with the man, taking him aside, besought him to bring flesh of his own provision, such as was lawfull for him to use, and make as if he did eat of the flesh taken from the sacrifice commanded by the kings.

22 That in so doing he might be delivered from death, and for the old friendship with them, finde favour.

23 But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellency of his ancient yeares, and the honour of his gray head, whereunto he was come, and his most honest education from a child, or rather the holy law made and given by God: therefore he answered accordingly, and tolled them straightwayes to send him to the grave.

24 For it becometh not our age, said he, in any wise to dissemble, whereby many young persons might think, that Cleazar being fourescore yeares old and ten, were now gone to a strange religion.

25 And so they through mine hypocrisie, and desire to live a little time, and a moment longer, should be deceived by me, and I get a stain to mine old age, and make it abominable.

26 For though for the present time I should be delivered from the punishment of men: yet should I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alive, nor dead.

27 Wherefore now manfully changing this life, I will spend my self such a one, as mine age requireth.

28 And leave a notable example to such as be young, to die willingly and courageously, for the honourable and holy law: and when he had said these words, immediately he went to the torment.

29 They that led him, changing the good will they bare him a little before, into hatred, because the foolish speeches proceeded, as they thought, from a desperate minde.

For machise, and pride.

30 But when he was ready to die with stripes, he groaned, & said, It is manifest unto the Lord, that hath the holy knowledge, that whereas I might have been delivered from death, I [now] endure sore pains in body, by being beaten: but my soul am well content to suffer these things, because I fear him.

31 And thus this man died, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not onely unto young men, but unto all his nation.

The constancy and cruel death of seven brethren and their mother in one day, because they would not eat swines flesh at the kings commandment.

1 Came to passe also that seven brethren with their mother were taken, and compelled by the king against the law to eat swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them that spake first, said thus, What wouldst thou ask or learn of us? we are ready to die, rather then to transgress the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then the king being in a rage, commanded paines and caldions to be made hot.

4 Which forthwith being heated, he commanded to cut out the tongue of him that spake first, and to cut off the utmost parts of his body, the rest of his brethren, and his mother looking on.

5 Now when he was thus maimed in all his members, he commanded him being yet alive to be brought to the fire, and to be tried in the pannes: and as the vapour of the pannes was for a good space dispersed, they exhorted one another with the mother, to die manfully, saying thus,

6 The Lord God looked upon us, and in truth hath comfort in us, as *Hoses in his song, which witnessed to their faces, declared, saying, And he shall be comforted in his servants. * Deut. 32. 36.

7 So when the first was dead, after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stock: and when they had pulled off the skinne of his head with the hair, they asked him, Whatst thou eat before thou be punished throughout every member of thy body?

8 But he answered in his own language, and said, No. Wherefore he also received the next torment in order, as the former did.

9 And when he was at the last gasp, he said, Thou like a fury takest us out of this present life, but the king of the world shall raise us up, who have died for his lawes, unto everlasting life.

10 After him was the third made a mocking stock: and when he was required, he put out his tongue, and that right soon, holding forth his hands manfully.

11 And said courageously, What I had from heaven, and for his lawes I helpe them, and from him I hope to receive them again.

12 And much that the king, and they that were with him, marvelled at the young mans courage, for that he nothing regarded the pains.

13 Now when this man was dead also, they tormented and mangled the fourth in like manner.

14 So when he was ready to die, he said thus, It is good, being put to death by men, to look for hope from God, to be raised up again by him: as for thee, thou shalt have no resurrection to life.

15 Afterwards they brought the fifth also, and mangled him.

16 Then looked he unto the king, and said, Thou hast power over men, thou art corruptible, thou dost know what thou wilt, yet think not that our nation is forsaken of God.

17 But abide a while, and behold his great power, how he will torment thee, and thy fees.

18 After him also they brought the sixth, who being ready to die, said, We be deceived without cause: for we suffer these things for our selves, having sinned against our God: therefore marvellous things are done (unto us).

19 But think not thou that takest in hand to strive against God, that thou shalt escape unpunished.

20 But the mother was marvellous above all, and worthy of honorable memory: for when she saw her seven sons slain within the space of one day, she bare it with a good courage, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Then, she rebuked every one of them in her own language, filled with courageous spirits; and stirring up her womanly thoughts with a manly stomach, she said unto them,

22 I cannot tell how you came into my womb; for I neither gave you breath nor life, neither was it I that formed the members of every one of you.

23 But doubtless the Creatour of the world, who formed the generation of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his own mercy give you breath and life again, as you now regard not your own selves for his laws sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himself despised, and suspecting it to be a reproachfull speech, whilst the youngest was yet alive, did not only rebuke him by words, but also assured him with oaths, that he would make him both a rich, and a happy man, if he would turn from the laws of his fathers, and that also he would take him for his friend, and trust him with affairs.

25 But when the young man would in no case hearken unto him, the king called his mother, and rebuked her, that she would counsel the young man to leave his life.

26 And when he had rebuked her with many words, she promised him that he would counsel her son.

27 But the knowing her self towards him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorn, spake in her country language on this manner, O my sonne, have pity upon me that bare thee nine months in my womb, and gave thee suck three yeares, and nourished thee, and brought thee up unto this age, and endured the troubles of education.

28 I beseech thee my sonne, look upon the heaven, and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Fear not this tormentour, but being worthy of thy brethren, take thy death, that I may receive thee again in mercy with thy brethren.

30 As she thus was yet speaking these words, the young man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandment: but I will obey the commandment of the law that was given unto our fathers by Moses.

31 And thou that hast been the outbore of all mischief against the Hebrews, shalt not escape the hands of God.

32 For he suffer because of our sinnes.

33 And though the living Lord be angry with us a little while for our chaffing and correction, yet shall he be at one again with his servants.

34 But thou, O goodliest man, and of all other most wicked, be not lifted up without a cause, nor puffest up with uncertain hopes, lifting up thy hand against the servants of God:

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the judgement of Almighty God, who seeth all things.

36 For our brethren who now have suffered a short pain, are dead under Gods covenant of everlasting life: but thou through the judgement of God, shalt receive just punishment for thy pride.

37 But I, as my brethren, offer up my body and life for the laws of our fathers, trusting God that he would specially be mercifull unto our nation, and that thou by torments and plagues mayest confess, that he alone is God;

38 And that in me, and my brethren, the wrath of the Almighty, which is justly brought upon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being in a rage, handled him worse then all the rest, and took it grievously that he was mocked.

40 So this man died undefiled, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sunne, the mother died.

42 Let this be enough now to have spoken concerning the idolatrous feasts, and the extreme tortures.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas gathereth an host. 9 Nicanor is sent against him: who presumeth to make much money of his prisoners, 16 Judas encourageth his men, and putteth Nicanor to flight, 28 and divideth the spoils, 30 Other enemies are also defeated, 35 and Nicanor fleeth with grief to Antioch.

Then Judas Maccabees, and they that were with him, went privily into the towns, and called their kindred together, and took unto them all such as continued in the Jews religion, and assembled about six thousand men.

2 And they called upon the Lord, that he would look upon the people that was trodden down of all, and also pity the temple, profaned of ungodly men.

3 And that he would have compassion upon the city, lay desolate and ready to be made even with the ground, and hear the blood that cries unto him.

4 And remember the wicked slaughter of harmless infants, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would smite his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabees had his compassions about him, he could not be withholden by his brethren: for the wrath of the Lord was kindled into fury.

6 Therefore he came at mountains, and burnt up towns and cities, and got into his hands the most commodious places, and overcame and put to flight no small number of his enemies.

7 But specially took he advantage of the night, for such privy attempts, in so much that the bruit of his manlike was spread every where.

8 So when Philip said that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him still more and more, he informed Ptolemy the governor of Coele Syria and Phenice, to send more aid to the kings affairs.

9 Then forthwith choosing Maccabees the name of Barrocius, one of his special friends, he sent him with no fewer then twenty thousand of all nations under him, to root out the whole generation of the Jews, and with him he joined also Gorgias a captain, who in matters of warre had great experience.

10 So Maccabees undertook to make so much money of the captive Jews as should defray the tribute of two thousand talents, which the king was to pay to the Romans.

11 Wherefore immediately he sent to the cities upon the sea coast, proclaiming a levy of the captive Jews, and promising that they should have foundings of the bulwark by our intent, and expecting the vengeance that was to follow upon them from the Almighty God.

19 John when he was brought unto Jordan of Sichonians coming, and he had imparted unto them that were with him that the thing was at hand.

20 They that were fearful, were distressed the justice of God, then, and comforted themselves always.

21 Others told all that they had felt, and withall besought the Lord to deliver them, being sold by the wicked Sichonians before they met together.

22 And if not for their own sakes, yet for the covetousness he had made with their fathers, and for his holy and glorious names sake, by which they were called.

23 So Baccabens called his men together unto the number of six thousand, and exhorted them not to be stricken with terror of the enemy, nor to fear the great multitude of the heathen, who came tyrannically against them, but to fight manfully.

24 And to set before their eyes the injury that they had unjustly done to the holy place, and the cruel handling of the city, whereof they made a mockery, and also the taking away of the government of their forefathers.

25 For they, said he, trust in their weapons, and belittle; but our confidence is in the Almighty God, who at a beck can cast down both them that come against us, and also all the world.

26 Moreover, he recounted unto them what helps their forefathers had found, and how they were delivered, when under Gennacherib so many thousands and five thousand perished.

27 And he told them of the battell that they had in Judaea with the Christians, who they came but eight thousand in all to the business, with four thousand Macedonians; and that the Macedonians being perplexed, the eight thousand destroyed an hundred and twenty thousand, because of the help that they had from heaven, and so received a great victory.

28 Thus when he had made them bold with that word, and ready to die for the laws, and the country, he divided his army into four parts.

29 And joined with himself his own brethren, leaders of each band, to wit, Simon and Judas, and Joramias, giving each one fifteen hundred men.

30 Also (he appointed) Eleazar to read the holy book: and when he had given them this exhortation, The help of God; himself leading the first band, he joined battell with Sichonians.

31 And by the help of the Almighty, they slew above nine thousand of their enemies, and wounded and maimed the most part of Sichonians host, and so put all to flight.

32 And took their money that came to buy them, and pursued them far: but lacking time, they returned.

33 For it was the day before the sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

34 So when they had gathered their armour together, and spoiled their enemies, they occupied themselves about the sabbath, yet being exceedingly madd and thanks to the Lord, who had preserved them unto that day, which was the beginning of murther killing upon them.

35 And after the sabbath, when they had gathered the part of the spoils to the Jerusalem, and the widows, and orphans, the residue they divided among themselves and their servants.

36 When this was done, and they had made a common supplication, they besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled with his servants for ever.

37 Moreover, of those that were with Themistius and Baccabens, some fought against them, they slew above twenty thousand, and very easily got high and strong holds, and divided amongst themselves many spoils more, and made the maimed, orphans, widows, yea and the aged also, equal in spoils with themselves.

38 And when they had gathered their armour together, they laid them up all carefully in convenient places, and the eminent of the spoils they brought to Jerusalem.

39 They slew also Hitharches that wicked person, who was with Eusebius, and had annoyed the Jews many ways.

40 Furthermore, at such time as they kept the feast for the victory in their country, they burnt Callisthenes that had set fire upon the holy gates, who was tied into a little boat; and so he received a reward more for his wickedness.

41 As for that most ungracious Sichonians, who had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Jews, 42 he was through the help of the Lord brought down by them, of whom he made least account, and putting off his glorious apparel, and discharging his company, he came like a fugitive servant through the midland unto Antioch, having very great dishonour for that his host was destroyed.

43 Thus he that took upon him to make good to the Romans, their respect by means of the captives in Jerusalem, only advised, that the Jews had done to fight for them, and therefore they should not be hurt, because they followed the laws that he gave them.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus is chased from Tarsopolis. 2 He is stricken with a sore disease, 3 and promiseth to become a Jew. 4 He dieth miserably.

ABOUT that time came Antiochus, which dishonoured out of the country of Persia.

2 For he had entered the city called Tarsopolis, and went about to rob the temple, and to hold the city: whereupon the multitude running to defend themselves with their weapons, put them to flight; and so it happened, that Antiochus being put to flight of the inhabitants, returned with shame.

3 When when he came to Chetana, where was brought him what had happened unto Sichonians and Themistius.

4 Then swelling with anger, he thought to revenge upon the Jews the disgrace done unto him by those that made him flee. Therefore commanded he his chariot-men to drive without ceasing, and to dispart the journey, the judgement of God now following him. For he had spoken proudly in this sort, That he would come to Jerusalem, and make it a common burying place of the Jews.

5 But the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel smote him with an insupportable and insupportable plague: for as soon as he had spoken these words, a pain of the bowels that was tremendous, came upon him, and the symptoms of the time came.

Or, lamed, with tortures,

Or, lamed,

Or, disordered,

This is the meaning of the word.

6 And that will justify & so he had tormented other men before with many and strange cruelties.

7 Doubtless he nothing at all created from his haggings, but fitfully with pain, branding out fire in his rage against the Jews, and committing to hell the journey, but it came to pass that he fell down from his chariot, carried violently, so that having a sore fall, all the members of his body were much pained.

8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might command the waves of the sea, (for so much was he beyond the condition of man) and weigh the high mountains in a balance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an hearse, yielding forth unto all the manifest power of God.

9 So that the worms rose up out of the body of this wicked man, and whilst he lived in sorrow and pain, his flesh fell away, and the stink of his smell was noxious to all his army.

10 And the man that thought a little afore he could reach to the stars of heaven, no man could endure to carry for his intolerable stink.

11 Here therefore being plagued, he began to leave off his great woe, and to come to the knowledge of himself by the scourge of God, his pain increasing every moment.

12 And when he himself could not abide his own smell, he cast these words, It is meet to be subject unto God, and that a man that is mortal should not proudly think of himself, as if he were God.

13 This wicked person bowed also unto the Jews, who now no more would have mercy upon him) saying thus,

14 That the holy city (to the which he was going in haste to lay it even with the ground, and to make it a common burying place) he would let at liberty.

15 And as touching the Jews, whom he had judged not worthy to be so much as buried, but to be cast out with their children to be devoured of the fowls and beasts, he would make them all equals to the citizens of Jerusalem.

16 And the holy temple which before he had spoiled, he would garnish with goodly gifts, and restore all the holy vessels which many more, and out of his own revenue defray the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that also he would become a Jew himself, and go through all the world that was inhabited, and declare the power of God.

18 But for all this his pains would not cease: for the just judgement of God was come upon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote unto the Jews the letters underwritten, containing the form of a supplication, after this manner:

19 Antiochus king and governour, to the good Jews his citizens, wished much for health and prosperity.

20 Be ye and your children fare well, and your affairs be to your contentment. I give very great thanks to God, having my hope in heaven.

21 As for me, I was weak of life I would have remembered kindly your honour, and good will. Returning out of Persia, and being taken with a grievous disease, I thought it necessary to call for the common safety of all.

22 Not desirous mine health, but having great hope to escape this sickness.

23 But considering that even my father, at what time he led an army into the high country, appointed a succour.

24 To the end, that if any thing should contrary to expectation, or if any things have brought that were grievous, even if the land should be brought to toward the state, was left, might not be troubled.

25 Again, considering how that the princes that are borders and neighbours unto my kingdom, wait for opportunity and expect what shall be the event, I have appointed my son, Antiochus king, whom I often committed, and commended unto many of you, when I went up into the high provinces, to whom I have written as followeth.

26 Therefore I pray and request you to remember the benefits that I have done unto you generally, and in special, and that every man will be still faithful to me and my sons.

27 For I am persuaded that he will understand, Or, following perceiving my mind, will favourably and graciously pertain to your desires.

28 Thus the murderer, and blasphemous being suffered most grievously, as he crucified other men, so did he miserable ward in a strange country in the mountains.

29 And Philip that was brought up with him, carried along his body, who also fearing the sons of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemy Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Judas recovereth the city, and purifieth the temple, 24 Gorgias vexeth the Jews. 26 Judas winneth their holds, 29 Timotheus and his men are discerned, 35 Garsa is taken, and Timotheus slain.

NOW Spaccadens and his company, the Lord guiding them, recovered the temple, and the city.

2 But the altars which the heathen had built in the open street, and also the chapels, they pulled down.

3 And having cleansed the temple, they made another altar, and striking stones, they took fire out of them, and offered a sacrifice after three years, and set forth incense, and lights, and shew-bread.

4 And when that was done, they fell flat down, and besought the Lord that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they sinned any more against him, that he himself would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be delivered unto the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Now upon the same day that the strangers profaned the temple, on the very same day it was cleansed again, even the five and twentieth day of the same month, which is Casleu.

6 And they kept eight days with gladness, as in the feast of the tabernacles, remembering that not long afore they had held the feast of the tabernacles, when as they wandered in the mountains and deserts like beasts.

7 Therefore they bare branches, and fair boughs, and palms also, and sang psalms unto him that had given them good success in cleansing his place.

8 They obtained also by a common statute and decree, that every year those days should be kept of the whole nation of the Jews.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Epiphanes, who was the son of this wicked man.

Or, common affairs,

Or, Antioch

man, gathering boldly the calamities of the warre.

11 So when he was come to the crown, he set one Lysias over the affairs of his realm and [appointed him] chief governour of Coelestria and Phenice.

12 For Holofernes that was called Baccus, choosing rather to do justice unto the Jews, for the wrong that had been done unto them, endeavoured to continue peace with them.

13 Whereupon being accused [the kings] friends, before Eupator, and called traitour at every word, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed unto him, and departed to Antiochus Epiphanes, and seeing that he was in no honourable place, he was discouraged, that he poisoned himself and died.

14 But when Darius was governour of the holds, he hired soldiers, and nourished warre continually with the Jews:

15 And therewithall the Idumeans having gotten into their hands the most commodious holds, kept the Jews occupied, and receiving those that were banished from Jerusalem, they went about to nourish warre.

16 Then they that were with Baccabenus made supplication, and besought God that he would be their helper; and so they ran with violence upon the strong holds of the Idumeans.

17 And assaulting them strongly, they won the holds, and kept off all that fought upon the wall, and slew all that fell into their hands, and killed no fewer then twenty thousand.

18 And because certain [two were no less then nine thousand] were fled together into two very strong castles, having all manner of things convenient to sustain the siege,

19 Baccabenus left Simon and Joseph, and Zacharias also, and them that were with him, who were now to besiege them, and departed himself unto those places which more needed his help.

20 Now [they that were with Simon, being led with covetousness, were persuaded for money] (though certain of those that were in the castle) and took seventy thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Baccabenus what was done, he called the governours of the people together, and accused those men that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies free to fight against them.

22 So he slew those that were found traitours, and immediately took the two castles.

23 And having good success with his weapons in all things he took in hand, he slew in the two holds more then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jews had overcome before, when he had gathered a great multitude of foreign forces, and houses out of Asia not a few, came as though he would take Jewry by force of arms.

25 But when he drew neare, [they that were with Baccabenus] turned themselves to pray unto God, and sprinkled earth upon their heads, and girded their loynes with sackcloth.

26 And fell down at the foot of the altar, and besought him to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and an adversary to their adversaries, as the law declared.

27 So after the prayer, they took their weapons, and went on further from the city: and when they drew neare to their enemies, they kept by themselves.

28 Now the same being newly risen, they joined both together; the one part having together with their virtue, their refuge also unto the Lord, for a [plunge of their sincerity and victory]; the other side making their rage leader of their battell.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared unto the enemies from heaven, five comely men upon horses, with bubbles of gold, and two of them led the Jews.

30 And took Baccabenus betwixt them, and covered him on every side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot arrows and lightnings against the enemies: so that being confounded with blindness, and full of trouble, they were killed.

31 And there were slain [of footmen] twenty thousand and five hundred, and six hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himself, he fled into a very strong hold, called Gazara, where Cheretas was governour.

33 But they that were with Baccabenus, laid siege against the fortress courageously four days.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the strength of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and uttered wicked words.

35 Nevertheless upon the fifth day early, twenty young men of Baccabenus company, inflamed with anger because of the blasphemies, assaulted the wall manly, and with a fierce courage killed all that they met within.

36 Others likewise ascending after them, whilst they were busied with them that were within, burnt the towers, and kindling fires, burnt the blasphemies alive; and orders broke open the gates, and having received in the rest of the army, took the city.

37 And killed Timotheus that was hid in a certain pit, and Cheretas his brother, with Apollobanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with psalmes and thanksgiving, who had done so great things for Israel, and given them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

3 Lysias thinking to get Jerusalem, & is put to flight. 16 The letters of Lysias to the Jews: 22 of speaking unto Lysias: 27 and to the Jews: 34 of the Romans to the Jews.

Now long after this, Lysias the king of Syria, and his cousin, who also managed the affairs, took sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when he had gathered about fourescore thousand with all the hostmen, he came against the Jews, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And to make a gain of the temple, as of the other chapells of the heathen, and to let the high priesthood to sale every year:

4 Not at all considering the power of God, but puffed up with his ten thousands of footmen, and his thousands of horsemen, and his fourescore elephants.

5 So he came to Judea and drew neare to Bethsura, which was a strong town, but distant from Jerusalem about five furlongs, and he laid sore siege unto it.

6 Now when [they that were with Baccabenus] heard that he besieged the holds, they, and all the people with lamentation and tears besought

Maccabees heard that he besieged the holds, they, and his company.

delouge the Lord that he would send a good angel to deliver Israel.

7 Then Spaccabens himself first of all took weapons, exhorting the other, that they would separate themselves together with him, to help their brethren: so they went forth together with a willing mind.

8 And as they were at Jerusalem, there appeared before them on horseback, one in white clothing, shaking his armour of gold.

9 Then they praised the merciful God all together, and took heart, inasmuch that they were ready not onely to fight with men, but with most cruell beasts, and to pierce through walls of iron.

10 Thus they marched forward in their armour, having an helper from heaven: for the Lord was mercifull unto them.

11 And giving a charge upon their enemies, like lions, they slew eleven thousand footmen, and sixteen hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked; and Lysias himself fled away shamefully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of understanding, calling with himself what losse he had had, and considering that the Hebrews could not be overcome; because the Almighty God helped them, he sent unto them.

14 And perswaded them to agree to all reasonable conditions, and [promised] that he would perswade the king, that he must needs be a friend unto them.

15 Then Spaccabens consented to all that Lysias desired, being careful of the common good; and whatsoever Spaccabens wrote unto Lysias concerning the Jews, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written unto the Jews from Lysias to this effect: Lysias unto the people of the Jews sendeth greeting.

17 John and Abshalon, who were sent from you, delivered me the petition subscribed, and made request for the performance of the contents thereof.

18 Therefore what things soever were meet to be reported to the king, I have declared them, and he hath granted as much as might be.

19 If then you will keep your selves loyal to the state, hereafter also will I endeavour to be a means of your good.

20 But of the particulars I have given order, both to these, and the other that came from me, to continue with you.

21 Fare ye well. The hundred and eight and forty years, the four and twenty day of the month || DoCoynthius.

22 Now the kings letter contained these words: King Antiochus unto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated unto the gods, our will is, that they that are in our realm live quietly, that every one may attend upon his own affairs.

24 Wee understand also that the Jews would not consent to our father, for to be brought unto the customs of the Gentiles, but had rather keep their own manner of living: for the which cause they require of us, that we should suffer them to live after their own laws.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and we have determined to restore them their temple, that they may live according to the customs of their forefathers.

26 Thou shalt do well therefore to send unto them, and I grant them what, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and ever go cheerfully about their own affairs.

27 And the letter of the king unto the nation of the Jews was after this manner: King Antiochus sendeth greeting unto the council, and the rest of the Jews.

28 If ye fare well, we have our desire, we are also in good health.

29 Spencians declared unto us, that your desire was to return home, and to follow your own business:

30 Wherefore they that will depart shall have safe conduct, till the thirtieth day of Xanthicus with security.

31 And the Jews shall use their own kinde of meats, and laws, as before; and none of them any manner of wayes shall be molested for things ignorantly done.

32 I have sent also Spencians, that he may comfort you.

33 Fare ye well. In the hundred forty and eighth years, and in the sixteenth day of the month || Xanthicus.

34 The Romans also sent unto them a letter containing these words: Quintus Pervinius, and Titus Pervinius, Ambassadors of the Romans, send greeting unto the people of the Jews.

35 Whatsoever Lysias the kings cousin hath granted, therewith we also are well pleased.

36 But touching such things as be judged to be referred to the king: after you have advised thereof, send one forthwith, that we may declare as it is convenient for you: for we are now going to Antioch.

37 Therefore send some with speed, that we may know what is your minde.

38 Farewell, this hundred and eight and forty years, the sixteenth day of the month Xanthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 The kings lieutenants vex the Jews. 2 They of Joppe drown two hundred Jews, 3 Judas is avenged upon them. 4 He maketh peace with the Arabians, 5 and taketh Caspis. 6 The Jews armies overthrow.

When these covenants were made, Lysias went unto the king, and the Jews were about their husbandry.

2 But of the governors of severall places, Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Demetrius, also Hieronymus, and Demophon, and besides them Pisanos the governor of Cyprus would not suffer them to be quiet, and live in peace.

3 The men of Joppe also did such an ungodly deed: they prayed the Jews that dwell among them to go with their wives and children into the boats which they had prepared, as though they had meant them no hurt.

4 Who accepted of it according to the common decree of the city, as being desirous to live in peace, and suspecting nothing: but when they were gone forth into the ship, they drowned more than two hundred of them.

5 When Judas heard of this cruelty done unto his countrymen, he commanded those that were with him (to make them ready)

6 And calling upon God the righteous judge, he came against those murderers of his brethren, and burnt the haven by night, and set the boats on fire, and then they fled thither by night.

¶ Or, with a purpose to return.

¶ Then when the Jews knew that he went backward, as if he should return to root out all them of the city of Joppa.

8 But when he heard that the Jamnites were minded to do in this manner unto the Jews that dwelt among them,

9 He came upon the Jamnites also by night, and set fire on the haven and the navy, so that the light of the fire was seen at Jerusalem, two hundred and forty furlongs off.

10 Now when they were gone from thence, nine furlongs in their journey toward Timotheus, he found them five thousand men on foot, and five hundred horsemen of the Arabians set upon him.

11 Whereupon there was a very sore battle: but Judas fled by the help of God, got the victory, so that the Romans of Arabia, being overcome, brought Judas for peace, promising both to give him cattle, and to pleasure him otherwise.

12 When Judas thinking indeed that they would be profitable in many things, granted them peace: whereupon they took hands, and so they departed to their tents.

¶ Or, went from place to place, with their families and cattle.

13 He went also about to make a bridge to a certain strong city, which was fenced about with walls, and inhabited by people of divers countries, and the name of it was Gaspia.

14 But they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walls, and provision of victuals, that they behaved themselves rudely towards them that were with Judas, railing and blaspheming, and uttering such words as were not to be spoken.

15 Wherefore Judas, with his company, calling upon the great Lord of the world, who without any weapons or engines of warre, did call down fire in the time of Joshua, gave a three assault against the walls.

16 And took the city by the will of God, and made unnumbered slaughter, inasmuch that a lake two furlongs broad, near adjoining thereto, being filled full, was seen running with blood.

17 Then departed they from thence seven hundred and thirty furlongs, and came to Tharaca unto the Jews that are called Tadmite.

18 But as for Timotheus, they found him not in the places: for before he had dispatched any thing, he departed from thence, having left a very strong garrison in a certain hold.

19 Dositheus, Dositheus and Solipater, who were of Dositheus' company, went forth, and then those that Timotheus had left in the fortress, about ten thousand men.

¶ Dositheus and Solipater.

20 And Dositheus ranged his army by bands, and set them over the bands, and went against Timotheus, who had about him an hundred and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.

21 Now when Timotheus had knowledge of Judas coming, he sent the women and children, and the other baggage into a fortress called Carnion: (so the town was hard to besiege, and unable to come unto, by reason of the straitness of all the places.)

22 But when Judas his first band came in sight, the enemies (being smitten with fear and terror, through the appearing of him that seeth all things, fled again, one running this way, another that way, so as that they were often hurt of their own men, and wounded with the points of their own swords.

23 Judas also was very earnest in pursuing them, killing those wicked wretches, of whom he slew about thirty thousand men.

24 Moreover, Timotheus himself fell into the hands of Dositheus and Solipater, whom he brought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Jews parents, and the brethren of some of them, who, if they had put him to death, should not be regarded.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, that he would release them without hurt, according to the agreement, they let him go for the saking of their brethren.

26 Then Dositheus marched forth to Carnion, and to the temple of Astarte, and there he slew five and twenty thousand persons.

¶ That is, Venus.

27 And after he had put to flight and destroyed them, Judas renewed the host towards Caphon, a strong city, wherein Lybas abode, and a great multitude of divers nations, and the strong young men kept the walls, and defended them mightily: wherein also was great provision of weapons and horse.

28 But when Judas and his company had called upon Almighty God (who with his power breaketh the strength of his enemies) they won the city, and slew twenty and five thousand of them that were within.

29 From thence they departed to Scythopolis, which was six hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Jews that dwelt there had testified that the Scythopolitans dealt lovingly with them, and entreated them kindly in the time of their adversity:

31 They gave them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still unto them: and so they came to Jerusalem, the feast of the weeks approaching.

32 And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the governour of Judaea.

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot, and four hundred horsemen.

34 And it happened that in their fighting together, a field of the Jews was slain.

35 At which time Dositheus, one of Baccho's company, who was on horseback, and a strong man, was still upon Gorgias: and taking hold of his coat, drew him by force, and when he would have taken that curst man alive, a horseman of Tharaca coming upon him, smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fell unto Gaspia.

¶ Put by his arm: wounded him in the shoulder: so strook him in the shoulder.

36 Now when they that were with Gorgias had fought long, and were weary, Judas called upon the Lord that he would give himself to be their helper, and leader of the battle.

37 And with that he began in his own language, and sung psalmes with a loud voice, and raising mauls upon Gorgias men, he put them to flight.

38 So Judas gathered his host, and came into the city Dholan. And when the seventh day came, they purified themselves (as the custom was) and kept the sabbath in the same place.

39 And upon the day following, as the rest day began, Judas and his company came to take up the bodies of them that were slain, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graves.

¶ Or, at such time, &c.

40 Now under the coats of every one that was

Deut. 27. 7.

was slain, they found things consecrated to the idols of the Gentiles, which is forbidden the Jews by * the law. When every man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slain.

41 All men therefore praising the Lord the righteous judge, who had opened the things that were hid.

42 Betook themselves unto prayer, and besought him, that the sinne committed might wholly be put out of remembrance. Besides, that noble Judas exhorted the people to keep themselves from sinne, inasmuch as they saw before their eyes the things that came to passe, for the sinnes of those that were slain.

43 And when he had made a gathering throughout the company, to the summe of two thousand drachmes of silver, he sent it to Jerusalem to offer a thank-offering, doing therein very well and honestly, in that he was mindfull of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped that they that were slain should have risen again, it had been superfluous and vain to pray for the dead.

45 And also in that he perceived that there was great labour laid up for those that died godly. (It was an holy and good thought) whereupon he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be delivered from sinne.

CHAP. XLIIL

1 Eupator invadeth Judaea. 15 Judas by night slayeth many. 18 Eupators purpose is defeated. 23 He maketh peace with Judas.

IN the hundred forty and ninth year it was told Judas that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Judaea.

2 And with him Lyfias his pretour, and ruler of his affairs, having either of them a Grecian power of footmen, an hundred and ten thousand, and horsemen five thousand and three hundred, and elephants two and twenty, and three hundred chariots armed with bows.

3 Helians also joined himself with them, and with great determination encouraged Antiochus, not for the safeguard of the country, but because he thought to have been made governor.

4 But the King of kings moved Antiochus in mind against this wicked wretch, and Lyfias informed the king that this man was the cause of all mischiefs, so that the king commanded to bring him unto Beersa, and so put him to death, as the manner is in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fifty cubits high, full of ashes, and it had a round fundament laden on every side hanged down into the ashes.

6 And whosoever was condemned of sacrilege, or had committed any other grievous crime, there did all men thrust him into death.

7 Such a death it happened that wicked man to die, not having to much as buriall in the earth, and that most fully.

8 For inasmuch as he had committed many crimes about the altar, whilst hee and others were holy, he received his death in ashes.

9 Now the king came with a hardheart and haughty minde, to do farre worse to the Jews than had been done in his fathers time.

10 On which things when Judas perceived, he commanded the multitude to call upon the Lord right and true, that if ever at any time he would now also help him, being at the point to be put from their law, from their country, and from the holy temple.

11 And that he would not slay the people, that I had even now been put in their sword, to be in subjection to the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had all done this together, and besought the mercifull Lord with weeping and fasting, and lying flat upon the ground three dayes long, Judas having exhorted them, commanded they should be in a readiness.

13 And Judas being apart with the elders, determined, before the kings host should enter into Judaea and get the city, to go forth and try the matter [in fight] by the help of the Lord.

14 So when he had committed [all] to the Creator of the world, and exhorted his followers to fight manfully, even unto death, for the law, the temple, the city, the country, and the commonwealth, he camep by Bethan.

15 And having given the word to them that were about him, victory is of God, with the most valiant and choice young men, he went in into the kings tent by night, and slew in the camp about foure thousand men, and the chiefest of the elephants, with all that were upon him.

16 And at last they slied the camp with fear and tumult, and departed with good success.

17 This was done in the week of the day, because the protection of the Lord did help him.

18 Now when the king had taken a taste of the manliness of the Jews, he went about to take the holms by policy.

19 And marched towards Bethsura, which was a strong hold of the Jews, but he was put to flight, failed, and lost of his men.

20 For Judas had contrived unto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus who was in the Jews host, solicited the letters to the enemies; therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him they put him in prison.

22 The king treated with them in Bethsura the second time, gave his hand, took spoils, departed, fought with Judas, was overcome.

23 Weard that Helias who was left over the affairs in Antioch was desperately bent, consumed, intrusted the Jews, subverted himself, and chose to all equall conditions, agreed with them, and offered sacrifice, honoured the temple, and dealt kindly with the place.

24 And accepted Helias Apocryphus made him principall governor from Beersa unto the Gerizemians.

25 Came to Beersa the people there were grieved for the covnants: for they thought because they would make their covnants hold.

26 Lyfias went up to the judgement seat, said as much as could be in defence of the cause, persuaded, pacified, more than well affected, returned to Antioch. Thus it went touching the kings coming and departing.

CHAP. XLIIII.

6 Helians accuseth Judas, 18 Nicoran maketh peace with Judas, 29 He seeketh to take Bethsura, 35 who is of ape his hands killeth himself.

AFTER three yeares was Judas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus, having driven by the hatred of Antiochus with a great power and navie, 2 Had taken the country, and killed Antiochus, and Lyfias his pretour.

3 Now our Helians who had been high priest, and had desired himselfe hartly in the times of their mingling (with the Gentiles) seeing that he no means he could save himself, nor have any more access to the holy altar.

4 Came to king Demetrius in the hundred and one and fiftieth year, presenting unto him a crown of gold and a palm, and also of the boughs which were used solemnly in the temple: and so that day he held his peace.

[Or, thought to be of the temple.

5 Doubtless having gotten opportunity to further his foolish enterprise (and) being called into counsel by Demetrius, and asked how the Jews stood affected, and what they intended, he answered thereunto.

6 Those of the Jews that he called Alcibiades (whose captain is Judas Maccabeus) nourish warre, and are seditious, and will not let the realm be in peace.

7 Therefore I being deprived of mine ancestors honour (I mean the high priesthood) am now come hither:

8 First verily for the unfeigned care I have of things pertaining to the king; and secondly, even for that I intend the good of mine own countrymen: for all our nation is in no small misery, through the unadvised dealing of them aforesaid.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, be careful for the country, and our nation which is pressed on every side, according to the clemencie that thou readily shewest unto all.

10 For as long as Judas liveth, it is not possible that the state should be quiet.

11 This was no sooner spoken of him, but others of the kings friends being maliciously set against Judas, did more incense Demetrius.

12 And forthwith calling Alciano, who had been master of the elephants, and making him governor over Judea, he sent him forth.

13 Commanding him to slay Judas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high priest of the great temple.

14 When the heathen that had fled out of Judea from Judas, came to Alciano by flocks, thinking the harm and calamities of the Jews, to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Jews heard of Alcianos coming, and that the heathen were up against them, they cast earth upon their heads, and made supplication to him that had established his people for ever, and who alwayes helpeth his portion with manifestation of his presence.

[Or, were joyed to them.

16 So at the commandment of the captain, they removed straightwayes from thence, and came near unto them, at the town of Bethan.

17 Now Simon, Judas brother, had joyned battell with Alciano, but was somewhat discomfited through the sudden silence of his enemies.

18 Nevertheless, Alciano hearing of the manifeste of them that were with Judas, and the couragiousness that they had to fight for their country, durst not try the matter by the sword.

19 Wherefore he sent Polidamas, and Theodotas, and Athathas, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long advisement thereupon, and the captain had made the multitude acquainted therewith, and it appeared that they were all of one minde, they consented to the covenants.

21 And appointed a day to meet in together by themselves: and when the day came, and flocks were set for either of them.

22 Judas placed armed men ready in convenient places, lest some treacher should be suddenly practised by the enemies: so they made a peaceable conference.

23 Now Alciano above in Jerusalem, and did no hurt, but sent away the people that came flocking unto him.

24 And he would not willingly have Judas out of his sight: for he loved the man from his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, was quiet, and took part of this life.

[Or, lived together

26 But Alcimus perceiving the love that was between them, and considering the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Alciano was not well affected towards the state: for that he had ordained Judas, a traitour to his realm, to be the kings successor.

27 Then the king being in a rage, and provoked with the accusations of the most wicked man, wrote to Alciano, signifying that he was much displeased with the covenants, and commanding him that he should send Maccabeus prisoner in all haste unto Antioch:

28 When this came to Alcianos hearing, he was much confounded in himself, and took it grievously that he should make void the articles which were agreed upon, the man being in no fault.

29 But because there was no dealing against the king, he watched his time to accomplish this thing by policy.

30 Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus saw that Alciano began to be churlish unto him, and that he entreated him more roughly then he was wont, perceiving that such sorte behaviour came not of good, he gathered together not a few of his men, and withdrew himself from Alciano.

31 But the other, knowing that he was notably persecuted by Judas policy, came into the great and holy temple, and commanded the priests that were offering their usual sacrifices, to deliver him the man.

32 And when they swore that they could not tell where the man was whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the temple, and made an oath in this manner: If you will not deliver me Judas as I a prisoner, I will lay this temple of God even with the ground, and I will break down the altar, and erect a notable temple unto Bacchus.

[Or, bound.

34 After these words he departed. Then the priests lift up their hands towards heaven, and besought him that was ever a defender of their nation, laying in this manner.

35 Thou, O Lord of all things, who hast need of nothing, wast pleased that the temple of thine habitation should be among us.

36 Therefore now, O holy Lord of all holiness, keep this house ever undefiled which lately was cleansed, and stop every unrighteous mouth.

37 Now was there accused unto Alciano, one Razis, one of the elders of Jerusalem, a lover of his countrymen, and a man of very good report, who for his kindness was called a father of the Jews.

38 For in the former times, when they mingled not themselves with the Gentiles, he had been accuser of Judas, and did holily reprove his body and life with all vehemency for the religion of the Jews.

39 So Alciano willing to declare the hate that he bare unto the Jews, sent above five hundred men of power to take him.

40 For he thought, by taking him, to do the Jews much hurt.

41 Now when the multitude would have taken the tower, and violently broken into the inner door.

doers, and had that fire should be brought to burn it, he being ready to be taken on every side, fell upon his sword;

42 Choosing rather to die manfully, then to come into the hands of the wicked, to be abused otherwise then becomen his noble birth.

43 But missing his stroke through haste, the multitude also rushing within the doores, he ran boldly up to the wall, and cast himself down manfully amongst the thickest of them.

44 But they quickly giving back, and a space being made, he fell down into the midst of the void place.

45 Nevertheless, while there was yet breath within him, being inflamed with anger, he roste up, and though his blood gushed out like founts of water, and his wounds were grievous, yet he ran through the midst of the throng; and standing upon a steep rock, 46 When as his blood was now quite gone, he plucked out his bowels, and taking them in both his hands, he cast them upon the throng, and calling upon the Lord of life and spirit to restore him those again, he thus died.

CHAP. XV.

5 Nicomors blasphemy, 8 Judas encourageth his men by his dream, 28 Nicomors is slain.

BUT Nicomors hearing that Judas and his company were in the strong places about Samaria, resolved without any danger to set upon them on the sabbath-day.

2 Nevertheless, the Jews that were compelled to go with him, said, O destroy not so cruelly and barbarously, but give honour to that day, which he that seeth all things, hath honoured with his holiness above other daies.

3 Then the most ungracious to yet demand, if there were a mightie One in heaven, that had commanded the sabbath-day to be kept.

4 And when they said, There is in heaven a living Lord, and mightie, who commanded the seventh day to be kept:

5 Then said the other, And I also am mightie upon earth, and I command to take arms, and to do the kings business: yet he obtained not to have his wicked will done.

6 So Nicomors in exceeding pride and haughtiness, determined to set up a publick monument of his victory over Judas and them that were with him.

7 But Bacrabens had ever sure confidence that the Lord would help him.

8 Therefore he exhorted his people, not to fear the coming of the heathen against them, but to remember the help which in former times they had received from heaven, and now to expect the victory and aid which should come unto them from the Almighty.

9 And so comforting them out of the law and the prophets, and withall putting them in minde of the battels that they wonne afore, he made them more cheerefull.

10 And when he had stirred up their mindes, he gave them their charge, shewing them there-withall the falshood of the heathen, and the breach of oaths.

11 Thus he armed every one of them, not so much with defence of shields and spears, as with comfortable and good words, and besides that he told them a dream whereby to be believed, as if it had been to them, which did not a little rejoyce them.

12 And this was his vision, That Omias, who had been high priest, a righteous and a good man, reverend in conversation, gentle in conversation, well spoken also, and speaking from a child in all points of wisdom, holding up his hands, prayed for the whole body of the Jews.

13 This done in like manner there appeared a man with gray hairs, and exceeding glorious, who was of a wonderfull and excellent majesty.

14 Then Omias answered, saying, This is a lover of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy city, (to wit) Jeremias the prophet of God.

15 Whereupon, Jeremias holding forth his right hand, gave to Judas a sword of gold; and in giving it, spake thus,

16 Take this holy sword, a gift from God, with the which thou shalt wound the adversaries.

17 Thus being well comforted by the words of Judas, which were very good, and able to stirre them up to valour, and to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined not to pitch camp, but courageously to set upon them, and manfully to try the matter by conflict, because the city, and the sanctuary, and the temple were in danger.

18 For the care that they took for their wives, and their children, their brethren, and kindred, was in least account with them: but the greatest and principall fear was for the holy temple.

19 Also they that were in the citie took not the least care, being troubled for the conflict abroad:

20 And now when as all looked what should be the trial, and the enemies were already come neare, and the army was set in aray, and the beasts conveniently placed, and the horsemen set in wings,

21 Bacrabens seeing the coming of the multitude, and the divers preparations of armour, and the fierceness of the beasts, stretched out his hands towards heaven, and called upon the Lord, that worketh wonders, knowing that victory cometh not by arms, but even as it seemeth good to him, he giveth it to such as are worthy.

22 Wherefore in his prayer he said after this manner, O Lord, thou dost send thine angel in the time of Czekias king of Judaea, and didst slay in the host of Sennacherib, an hundred fourscore and five thousand.

23 Wherefore now also, O Lord of heaven, send a good angel before us, for a fear and dread unto them.

24 And through the might of thine arm, let thole be stricken with terror, that come against thy holy people to blaspheme. And he ended thus.

25 Then Nicomors and they that were with him, came forward with trumpets and songs.

26 But Judas and his company encountered the enemies with invocation and prayer.

27 So that fighting with their hands, and praying unto God with their hearts, they slew no less then thirty and five thousand men, although the appearance of God they were greatly cheered.

28 Now when the battell was done, returning again with joy, they knew that Nicomors lay dead in his parake.

29 Then they made a great shout, and a noise, praising the Almighty in their own language.

30 And Judas, who was ever the chief defender of the citizens, both in body and minde, and who continued his love towards his countrymen all his life, commanded to strike off Nicomors head, and his hand, with his shoulder, and bring them to Jerusalem.

31 So when he was there, and had called them them of his nation together, and let the priests before the altar, he sent his them that were of the court.

32 And when he had cut off Sicanos head, and the head of that blasphemer, which with proud haire he had stretched out against the holy temple of the Almighty.

33 And when he had cut out the tongue of that ungodly Sicanos, he commanded that they should give it by pieces unto the fowls, and hang up the reward of his madness before the temple.

34 So every man passed toward the heaven the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his own place unshaken.

35 He hanged also Sicanos head upon the tower, an evident and manifest sign unto all of the help of the Lord.

36 And they obtained all with a common decree, in no case to let that day pass without solemn-nity, but to celebrate the thirtieth day of the month, which in the Syrian tongue is called Adar, the day before Sicanos day.

37 Thus went it with Sicanos; and from that time forth the Hebrews had the cite in their power. And here will I make an end.

38 And if I have done well, and as is fitting the storie, it is that which I desired: but if slowly and unwarily, it is that which I could attain unto.

39 For as it is hurtfull to drink wine, or water alone; and as wine mingled with water is pleasant, and delighteth the taste: even so, speed finely framed, delighteth the eares of them that read the storie. And here shall be an end.

The end of Apocrypha.
